"The Catholic woman," said the Pontiff, "besides feeling it her duty to be virtuous must feel it her duty to appear such in the fashion of her clothes, repudiating those exaggerations of fashion which show the corruption of those who designed them and bringing an evil contribution to the general corruption of manners—fashions contrary to that modesty which should be the fairest ornament of the Christian woman."

The Pontiff strongly urged the formation of a league of Catholic women to fight what he termed the indecency of fashion, not only in their own clothing, but also of that of persons in families who approach them.

CITY HAD SPENT $51,663.07 ON NEW BRIDGE UP TO SEPT. 30TH

Committees Are Within Their Appropriations, But Two Must Sit Tight to Break Even.

Drawing toward the end of the year it may be interesting to dip into the state of the city's finances up to September 30th, 1919.

In the first place the municipality started this year with an overdra t of $57.352.21, which overdraft had increased to $74,6526.75, at the end of last monthBut $51,663.07 up to this date had been expended on the Hunter Street new bridge. Receipts in excess of payments on current accounts are $41,878.54, while payments in excess of receipts from special accounts are $58,043.07.

The Council's committees have so far kept within their appropriations, although the Board of Works and the Fire, Water and Light Committee, The latter committee had a surplus of 7,382.61 and the former a balance of $2,113.56 with three months' expenditure ahead of them. The Property and Manufacturers' Committees, it would seem, by a glance, at the statement below, have a tidy surplus at the end of the year with which to go to the aid of any committee finding themselves short.

Altogether, this year's council, at the end of September, had a margin of $78,910.76 on their appropriations and they'll need it all.

Following is the nine months' statement:

WILL LABOR PARTY SING ANVIL CHORUS AS INDEPENDENT BODY IN ASSEMBLY

U. F. O. Conservatives and Liberals Have Suspended Conferences Until Next Week—Laborites Meet in Hamilton This Afternoon—No Further Tabulation of Unofficial Referendum Figures Await Allen Dymond's Count.

Toronto, Oct. 25.—Activity in the political situation in Ontario over the week-end is centred largely in the gathering at Hamilton this afternoon of the eleven Labor candidates elected to the Legislature.

Old Parties Quiet.

The U. F. O., Conservatives and Liberals have suspended conferences till next week, although various commissions of each are busy on the important questions of leadership and policy entrusted to them.

May Sing Anvil Chorus.

The Hamilton Labor meeting this afternoon is expected to develop plans for a strong and energetic policy that will make itself a factor in provincial legislation, whether the Laborites decide to throw in their lot with the U. F. O or sing an anvil chorus as an independent minority.

From the executive offices at the legislative buildings, where the Hearst government still holds the reins of office, comes today no intimation of their probable line of action. Nothing is expected to be decided until the United Farmers meet again next week and announce their leader and policy. The Liberals also have adopted the slogan, "Wait and see."

Await Official Figures.

The provincial referendum committee, having ceased the tabulation of returns when the aggregate majority for the drys had reached the neighborhood of seven figures, there will be no further tabulation of reports until Allan Dymond, chief returning officer for the Province, receives from the returning officers the official figures and has them officially counted. This may be a matter of weeks.

BOLSHEVIKI MINISTER ESCAPES CAPTURE BY CLINGING TO FREIGHT CAR

PURSUED AND FIRED UPON

LEFT FLANK OF YUDENITCH'S ARMY UNDER FIRE FROM DREANOUGHT

Copenhagen, Oct. 25.—The entire staff of Leon Trotzky, Bolshevik minister of War and Marine of Russia, have been captured at Tsarsko-Selo, according to a Reval despatch to the [illegible] escaped by clinging to a railroad car and later fleeing from the scene in an auto.

Fired on Car.

Troops of the northwestern Russian army pursued the minister and fired upon his car, but Trotzky succeeded in reaching Petrograd.

The left flank of Gen. Yudenitch's army is reported to be under fire from the Bolshevik dreadnought Poltava, which is lying in the River Neva, inside the limits of Petrograd, and shooting over the housetops.

BRITISH GOVT. WILL NOT RESIGN AN UNDERSTANDING REACHED

New Clause in Alien Bill Acceptable to Lloyd George and Party Will Avoid Abandonment of Measure

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Oct. 25. -- Members of Lloyd George's Cabinet conferred with some of their supporters in the House of Commons today relative to the situation which has arisen through the defeat on Thursday of the Government's Alien Bill.

Surmount Difficulty.

It was stated during the day that an understanding had been arrived at by which a new clause in the bill, which would be acceptable to the Government, would be moved by members of the House. It is expected in this way to surmount the difficulty which brought about the defeat of the former amendment, and to avoid the abandonment of the bill.

Like Orgahized Plot.

Commenting on the defeat of the Government, The Daily News says that, although the Government may treat the affair as of no consequence it cannot fail to shake unpleasantly their position.

"The humiliation has been inflicted upon them by their friends," says The News, "and its importance lies in the fact that it is the result of something very like an organized conspiracy, powerfully assisted, no doubt, by the general feeling of distrust and irritation with which the members have reassembled."

At question time in the House of Commons yesterday Sir Cecil Harmsworth, Parliamentary Secretary of State, stated that steps to recover the indemnity from Germany could not be taken until the Peace Treaty was ratified, but much preliminary work could be done in the meantime. For instance, deliveries under four and five of the annexes of the treaty had been begun.

BIG HAUL OF LIQUOR.

Eighty Cases of Whiskey Seized at Union Station.

Toronto, Oct. 25.—License Inspectors Lewis, Burnett and Courian yesterday morning seized eighty cases (960 quarts) of the best domestic brands of whiskey in a freight car in the Union Station yards. The intended recipients came down in an auto, but seeing that their game was detected they whizzed off before they could be intercepted.

PRINCE OF WALES TREATS ALL HANDS

MINGLES WITH CROWD AT CREDITVILLE AND GIVES ALL GOOD TIME

A ROYAL ENTERTAINER

DO NOT BE BASHFUL BECAUSE I AM SAYS HEIR APPARENT

of Wales is a royal entertainer. This fact was clearly demonstrated to the people of the little station of Creditville one night this week. The village had been decided upon as the stopover place for the night, and the Royal train was shunted in the siding where it was expected that Canada's Royal guest would have much-needed quiet. But it was not long until the people old and young, of the village and surrounding country, which is about four miles east of Woodstock, were aware of the presence of the train bearing the heir to the British throne. Soon a crowd had gathered. The guards were prevailed upon to inform the Prince that the people of the countryside would like just one glance at his Royal Highness. Soon he appeared, and after answering the great cheer with a swing of his hat, he mingled with the people. "Do not be bashful because I am," he said, and then followed a general handshaking with the lads and lassies. The Prince then treated all hands to either chocolates or cigars. Following this, he continued as entertainer. Entering his car he soon had his gramaphone close up to the door, and then, while the machine reeled off the popular "Johnny's in Town," the Prince made himself solid by grabbing up a snaredrum and acting as accompanist. It made a great hit, and it is doubtful if the people of any other part of the Dominion have been favored as were the villagers in the small Oxford County hamlet.

A Detroit landlord boosted the rent of an apartment from $37.50 to $60 because the tenant kept a dog.

WILSON'S CABINET TO MEET TO-DAY

THREATENED STRIKE OF HALF A MILLION BITUMINOUS COAL MINERS BEFORE MEETING

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Oct. 25.—President Wilson's cabinet will meet in special session this morning to discuss the strike of half a million bituminous coal miners called for next Saturday.

Director General Hines of the railroad administration has been instructed to attend.

INFANTRYMEN STONED

Federal Troops Are Now Armed With "French Guns."

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Federal troops at Gary, Ind., yesterday patrolled with "french guns," weapons of the sawed-off shotgun type. They were thus equipped by order of Col. Mapes, commanding the strike area under military control, after he had received reports that the infantrymen had been stoned by strike sympathizers. Col. Mapes said the troops would fire on attackers.

Elsewhere in the district the industrial situation was reported generally unchanged.

START TEMPORARY BRIDGE.

The pile driver mechanic, whose absence has been holding up the commencement of the building of the temporary bridge across the river from the foot of Simcoe street, was on hand this morning making preparations to commence work in earnest early next week.

NASHUA GUMMED AND COATED PAPER CO'S. BY-LAW CARRIED BY GOOD MAJORITY

War Veterans' Measure Also Secured Affirmative Vote Yesterday—Vote Polled Considered Fairly Large

The bylaw to purchase the old Cordage Works for rent to the Nashua Gummed and Coated Paper Co., and that to grant tax exemption on the G.W.V.A. club rooms, excepting for school taxes and public improvements, carried yesterday by substantial majorities.

The vote polled is considered fairly large, considering it was taken at a time when no municipal elections were before the people. Eight hundred and fifty-three votes were cast on the Paper Company's measure, with 743 in its favor. The War Veterans' bylaw drew 533 affirmative ballots, with a negative vote of 306, but the plurality was sufficient to carry, as only a straight majority was needed.

That the industry bylaw carried is due, in no small measure, to indefatigable efforts on the part of members of the City Council and Board of Trade.

LIBERAL MEMBERS HAVE CONFIDENCE IN THEIR LEADER H. HARTLEY DEWART

Mr. W. H Adams, secretary of the Ontario Reform Association, handed out the following statement late yesterday afternoon:

"Liberal members-elect met for general discussion of the situation in relation to Provincial politics and general conference. No action was taken beyond the unanimous decision of all present to affirm the adherence of the Liberal party in the adoption of such progressive legislation as shall be to the advantage of all classes in the community and their confidence in their Leader, Mr. H. Hartley Dewart. An advisory committee of the members-elect was appointed to act with the Leader." This committee, it is learned, will meet next Wednesday.

FORMER PREMIER JAPAN NOT DEAD

DEATH OF FIELD MARSHAL COUNT SEIKI TERAUCHI WAS REPORTED YESTERDAY

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Tokio, Oct. 25.—Field Marshal Count Seiki Terauchi, former premier of Japan, whose death was reported her yesterday, is still alive, his physicians announced today.

When the aged diplomat sank into coma yesterday his physicians believed that death had overtaken him, and news of his demise was given to the world. Camphor injections given the count as a precautionary measure restored consciousness.

Count Terauchi's death had been officially announced and posthumous honors had been bestowed upon him by the Imperial court.

THE POLICE EXONERATED.

THE POLICE Commissioners, in their finding, following their investigation into charges against the integrity of certain members of the department, fully exonerate every officer implicated, and no one who either heard or read the evidence will be surprised at the result. The investigation was public and thorough. A county judge, familiar with the rules of evidence, presided and the best available legal talent was engaged by both parties to the controversy. The commissioners say that it was unfortunate that the charges were ever made. However this may be, once the rumors concerning the police force became current, the public were entitled to the facts, and there was no other course but to hold the investigation, which, as allaying all doubts, was certainly worth all it may cost.

The real cause of all this trouble would appear to the people on the outside as overzealousness on the part of the city and provincial officials. When there is a conflict of jurisdiction or authority, there is sure to be a certain amount of friction, and friction invariably breeds professional jealousy. Even policemen and license inspectors are ordinary human beings, and are not immune from the lesser frailties of humanity. And the more sincere and active they are in the discharge of their duties the more will these frailties become apparent, the more enemies are they likely to make.

The root of the dissention is to be found in the enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act, a knotty problem at the best and one that is further complicated by the very provisions of the Act itself. Here chiefly arises the conflict of jurisdiction which engenders the friction and the professional jealousy—the latter not a serious offence by any means, being rather official zeal carried to excess. The police are expected to watch for violations of the Act in the city, and all money that is received in fines when the police are the complainants goes to the municipality. The license inspector is a provincial officer with jurisdiction over city and country districts. The fines collected through his activity belong to the Province. Naturally both sets of officials are ambitious to make a record, and conflicts of authority under such circumstances are unavoidable.

This is a matter that could easily be remedied by amendments to the Act. The license commissioners are responsible for the enforcement of the prohibition law, and nothing in the nature of interference with their inspectors, interference official or otherwise, should be permitted. The question of allotting the fines could be easily disposed of, even if the license inspector were given exclusive jurisdiction in city and county in enforcing the law. Money collected from city offenders could be turned over to the municipality as it is now; that garnered from the rural boot-leggers and moonshiners could go to the Province. Anyway, no matter who is given jurisdiction, there should be only one set of officials to enforce this law. Too many officers are as much to be avoided as a plurality of cooks in a kitchen.

The License Commissioners at Toronto have at various times advised the local officials to forget their differences and work together in harmony. But official and human nature are very much alike. It is too much to expect perfection in professional ethics even from the guardians of public morality. The investigation just closed, thorough and searching as it was, has, after all, shown nothing more serious amiss than what may be catalogued as faults of temper. City and provincial officers are alike active in enforcing the law.

A JOLT TO PUBLIC OWNERSHIP.

TORONTO HAS always been one of the most blatant champions of public ownership, and Mayor Church one of the loudest of the supporters. But show Toronto and Mayor Church that public ownership is likely to involve the city in financial loss and immediately there is a change of tune or at least a modification of the trumpet's voice.

Mayor Church has discovered that if the Grand Trunk is taken over by the Government the railway's property will be exempt from assessment and that the city will lose considerable in taxes every year. The Mayor hastens to announce that the Government will be urged to make up this deficit out of the public funds. In other words, the people of Canada who have neither residential or business interests in the Queen City are to be required to help pay Toronto's taxes.

Montreal has a similar grievance. That city's annual loss in taxes will be half a million dollars a year if the Grand Trunk is purchased by the Government. So far Montreal has confined itself to opposing the proposed deal and has not advanced the naive proposition put forward by Mayor Church.

Public ownership is not always plain sailing. The popular idea received its first real jolt in this city when the gas plant and street railway were acquired by the Hydro Commission and the ratepayers were confronted with the fact that another valuable property, a source of civic revenue, had passed to the exempted list. That necessitated Mayor Duffus and other civic delegates going to Toronto and pleading for restitution, which was finally conceded, but for one year only.

And what have the citizens of Peterborough received by way of compensation for the loss of taxes? Certainly not cheaper gas or lower street car fares. Very little, either, in the way of extension or improvement in the service. But public ownership must be upheld regardless. The principle is sound. But facts are stubborn things, financial facts especially. Theories produce nothing in the way of civic revenue.

THE UNREPRESENTED MAJORITY.

IF THIS THREE or four party system is to be continued there must be some change made in the plan of representation, otherwise the majority of voters will find themselves without a voice in the Legislature of the day. In a majority of the constituencies of Ontario at the recent election there were three candidates in the field. The U. F. O. men who were elected, in no case, according to the returns, secured a majority of the votes polled.

Take the County of Halton, for example, a county that has been solidly Conservative for the past thirty years, with a normal majority of above five hundred which the Liberals were never able to overcome. Last Monday the U. F. O. esdidate was elected, the poll standing 4,418 votes for the present member, 3,404 for the Conservative, and 3,186 for the Liberal candidate. According to these returns, there are 6,590 electors who still have faith in the old parties. The progressives, radicals, or whatever they may be called, hold the seat on what is really a minority vote, so that the greater percentage are left without any real representation in the Provincial Government. The Halton case is only one of a number that could be cited.

Proportional representation is the only solution, and that is the direction in which the world is headed, when every man will have a chance to declare his first and second choice, and when there will be a majority and minority representative in every constituency, the number of members to be kept down by increasing the extent of the various ridings.

Members of the U. F. O. and the Independent Labor party have no occasion to flatter themselves that the alleged political revolution has been complete. Devotees of the old parties are still far in the majority. The cataclysm of Monday will serve to rouse them to new activity. The farmers and Labor men owe their success as much to the non-voters as to those who turned out on election day. It is always the stay-at-homes who really influence the result, for this class of voters are not looking for radical changes, but are passively satisfied with the old order. Had these voters gone to the polls Monday the latest chapter added to the political history of Canada would beyond a doubt have a different reading.

THE PASSING OF JOHN BARLEYCORN.

IF JOHN BARLEYCORN is not entirely dead, there is one thing certain, he is at least moribund. The people of Ontario have arisen in their might and administered the blow which promises to be fatal. And yet there are some who grieve at the bedside of the deposed and dying monarch, just as there are people who weep at the overthrow of that monster of iniquity, the ex-kaiser.

John Barleycorn has held sway in the world since the beginning. He made for all ages an object lesson in temperance of the patriarch Noah after that worthy and his family had been chosen as the special subjects of Providential solicitude. He worked among the wise men of later ancient history, among the heroes of Bible story until the wisdom of Solomon was constrained to arraign him as a public menace.

John Barleycorn has always been aggressive. He beat the missionary to every new field opened by civilization, and the grog shop was as a rule opened in the pioneer settlement before the church was built, and as the community extended the strongholds of the liquor monarch increased. Within the memory of the living, public drinking places in the rural communities outnumbered the schools and the churches combined. Morality suffered in proportion as John Barleycorn prospered. The country barroom was a nursery in which many a young man first learned the evil that wrecked his life later on.

But it was in the country that the fight against the tyranny of the autocrat first began. John Barleycorn was at last chased out of the rural section and forced to confine his energies to the towns and cities. But his tentacles reached out, his traps were set for the unwary in every direction.

John Barleycorn was as ruthless as ever the ex-kaiser and his minions were. He was deaf alike to the prayers of suffering womanhood and the sobs of starving and naked children. The ruin that he spread around him never cost him a sigh. He raised himself to wealth and power on the bodies of his victims. Like his fellow-worker, Death, with whom from the beginning he maintained a working partnership, he loved a shining mark.

It took four years of bloody strife, years of sacrifice and suffering, to overthrow the Hohenzollern dynasty. A vastly longer time was required to dethrone John Barleycorn; infinitely greater suffering and sacrifice. But the cause of right and justice always triumphs. The ex-kaiser is not dead, but he has been shorn of his strength. So far as his power to do further evil is concerned, he is as helpless as a babe. John Barleycorn and he have common cause. The former may have yet left some of his influence for the working of mischief, but his end is in sight. Ontario has administered a knockout blow. The former champion and bully went down Monday for the count, with none to mourn his fate but the members of the Citizens' Liberty (heaven save the mark) League and their kind.

Like the Prince of Evil, the liquor monarch was most dangerous when he quoted Scripture. But perverting the truths of Holy Writ failed to save him, although by his blasphemous casuistry he was able to deceive the unthinking for ages. But in the light of the gospel truth he eventually came to grief.

A TONIC FOR LITTLE ONES

THE ONLY REAL NERVE TONIC IS A GOOD SUPPLY OF RICH, RED BLOOD.

"If people would only attend to their blood, instead of worrying themselves ill," said an eminent nerve specialist, "we doctors would not see our consulting rooms crowded with nervous wrecks. More people suffer from worry than anything else.

The sort of thing which the specialist spoke of is the nervous run-down condition caused by overwork and the many anxieties of to-day. Sufferers find themselves tired, morose, overspirited and unable to keep their minds on anything. Any sudden noise hurts like a blow. They are full of groundless fears and do not sleep well at night. Headaches, neuralgia and other nerve pains are part of the misery, and it all comes from starved nerves.

Doctoring the nerves with poisonous sedatives is a terrible mistake. The only real nerve tonic is a good supply of rich, red blood. Therefore to cure nervousness and run-down health Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be taken. These pills actually make new, rich blood, which strengthens the nerves, improves the appetite, gives new strength and spirits, and makes hitherto despondent people bright and cheerful. If you are at all "out of sorts" you should begin curing yourself to-day by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"BE WISE IN TIME" SAYS NEW YORK PAPER

(New York Sun.)

Colonel Roosevelt rarely failed to make use of an expression in the discussion of important questions that would apply with exceptional force just now to the problem weighing so heavily on the United States Senate in the matter of the League Treaty. It was this: "Nine-tenths of wisdom is being wise in time."

The difference in being wise before commitment to a position or policy is the difference between success and failure; is the difference between keeping out of trouble and plunging into trouble; is the difference between sound statemanship and stupid or dishonest statesmanship; is the difference between sound reasoning and sloppy reasoning; and in the matter of the League Treaty it is the difference between loyalty to an independent America and that of vain strivings for footless idealism.

At no time in its history has the United States Senate had to deal with a matter so far reaching and so dangerous to the very life of the nation as an independent entity as it now has in the Wilson League for transferring our sovereignty to the superstate it would create.

In this situation what better method of procedure than Mr. Roosevelt's precept to be wise in time? And how better can the Senate follow this sound precept than to take ample time, to take all the time necessary to take all the time in the world, if need be, to get to the bottom of this dangerous compact, and to trace out with infinate care every word, every little hidden word that could in any circumstance work to our disadvantage as a free and independent people. This would, in very truth, mean being wise in time.

Failure to take the necessary time to fathom this monstrously impudent thing, and to acquaint the American people of its meaning in all its hideous possibilities for injury to America would be to be false to the responsibility accepted by United States Senators and imposed upon them by the Constitution of the United States.

Nine-tenths of wisdom is being wise in time.

PRIVATE VERSUS STATE ROAD

(Journal of Commerce)

One of the Ministers at Ottawa intimated that the Canadian Pacific Railway management are opposed to the proposal of the Government to acquire the Grand Trunk. This was given as a reason for supporting the bill, though why it should be is not quite clear. What the views of the C. P. R. folk are we do not know. But there does not seem to be any reason why they should be disturbed by what is happening about the Grand Trunk. It is not at all probable that the C. P. R. people have any fear of the competition of the enlarged Canadian National system. As to freight and passenger rates, the things that most concern the general public, these are fixed for all the railways by the Board of Railway Commissioners. The only competition that can occur will be in respect of efficiency of management and service. It is no reflection on those who are trying to improve the Government railway service to say that its standard does not seem to be up to that of the C. P. R. There is usually more complaint among business men against the Government system than against the C. P. R. Perhaps the conditions under which the two systems have been managed gave the C.P.R. an advantage. Will these conditions be any better for the C.N.R. in the future? At any rate so far as efficiency of railway service is concerned it is not likely that the C.P.R. management has any fear of dangerous competition from the C.N.R.

WIRELESS KNOWN HUNDRED YRS. AGO

SCOTTISH SCIENTIST SENT MESSAGES ACROSS TAY RIVER.

A successful experiment made in wireless telegraphy nearly a century ago was recalled by Sir William Don in welcoming the delegates to the annual conference of the Municipal Tramways Association at Dundee recently.

Dundee was the home of James Bowman Lindsay, a great scientist and philogist, who spent many years in valuable electrical researches. In his wireless telegraphy experiments he used water as the conducting medium.

His first public trials were across the Earl Grey dock at Dundee, and then across the Bay at Glencare, where the river is nearly three-quarters of a mile wide. Later he transmitted signals nearly two miles. In September, 1859, he read a paper before the British Association on telegraphing without wires, which won the approval of Faraday and Sir G. B. Airy, then Astronomer Royal.

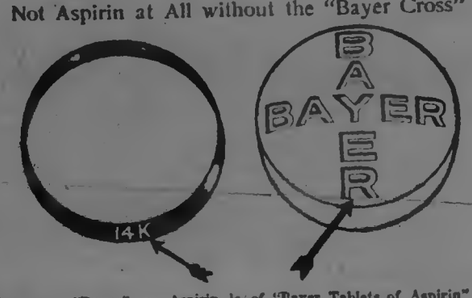
ONLY TABLETS MARKED "BAYER" ARE ASPIRIN

Not Aspirin at All without the "Bayer Cross"



The name "Bayer" on Aspirin is like 14 Karat on gold. It positively identifies the only genuine Aspirin,—the Aspirin prescribed by physicians for over nineteen years and now made in Canada.

Always buy an unbroken package and see that it bears the name "Bayer"

There is only one Aspirin—"Bayer"—You must say "Bayer"

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

of "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" which contains proper directions for Colds, Headache, Toothache, Earache, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Joint Pains, and Pain generally.

Tin boxes of 12 tablets cost but a few cents. Larger "Bayer" packages.

THE MERCHANTS' COLUMN

Edited by
MANSFIELD F. HOUSE
(Copyright.)

In this column, which appears every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, will appear news and short articles of special interest to merchants, their salespeople and business men and women in general.

"Mike" Writes Ads Just as He Talks

Twelve years ago M. H. Loeffler, known around Grand Junction, Col., as "Mike"—started his clothing store $4000 borrowed capital and decided case on personalized advertising. He would be himself talking to his readers of the advertising. If 1919 continues as it is his sales for the year will be about 1000 per cent over those of the first year.

Each Loeffler advertisement, usually a single column piece, is made up of "Mikograms," and so headed. Each is signed "Mike." There is no formal language in the body nor formal signature at the bottom. But, personal and interesting as they all are, each brings in the merchandise talk as forcibly as the most so-called efficient advertisement written in 'undertaker's English." The proof is in the sales—for Loeffler sells wherever the local newspapers circulate.

"I was influenced in selecting this style," said Mr. Loeffler, "by the simple fact that you can clip advertisements and when you can cut off the name plates of them you cannot tell whose nine out of ten of them are. I believe that an advertisement should reflect the individuality of the advertiser and his firm. Especially in the smaller community.

"When I first began to advertise I decided that I don't care to write the kind of advertisements that everybody else was writing. I didn't write any. I talked it! I simply talked to my prospective customers just as if they were at the counter and I was there with the merchandise in my hands, selling it to them. My advertisements may not be college English, but I believe they are every day, human talk."

Here is a typical Loeffler advertisement:

MIKOGRAMS

It takes your friends to say horrid truths about you.

For instance: I had to make a trip to Chicago to replenish my stock of Blank Brand Clothing and to pick up a few snappy Ties, Sox and Shirts.

But my friends insist I went to bid one last farewell to a footrest in the shape of a brass elk, to blow the foam off the top for the last time; to say, "I'll take the same" just once more—You know the mean things your friends will say about you!

But, honest to goodness, if I went to buy some new..... Brand Clothes; and, besides again, I am absolutely eligible to run for school director even on a prohibition ticket—If you don't believe it, ask Charlie Jones or Mrs. Gallupe. Never once have I applied for a permit. (Again my friends say that I went after it in person. False again.)

But, anyhow, I brought back a real swell selection of real pretty Summer Suits—the kind that always keep this store of ours at the head of the procession.

See some of them in the windows.

I would go to the moon, even though it were dry, if I knew I could buy something good for you.

Gets Good Results From Scissors Sales

A common article such as a pair of scissors, lends itself to successful sales possibilities, as the demand for scissors is always good and the assortment endless. The Bronson Company, of Cleveland, holds such a sale monthly, displaying all sizes, shapes and kinds, from the common cut to the specially designed scissors on velvet-lined trays. Each sale has been greater than the last and a very satisfactory business has been developed on this article.

Expense Should Include Interest on Capital

"Interest on investment is becoming a mighty important element of cost in these days of fair price investigations, and especially when our assistant attorney general feels that a penny a pound is enough profit for the retail dealer," says W. E. Koch, of Kansas City.

It is the "invisible" costs such as interest on investment, depreciation, spoiled goods and bad debts rather than the visible costs such as payroll, rent, taxes, supplies and so forth, which the retail dealer has most to fear, according to Koch.

Return on investment is rather commonly neglected, he points out, a great many retailers assuming this is properly included in net profit. As a matter of fact it is not. Interest on investment is no more the profit of a business than interest on borrowed funds is. Really there is no difference between the two except that in one case the proprietor happens to be the person who lends the funds to the business and in the other it is an outside person.

Interest on investment is an expense of the business. Webster gives the following definition:

"American economists in general have held that profit as a share in distribution does not properly include either interest or insurance, but represents the reward of the employer for his skill, as distinct from that of the capitalist for his savings. This view is the one now generally prevalent."

The merchant who does not deduct interest on his investment as an expense to the business, before arriving at his net profit, simply is drifting toward the rocks, for his books show a larger return than his business really is earning.

A merchant who formerly has earned a salary of $2400 acquires $10,000 and decides to go in business for himself. Neglecting to figure interest on investment and his own salary as expenses, he shows a net profit of $3000, and feels that he was wise in going in business for himself and in having bettered his profit by $600 in the jump from $2400 to $3000.

If he were assailed as a profiteer, and were forced to declare his profit in defense, or for purposes of taxation on the business, he would suffer through his own fault. Actually, with such figures the business shows no profit at all.

As a matter of fact his situation is exactly the same as if he had retained his former position at a salary of $2400, and had invested his $10,000 in stocks or bonds which would have saved himself much worry and had he done so.

His personal services have earned him $2400, as they would have in his former position. His capital has earned him $600, as it would invested anywhere at 6 per cent. But his business has earned him nothing.

For, if he borrowed the capital for the business he would have to pay $600 for it, and if he merely contented himself with owning the business and hiring some one to run it for him, he would have to pay $2400 to get a man as good as himself.

TORTURED BY TERRIBLE ECZEMA

Suffered Three Years Until She Tried "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

DAME PETER LAMARRE

Pointe St. Pierre, P. Q.

"I think it my duty to tell you how much your medicine has done for me.

I suffered for three years with terrible Eczema. I consulted several doctors and they did not do me any good.

Then, I used one box of 'Sootha-Salva' and two boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' and my hands are now clear. The pain is gone and there has been no return. I think it is a marvellous cure because no other medicine did me any good and I tried all the remedies I ever heard of, without benefit until I used 'Sootha-Salva' and 'Fruit-a-tives.'

LABOR MEN ASK FOR INCREASE IN WAGES

HAMILTON UNION MEN HAVE PREPARED NEW SCHEDULE FOR 1920.

Hamilton, Oct. 24.— Contractors and other employers of labor are going to get a severe jolt in the "sweet by and by." The local Building and Common Laborers' Union has drawn up a scale of wages, which after being ratified by the Hamilton Building Trades Council, will be presented to the bosses. Following are the rates, and if approved they are to become effective May 1, next: Common laborers, sewer and foundation diggers, present rate 45c and 55c per hour, to minimum of 55c per hour; building laborers handling bricks, concrete mixers, by hand or otherwise, carpenters and plumbers' helpers, present rate 50c to 65c per hour, to minimum of 60c per hour; mortar mixers and mortar carriers, by hod or wheelbarrow, present rate 50c to 65c per hour, to minimum of 65c per hour; plasterers' laborers, present rate 60c to 75c per hour, to minimum of 70c per hour; foremen laborers present rate 60c to 75c per hour, to minimum of 75c per hour.

REVOLVER IS NO USE AGAINST A HATPIN

YOUTHFUL BANDIT FLED FROM WOMAN WHO WAS SO ARMED

New York, Oct. 24.—Chas. Almendinger, a 17-year-old boy in the uniform of the United States Navy, consulted his carefully-kept notebook in the West Side Police Court. Then he told the Judge how on fifteen occasions enumerated therein since October 5 he had held up persons in Central Park at the point of a little 22-calibre revolver.

Of his victims—eleven men and four women—he only one who had inspired him with fear, he said, was a young woman, who drew a hatpin and pursued him in a desperate half-mile chase among the trees and shrubs. His gross earning in the "hold-up business" totalled no more than $32,25—and "the 25 cents was a war savings stamp."

A few months ago he came back from France, and later received 20 days' shore leave, which time he said he devoted to learning the art of highway robbery. He was held for a further hearing.

BREACH OF PROMISE

Miss Pogue of Lindsay awarded $1000 Damages.

At a sitting of the Supreme Court yesterday, the second case was a breach of promise of marriage, Miss Pogue of Lindsay claiming $5000 damages from defendent, Huggins. Huggins is at present in the West, the exact locality unknown, his only relatives here being a widowed mother. I. E. Weldon for plaintiff, L. R. Knight for defendent.

The jury brought in a verdict awarding the plaintiff $1,000 damages

AN INSIDE BATH MAKES YOU LOOK AND FEEL FRESH

Says a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast keeps illness away.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, declaring this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the alimentary canal before eating more food.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or, have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who have bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to show the value of inside bathing.

THE FALL WEATHER HARD ON LITTLE ONES

Canadian fall weather is extremely hard on little ones. One day is warm and bright, and the next wet and cold. These sudden changes bring on colds, cramps and colic and unless baby's little stomach is kept right the result may be serious. There is nothing to equal Baby's Own Tablets in keeping the little ones well. They sweeten the stomach, regulate the bowels, break up colds, and make baby thrive. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BELOW ZERO IN WEST

Toronto, Oct. 25.—"Temperatures in the west are running very low yet," said the weather man. "At Swift Current and Qu'Appelle the mercury had gone down to 8 degrees below zero, while Medicine Hat was 6 below, and Edmonton had a zero temperature. Calgary was just six above. Manitoba is cold with local snowfalls, and Saskatchewan and Alberta are fair and cold. In the Maritime Provinces to-day it is fair and cool, with moderate variable winds.

"Saturday here will be rainy, with increasing easterly winds, and to-day will be mostly cloudy with moderate winds blowing from the east. Yesterday the mean temperature was 42 degrees, which is 7 above the average. Thursday's maximum temperature was 60, and the minimum 45.

PRICES OF PORK MUST COME DOWN

REDUCTIONS TO GO INTO EFFECT WEEK FROM SATURDAY—MILK TOO.

Toronto, Oct. 23. - The order by the Board of Commerce, compelling the packers to reduce prices on pork products will go into effect a week from Saturday, according to private advices received from Ottawa. The packers wanted this order modified, but the full board has decided that the original order goes.

The board will be in Toronto, it is understood, next week, when Col Price's recommended order, putting the price of clothing within reach of the public purse, will be established.

The board will also consider the milk order. The Toronto Milk Producers' Association held a meeting and the order was fully discussed The farmers will stick out for $3.35 a can as the winter price on December 1st.

MERCY SHOWN TO QUEBEC DEFAULTERS

PAY PRESCRIBED FINE OR SPEND TWO YEARS IN JAIL.

Justice Greenshields, in a judgment delivered this morning sustains the appeal made by the military authorities from a decision of Judge Leet in the police court here fining Achille Pagrin, alleged draft evader, $25 a month in jail, if payment of the fine is not made. Judge Greenshields ruled that fines in cases of offences against the military service must be not less than $250 and not more than $5,000, and that in default of payment evaders must be sentenced to jail for a period not exceeding two years. His lordship decided that the period of prescription for offences under the act, is two years instead of six months as laid down in the criminal code.

The decision of Mr. Justice Greenshields affects nearly a thousand cases of draft evaders now before the courts of Montreal and other cities in Quebec.

HAD TO LIE IN BED MOST OF THE TIME

Mrs. Bartels Could Eat Only Milk and Crackers—Is Now Like New Person.

"Of all medicines in the world none can equal Tanlac," said Mrs. Henry Bartels of 786 Van Buren St., St. Paul, Minn., the other day.

"I suffered from indigestion so bad that what I ate wouldn't stay on my stomach," she continued. "I had to diet myself for a long time on milk and crackers, and I lost weight rapidly, going from one hundred and thirty-five to one hundred and nineteen pounds, an actual loss of sixteen pounds in about three months time. Gas would form on my stomach, and sometimes rise up into my chest and press against my heart so bad that I could hardly get my breath I was restless all the time and couldn't sleep at night. I had awful headaches, and at times I was so dizzy that I couldn't get out of bed in the morning Finally I got so frightfully run down that I had to lie in bed most of the time and have my daughter do the housework. I tried everything to build up my system, medicines, treatments, dieting and everything else I knew of but none of them did me any good.

"One day I noticed in the paper about Tanlac, and decided to try it, and it proved to be the thing I've been looking for. I've taken four bottles now, and it seems like a dream the way I've improved. My appetite came right back, and it's the truth I can hardly get enough to eat now. I don't suffer at all from gas or indigestion, and that has made my breathing like it ought to be. I am never restless or I don't feel tired and drowsy like I used to but feel rested and refreshed. Headaches and dizzy spells don't trouble me any more, and I'm gaing in weight and strength right along. It's wonderful how Tanlac has built up my whole system, and made a new woman out of me altogether. I'm only [illegible] experiences with such a remarkable medicine as Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock, by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield, by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowler's Corners, by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert, by A. J. Scott; in Westwood, by G. Pringle & Son.

BOLSHEVIK SUCCESSES?

Claim Victories and Prisoners by Dashing Attacks.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Oct. 24.—The Bolshevik official report received by wireless claims that their troops have recaptured Pavlovsk and Tsarko-Selo, south of Petrograd, by a dashing attack. Many prisoners were taken. The advance continues.

The report further states that the Bolsheviki have recaptured Tobolsk on the Siberian frontier, from the army of Admiral Kolchak.

OUT O' ORDER STOMACHS

Indigestion, Acidity, Sourness and Gases ended with "Pape's Diapepsin"

The moment you eat a tablet or two of Pape's Diapepsin all the lumps of indigestion pain, the sourness, heartburn and belching of gases, due to acidity, vanish—truly wonderful! Millions of people know that it is needless to be bothered with indigestion, dyspepsia or a disordered stomach. A few tablets of Pape's Diapepsin neutralize acidity and give relief at once—no waiting! Buy a box of Pape's Diapepsin now! Don't stay dyspeptic! Try to regulate your stomach so you can eat favorite foods without causing distress. The cost is so little. The benefits so great.

IT IS BETTER TO PAY THE PRICE than PAY THE PENALTY

In our Prescription Department it is not exactly our aim to fill your prescription at the cheapest rate, but rather to use the best drugs and chemicals money canbuy, and charge a reasonable amount for material that is certain to have the effect, for which the prescription is written. This is well worthy of your consideration, and a Dime or a Dollar does not weigh in the balance with inert or inferior ingredients used in a prescription.

BELLEVILLE TEAM HERE FOR RUGBY GAME

LOCAL COLLEGIATE TEAM DETERMINED TO GAIN REVENGE FOR LAST YEAR'S DEFEAT

The old rivals will be at it again this afternoon on the Rugby campus at Nicholls Oval. The Belleville High school team are coming here determined to take the measure of the local Collegiate team, as they did last year. Capt. Mowat of the locals, however, reports that his team is in good shape and is confident of getting sweet revenge for last year's reverses at the hands of the Bay of Quinte aggregation

The game will commence at 1:30 o'clock (standard time), and a good crowd is anticipated.

Knox Church, St. Thomas, unveiled a memorial tablet in memory of the boys of the congregation who had fallen in the war.

The 5-year old son of Fred Taylor, Kirkton, was seriously injured when the buggy in which he was driving with his parents was struck by an automobile

A C. P. R. train demolished an auto owned by A. Brown, which was stalled on the crossing at Port Burwell, although the driver tried to flag the train.

A young girl giving her name as E. Nelson, who has been working in a Woodstock store for several weeks, has been arrested on a charge of forgery in the U. S.

Ernest Smith, Moncton, N. B., a returned soldier, was shot through the head while examining a German automatic revolver which he had brought from overseas.

NO CAUSE FOR BRITISH PANIC

FINANCIAL POSITION LESS SERIOUS THAN IN MOST OTHER COUNTRIES TODAY.

London, Oct. 24.—Opposition to any change in fiscal policies of Great Britain and a plea for careful consideration of the situation before the country were expressed in the House of Lords to-day by Viscount Milner, Secretary of State for the Colonies, who replied to criticisms of the Government by Lord Buckmaster, who introduced a resolution calling attention to the "gravity of the financial position" and suggesting the necessity for the imposition of additional taxes.

"I deprecate panicky views which are prevalent regarding the country's financial position," said Viscount Milner, whose statements were considered as the Government views of the situation. "The position, though grave, is far less serious than that in any other great country, with the possible exception of the United States and Japan. It certainly does not justify any rash changes in the fiscal system, and no proof has been given that additional tax is necessary. Nothing should be done until after deliberate and careful study. Irreparable mischief might be done to the recovery of trade and industry by recourse to such an expedient as a general capital levy, which has been proposed by Lord Buckmaster."

Adverse Circumstances.

Viscount Milner warmly defended the Government against charges of neglect to care for the financial status of the country.

"There have been a number of adverse circumstances, such as the delay in arranging the terms of peace, troubles in Afghanistan and Egypt, and unsettled conditions in the Near East, which have prevented the curtailing of expenditures," he but it is not catastrophic, and the proper way is to regard this year's deficit as part of the war burden. It is quite certain we shall receive several hundred millions next year from the liquidation of war assets and the debts of our dominions may be regarded as good debts. The amounts recoverable from foreign countries and Germany are certainly speculative, but it would be preposterous to suppose that foreign countries are going to default in their obligations. Such an assumption would be an insult to our great allies."

CODY NOT UNEASY ABOUT THE FUTURE

GOOD EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION—THINGS CANNOT BE MUSSED VERY MUCH.

"I am not at all uneasy about the educational future. I think we have a good foundation, so that any one who takes my place cannot mess things very much."

Thus spoke Hon. H. J. Cody, in addressing the Insurance Institute of Toronto last evening on "Education as a factor in Reconstruction."

Principal Jeffries, of Jarvis St Collegiate, who explained to the institute how special night classes could be established for them, said: "For the teaching body, I would say that no matter what may happen in the province, we are very hopeful that the province will not lose the services of Dr. Cody as Minister of Education."

Replying to this the Minister remarked: "As to the future, that of course is entirely uncertain. When the people of a province turn out a Government, they also turn out all the members of that Government, and the people have given their verdict."

In referring to the resources of Ontario, Dr. Cody later produced much laughter by observing: "And we have a people, in the main well educated—but liable to sudden gusts of passion and prejudice."

H. W. Crossin presided and gave the presidential address.

NORTHWEST SAID "NO"

Gave Big Majority on All Four Questions.

Toronto, Oct. 25.—Northwest Toronto voted emphatically "No" on all four questions submitted to them concerning the liquor legislation Monday last. The official figures as given out by the returning officer are:

	Yes.	No.
Question 1 ...	14,822	23,852
Question 2 ...	16,395	22,218
Question 3 ...	15,588	21,007
Question 4 ...	17,125	21,409

A rat-killing contest is in progress in an Ohio county and farmers have divided into teams the losers to furnish the supper.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in avoiding it

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

REAL BARGAINS IN BOOTS AND SHOES

Mr. W. G. White, of Boston, U. S. A., has taken over the "Walk Easy" shoe business, George street, and the stock is now being reduced substantially, at sacrifice prices, in preparation of business planning for the intends re-modelling the store front and to carry exclusive lines of boots and shoes for men, women, misses and children, always priced as low as is commensurate with good value. Mr. White has had extensive experience in the boot and shoe business, of which he is thoroughly conversant from A to Z, and his connection with dependable markets assures the latest desirable models always on hand at the "Walk Easy" store under its new management. For the next week, and possibly longer, a stock-reducing sale will be conducted at this store, and a visit will convince you that remarkable snaps in footwear and listed for your selection. Remember, that under the terms of sale several thousand dollars worth of boots must be cleared out, and this means bargains.

SAME OLD OBJECTION TO STATE OWNERSHIP

TORONTO INSISTS UPON TAX RECEIPTS IF G. T. R. IS PURCHASED.

Toronto, Oct. 24. The Union of Municipalities, of which Toronto is one unit, are, according to the mayor to get after the government in respect to the taxes paid by the Grand Trunk Railway in view of its nationalization and to ask the government to continue this payment

"If the G. T. R. bill is passed we want the railroad to continue paying the taxes," said the mayor. Mayor Fisher of Ottawa and W. D. Lighthall, secretary to the Union of Municipalities, conferred with the mayor yesterday on the subject, with the result that an interview will probably be arranged with the minister of railways and other members of the government on the matter of policy involved. "I myself am writing to all the Toronto members on the subject," said the mayor. "The railways receive fire and police protection and many other privileges and we are anxious they should continue to pay their taxes. We shall endeavor to get a clause inserted in the bill to that effect."

The assessment of the three railways running into Toronto for the year 1919 is: Grand Trunk, $11,871,267; Canadian Pacific, $9,202,203; Canadian Northern, $1,385,895.

Spiced Ale and Toast at Fair in

At the recent opening of the Barnstaple (Devon) Fair, the origin of which time-honored institution is —to use the phrase of Captain Tudor Rees, M. P., at the quaint Toast and Ale opening ceremony—"buried and obscured in the midst of a great and picturesque antiquity."

The guildhall was overcrowded, and the guests drank spiced ale, prepared by the borough beadles from an old recipe, and ladled from a massive silver bowl by the mayor (Councillor F. A. Jewell.)

SHE withstood everything in the field and above all was, and still is, the last and only car to survive until the cessation of hostilities"—Extract from letter received by Ford Motor Company from a British Soldier, in Africa.

Over shell-torn roads, through water soaked fields, second only to the tanks in its power to climb debris and crater holes, the Ford car made a world famous record in the fighting area of the great war. In press despatches, in field reports, in letters, in rhyme and song the praises of the Ford were sounded.

In France	700 cars out of 1,000 were Fords
In Italy	850 cars out of 1,000 were Fords
In Egypt	996 cars out of 1,000 were Fords
In Mesopotamia	999 cars out of 1,000 were Fords

The Ford power plant that established this world-wide record in every theatre of the war remains the same. It will be in the Ford you buy.

"DUMBELLS" CONCERT PARTY OF GREAT MERIT

ORIGINAL OVERSEAS REVUE ENTHUSES CAPACITY AUDIENCE

The "Dumbells," the incomparable concert party of the Third Division C. E. F. made its appearance at the Grand Opera House last night in their original overseas revue "Biff, Bing, Bang" and simply delighted the large audience which filled the local playhouse. This company of entertainers has a record of over 500 performances at the front as well as a month in London England, and have been playing to Canadian audiences since they were demobilized.

Last night's programme is a hard one to describe, there was so much goodness in it. The performance opened with a laugh and the laughter continued throughout the two hours and a half that the players were on the boards. Besides songs and dances the company produced two most amusing comedy sketches, one entitled "Commandeered" and the other "The Morning After."

The singing of the members of the company is of a very high order, their costumes and scenery up-to-date and in every respect they are a most pleasing aggregation of entertainers. The female impersonators are particularly good, their delineations of the characters assigned to them being most natural.

In the audience was noticed a large number of returned men who had probably seen this splendid aggregation in France during the stormy days of the war. What memories they must have had last night. Memories of the old theatre at Auchonvillers, the Y. M. C. A. hut at Gouy Servins, the cinema hut at the Corps School at Pernes, the theatre at Aubigny and countless others. These places were all on the itinerary of the "Dumbells" while they were entertaining the tired soldiery in France.

The "Dumbells" besides giving a matinee performance this afternoon will be seen again tonight at the Grand and it is safe to say that they will be greeted by audiences just as large as that of last night.

MIGNON TELGMANN COMING TO THE EMPIRE

MUSIC LOVERS WILL HEAR TALENTED VIOLINISTE FIRST THREE DAYS EACH WEEK

The music loving people of this town will be delighted to know that the very popular and talented violinist is going to reside here again. The management of the Empire have been very fortunate in securing her services for the coming season. Her first appearance will be on Monday night when she will render several selections during the performance. Owing to previous engagements, the Empire were only able to secure her for the first three days of each week, viz-Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week. Miss Telgmann already has a host of admirers in Peterborough and no doubt will make many more during her sojourn here.

By sixty dollar bushelmen;
Who cobbles my twelve dollar beauts
Collects some fifty yen;
And then I have them polished by
A paltry forty dollar guy.

DI VICO'S COMET RACING TOWARD US AT RATE OF MILLION MILES EACH DAY

As it Approaches the Globe Its Speed Will Be Accelerated--Visited the Earth's Region Before in 1846.

Within three hundred million miles of the globe, racing toward the earth at millions of miles a day, is a comet, known as DiVico's, and which may prove as spectacular as Halley's orb, and which brings with it another mystery of the celestial regions for solution, says the Boston Globe. Its speed is ever accumulating, and it is expected to be seen any time now by star gazers and savants in every observatory from the Himalayas to the Andes, who each night are sweeping the heavens in search of the expected visitor.

The comet, named for a French astronomer, DiVico, has not been seen since 1846, when it was first sighted by Prof. W. C. Bond, of Harvard, on Feb. 36. Two days later it was picked up by Prof. DiVico, of Rome, and was named after him.

Seen Only Once.

Because of the fact that this comet has only been seen once, and this at a time when the science of astronomy lacked many of the advantages and discoveries which is now has to aid it in giving definition to heavenly bodies, it is believed that many interesting and possibly new facts will be discovered when the comet puts in an appearance.

The comet, since its initial and only appearance, has travelled thirty-four times the distance between the earth and the sun. It is now believed to be within 300,000,000 miles of the earth. As it approaches the globe, and incidentally its great attraction the sun, it will go faster and faster. When it is first picked up it will seem as a glowing object of a hazy or rather nebulous type. Later it will begin to take on the appearance and luster of a star.

As it approaches the earth at increasing speed the gaseous envelope frozen solidly in the inconceivably low temperature of the far distant region through which it is, and has been, travelling, will begin to grow and expand as the warmth of the sun's rays thaw out the hydro-carbon substance in which the nucleus is enveloped.

Later evaporation will occur as a result of the solar heat, particles of cometary dust will first be drawn downward by the gravity of the sun and then repelled by the pressure of the solar light waves. From the dispersement of these particles follows the magnificent illumination when the naked eye will be able to discern the tail of the meteor as it rushes overhead among the stars with a period of approximately 75.71 years, with an uncertainty of three years, this comet may appear at any time from 1919 on.

DiVico's comet was first discovered by Prof. W. C. Bond, of Harvard Observatory, just before the outbreak of the Mexican War. It was not until two days later that the comet was picked up by Prof. DiVico. The "Mexican War Comet," as it was called, was under observation for two months and its orbit was then computed, giving this interesting visitor a period of about 75 years.

Anyone who has ridden in a motor car at a mile a minute knows that the speed at that rate is fully fast enough. However, compared with the comet in its eliptical orbit around the sun, a mile a minute would be considered a snail's pace. At this average speed it would require more than 10,000 years for Di Vico's comet to traverse the pathway it has covered since its departure in 1846, that is, about 7,000,000,000 miles. The comet should now be well within 300,000,000 miles of the earth, somewhere between the orbits of Mars and Jupiter.

When Di Vico's comet visited the region of the earth's orbit in 1846 the anectroscope had not yet been brought into use as an instrument of astronomers are eagerly awaiting this latest arrival in the celestial heavens. Whether DiVico's comet will arrive with all the glory of a long, diaphanous tail and glowing nucleus cannot be answered with any degree of certainty, for it has only been seen and identified on one visit, and the splendor of comets depends, not only on the brightness, which is variable, but also largely upon what chemical elements compose head, nucleus and tail.

GOOD HUNTING NEAR THE C. N. R. ROAD

GOVERNMENT LINE WILL AS USUAL BE FAVORITE WITH NIMRODS.

The expansion of settlement in the north country is providing new opportunities for hunters in Ontario. Red Deer which furnishes the bulk of the sport have a tendency to increase in regions where people are commencing to congregate. As lumbering and other developments extend north and west they enter the big game areas and there is, therefore in these instances, longer trips for hunters, but there is also the added attraction of the possibilty of bagging a moose along with the smaller animals.

The regulations for the open season for deer and moose this year have been changed, and the deer season instead of opening on the 1st of November, opens on the 5th, and continues to the 20th, both days inclusive. For moose south of the line from Mattawa to Port Arthur the open season is from the 1st. day of October to the 30th day of November both days inclusive. These dates also apply to the district lying along the Canadian National Railways west of Port Arthur to the Manitoba Boundary.

During the past 10 years, upwards of 20,000 deer have been taken out between Deer Lake and Porlock on the Canadian National Railways. It is safe to say that no district on the continent contained as many deer as this area, and most of them were shot within four or five miles of the railway. The result is that there are not as many deer close to the line, as when the camps were first established, but a few miles back from the railway, where little shooting has been done, they are still very numerous. Large herds of deer winter in the water shed between the Magnetawan and the Pickerel Rivers, where the green bush breaks into the hardwood ranges; directly the cold weather sets in and the snow begins to deepen, deer can be seen moving north-eastward in small bands towards their winter quarters.

A few years ago deer were seldom seen north of the Superior Divide. Now, they have gradually worked their way north in the vicinity of small settlements, and are becoming quite numerous in districts where mining and lumbering industires are being carried on, notably round Shining Tree and as far west as Foleyet on the Canadian National Railways.

The old hunting grounds in the big "burns" north of the Muskoka Lakes, also around Crane and Blackstone Lakes and on the Central Ontario division, which are natural breeding grounds, deserted by hunting parties for newer fields, are gradually becoming restocked and deer are much more numerous there than they were some years ago.

Hunters have also begun to realize that the moose country to the north is now easily accessible, and more than ever before they are going after big game. To encourage the sport, Guides Organizations have been established under Mr. F. C. Armstrong, Chief Guide, at Cochrane and Mr. Neil McDougal at Nipigon, also Mr. Grant Howe at Hornpayne, who are familiar with the territory and are able to provide good men to look after parties and also give reliable information about the best sections to hunt. They take pains to direct those going in, so that too many hunters do not go into the same grounds. This being virgin territory, there are practically no camps in the country, so it is necessary for hunting parties to take in tents and supplies.

In Ontario there are practically no provincial parks, so that the whole country is open to hunters and taken all round there is no better district for shooting and fishing on the continent.

FOR EXPANSION OF CANADIAN TRADE

EVERY SUBSCRIBER TO VICTORY LOAN WILL BENEFIT BY IMPROVEMENT.

Canada today is in the position of a big business house which has a rapidly growing trade. She is making money. Her organization is in a satisfactory state. Her workers are alert, active and industrious and her future is bright and promising.

But the success of her business depends entirely upon her ability to procure working capital. She must have money to enable her to develop and expand her trade, commerce, and industries.

Where is this working capital to come from? The obvious thing for Canada to do is to apply to her bankers—the Citizens of Canada for a loan. This she is doing through the Victory Loan.

All classes of Canadian people will benefit by the development and expansion of Canada's business enterprise—the farmer, manufacturer, merchant, lumberman, fisherman, miner and laborer. Every subscriber to the Victory Loan, is therefore, lending his money to Canada, to enable her to carry on her business and provide employment and good wages for everyone associated in her enterprise. Without this co-operation and unity of purpose her farms, factories and stores would not be so profitable and unemployment and discontent would take the places of plenty of work and contentment.

ROUGH-HOUSE BOXING

Free Fight and Near Riot at Halifax Bouts.

Halifax, N.S., Oct. 25.—The Parson-Hume boxing bout became a free fight and a near riot. In the eleventh round, Hume, who hails from England, assaulted the referee, William Miller, objecting to one of his decisions. Then Parson and Hume engaged in a free street fight in the centre of the ring. The police entered and stopped the melee. Hume was hissed as he left the ring, and but for the police, would have been very roughly handled. As it was, chairs flew into the ring, and there was a tremendous uproar. The decision was given to Parson, who is a North Sydney man.

The principal bout at the same place, was between Johnny "Kid" Herman, of New York, and Harry Jones, of Halifax. Herman got the decision at the end of the fifteenth round. It was unpopular.

REMARKABLE LEASES OF THE OLD TIME PAYMENTS IN KIND IN UNITED KINGDOM

Queer Covenants Entered into Between the Crown and the Lease-Holders—Some Rents Purely Nomiual.

Some of Lord Massereene's tenants in Co. Antrim still hold their farms on leases which reserve to their landlord certain duties, such as so many days work of a man and a horse, so many ducks, capons or hens, says Answers.

They have recently been warned that they must either perform these duties or else agree to an increase in rent proportionate to their value.

Few people have the least idea of the amazing number and variety of queer covenants entered into an old leases.

Here is a sample of one such ancient lease in the exact words in which it was originally granted:

"I, William, king, give to thee, Howden Royden, my hop and my down from Heaven to Earth, from earth to hell, for thee and thine to dwell, from me to and mine to thee and thine, for a bow and a broad arrow, when I come to hunt upon Yarrow. In witness that this is sooth, I bite this wax with my tooth in the presence of Magge, Maud, and Margery, and my third son, Henry."

The document is much shorter than any modern lease, and not half so difficult to understand. It amounts to this—that the king gave Royden these lands in perpetual leasehold on condition that he himself received hospitality when he came hunting, and was provided with instruments of the chase.

Any number of tenants held land on similar terms. Some had to provide arrows, some spears, some horses or dogs. William de Gray held his land at Hokenhall, in the county of Nottingham, by the service of carrying a gerfalcon from Michaelmas till Lent at the king's court.

Hightesty, also in Nottingham, was held upon condition to find dogs to destroy wolves and foxes.

The tenant of Herchin, in Lancashire got a good estate free on condition that whenever the king came to Lancashire, the tenant should meet him with a horn and a white wand, conduct him through the county, and remain with him until he left it.

Sometimes the service rendered in lieu of rent was the provision of some delicacy for the royal table. Walter de Burgh held Rakley, in Norfolk, by paying two muids of red wine and two hundreds of pears, called permaines, yearly. From tenants at Westbury, in Wilts, honey and ale had to be sent to the king.

We hear of wool, lambs, hemp, flax, butter and cheese being paid instead of money as rents for farms during the middle ages.

Freme's lands, in Gloucestershire, were held by what was called heriot service. Thomas Freme, of Lypiatt, paid to the owner, Lord Berkeley, twenty horseshoes and their nails. It may be mentioned that a horseshoe was more valuable in those days than in these.

Rent in kind paid for land at Haddenham, in Bucks, was called "booting corn," which means that it was paid as bote, boot, or compensation.

At Grimston, in Norfolk, all residents having a cart and horse were obliged to do several days' work yearly in reclaiming the common. But their food was given them free while they did this work. At the same place all tenants who pastured their cows on the common did one day's work for their landlord at harvest time.

The town of Yarmouth is, we believe, still nominally bound to send to the sheriffs one hundred herrings, baked in twenty-four pasties, to be delivered to the King. So lately as the year 1778 the sheriffs attended in person with their offering.

Some of the rents asked were purely nominal. Bermeton, in Co. Durham, was held in capite by the service of three grains of pepper. For other lands, the rent asked was one rose, or a gift arrow, feathered with a peacock's feathers.

Schaefer defeated George Slosson, 400 to 281. Schaefer's average was 20, his high runs were 101, 75 and 42. Slosson's average was 14 15-19; high runs, 79, 49 and 45.

By a score of 400 to 181 Ora Morningstar won the 13th game from Geo. B. Sutton.

In a tedious 30-inning game, Walker Cochran, Detroit, defeated Koji Yamada, the Japanese expert, 400 to 351. Cochran rolled up 165 caroms, the highest run of the tournament, and two innings later he ran 101.

The tournament will come to a close Saturday, when Hoppe and Schaefer meet.

TORONTO BALL CLUB

President Cleaning House and Signing New Men.

Toronto, Oct. 25.—President Mcaffery is moving with his ball team already. He has released Benny Purtell outright and has signed a Baltimore semi-pro pitcher named Davis. He is making an offer to take Pitcher Goyer of Belleville south for a trip next spring to look him over. The signing of shortstop O'Rourke and outfielder Riley of Binghampton was announced some time ago. It is not likely that Schulte will be with Toronto again. A second baseman who can manage is being angled for.

RISE OF RINGLING BROS.

Of the seven Ringling brothers, Alfred T., who died Tuesday at his home in New Jersey, was the fifth to die. John Ringling and Charles Ringling are left of the famous family which fought the great circuses of the past and absorbed them. In the shows they own the Barnum & Bailey and the Forepaugh-Sells enterprises have been united. Out of the middle West the Ringlings came and met the old established amusement enterprises on their own ground, forcing the struggle for prominence, and winning a hard contest.

Unlike Barnum, the Ringlings were circus men from their youth. Barnum was a speculator who turned his hand to anything which gave promise of profit. His success as a showman was built on successes and failures in many other fields. The Ringling boys swapped a skiff they had tired of for a pony, and started a "show" under a makeshift tent, admission to which was bought with pins. Soon pennies replaced the pins and the family was started on its career. In the 80's the brothers had a wagon show, trading largely on the interest aroused by the advertising campaigns of the great circusses of those days. The brothers were enterprising, shrewed, united. What other circus men had to hire strangers to do they did themselves. There was a Ringling to supervise every department of their show, a Ringling to protect every Ringling interest. The family was unusual, perhaps unique. Certainly there have been few enterprises brought up from nothing to great importance by a family of seven boys, all joined together in the same calling.

Railroads made the modern American circus possible. Without them it could not cover the territory it does with the amount of machinery, the tents, the menagerie, the horses, the laborers, the managers, the athletes it must have. Perhaps a day will come in which motor trucks will take the place of railroad trains; a bold circus man may even present a show transported through the air. A circus remains essentially unchanged in the entertainment it offers, but it must take advantage of every modern improvement. It must always be up with the times.

It is said that the Ringlings started definitely in the show business with less than $200 capital. This may be true. They had, however, something better than money. Money can be earned or borrowed. The Ringlings had grit, persistence, initiative which cannot be borrowed. They cannot be improvised. With them men achieve success, as the Ringlings did in the intricate and difficult business of running a circus. Without them real success is impossible.

IS ICE-COLD WATER BAD FOR RHEUMATISM?

A RETIRED SEAMAN'S EXPERIENCE

This story of Wm. Rogers, a seaman in the Mine Sweeping Branch of the Royal Navy, is absolutely true and can be readily verified.

At Niagara Camp, in 1914, Rogers contracted Rheumatism. He was sent to the Toronto General Hospital, where for over 19 months he was a patient, finally being discharged as incurable. In despair he took a friend's advice and tried Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules. The results were astounding—in a short time he was able to pass the stiff examination set by the Navy, and became an A.B. in the Mine Sweeping Branch.

For 17½ months he did service in the North Sea. On three occasions he was blown into the sea and remained in the ice-cold water as long as eleven hours at a stretch. Despite these hardships Rogers had no return of his previous trouble. Think about it. If T.R.C.'s did so much for Rogers—will they no do the same for you?

Ask your Druggist or write us for our new book—it is interesting and costs you nothing (Templeton, 142 King West, Toronto).

SOCIAL & PERSONAL

GRIER—FELL.

An event of great interest to the residents of Bailieboro and vicinity took place at the home of William Fell, hardware merchant, at 2 p.m., on Wednesday, Oct. 22nd, when his eldest daughter, Phylis Jacobina, was united in marriage to Roy Cecil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Greer. In the presence of over thirty guests the ceremony was conducted by Rev. M. W. Leigh, B. A., of Fraserville. The bride, attired in a very becoming gown of white ninon, trimmed with pearls and lace, with a beautiful veil trimmed with real orange blossoms, entered the drawing room accompanied by her father, and taking her place under the arch of white and green and beside the groom took the usual marriage vows. The only attendant was a cousin of the bride, little Miss Edna Jewison, who in a pretty pale blue dress, acted the part of flower girl. Lohengrin's Wedding March was played by Mrs. Rev. M. A. Leigh. The witnesses who signed the register were Victor R. Fell, M. M. with bar, brother of the bride, and Mary E. Greer, sister of the groom and a nurse in training at Nicholls Hospital, Peterboro. After the congratulations and signing of the register, the guests enjoyed the bountiful wedding dinner provided. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful set of black fox furs, to the flower girl a gold pendant and to the pianist a cameo lace pin. The wedding gifts consisted of a variety of furniture, silverware, cut glass, linen and other valuable and useful articles. The bride's travelling suit was of navy blue serge. Amid showers of confetti and expressions of good will the happy couple started on their honeymoon was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Switzer, Verulam, on Wednesday, October 22, when their eldest daughter, Hazel May, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Chas. W. Murray of South Monaghan. The bride was given away by her father and was dressed in white georgette over satin. The wedding march was played by Miss Evelyn Murray, sister of the groom, the ceremony being conducted by Rev. Mr. White. The groom's gift to the bride was a muskrat fur muff, to the organist a string of pearl beads. After the ceremony a dainty wedding dinner was served for about twenty guests, after which the bride and groom left by motor for Fenelon Falls, where they took the evening train for Toronto and other points, where they will spend a brief honeymoon, the bride travelling in a dark brown suit. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Murray wish them a long life of happiness.

BIG BLACK BEAR ESCAPES FROM PEN

SUPPOSEDLY TAME BRUN BREAKS AWAY FROM NICHOL'S OVAL AND TERRIFIES COMMUNITY

Peterborough, blessed or otherwise with an official dog catcher for a [illegible] has long felt the crying need for an official bear catcher.

Peaceful citizens of Auburn were suddenly aroused and terrified this morning about 5.30 o'clock when they became aware of a full-grown bear romping in the diminutive woods between Auburn and the golf links. This turned out to be the bear that Mr. Walter Kitney of Nichol's Oval had cared for since it was a very small cub. Early this morning, by some unknown means, the animal broke loose, and commenced a rampage of the surrounding district, heading, with its natural instinct, for the woods, where it played for some time, climbing up and down trees and running about among them.

As the neighbors did no tdeem this a very welcome visitor, they sent for the police. Sergt. Blade and Constable Wigg proceeded to the scene with the intention of attempting a difficult arrest.

When they arrived there Mr. Kitney was endeavoring to coax his truant home with kind words and luscious fruit. But, Mr. Bruin had some of his inherent dislike for the human race left, and immediately commenced swatting his late master right and left with apparent delight. Of course, Mr. Kitney beat a hasty retreat and the bear went up into a tree.

Then Constable Wigg obtained a rifle and exhibited his marksmenship by bringing the big black fellow down mortally wounded with his first shot. The carcuss was taken to Joplin Bros' meat store, and it is estimated it will weigh upwards of 200 lbs.

Mr. Kitney seems to be unfortunate as an animal tamer, for not very long since his wolf got loose and proved a nuisance to the community for some time. This pet also succumbed to a rifle bullet ed declaring in favor of turning the Government House into a military hospital for soldiers, he replied: "The statement handed out to the press is a true, precise statement of what took place at the meeting to-day, and anything else reported to the press must have taken place outside the meeting entirely." He added that possibly the remark on which the story was based was passed as a joke. Others present at the meeting also affirmed that such a subject was not even discussed.

It is understood, however, that when the House meets Lieut. Jack Ramsden and Col. H. S. Cooper will make the suggestion that Government House be turned over to be used as a soldiers' hospital or home.

FROM CARPENTER'S BENCH IN ENGLAND TO A PLACE IN ONTARIO LEGISLATURE

Sketch of the Life of Thomas Tooms, M. L. A.-Elect While in England, Ireland and Peterborough.

THOMAS TOOMS, M.L.A.-ELECT.

Thomas Tooms, M.L.A.-elect, is, by virtue of his recent success, one of the most prominent citizens in Peterborough today, and yet to a large section of the community he is a total stranger. Men and women who voted for him last Monday know nothing, or at most very little, of his past history. They accepted him as a new factor in politics and as the nominee of a political party making its first legislative venture.

Mr. Tooms, however, is not an entire stranger. He is well known in his Union Labor association and he stands well in the estimation of local church workers in his particular denomination. It is only in clubdom and society circles that he is unknown, but these will hear from him later to his own credit and to their general satisfaction.

Mr. Tooms has been by his detractors and by those who view his sudden rise with envy, of being a redical and an agitator. If he ever was anything of the kind his recent success has caused him to moderate his sentiments. The political party in the minority is always progressive. Once let them secure power and they immediately become cautious in speech and action. Many a man has longed for a weapon with which to slay his enemies, and hesitated to use it once it was placed in his hands. Success does not spoil every man who attains it by going to his head. Plenty of individuals under such circumstances [illegible] disabilities and are subdued rather than otherwise by a new sense of duty. Naturally, Mr. Tooms, after his triumph of Monday, is disposed to feel more kindly toward his fellowman as he becomes more and more convinced that he received support from unexpected quarters.

Of English-Irish Descent.

Mr. Tooms was born in the city of Northampton, in the English county of the same name, in 1879, and is, consequently, forty years old. His father, a coach builder by trade, was an Irishman, a native of Cork, and a member of the Anglican Church, while his mother was of English birth and training.

Mr. Tooms, who is a man of musical gifts, was a choir boy and later a chorister in All Souls' Church in his native city. He attended school in Northampton and there won a scholarship which entitled him to three years' tuition in a school in which the pupils were prepared for the university. After putting in this term he taught school for one year. While a member of the boys' choir he won the highest number of marks for general good conduct, and the prize awarded him, Dean Farrer's book, "St. Winnifred's, or the World of School," a handsomely bound volume is still in his possession.

Career in Ireland.

Mr. Tooms was always ambitious to learn a trade, and at the completion of his school course he was indentured to a carpenter. His apprenticeship finished, he went to Dublin, where he became outdoor foreman for Brooks & Thomas, dealers in building material. By that firm he was recommended to J. H. Nicholson, of Badrath Burry, in Kells, Meathe county, in whose employ he remained for six years. Mr. Nicholson was owner of an estate of nine thousand acres, and Mr. Tooms had general oversight of the buildings on the property.

Mr. Tooms was married in Dublin to Miss Ruth Bickersteth, who had relatives living in Peterborugh, Ontario, and this fact explains his presence in this city. He always felt that his opportunities for advancement would be greater in the new world, and in 1911 arrived with his family in this city. During his life in Ireland he was always interested in the labor movement, and was a member of the Anglican Church wherever he happened to be located. Among the testimonials which he brought with him to Canada was one from Rev. J. M. Healy, LL.D., at that time rector at Kells and formerly of St. Patrick's Church and chaplain to the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

During his residence in Peterborough Mr. Tooms has been employed at the C. G. E. and the De Laval works. During the war he was munitions inspector for the Henry Hope Company and holds a testimonial for faithful and efficient service from Edward Jones, general manager of that plant. He has also worked as a contractor on his own account.

Before the war Mr. Tooms was president of the Bible Class in St. John's Church and during his connection with that body the membership of the class rose from half a dozen to over one hundred. The class was broken up by enlistments during the war. Mr. Tooms established a debating society which discussed such questions as "Is it possible to be a Christian under present day business conditions?" Mr. Tooms being inclined to take the negative side of all such problems. He wrote an essay, "Thoughts on Church Progress," and submitted it to the late F. R. Yokome, who pronounced the ideas sound but in advance of the age.

"I have one religion now," said Mr. Tooms to The Review, "and that is labor. I believe we should all strive to establish a heaven on earth."

Mr. Tooms' family consists of his wife and four children, three girls and a boy, the girls born in Ireland and the boy in this city.

In New York 500 clerical employes of the Borden Milk Co. are on strike for 40 per cent wage increase.

HALLOWE'EN DANCE.

The Peter Robinson Chapter, I. O. D. E., announce a Hallowe'en dance for Wednesday night, Oct. 29, at the Conservatory Hall. The chapter will invest the proceeds of the dance in Victory bonds for use in their hospital work. Some clever creations and features appropriate to Hallowe'en are being arranged for.

OBITUARY

MRS. L. NICHOLSON.

Isabella, daughter of the late John Stinson and his wife, Charlotte Rice, was born at Omemee on May 18th, 1860. At the early age of nine years she was deprived of a mother's care. The years following were spent in Ops and Millbrook, until on Feb. 17th, 1886, she was united in marriage by Rev. Dr. Torrance of Peterboro, to Lancelot Nicholson, and with him resided in South Monaghan living a very busy and useful life. During the pastorate of Rev. J. Kilgour she with her husband joined the Methodist church, and assisted in the activities of the church and in the W. M. S. Last winter she was stricken with apoplexy and gradually weakened until death ensued early on the morning of October 15th. The funeral services were conducted at the home, on Oct. 17th, by her pastor, Rev. M. W. Leigh, B. A., and interment took place in Little Lake Cemetery, Peterboro. The pall bearers were Thomas Rice, Robert Henderson, John Williams, Walter Flumie, John Flume and John Fletcher. Besides her sorrowing husband, she leaves two sons Almanson and Harry at home, Mary Lottie (Mrs. R. Bullock) of Lakefield, and Annie, who all cherish the memory of her useful life. Four sisters, Mrs. A. Leiter of Brockport, N. Y., Mrs. F. Smith of Rochester, N. Y., Mrs. Chas. Callendrand Miss Stinson of Toronto, and one brother, John, of Toronto, also survive.

W. J. GRAHAM.

The death occurred at the home of his brother in Smith last night of W. J. Graham, aged 61.

Deceased was a son of the late William Graham, and leaves to mourn their loss two sisters, Mrs. David Eastwood and Mrs. R. Scott, of this city, and one brother, Mr. T. H. Graham, of Smith townships.

The funeral will probably be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Further notice later.

CANADIAN WOMEN BUY BONDS

The mobilization of the women for war work was one of the great achievements of the age. Women have taken a new place in the minds of all since it has been demonstrated just what they could do. In the time of stress women have never failed. They have responded to every call.

Canada calls to the women to help to bridge the gap between war and peace. The reconstruction period is upon the country and many millions are needed to tide Canada over this trying time.

To-day the Victory Loan campaign is being launched. Canada asks her citizens to lend their money that prosperity may be assured and that the obligations arising from the war may be met.

Women have learned that buying bonds is no mystery. Victory Bonds 1919 are issued in denominations of $50, $100, $500 and $1000. Payment may be made at the time of subscribing or later at the bank. For those who cannot, or do not care to pay in full, any bank will arrange that the payments may be made weekly or monthly in small sums until the amount is completed, when the fully-paid bond will be delivered. Regularly every six months, the interest is paid at the rate of 5 1-2 per cent. At the end of the time—five years, ten years, or whatever issue was purchased—the full amount is paid back to the subscriber.

What better investment could any woman ask for her savings than such a bond guaranteed by the Dominion of Canada?

LABOR AND FARMER MEMBERS OF LEGISLATURE MEET IN CAUCUS

Session Held at Hamilton Saturday, Two Parties Likely to Unite in Order to Form a Government—Another Meeting to be Held in Toronto.

Hamilton, Oct. 27.—Labor and the United Farmers' Association will likely co-operate for the purpose of holding the balance of power in the Provincial House when it opens in Queen's Park, but no definite decision between the workers at the bench and the tillers of the soil will be reached until Wednesday afternoon, when the Independent Labor party will send a committee to confer with the Farmers, who will hold another caucus in Toronto on that day.

The decision to take the above step was reached here Saturday afternoon after the successful I. L. P. and joint I.L.P.-U.F.O. candidates had met for three hours behind closed doors in the Labor Temple and started a coalition government was formed between the Labor men and Farmers, such a government might find a seat for the "electric king."

deciding whether or not they would throw in their lot with the workers or carry on as a single fighting unit. The meeting was closed to the press, and for a time it looked as if even James Simpson, defeated Labor candidate in West York, would be shown the door, but after the gathering got under way it was agreed that the defeated I. L. P. candidates would be permitted to be present, as well as members of the provincial executive of the I. L. P.

The U. F. O. had sent a deputation of three to confer with the Labor men on the question of the two parties taking over the reins of power in the Provincial Parliament. The Farmers' committee was composed of R. H. Grand, Carleton; Rev. W. Wallace, Victoria North, and Peter Smith.

After the caucus got under way, the committee went into private session with another committee of three composed of Mayor MacBride, Brantford, Walter R. Rollo, West Hamilton, and J. B. Cunningham, Sault Ste. Marie, the Labor candidate who defeated Sir William Hearst. As a result of this conference Mayor MacBride and Mr. Rollo were appointed to go to Toronto Tuesday morning for a further round-the-table talk with the U. F. O. committee of nine.

Labor's Report.

The report of the Labor men will then be presented to the I. L. P., which meets in Toronto Wednesday morning in the Labor Temple, and attend the U. F. O. caucus to be held in that city on the afternoon of the same day.

This was the extent of information handed to the press, but it was gathered from the talk among the Labor men, previous to the caucus, that Labor would insist upon its leader, Walter R. Rollo M.L.A.-elect for West Hamilton, being provincial minister of labor, and also upon another portfolio being presented to the I. L. P. Rumor had it that Mayor MacBride of Brantford would be the minister to fill this second portfolio, and that it would either be lands, forests and mines, or connected with the legal work of the Province.

With the exception of Dr. Stevenson, of London, who defeated Sir Adam Beck, and P. Heenan, Kenora every successful Labor and Joint Labor and Farmer candidate was present. The absence of Mr. Heenen caused considerable comment, owing to the fact that he had been wired several times to be on the job, the last telegram being in the nature of a command. But when the roll was called Brother Heenan was elsewhere and it is understood refused to be present.

The caucus was one long love feast from start to finish, and the general impression gathered was that there was not the slightest doubt of two parties getting together, even though such little snags as the eight-hour day and the fact that farmers and capitalists and employers of "labor" stand up prominently in the path of an I.L.P.-U.F.O. government. It was evident that it was an earnest desire on the part of all present to travel in "double harness" so that order could be brought out of present political chaos.

After the caucus broke up Mayor MacBride of Brantford declared that he had taken part in the discussion with an absolutely open mind and was prepared to stand by any decision that might be made by the majority in regard to the future policy of the I. L. P.

Seat for "Electric King."

Mayor MacBride was also of the opinion that Sir Adam Beck's chairmanship of the Hydro Electric Commission should be made absolutely permanent, in order that the welfare of Hydro might not be tampered with as the result of any change of government. He stated that Sir Adam was too valuable a man for

Among those present were: Mayor M. M. MacBride, North Brant; H. Mills, Fort William; G. F. Swayze, Niagar Falls; Frank G. Greenlaw, St. Catharines; Karl Homouth, N Waterloo; T. Toome, West Peterborough; J. B. Cunningham, Sault Ste. Marie; J. T. Wilson, Nipissing; Controller Geo. G. Halcrow, East Hamilton; Walter R. Rollo, West Hamilton; F. C. Biggs, North Wentworth; W. A. Crockett, South Wentworth; J. B. Johnston, East Simcoe; J. Taylor, North Grey, and G. P. Cameron, West Elgin. A number of members of the provincial executive of the I. L. P., including prominent Labor men from Toronto, were also in attendance.

WOMAN SLIGHTLY INJURED IN MIX-UP

BECAME FLUSTERED WHEN AUTO APPROACHED AND INJURED BY FALL.

A mix-up between two pedestrians, a child and an auto resulted in slight injuries to one of the Jewish ladies of the city yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Herb Johnston was driving her car east on Charlotte street and attempted to turn north on to George street. At the same time two Jewish ladies wer crossing the corner and happened to be exactly in the course of the automobile. Mrs Johnston tooted her horn, but the women apparently became flustered, and, after hesitating, ran for the sidewalk. Mrs. Johnston, to avoid running into a child on the street, also drove up to the sidewalk. One of the women here became very excited and tripped over her bootlace on to the walk, suffering slightly from the fall. Some of the spectators thought the auto hit the lady, but this appears to be incorrect.

U. S. BACK TO OLD TIME FOR GOOD

DAYLIGHT SAVING REPEALED IN CONGRESS AND IS THING OF THE PAST.

Washington, Oct. 26. — With the turning back of the clocks of the land one hour at 2 o'clock this morning, the American people again will live by normal time.

Railroad officers and employes were instructed to turn their watches back one hour at 2 a.m. Sunday. Trains caught in terminals were held until the scheduled time of departure under the new rule.

For two years the clocks were moved forward an hoar in the spring and moved back one hour in the fall, but from now on the pieces will remain on the old time basis as the daylight saving law was repealed by the present Congress after a bitter fight in which President Wilson took a hand. The first complaint over the new time came from the farmers, who declared that the law was working hardship upon them by causing extremely early rising.

LABOR CRISIS IN STATES AND ENGLAND APPEAR TO RUN ON PARALLEL LINES

General Resemblance is Remarkable, Says Daily Chronicle Fears President Wilson's Illness Will Make it Extremely Difficult to Meet Demands of Stsuation—Strange Coincidence in Strikes.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Oct. 27,—Morning newspapers give a vast amount of space to the American Labor crisis, and parallels are drawn with the present situation across the Atlantic and industrial events in Great Britain since the first of the year.

Resemblance Remarkable

"The general resemblance is remarkable," says the Chronicle, which suggests some profound underlying rythm in the causation of Labor unrest. "We fear President Wilson's illness will make it extremely difficult for him to meet the demands of the situation."

Standard of Living.

The Daily News remarks upon the coincidence of the strike in the American bituminous field, which was announced the same day that British miners began their campaign for the nationalisation of mines at a meeting held at Manchester.

"As far as American workers are in the standard of living. This coincidence is a satisfactory one,' says this newspaper. "The imminence of the Labor Conference at Watshington has a direct effect upon this object, as the conference will be able to recognize the urgency of problems, and evolve some policy tending to its solution.

The Herald, (Labor organ) says:—"The second industrial revolution is now taking place. The first deprived a man of his individuality and made him part of a machine to manufacture cooperative movement to restore individuality to insure a man the results of his own labor and of his master's machine. That is the explanation of American unrest, and of similar unrest in oor own country.'

CITY TRUST COMMISSION FIRST BIG PURCHASER OF VICTORY BONDS

Invested $75,000 of City's Funds When the Drive Opened This Morning—Whistles and Bells Usher in the Campaign of 1919.

Plenty of punch and pep was introduced into Peterborough's Victory Loan campaign when it opened this morning at nine o'clock, to the accompaniment of wild hurrahs from the "big bens" at the Canadian General Electric and Quaker Oats plants, "Picolo Pete" at other manufacturing plants, the People's Chimes, and the Fire Department all added their quota, and a few minutes later the canvassers were out and at it.

Peterborough, city and county, is asked to subscribe $1,800,000, the amount being equally divided.

A few minutes after the campaign was officially opened, the first large subscription was received in the form of an order for seventy-five thousand dollars' worth of Victory Bonds, the subscribers being the Peterborough City Trust Commission The announcement was received with cheers. The City Trust Commissioners, evidently know a good thing, and they have set a fine example for the citizens.

As the morning progressed, very encouraging reports were received, and it was intimated that further large subscriptions would be reported before nightfall.

Merchants Co-operate.

Just a word in appreciation of the efforts being put forth by the business houses of the city. Everybody is willing to do everything possible to make sure that Peterborough will be up at the top. The merchants are going to considerable pains to decorate their stores and show windows, and their efforts will become more in evidence as the campaign grows.

Banks Will Assist.

The banks have also entered the campaign with the determination to see the job properly finished, and they are prepared to make loans of 5½ per cent. to customers who wish to invest in Victory Bonds.

SPANISH LABOR MEN OVER HERE

WILL ATTEND INDUSTRIAL CONGRESS AT WASHINGTON — TOUCHED AT HALIFAX.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 25.—The Cunard liner Orduna called at Halifax today on a voyage from England for New York to land 150 passengers and a quantity of Canadian mail. Among the 702 passengers who remain on the steamer for New York were the Spanish delegates to the industrial conference at Washington. The delegates are headed by His Excellency Don Luis M. Visconde de Eya.

Other prominent persons on board for New York are Sir R. F. Stupart, and Sir Johnston Forbse Robertson, who is accompanied by Lady Robertson. Sir Johnston will deliver a series of lectures on Shakespeare in the United States. The Orduan docked at or two shortly after noon and will sail at four o'clock for New York.

WANT TO STAY IN BRITISH EMPIRE

STRONG PROTEST AGAINST PROPOSED SALE OF PORTION OF WEST INDIES.

Kingston Jamaica, Oct. 27.—The following resolutions have been sent to the West Indian Chamber of Commerce, which is asked to join in the protest:

"That the Jamaica Imperial Association, representing large numbers of producers, merchants and others in Jamaica, who are proud of their position as British subjects, protests with all its might against the suggestion of Lord Rothermere that some or any of the British West Indian colonies should be sold to a foreign power to liquidate a small part of Great Britain's war debt.

"This association is convinced that the increase of production through out the Empire and a closer interrelation between the several parts thereof will result before long in the unparalleled prosperity of the Empire as a whole and will render unnecessary any consideration of the question of parting with any portions of the Empire towards the payment of its obligations."

PITCHED BATTLE WITH STRIKERS

SCORES INJURED AT BROOKLYN IN FIGHT WITH LONGSHOREMEN.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, Oct. 27.—Scores of persons were injured in a pitched battle between two thousand striking longshoremen and several hundred men who were on their way to work at the Bush terminal docks in Brooklyn, this morning.

Between fifty and one hundred revolver shots were fired, and sticks, stones, bricks and clubs used by the combatants.

Police reserves were summoned, and ten arrests made.

COAL SITUATION IS DISQUIETING

COMMISSIONER WARNS CONSUMERS TO CONSERVE ON COAL THIS WINTER.

The deputy fuel commissioner for Ontario has issued the following:

"The climax of the coal situation in the United States was reached yesterday by the termination in failure of the conferences of the contending parties to come to any agreement.

"Following this is a statement made by Samuel Gompers that conferences of the heads of 11 international unions would be held in Washington to discuss present and impending disputes.

"The coal situation throughout the province requires that immediate steps be taken to ensure the comfort and safety of our communities and to this end is found imperative that the provisions of the order-in-council No. 3004, under date of December 7, 1917, be strictly enforced. Particular attention is called to paragraph 8 of the regulations regarding importation, sale and delivery of coal as follows:

"'Anthracite coal of what is cimmonly known as prepared sizes shall not be used by any industrial consumer for heating or power purposes, except with the written consent of the fuel administration.'

"All industrials are warned that failure to comply with the provisions of this paragraph will be summarily dealt with.

"The earnest co-operation of the public is necessary, it being essential that in order to secure adequate supplies of domestic coal a proportion of pea coal must be ordered. Users of bituminous coal, who have not, as yet secured their supplies are urged to take immediate steps to do so."

TREATY IN SENATE

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Oct. 27.—The Johnson amendment to the peace treaty, proposing in effect that the voting power of the United States in the logic of nations be increased so as to equal that of Great Britain and her dominions, was rejected today by the Senate. The vote was 38 for amendment and 40 against it.

CONFLICTING CLAIMS OF STRIKE SITUATION

COMPANIES SAY MILLS ARE OPERATING AT ALMOST CAPACITY.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Pittsburg, Oct. 27.—The sixth week of the steel workers' strike in Pittsburg opened today with union leaders and representatives of employers advancing conflicting claims.

Strike leaders declared that the ranks of the men were holding firm, while the companies sai dtheir mills were operating at almost normal capacity and that many men were returning to work daily.

U. F. O. SECRETARY J. J. MORRISON MENTIONED FOR PREMIERSHIP

While Farmers Have Confidence in Sir Adam Beck as Head of Hydro, He Has Not Taken Strong Stand on Prohibition Hearst Government Circles Quiet.

Toronto, Oct. 27.— Reports circulating in Toronto today, say that Sir Adam Beck, who has been prominently mentioned as the probable leader of the Labor and U. F. O. Coalition, and next Premeir of Ontario, and who was defeated as an Independent Conservative, in London last Mnoday, has been offered the opportunity of running in anyone of the seats, namely Port Arthur, East Hamilton and Seat B., Southeast Toronto.

Brigadier-General D. M. Hogarth, Conservative, is the member-elect for Port Arthur, George Halcrow is the Labor member in East Hamilton, and John O'neil is Liberal member-elect for the Toronto seat.

Confidence in Sir Adam.

On the other hand it is stated in Sir Adam's conduct, of Ontario Hydro-Electric interests, and will support any move to retain the London Knight as chairman of that body, they are not prepared to give him wholehearted support as leader, because he has not, it is asserted taken a strong stand on the matter of prohibition, on which the great majority of U. F. O. members-elect desire a clear-cut decleration.

U. F. O. and Labor.

Except for committee meetings of the various parties, there were no apparent activities of any of these bodies today. There will be a conference of U. F. O. and Labor Committees tomorrow and a general meeting of the members of both these parties on Wednesday. No statement was forthcoming from Hearst Government circles today, and Liberals are still waiting to see what happens. In the other party folds there were no further indications today in support of Morison, secretary of the United Farmers of Ontario, might be selected as leader of a Coalition and Premier.

INTEREST CENTRED TO-DAY ON FIVE DOMINION ELECTIONS

Federal Government Mainly Concerned in Contest at Victoria B. C. Where Hon. Dr. Tolmic is Seeking Re-Election.

Ottawa, Oct. 27.—The eyes of ministers and members of Parliament are turned today in the direction of five Federal constituencies, where by-elections are in progress.

At Victoria, B. C.

From the standpoint of the Government, the chief interest naturally centres in the contest at Victoria, B. C., where Hon. Dr. Tolmie, the new Minister of Agriculture, is seeking re-election and is opposed by a returned soldier running under Labor auspices. Advices from the Coast have been to the effect that the fight has been a warm one with chances somewhat in favor of the new Minister.

In Assiniboine.

The election in Assiniboine, where the grain growers' candidate is being opposed by W. R. Motherwell, is being watched with interest, and with the expectation that, while Motherwell may hold the poll vote, his opponent will contest with considerable vigor.

In view of the resulting count in Glengarry at the recent provincial elections, when the U. F. O. candidate was elected by a large majority, the inclination here is to pick Wilfrid Kennedy, the farmer candidate, as favorite over General Harvey, Unionist, in Glengarry and Stormont. The Federal constituency is larger than the provincial, and includes the town of Cornwall, and this may help the Unionist candidate in today's contest.

Liberal Certain.

In Quebec East the election of Mr. Ernest Lapointe, the Liberal candidate, over F. Gadbois, his Liberal-Labor opponent, is regarded as practically certain. His defeat would occasion considerable surprise here.

The contest in Carleton, N. B., is admittedly a close one between Col. Melville, Unionist, and James Caldwell United Farmer. The latter entered the field early and has the bulk of Liberal support, while Col. Melville entered the contest just previous to nomination day. The latter's chances have probably been considerably improved by the presence in the constituency during the week end of Hon. Arthur Meighen, Hon. G. D. Robertson and Hon. F. E. Blondin.

In North Ontario, where voting was to have taken place today, voting has been postponed because of the death of Mr. James Cowan, the Unionist candidate.

HYDRO ELECTRIC FOR FRANCE NOW

EXPERIMENT WITH TIDAL POWER TO MAKE GOOD COAL SHORTAGE.

Paris, Oct. 6.— Practical experiments to determine the possibility of the utilization of tidal power to make good for the coal shortage under which France is expected to suffer for a long time, will be carried out under Government auspices in St. Briac Bay, on the north coast of Brittany. The committee appointed for the scientific investigation and study of hydro-electric power will undertake the experimentation by Government orders.

Experiments are also being conducted to determine the possibility of replacing coal wholly or in part on the railways, in gas, water, and power plants, and for domestic purposes. The Petit Parisien states that the use of gasoline in the chief gas, water and power plants of the public service is contemplated, and that the measure may make possible a daily saving of 4,000 tons of coal for domestic uses. tI would require 60,000 tons of gasoline a month.

Pending an adaption of the plants to gasoline power, coal, moistened with naphtha may be used in the public service plants this winter. The necessary installations are expected to be ready by January. The coal is not to be used primarily as fuel but as a holding element for the naptha, which otherwise could not be burned in the present fire boxes.

BIGGEST AIRSHIP IN WORLD FOR STATES

CLOSE CONTRACT FOR PURCHASE OF BRITISH RIGID AIRSHIP R-38.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Oct. 27.—An early closing of the contract for the purchase by the United States Navy Department of the British rigid airship R-38, the largest airship in the world, now under construction in England, is expected, it was stated at the department today.

Two and a half million dollars were appropriated by Congress for the purchase of this airship, and for the training of pilots.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

MONDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1919.

THE END OF DAYLIGHT SAVING.

STANDARD TIME has been restored in Canada, and it is unlikely that this country will see any more of the system of reckoning time which, by an easy stretch of terms, has been called daylight saving. What avails it to save an hour at one end of the day only to lose it at the other?

In the United States Congress gave daylight saving its quietus, over the presidential veto at that. In this country the plan was tried out from year to year as a general Federal enactment, the reason given being the necessity of uniform time on the railways of both nations. With standard time maintained by the Americans this excuse for Canada adopting the daylight saving system will no longer exist.

Daylight saving was really a hardship to the wage-earners and the farmers. It was the leisure classes alone who profited by it, and who championed it. It has been given a two years trial on both sides of the border, and the reversion to standard time yesterday morning is probably the last of it. It may in future be adopted by municipalities, but not by the country as a whole.

THE INTEGRITY OF THE BRITISH.

UNUSUAL INTEREST attaches to the important international trade conference that is now in session at Atlantic City. In this conference American bankers and other men of affairs deal directly and personally with delegates of several European countries, also representatives of banking and business.

Vague proposals of various kinds looking to the extension of American aid to foreign would-be purchasers of American products have been under discussion for months. Even the pooling of all allied war debts has been suggested in some quarters. The essential task of the present conference is to reduce these proposals to definite terms and elicit the ideas of competent judges as to methods of facilitating European rehabilitation without undue governmental intervention or interference with the regular processes of international trade.

One of the first surprises of the conference came in the shape of an announcement from the British delegates that their country seeks no special credit arrangements, asks the help of no organisation, and merely wishes to make sure that "no obstructions are placed in the way of normal business transactions." Great Britain, the delegation asserted, would pay its debts and readjust its taxation and finances in accordance with British conceptions of integrity, honor and moral obligation. Despite talk of revolution and deep labor discontent, no government could last that did not undertake to pay the nation's debts and set its financial house in order. The British nation, in the opinion of the delegates, is of one mind on questions of this sort.

The Chicago News says that this to American ears is both important and reassuring. How the delegations of the other countries feel further discussion no doubt will disclose.

HAS FAITH IN CANADIANS.

ONE OF THE LEADING American magazines that has a large circulation in Canada and Peterborugh, discusses editorially the new Victory Loan as follows:

For her needs during the war Canada successfully raised funds by popular loans—by the last of these loans more than six hundred million dollars. These bonds were bought by one and a half millions of people. The Dominion, in now asking for subscriptions to another loan to settle obligations to her soldiers and to enable her to carry on trade, very properly calls attention to her fortunate financial position as a reason why the new bonds should be regarded as a sound investment.

Even some months after the Armistice was signed the Dominion still had on hand part of the proceeds from her latest loan, and only because of the pressing demand for credits was she finally forced to borrow extensively from the banks. She, therefore, does not now face the necessity of liquidating short-term liabilities to a large extent or under the adverse conditions which exist in European countries. Her immediate problem is the comparatively simple one of finding money to be used for the most part to pay bills she is about to contract. Success under such circumstances would seem to depend almost entirely upon her ability to prove the reasonableness of the proposed expenditures. Her statement made on these points is interesting.

Two hundred and sixty million dollars is required for the transportation, pay and care of the soldiers still undemobilized, many of whom are sick and wounded, many more of whom are so situated that they must be helped over the period of idleness between their discharge from the service and their civilian re-employment. Also, under the Soldiers' Land Settlement Act Canada is obliged to loan money to soldiers who may wish to become farmers, so that they may purchase land, stock and implements—the money so loaned to be secured by a first mortgage until it is paid back. Up to August 15th, of the nearly thirty thousand men who had applied for land under the terms of this Act, the applications of more than twenty-two thousand had been approved. For the continuance of this work it is estimated that fifty-seven million dollars will be required.

Canada also proposes to provide what is referred to as national working capital. This is, in fact, money with which to pay farmers and manufacturers for their products which go into trade outside the Dominion. She realizes that her opportunity for trade depends for the time being largely upon her ability to carry on that trade upon a credit basis, and that the loss of such trade would mean an immediate increase of unemployment at home. So she calls upon her people to lend her the cash needed for this trade and for her program of general development.

The Canadian Government has good reason to regard the outcome of its appeal for the Victory Loan of 1919 with confidence. The gallant part borne by Canadians in the war, both by those who fought and by those at home who supported the armies, is assurance of the country's spirit. The purposes of the loan itself have been plainly stated, and they claim the support of common sense as well as of patriotism. It is not to be expected that at this hour Canadians will fail to carry on.

ART OF THE PLOWMAN.

THERE WAS a famous gathering at Chatham this week, when thousands of interested spectators attended the series of matches and events staged by the Ontario Plowmen's Association, says the St. Thomas Times-Journal.

It is good and pleasant to know that the advent of the tractor is not affecting the keen competition to gain the prize awarded to him who can turn the best and straightest furrow. But we may be allowed to doubt if the tractor, with all its material advantages, can compensate for the attraction of the well-groomed and well-matched team, gaily beribboned, that knew their work as well as the man who handled the plow. The clattering and groaning machine can hardly fill the place of the word of command and of cheer that guided and encouraged what have been among the best of mankind's servants and friends.

Fortunately, the horse is still with us, and will doubtless be found for many a long year. And whether it be the horse or the tractor, room will always be found for the keen eye and the steady grip of the wheel or the handle. Apart altogether from the utilitarian side of the plow, few things are more attractive than a well and neatly turned field. It marks at a glance the good and careful farmer and the honest pride taken in what is truly a feat of artistic skill. No occupation is so bathed in an atmosphere of poetry, and from none have more gifted singers come. We recall here the fine verses of Wordsworth when he pictured Burns, the plowman bard, as walking

"In glory and in joy,
Behind his plough, upon the mountain side."

It is particularly cheering to hear that the Chatham meeting ranks as one of the most successful in the history of the association. The Kent city opened its heart to the farmers and visitors, who, if they had not visited the district before, would have a splendidd opportunity to judge for themselves regarding the garden and farm peninsula of Ontario. It is indeed among the finest agricultural sections to be found anywhere, and yet the lure of the great cities prevails over that of the farmland and the life close to nature. By visiting the cities the Plowmen's Association is doing something valuable towards bringing the farmer and the city dweller into closer touch and sympathy and promoting that spirit of harmonious co-operation so necessary for the proper upbuilding of the Dominion.

MACKENZIE KING'S FORECAST.

"IT IS THE HANDWRITING on the wall," says Mackenzie King, Federal Liberal leader, with the results of Ontario's election before him. But the message is not written in cryptic characters that can be translated only by the wisdom of a Daniel. There is little comfort for Mr. King in the writing. Once start a revolution, and the first gleam of success sends it spreading through the country like wildfire. At the next Federal election the U. F. O. and the Independent Labor party will figure. If the Union Government goes down in the crash the Liberals will be unable to hold their own any more than they did in Ontario. Mr. King and his brother leader in this Province are going down the same stream in a catamaran. If misfortune overtake one craft the other can scarcely hope to escape. If one of the old line parties has fallen in public esteem, Monday's results appear to demonstrate just as clearly that the other is unable to make any headway against the popular movement.

FEW TAKERS.

(Detroit Free Press.)

Ten million Germans are eager to leave Germany for some other country. Bids are reported scarce.

POOR AUTHORITY.

(Brantford Expositor.)

The Toronto World says that the defeat of Sir Adam Beck in London was due to a conspiracy engineered by the Hearst Government. Perhaps so, but we would like to have some better authority for the statement.

STIRRING UP SIR SAM.

(The Veteran.)

Sir Sam Hughes is asking the Government for a copy of "circular, supposed of German inspiration, containing ten suggestions, surreptitiously distributed among the Canadian troops about the time of the battle of St. Julien, depreciating the Canadian (Ross) rifle." The only circular we remember seeing was Sir Sam's valedictory, distributed to the first contingent in Gaspe Bay. Possibly there were not more than ten suggestions in that document, but they referred to Sir Sam, and not to his rifle.

TRAVEL PICTURES FOR SCHOOLS IN OTTAWA

(Ottawa Citizen.)

School children of the senior grades are to enjoy the first of a series of travel-picture shows at the Regent Theatre on Saturday morning. The pictures have been made for publicity purposes by the department of Trade and Commerce, and they are being presented in Ottawa under the auspices of the Local Council of Women. They take the audience on a trip through Canada from coast to coast, viewing on the way some of the scenic wonders, the wild life, the opportunities for home-making, and the development of natural industries.

This attractive method of telling the children of Canada interesting things about their own country might properly be extended, under the control of local educational authorities. It would seem to be the next best to a proposal, once made, that there should be an interchange of public school children through the provinces so that the younger generation in Canada would grow up with a better knowledge of their neighbors in other parts of the country. Boys and girls in the Ottawa public schools, for example, rarely have the opportunity of seeing maritime life; children educated in the colliery districts of Nova Scotia grow up thinking of Canada entirely different from the Canada of the prairie province school children.

It would be a great event in the life of the average alert public school boy may from Renfrew, Ontario, to spend one month going to the public school in Lockport, Nova Scotia. He would cease to think of Canada as Ontario magnified, but would realize more that Canada is something like five nations federated, four speaking the English language, one speaking French. The diversity of Canada's economic interests would be better understood by the whole nation, after school children from the maritime community had gone to school, even for only a few weeks, in the prairie community, children from the industrial districts of Central Canada had attended school in the country on the other side of the Rocky Mountains, the very British children of the Pacific coast had spent some time in Quebec, and Quebec children in Winnipeg.

However, until such an interchange can be worked out, travels in school by moving pictures would be a forward step on the way. A start is being made in this direction, as well as helping to elevate the popular taste for movies by the Saturday morning travelogue shows for children.

EDITOR'S MAIL

WHO MAKES ALCOHOL?

Editor Review: I see by your issue of Thursday evening that my friend Mr. Burnham is still of the opinion that God makes alcohol. I imagined that the arguments of the Collegiate science master, in his letter of last summer, had quite demolished Mr. Burnham's reasoning. Evidently I was mistaken, for he returns to the subject as firmly convinced in his opinion as if no light had been furnished him.

I cannot describe the method of alcohol's manufacture in nature with the same scientific precision as did the science master in his letter. But possibly a plain man's way of explaining it may shed light where, evidently, it is so much needed. Alcohol, instead of being made by God, is the waste product, the excrement, of a microbe. Just as in the case of our bodies there are millions of Lilliputian soldiers which the Parisians call parasites, the Germans call germs, and the Irishman calls microbes, waiting to send their poison arrows into our blood whenever they get a chance to do so, as when we receive a cut or wound; so there are millions of germs, parasites, bacteria always watching for a chance to get into fruits and grains for their sweet juices. They cannot get at the grapes when they are whole, but an army of "ferments" camps on the grape, and waits for it to be wounded, broken. When this takes place in the wine press or in any other way, these ferments, microbes, rush in and gorge themselves, and leave their liquid excrement. That excrement is alcohol, one of the most deadly poisons known. In the same way, when barley is crushed, the yeast plants, hovering in the air, get in and gorge themselves on the sweets, and excrete alcohol.

Now, God made the grapes; He did not make the ferments! God made barley; He did not make the yeast plants. To say that the excrement of these bacteria was made by God and was intended for man's consumption is just as absurd as to say that God made a bad apple or a rotten egg, and intended man to eat the one or the other. Of course, you can never account for people's tastes. It is conceivable that there are people who prefer a bad egg to a good one, or a bad apple to a good one, just as there are people who prefer their drink with the excrement of bacteria in it. But it seems to me that when they know the facts they will prefer their drinks as God made them—without alcohol.

Yours very truly,

A noted British scientist has proposed that a shaft be sunk into the earth twelve miles deep with the object of tapping forces which may be locked up in the interior of the earth.

He's serious about it, too.

Thinks it can be done. And will be done—sometime.

That, he believes, will cure many of our industrial ills.

It will put the kibosh on the coal mining industry.

Man has never peered down 12 miles into the earth.

He doesn't know what he'll find there.

But anyone who has spent his noon hour watching diggers excavate for the basement of a downtown building knows that the 12-mile hole will be finished by the great, great, great (plus) grandchildren of the men who begin the digging.

(So don't postpone buying your winter coal.)

However, to a non-scientific mind, the biggest problem does not appear to be what'll we find at the bottom of the hole, nor what'll we do with the earth we take out.

If it is dug in England the earth might be used to fill up the English Channel.

While waiting for the 12-miler to be dug let us call your attention to that Murrayville (Ill.) cow who went to sleep and got covered up with straw from a threshing machine. It took the cow 14 days to eat her way out of the straw stack and during that period she had no water to drink. The owner thought someone had stolen the cow.

Reading often makes a man full of words that he cannot pronounce.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

The practical farmer raises better crops than the theoretical agriculturist.

Man's devotion to woman frequently arouses her feelings — of the tired kind.

A man's idea of heaven is a place where wives don't ask their husbands for money.

It is easy to walk the tight rope of society if you have a good bank balance.

About all the use some men have for the golden rule is to measure the conduct of others.

The hardtack issued to soldiers is not as hard as the one you discovered with your bare foot.

Spend less time in envying the success of your neighbor and a little more in trying to get there yourself.

THINGS TO REMEMBER.

Underwear, stockings and common towels need no ironing.

Stilettes are indispensable for embroiderers who want to make round holes.

Nuts which have grown dry can be freshened by soaking in warm water.

To banish roaches use equal parts of plaster of paris and powdered sugar.

ECHOES FROM OVERSEAS.

An Englishman points out that several years ago it was noticeable that in the London tube trains, men going to work read newspapers while the girls devoted themselves to novels and fiction magazines. Since the war the roles have been reversed. Almost without exception the women read newspapers on their way to and from work, and the men, when they read, which is seldom, are more inclined to novels.

Canvas shoes were sold at from one penny to six pence a pair at a sale of army boots in London. Discarded army boots were offered at $2 a pair, and grade 2 boots, needing only minor repairs, brought $1.25 the pair.

TO ALL WOMEN WHO ARE ILL

This Woman Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Her Personal Experience.

McLean, Neb.—"I want to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all women who suffer from any functional disturbance, as it has done me more good than all the doctor's medicine. Since taking it I have a fine healthy baby girl and have gained in health and strength. My husband and I both praise your medicine to all suffering women."—Mrs. JOHN KOPPELMANN, R. No. 1, McLean, Nebraska.

This famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has been restoring women of America to health for more than forty years and it will well pay any woman who suffers from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, backache, headaches, nervousness or "the blues" to give this successful remedy a trial.

THE MERCHANTS' COLUMN

Edited by
MANSFIELD F. HOUSE
(Copyright.)

In this column, which appears every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, will appear news and short articles of special interest to merchants, their sales people and business men and women in general.

"Irishman and Jew" Prosper in Harmony

Probably there is no more unique name for a retail business anywhere in America than that used by a firm of haberdashers in Traverse City, Mich., who style and advertise themselves as "The Irishman and the Jew." This firm name blazes out every night from a big electric sign over the front of the store and all of the concern's newspaper ads and other publicity are signed this way. Even the neckties which they sell bear a label: "Made especially for 'The Irishman and the Jew.' Incidentally it may be remarked that hundreds of travelling men and other "outsiders" who visit Traverse City drop in and buy neckties just to be able to exhibit the unique label when they get home.

F. E. Joy and D. H. Netzorg, the original "Irishman and Jew," who named the business fifteen years ago when they started out, and who still operate it, explain the selection of their unique name in the following way: One of them is Scotch-Irish and the other a Hebrew. When they started in business they had but little money to put into an advertising campaign of a size sufficient to bring the results they were anxious to get. So it occurred to Mr. Netzorg that if they could get some unique name for their business—a name that would be so striking as to "stop" any casual success would be assured. The Irishman and the Jew" were the result, and it has proved a combination hard to beat.

After Promoters of Closing-Out Sales

George C. Flynn, of Madison, Wis., a director of the National Association of Retail Clothiers, has issued an appeal to members of the Wisconsin association to unite in their efforts to obtain legislation to combat the evils of the professional sales promoter and the bankrupt sale. Speaking before the recent convention of the Wisconsin body, he said:

"Every individual merchant must feel a personal share in the national responsibility and maintain the credit and financial standing of his community. Everything that tends to create the popular impression that business is 'rushing to cover' should be condemned.

"In that regard we must at this time use every effort to arouse public sentiment and secure legislation against the widespread practice of conducting bankrupt and closing-out sales.

"Every bankrupt sale sign in a town impairs public confidence in the financial stability of that town. Such sales are usually conducted by irresponsible agents, having no material investment in the business, and often the merchant is duped into signing a contract for such a sale under the impression that it is good business.

"We should urge our national association to establish an efficiency bureau in connection with our main offices, with trained men in charge to advise and give their services to all members when found necessary by them, or their heirs or administrators, to close out their businesses.

Pattern shows if Piano Fits Room

The M. Doyle Marks Company, of Kimira, N. Y., has found a new way to sell more pianos. "It's like this: Very few people would buy clothes if a fitting were denied them. But it didn't make any difference about pianos in the old days, when rooms were big. Now, however, rooms are small, and the company figured out that a great many people don't buy pianos because they are in doubt about the fit.

So the store simply furnishes one with a floor pattern of a piano on request, so that one may rearrange one's piano. The store's piano sales record proves that the idea is sound.

Volume Sales Secret of Meat Store Profit

"A margin of 20 to 21 per cent between selling and cost price yields the maximum profit in the operation of a meat store. A smaller margin is not sufficient to meet the expenses of the average store of $100,000 a year sales class. A larger one immediately places the brake on the necessary volume of business and decreases goodwill."

This statement is made by John T. Russell who operates a number of stores in Chicago and was formerly president of the National Association of Master Butchers.

From his experience and tabulated records Russell submits the following figures and data, which may be accepted as standard for the average butcher shop in the $100,000-a-year class.

The minimum weekly expense for such a store, he says, is $397. This includes a salary for a manager as well as for the proprietor, who must of necessity put in a great part of his time in buying. Items of expense are:

Owner's time	$ 75
Manager for store	35
Four Butchers	120
Cashier	15
Truckman	30
Rent	35
Ice	10
Depreciation	25
Advertising	10
Shrinkage 12 per cent. on cost of meat	30
Repairs and Miscellaneous	12
Total for week	397
Total for year	20,644

But the actual figures of $100,000 a year's sales is the absolute minimum upon which a store with such expenses and such a margin can do business. Twenty-one per cent margin on $100,000 is $21,000, and this barely covers the overhead expense of $20,644. In fact, with interest on investment figured in as it should be, this will show a loss.

Interest on investment, according to Russell's figures, should be about $1000 a year—5 per cent. on $15,000 in cost of plant and fixture, plus $5000 working capital.

Saving Time at the Counter.

If, however, he does a business of $110,000 on this same price margin and with the same actual expenses, he will be able to charge off this $1000 in interest and still show a profit of $1456. If he can manage to maneuver his sales up to $120,000, the net profit will be $4456, and so on, up to the limit of ability to handle increased business without increasing overhead expenses.

This, of course, involves other things besides simple stimulation of volume of business. It means, for instance, a consistent policy of encouraging sales of such meats as can be handled with the least waste of time by the butcher at the counter. Russell, for instance, has found that it is more profitable to sell a larger volume of expensive cuts which would go to make up the same value. The answer lies in the fact that the cheaper the cut the less time the customer takes to hesitate in making up her mind. If a butcher can save an average of one minute per sale Russell figures it means an increased profit of one cent. per sale.

"The average owner of a meat store," says Russell, "does business on a 20 to 21 per cent. margin. He makes 5 to 6 per cent. a year, including his own salary or compensation. A few retailers here in Chicago do business on a margin of 35 per cent. and one is attempting to run a $250,000 business on a margin of 15 per cent. between selling and cost price."

All the figures submitted are based on an assumption of cash, no delivery and no telephone orders.

ROBBED OF YEAR'S INCREASE

Toronto Letter Carriers Indignant At Action of Government.

Great dissatisfaction at the action of the Government, and particularly with the Civil Service Commission was voiced at a special meeting of the Toronto letter carriers.

"After repeated promises that whatever increase the letter carriers received should date from April 1st, 1919, they now make a statement that they don't see their way clear to give us that increase until 1920," said the press secretary. "That robbed us of our just increase. A special committee has been appointed to deal with the matter and ordered to get in touch with the letter carriers all over the Dominion in order that drastic steps shall be taken unless something is done at once."

TEA MAY GO UP NINE CENTS

But Enough Old Priced Tea to Last Toronto a Month.

Toronto, Oct. 26.—While some of the large tea importers refused to discuss the probable substantial tea advance of seven to nine cents a pound to the consumer, Mr. A. J. Billinghurst stated that the rise was inevitable. He thinks that Toronto has enough tea at the old price to last a month if properly distributed and not held by brokers awaiting the installation of the new figure.

Mr. J. S. Lundy has been informed of the proposed advance in tea, and promised to lay it before the Board of Commerce when they meet here this week.

CANNOT SUSPEND PITCHER MAYS

TEMPORARY INJUNCTION AGAINST PRESIDENT JOHNSON OF A. B. L. GRANTED SATURDAY.

New York, Oct. 26.—A temporary injunction against Byron Bancroft Johnson, president of the American League, restricting him from suspending Pitcher Carl Mays, of the New York American League club pending disposition of the case by the courts, was granted by Supreme Court Justice Wagner. The injunction was granted on the application of the New York club.

The injunction takes the place of a restraining order obtained by the New York club several weeks ago. While it is technically termed temporary, lawyers for the plaintiff declared that it is in effect a permanent injoinder. Mays was transferred to the New York club by the Boston club, and his suspension was ordered by Mr. Johnson as a result of this transfer.

Numerous hearings have been held in the case, but Justice Wagner's order settles it definitely, according to counsel for the plaintiffs.

GRANDMA'S HOOPS TO TROUSERS

There are really two separate schools of evening dress this year, says a Fifth Avenue authority. We may select either the fitted bodice with the crinoline or panniered skirt or we may choose the classic line. To my mind the wise woman will adopt the latter. For after all, there are only a few women who are slim enough to want to look bunchy. Youth also is a limited commodity, and as it seems to me an undisputed fact that only the young can dabble in these Watteau shepherdess effects—most women of 28 don't wish to look quaint any more than they wish to look 38—I fancy that few of us will turn into pannier fanatics.

Of course, when we say classically Oriental we are most of us a little bit vague. Almost anything with a long line is dubbed one of these. Yet the true classic note generally denotes a long bloused waist and a draped skirt. It is the former which is so much emphasized in the evening frocks of this year. Practically all the French designers bring out this silhoutte, but the masterly classicist of the season is undoubtedly Mareisaine and Madelaine. This French house, which has scored such a tremendous success in New York has drawn upon the old Tanagra statutes for its inspiration. Its models show the drapery falling from the bust to the hips, where it is confined by a flat girdle permitting the classic bloused effect. A feature of this bodice is that it is shorter in front than in the back.

As for the skirt, this is generally draped slightly in front, and the back is often given extra fullness by floating points. Thus you see it—the classic silhoutte as presented by Paris. And thus you will undoubterly find it—with perhaps a few modifications—worn in the New York ballroom this winter.

But we are not only classic. We are positively oriental. If you doubt this, just glimpse at some of the culotte skirts designed for afternoon and evening wear. Combine these Turkish trousers with the long bloused bodice and who is to know that the wearer is not Miss Scheherazade of England, but Miss Dorothy Brown, of New York.

There are a great many black evening gowns this year, and these benefit by the Chantill flounces in black or white, now so popular. However, one sees much of rose and metallic tissues and also of yellow. The last color is particularly good and some of the most stunning new evening frocks combine yellow satin with orange velvet. As for materials, there are wonderful brocades, the softest and suppiest of satins, velvets and laces.

Trains accompany many of the late evening frocks, and these are a creature of mood. They may be detachable or stubborn. They may jut out at the side or at the back. The panel also is with us for evening wear even more strenuously than ever.

PETERBOROUGH SHOULD BE INCLUDED IN RE-ORGANIZED CANADIAN LEAGUE

A Circuit of Western and Eastern Clubs with This City Would Be a Success

Boards of Trade in Ontario see the necessity of sport as an attraction to offer in making bids to American manufacturers who are seeking Canadian locations. The manufacturer is cognisan. of the fact that wholesome amusements lessen the load on his employes and enquiries coming as they do to Boards of Trade throughout Ontario, usually ask whether or not organized baseball exists in these parts. Skilled or unskilled labor is easier to secure and more readily retained permanently in the larger centres, where sport of all sorts is to be had.

Thus cities with active Boards of Trade, looking for industrial expansion are making overtures at this time for the 192 baseball season with eyes on the possible location of franchises in the reorganized Canadian Baseball League, which is almost certain to replace the Michigan-Ontario circuit of the past season.

When the Michigan end of the league was organized much of the work was accomplished easily by Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade in the Michigan cities. They secured the franchises, but lost the required enthusiasm to get the necessary paid admissions to their home games to make it worth while for the visiting Canadian Clubs. Games played in Michigan during the months of July, August, and September fell away below the lowest estimates for attendances and it is improbable that Canadian club owners will again link up with the Michigan end.

The disposition of the Michigan-Ontario League will be cleared up at a meeting to be held shortly by the club owners, and it would not be surprising to see the four Michigan cities which comprised the 1919 circuit, become involved in a purely American circuit, probably the Central League for next season.

Several proposals for the reorganization of a league, including Canadian cities, are being talked of at present.

Frank Shaugnessy, former club owner and manager of the Ottawa club in the old Candian League, is very desirous that a six-club league composed of Ottawa, Montreal, Hamilton, London, Kitchener and Brantford, be the 1920 complexion, while there are those whose plan it is to confine the circuit to eight Western Ontario cities and another favoring another experiment with Michigan cities, and still another with New York and Pennsylvania States cities.

By admitting Ottawa and Montreal to a Canadian League the promoters of such a proposal would necessarily be in a position to admit the disadvantages of long railway jumps, which under high rates, is one of organized ball's greatest obstacles, and it is problematical whether the greatly increased patronage of the two eastern cities would make up the additional expenditure. Ottawa is admittedly a good baseball town with a club up in the race, while Montreal is much less secure in this respect, judging it however, only on the basis of past years in the international League.

Any club contend that a six or eight club league composed entirely Western Ontario cities, is the most feasable proposition since there is a huge saving by the short mileage entailed, and a more plausible means to success for that reason.

Rivalry similar to that which existed between London and St. Thomas in the years from 1911 to 1915 is just the thing which makes baseball, and that between Brantford and Hamilton this season was responsible for the first financial success of baseball in Brantford. This was the Michigan's trouble, as far as Canada's clubs were concerned. Imagine hardly 300 fans at a game in which Hamilton was the attraction at Saginaw, with both clubs fighting for the pennant. The tail-end London club drew as low as 100 fans in several Michigan cities, and then came home and played to nearly 2,600 on a Monday night.

Cities like Galt, Chatham and St Catherines, perhaps new in this variety of baseball see the possibilities of the pastime, while St. Thomas and Guelph are old standbys in organized baseball.

Taking four of the above mentioned cities and put them with London Brantford and Hamilton, nothing short of success can confront such a compact circuit.

Galt manufacturers and business men seeing the futility of trying to compete with Kitchener as a sport centre in the way of providing amusements for their employes, are more elated over the 1920 baseball prospects than one can imagine, and they are willing to exceed the league's daily guarantee to catch a place in the sun.

One manufacturer in Guelph alone is ready to lose $5000 a year if necessary in backing a professional baseball club in the new Canadian League, and a similar condition prevails in St. Thomas.

Chatham and St. Catherines business men promise to build ball parks in addition to back a club substantially if given an opportunity.

Why could not that proposition of Shaughnessy be carried out in Peterboro as the half way mark to save the long railway jumps? This worked out to excellent advantage in the old Canadian League with Ottawa as the only eastern team and with Montreal now available it would make it doubly successful. A circuit made up of cities that have supported organized ball in the past would be a much safer proposition than dragging in smaller towns of no baseball experience. An eight-club league is suggested consisting of London, Hamilton, Brantford, Kitchener, St. Thomas, Peterborough, Ottawa and Montreal.

REV. MR. McNICHOL TELLS OF THE SPLENDORS OF THE CITY OF GOD

Preached Strong Sermon to Congregation of St. Paul's Last Evening.

Rev. John McNichol, principal of the Toronto Bible Training College, preached a very instructive and helpful sermon to the congregation of St. John's Presbyterian Church last evening, on the "City of God." He took for his text Revelations, the 21st chapter and 2nd verse: "And I, John, saw the Holy City, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband."

Mr. McNichol spoke of the wonderful influence the cities of the time had on the historical activities of the time. "The history of the world may be written by its cities," he declared.

The city represents the concentration and consolation of man, and stands as the salvation of what man builds. But there is another city above which provides the much longed for resting place for man that is not felt in this world of cities.

God is reconstructing His world and His work is going on at all times. John saw a new earth and in the midst of it all was the Holy City, the new Jerusalem. It would do us good if we could fully realize this great city that will exist when all those of men have perished and gone, continued Mr. McNichol.

Then, in the remaining portions of the chapter, John describes the city as one of precious stones, resplendent with all the beauty of the gems. But this is not an architectual description, but a symbolized, spiritual description. It is a city with no more tragedies or sorrows, no more pain or grief. That awful curse that fell upon the human race at the beginning is vanished from the City of God.

But it is a city with all the glory of God. It was a magnificent vision that appeared before the eyes of John. This is a beautiful world and God made it so that we might love the things that are beautiful. The beauty of this world is marred. But in the new world we shall gaze upon things that are lovely and upon nothing that is unlovely. Our natural longing for the lovely and beautiful will be satisfied in the eternal city of God. In the city of God everything will have its new and refreshing influences. The recent conflicts have proved that the world is built upon foundations that are unstable, but God's world is one of permanent peace, beauty and satisfaction.

And it is a city built of saved sinners. As the charcoal is transformed into the beautiful gems by the crystalizing powers of nature, even so God takes up common outcasts of the world and uses them for the walls of his wonderful city. They are transformed by that power that comes fro the cross of Jesus Christ. The city of God is built of sinners, saved by grace.

The symbol of the precious stones was used in John's vision because the diamond is both lasting and costly. The gem is made out of the pain, sacrifice and travail of nature, and the great sacrifice and suffering of the Son of God made possible the city of God. Jesus himself said, "I go to prepare a place for you." Christ went down into the depths of sacrifice that the mansions of the city of God might be built.

"And the gates were of pearl." Every pearl is a sign of some stab of pain suffered by the small fish who covered the particle of sand with a substance to protect itself from the pain inflicted by the sand. And so the pearls of the gates are symbolical of the pain suffered on the cross, which opened the city to the world.

And the gates were on all sides. Three gates on the east for the children in the dawn of life. Three gates on the north for protection for the storm tossed and sufferers of the cold bleak winds of the soul. Three gates to the south to admit the happy whose life was filled with sunshine, and three gates to the west to welcome the aged from the setting of life. They are all opened through the sacrifice of Christ and the whole world may enter in.

"Let us, now, seek the glory that abides in the city of the Lord through Jesus Christ," concluded Mr. McNichol.

BLACK MEN'S CASH OF 200 YEARS AGO

AUSTRIAN THALERS FIND READY PURCHASERS—HALF-DOLLAR IN SIZE

Such a curious situation has been produced by the enhanced price of silver that a freight car full of "black men's money" from Austria, dated 200 years ago, has arrrived in Stockholm to be melted up by a metal company here, which will turn the ingots over to the Swedish jewelry trade, says the Chicago News. The coins in question were brought in 1,800 chests, each containing 1,500 pieces. They are what are called Maria Theresa thalers, and are of about the size of the American half dollar. The sealed car containing them came directly from Austria.

Just as the Mexican dollar finds general favor throughout the far east, so does the Maria Theresa thaler find favor among certain colored tribes. As the black men become [illegible] on the money the Austrian Thaler makers still date their products a couple of centuries back. These thalers contain a slightly larger proportion of pure silver than that best adaptable for silversmith uses.

BRITAIN SAVED DURING THE WAR

MORE MONEY BANKED THEN THAN AT ANY OTHER PERIOD IN HISTORY.

London, Oct. 26.—During the war a loud outcry was heard against the prevalence of reckless spending. Despite this, however, saving in Great Britain was practised more during the war than at any time.

Mr. Joy Comptroller of the Post Office Savings Bank, states "that apart from the period of the 4½ per cent. war loan in 1915 and the 5 per cent. loan in 1917, the upward progress of balances of depositors had been uninterrupted."

In many respects they had been phenomenal.

Since the close of 1917 Loan the deposit figures have climbed rapidly to a high level.

"For the 4½ per Cent. War Loan £20,000,0 0 was diverted from the Post Office Savings wank, and for the 5 per Cent Loan £15,000,000," he said.

"These figures include deposits which were converted into War Loan and new money, which, in ordinary circumstances, would have been put into the bank.

"In all, we received 5,400,800 subscriptions for £200,000,000 worth of various war issues.

"In spite of that, savings bank balances have grown phenomenally. The power of savings by the British public has been remarkably demonstrated."

GRAND TRUNK ISSUES SPECIAL EDITION

SOUVENIR FOR PRINCE OF WALES AND HIS TRIP OVER ROAD.

The Grand Trunk Railway System has supplied for the use of the Prince of Wales and his staff on their tour through Eastern Canada, over the lines of that railway a specially designed descriptive itinerary. This book is bound in real leather, is magnificently illustrated, and a notable production in every way. On the olive green leather of the cover is die-stamped in gold, the arms of His Royal Highness with crest, badges and supporters, while in the corners are the emblems of England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales and Canada. The frontispiece is a copper sketching of Niagara Falls, signed by the artist. The other illustrations are printed in sepia and heavy suede finished coated stock and show the features of the territory which His Royal Higness will visit during his tour of Ontario and Quebec, also the striking developments in motive power and bridge building. The letterpress is printed on the finest of hand made loft dried stock an dis descriptive of the points of interest between North Bay and Hamilton, Niagara Falls and Brantford, Guelph, Stratford and Woodstock, Chatham, London and Windsor and Toronto, Kingston Brockville and Montreal. Maps of the Grand Trunk System are mounted in silk in specially provided pockets. The "edition de luxe" is limited to one hundred copies, all numbered, and these are enclosed in handsome boxes with the arms of His Royal Highness stamped on them. In the foreword to this beautiful book reference is made to the important part played by the Grand Trunk in the development of Canada.

"The building of the railway, linking up the widely separated centres of population and activity, has been described," says this foreword, "as the most important forward step in the period immediately preceeding confederation. Without the means of communication provided by the creation of railway lines, the union of British North America would have been a union in name only. It was one of the fathers of Confederation Sir George Etienne Cartier, K. G. M. G., who presented to the Canadian Legislature, the act to incorporate the Grand Trunk Railway Company and that distinguished statesman regarded with pride the prominent part he had taken in the establishment of the railway. "I had charge of the act which created the Grand Trunk," said Sir George in one of his parliamentary utterances, 'and I am prouder of that than any other action of my life.' The line has been the greatest benefit that has ever been conferred upon the country."

KITCHENER CLUB AFTER ALLAN CUP

MAY PUT THREE TEAMS IN O.H.A. THIS SEASON.

Kitchener, Oct. 26.—President E. O. Ritz intimated Saturday that the Kitchener Hockey Club would make another bid for the Allan Cup this winter. While there is no artificial ice arena here, as was expected, the management are hoping for better training conditions this winter than were available last winter. With the exception of George Hiller, the senior team of the last two seasons will go into training. President Ritz said that there are from 15 to 18 players of senior calibre in the city at present, a number of new men having taken positions here since last winter. Their names are not being divulged until the winter training season opens. The club will be reorganized Tuesday evening. One of the chief items of business will be consideration of the proposal to put three hockey teams in the O. H. A. this season under the auspices of the Kitchener and Waterloo Amateur Athletic Association.

GAMBLERS ARRESTED

Police Break Into a Dice Game in Toronto, Saturday.

Toronto, Oct. 26.—Raiding a west King street tailor shop on Saturday evening, Plainclothesmen Pennock, Sullivan and Knight and Sergt. Guthrie broke up a dice game and made fifteen arrests. The game was in progress on the top floor of the building, and, after breaking down the locked doors, the police claim to have found $25 on the floor. Ernest Glemm, Jarvis street, is held as the keeper of a gaming house, while the fourteen others are charged with being found in.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Said:

"After all what a man does with his money is to invest, and there is no better way to in it than in Life Insurance.
As an ESTATE BUILDER there is nothing to equal Life Insurance.

TAKE THE FOLLOWING ACTUAL RESULT

A young man sixteen years of age took out a 15 years Endowment (No. 210380) in the Sun Life of Canada, which matured on the first of April. This young man paid annually $56.30 for fifteen years and he now has, through that investment, an immediate estate of $3495.00 in case of death.

DO YOU KNOW THAT THIS AMOUNTS TO ALMOST 15 PER CENT COMPOUND INTEREST ON EVERY DOLLAR PAID?

No wonder Sir Wilfrid said—and he might have added (no better place than the Sun Life of Canada)—"there is no better way to invest it than in LIFE INSURANCE."

HAS DRIVEN MANY NOTED TROTTERS

FRED HYDE SERVED TIME AS GROOM BEFORE DRIVING THE SULKY.

New York, Oct. 27.—Like Geers, Spian, McClary, and many other successful reinsmen, Fred Hyde served his apprenticeship as a groom before taking a mount behind a trotter. He had charge of Kremlin when he made his reputation as a race horse and became the champion of his sex after [illegible] dual with Stanhope.

When the lure of the high-wheel sulky caught him, he was given a mount behind the Piedmont colt, Marston C. He was in turn, during the past 30 years, followed by Lucrative, 2.13¼, and her colt, Scientia, 2.11¼, the sire of Seraswia, 2.09, which he bred and developed, and Axcyell, with whom he jarred the betting ring at Columbus, when he won with him in 2.06¼ in 1907.

Fred Hyde is now at Cleveland, Ohio, waiting for the Grand Circuit to open on July 7, with the Guy Axworthy mare, Marian Guy, to which he gave a two-year-old record of 2.09¾; Oscar Watts, 2.08¾; Joseph Guy, by Guy Axworthy, out of the dam of Dixie Gee, 2.07¾, and the Guy Axworthy trotters, Prince Ingomar pacer, Prince Pepper.

The three trotters are engaged at each of the Grand Circuit meetings and will make the round trip from North Randall to Atlanta. Their itinerary will bring them to Hartford, which is Hyde's home town, Labor Day week, when he will make an effort to win the thirty-fourth renewal of the Charter Oak purse, with one of the Guy Axworthy trotters.

STAYED WITH ENGLISH BRIDE

Canadian Military Sergt. Joins English Police Force.

Here is the story of an English bride who did not have to accompany her lord across the seas, to face strangers and a strange land. Florence Spirring married her Canadian, Sergt. Herbert O. Taylor, and Herbert stepped from his khaki into the blue of the police force. They have made their home in Bradford, Yorkshire, where the ex-soldier covers his "beat." Sergt. Taylor has served since November, 1914, and was thrice wounded in France.

His brother, and his best man, Albert, was a 208th man who, although under age, managed to get overseas and returned home a few weeks ago.

The Taylors are a Toronto family, hailing from Nottingham, England, in 1906.

THE VICTORY LOAN WILL HELP TO PAY THE HUGE WAR DEBT OF THIS COUNTRY

Rev. F. E. Malott Commends the Loan to Trinity Congregation.

The Victory Loan was commended to the congregation of Trinity Methodist Church by Rev. F. E. Malott in his sermon on Sunday evening. His subject was "Debt," and Mr. Malott pointed out that in subscribing to the loan the people of Canada would be helping to pay the war debt. He said that the fact that seventy-one per cent. of the country's debt was held in Canada was significant, and a matter for congratulation.

During the course of his sermon Rev. Mr. Malott referred to a number of forms of dishonesty and touched on the unrest in the land. He said it was dishonest for an employer not to give adequate wages for adequate labor, and it was equally dishonest for the employe not to give his best efforts when he was receiving just and fair wages. Love between men, however, was the only thing that would bring an end to the labor unrest now felt all over the world.

WHO WILL CONTEST THE MAYORALTY?

REPRESENTATIVE MEN HOLD OPINION THAT LABOR DOMINATES PROSPECTS

The time is drawing nigh when public attention should concentrate on the choice of a mayor for nineteen-twenty, and the question naturally arises, "Will the Labor party, with four men on the aldermanic board and a Labor man elected to the Legislature, stop at that?"

Just following the election of Mr. Tooms as member for West Peterborough, an aggressive Labor man, enthusiastically remarked: "And now look out for who is going to be mayor next year," conveying a hint that a Labor man is going to contest the mayoralty election. Others, too, not members of Labor organizations, have taken the success of Mr. Tooms at the polls as a sign of coming events, and more than one prominent citizen has remarked to The Review, "None but a Labor candidate need run for mayor the next election."

Ald. A. A. McIntyre, who has at least of late years, taken strong stand in the city Council on all questions affecting Labor interests, has announced his candidature for the chief magistrateship of Peterborough; but will he be endorsed as a Labor candidate? This is a question yet to be answered. There was a time when Peterborough Labor, but indifferently organized, looked inside the ranks of trade unionism for aldermanic representation. Conditions, however, are changed today, and it may well be that if Labor decides on running a candidate in the mayoralty election, that man will carry a union card.

Mayor Duncan has frequently expressed his intention of retiring at the end of the present term, and during the whole year more than one alderman has been in the eyes of his colleagues as a prospective candidate for the velvet chair to be vacated, but as yet Ald. McIntyre alone has declared himself open for nomination. However, a dark horse is just now faintly seen on the mayoralty election horizon, bearing all the trappings of Labor, and he may enter the race ridden by Labor if given any encouragement.

Bar silver was quoted at 64¼ pence an ounce in London, compared with $1.18 7-8 in New York.

EDITOR'S MAIL

MR. BURNHAM AND CHURCH

Editor Review: This morning I went to hear the Rev. Dr. Patterson, of Winnipeg, at the First Baptist Church here. The great convention of the Baptists of all Canada is being held, at which 500 delegates are in attendance. It is especially interesting because of the heroic efforts being made by the party led by Chancellor Wallace and Dr. Patterson to stem the tide that is gradually but surely humanising all Protestant churches. Critic of the Scriptures they regard as especially dangerous since it gives the idea that God guides with regard to them and all else, those who seek Him in spirit and in truth and since it pretends that the truth is only got at by the investigation and final statement of men. Science insists that principles shall square with experience and that practice must do likewise. Religion insists that experience and practice must square with principles since religious principles are of God while science is only of man. That Protestantism is on the brink of ruin on account of the struggles here involved is of course well known. Dr. Patterson sought for some anchor and in the course of his remarks on authority took occasion to state unhesitatingly his great respect for the Roman Catholic Church, which, he said, instead of being blown about by the average mind (Democracy) of the people, proclaimed to the world: "This is the doctrine of the Catholic Church. You can take it or leave it." The certainty and self-respect on the part of the Roman Catholic Church appealed strongly to him.

He further stated that if God kept watch over His people they need not be afraid and look for support in popular movements or parties, as politicians do. The sermon was intended to be a weighty message to the Baptists of Canada at a critical time and it was. To me, his whole sermon was a protest against those mere people or denominations who would take the daily guidance and protection of the people not at the hands of God at any stage. Either we have faith and complete faith or we have none. Hence biblical criticism is unnecessary to say the least of it and most dangerous in every particular.

You know, Mr. Editor, the Methodists have run wild by letting their physical energy carry them away like a runaway horse. The Presbyterians who furnish the thought of modern Protestant theology are fairly stumped out and at a standstill. Their Dods, Adam, Smike, Robertson Smith, etc., etc., have left them in a quandary. Anglicanism has had but one great theological thinker, Canon Driver, and "he's dead." The Baptists have much of the theological-mindedness of the Presbyterians and some of the fury of the Methodists so instead of being tied up like donkeys to a post like many of the church I most affect they have got going and none too soon. The attempt of the people to take the principles upon which certain things are founded into their keeping as well as the people's decision concerning them is bound to lead to disaster to those principles. It is the consecration of ignorance and egotism combined and in the last analysis will produce revolution. Dr. Patterson most truly said that if "Christ is the vine and ye are the branch," as the text book said, it was high time people relied more on Christ and less on themselves and their fancy stunts.

J. H. BURNHAM.

Post-Script.

I find on reflection that I left out a most important observation by Dr. Patterson.

Please scratch out the word "Methodists" and all references to them and their physical energy, also my reference to the Anglicans, in one of my sentences, I forget which, but I think it is that in which I refer to the Presbyterians. Put in these words instead: "Dr. Patterson however, took occasion to condemn as most dangerous to religion and the church those who would reform the world through the state. A state reformed man was not one of the children of God but one of those who said in his heart that there was little need of Christ. He made no reference who he

PROTECTION FOR DESERTED WIVES

ENGLISH WOMEN DESERTED BY HUSBANDS FROM THE COLONIES

London, Oct. 25.—English wives who have been deserted by their Colonial husbands and the wives of British soldiers in the Colonies who have been left unprovided for will have their cases brought before the Government.

A special committee will prepare a draft scheme on the subject for presentation to the Government.

Mr. Frank Briant, M.P., who proposed the recommendation, said he had received letters from all parts of the country, which confirmed his opinion as to the necessity for drastic action.

Although in the English courts a separation order could be obtained, there was no power for securing a maintenance allowance against a man living in one of the Colonies.

There might be cases, said Mr. Briant, where a Colonial Government would offer a free passage to a woman to go to her husband, but in cases that were in his possession certain facts concerning a man were such as would make it unlikely that any woman would care to see him again.

Mr. Baldwin referred to a statement that sixty-two French girls who had married American soldiers were returning to France on one steamship.

That suggested, he said, that the question of these women should occupy the attention of more than one government. "If we are to have the suggested world reconstruction, such a question must occupy the attention of the Allied Governments."

INSURANCE COMPANIES IN TORONTO INCREASE SUBSCRIPTIONS TO VICTORY LOAN

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Oct. 27.—With siren screeching, bombs bursting, fire apparatus changing up and down streets, and sundry other demonstrations, this city today started after the ninety million dollars, which optimistic one's expect to raise for Victory Loan of 1919.

Ten Big Subscriptions.

The Dominion Special Subscriptions Committee has announced ten big subscribers who subscribed one hundred per cent more than in 1918. Topping this list are the Sun Life and Canadian Life Insurance Companies, who each have subscribed ten million each, in fact most life insurance companies, Canadian and United States, doing business in this country, have doubled their last year's subscription.

Specially mentioned among the firms winning the Prince of Wales' honor flag is Hiens Company of Leamington, who get this flag with two crowns as a result of every employee subscribing to the Loan.

PRINCE MAY PAY VISIT TO THIS CITY

HOPED THAT HE WILL STOP OFF HERE ON HIS WAY THROUGH

The Mayor received unofficial word yesterday that His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales is going to pass through Peterborough about 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, and it might be possible to have him stop off here.

His Worship immediately came home from his cottage on Rice Lake, and, after getting in touch with the majority of the aldermen, sent a wire to headquarters at Kingston inviting the Prince to stop off and visit the city.

Up to the time of going to press no answer has been received to this invitation but it is sincerely hoped that the city will be unexpectedly favored with a visit from the heir apparent to the British Empire.

P. C. I. BY CLOSE SCORE DEFEAT BELLEVILLE

SCORE KICK-OVER IN LAST QUARTER THAT WINS GAME BY ONE POINT

Revenge is sweet. So state the Collegiate rugby players who defeated the Belleville High School boys at Nichol's Oval Saturday afternoon by the close score of 7 to 6. Although the rain was falling in torrents throughout the whole time of play neither the players, referees, or spectators appeared to notice this in their excitement.

It was a battle royal from the first kick-off until the whistle blew for the final. It was a fast, clean game all the way through with very few casualties or injuries of either a minor or more serious character.

The first quarter went scoreless with nobody breaking away and the respective captains contenting themselves chiefly with line plunging. There were several nice gains on the wing and half-line backs on both sides but neither team became dangerous in this quarter.

But in the second period the local boys started off at a tremendous slip that threatened to overthrow everything in their way. First of all, by some nice kicking, Green put one over the opponents' line for a rouge. Very shortly after the kick-off [illegible] went all the way over the line for a touch down giving the locals a lead of six points.

Then before the game had nicely settled down Weir, the speedy halfback of the Belleville outfit and former shortstop for the Ontario Baseball champions, broke away and after a long run succeeded in going over for a touch. Score at half-time was: Peterborough 6, Belleville 5.

After the rest things looked rather dark for the local boys as the visitors started pushing them gradually back. Belleville lost the ball on the Peterborough touch line and when the signal was given for Green to kick the ball out the line failed to hold and he was brought down behind his own line, trying to score.

Then the locals started a kicking. But Green, who, before this had been having difficulty getting hold of the wet ball, opened up with a few long high punts that sent the Bay of Quinte aggregation back into their own territory. At least he succeeded, shortly after the final quarter commenced, to boot one over for the winning point.

The locals lost a beautiful chance to score a touch in the last minute of play when Sloan, who had been making some extensive gains on the wing back, was brought down actually on the Belleville touch line. The visitors, however, did not prove dangerous at this stage and the locals remained victors.

STEWART'S WOOL FACTORY DESTROYED

FIRE STARTED BY A SPARK SPREAD RAPIDLY AND RUINED INTERIOR.

The interior of Stewarts Wool and Shoddy factory next to Lipsett's Hotel, east Hunter Street, was completely destroyed by fire this morning.

The fire was started by a spark from the picker machine, and the contents of the building caught fire with such rapidity that it was blazing merrily by the time the fire truck arrived on the scene via the Smith street route.

The roof and windows of Lipsett's Hotel were slightly damaged, this building being only a very short distance from the

"UTT AND JEFF'S DREAM" COMING

THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE SATURDAY MATINEE AND NIHGT

The comic cartoons of recent times ve made such a hit with the public the creations of Bud Fisher's tt and Jeff" and for that matter, ir popularity is not confined to country alone. The "long and rt of it" as they are familiarly led are known all over the world, in those sections of the globe re English is not spoken. As real ineians the twain probably have equals. Their very name seems be the signal for uncontrollable rth. "Mut and Jeff's Dream" is e title of their latest hit said to the best and funniest of all their "cut ups" being one big laugh from tart to finish. They will be seen at the Grand Saturday, matinee and evning.

The cast includes a chorus of stunningly gowned pretty girls who can both sing and dance, which helps to make this attraction the best popular priced offering of the season.

Advance sale of seats starts Thursday at 10 a.m.

ELINOR FAIR IN MARRIED IN HASTE

Why be a millionaire if you can't get a dollar? Why be a millionaire if you must scrub floors? Albert Ray, who is starring in "Married in Haste," with Elinor Fair, was called upon to face this problem, and he faced it with the aid of his pretty bride. Don't miss this sprightly William Fox production at the Empire tomorrow and Wednesday. It is a comedy bulging with humorous situations and romance.

DISABLED VETERAN MANUFACTURES TOYS

LOWER LIMBS PARALYZED, USES THOSE FACULTIES WHICH REMAIN.

Disabled as a result of the war, Comrade H. M. Smith, of the local branch of the G. W. V. A., has turned to the manufacture of toys to supplement his pension. In the rooms of Provincial Secretary W. E. Turley of the G.W.V.A. there was a most attractive array of samples of very fine workmanship, consisting of model lead soldiers, horses and guns, which the stores throughout the Province have informed Comrade Smith they are unable to purchase owing to the fact that they are stocked up with American goods, notwithstanding the fact that the latter are neither as good nor as cheap as those of this struggling Canadian pensioner.

Comrade Smith lives on Bonaccord street and h[is] lower limbs are completely paralyzed as a result of living under unsanitary conditions at Valcartier Camp in 1915. His son served in the Canadian army overseas. Comrade Smith is cheerful and industrious in carrying on toy-making, which his remaining healthy faculties allow him to do. The officers of the G. W. V. A. are endeavoring to obtain a market for these goods, not only to help their unfortunate comrade, but because their quality and price warrant purchase in preference to import-

WILL BOLSTER UP WHITE SOX TEAM

MANAGER GLEASON HOPES TO PUT OVER A TRADE OR TWO FOR PITCHERS.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Manager Bill Gleason of the White Sox has gone to his home in Philadelphia for the winter. The day he left he appeared to have recuperated completely from the shock of losing the world's series to the Cincinnati Reds, said it was a thing of the past, so far as he was concerned, and that he would not give baseball much thought until the winter meetings, at which he hopes to put over a trade or two that will make the Sox club even stronger than it was this year. What the nature of the deals are to be he declined to say, but intimated strongly that some would have to be made to improve the team.

It is believed that Manager Gleason will angle for a pitcher or two, as it is in that department in which the club is weak. So thinks President Comiskey, who says he will have to get a few pitchers to keep his club in championship form. Eddie Cicotte, Dick Kerr and Claude Williams are the only dependables on the staff, and it is a certainty that Cicotte, who is not growing younger, will not be any better than he was in the last race. He may not be as effective. That is what Comiskey and Gleason are to guard against, and for that reason are to take steps to rebuild the pitching staff. Roy Wilkinson seems to be a promising youngster, but has hardly had the experience to be relied upon unless he advances with the rapidity that Kerr did.

FARMERS APPOINT COUNTY DIRECTOR

MR. SMITHSON, ZION, SUCCEEDS E. N. McDONALD, ELECTED TO LEGISLATURE

A largely attended meeting of the representatives of the Farmers' Club of Peterborough County was held in the office of Farm and Dairy Saturday afternoon for the purpose of electing a county director and thereby filling the position made vacant through the election of Mr. E. N. McDonald to the Legislature.

Col. Johnston of Otonabee presided and referred to the pleasure felt by the farmers, not only over Mr. McDonald's election, but over the general success of the movement in the Province.

Mr. H. B. Cowan, of Farm and Dairy, stated that the victory in Ontario would have an important influence on Western Canada, where it would tend to hold off the movement that has been growing of late years in favor of forming an independent political party in Western Canada to combat certain interests that the West has believed have been entrenched in Ontario.

Mr. McDonald thanked those present for his election, and referred briefly to the meeting of the U.F.O members of the Legislature held recently in Toronto. Other speakers included Messrs. G. A. Brethen, Norwood, S. Armstrong, Indian River Wallace Anderson, Warsaw, M Smithson, of Zion, and several others. Several ladies were present Mr. Smithson was elected as county director.

Factory Conditions In Japan

THE average pay of factory girls of Japan is $4.67 a month. The matter of a living wage is a changeable quantity; it varies with nations and localities. In Canada, the country of the comparatively high wage, a person who receives only $4.67 a month—not a day, or a week, but a month—is most surely to be pitied. She is just as much to be pitied in Japan.

While the high cost of living in Japan is very low compared with Canadian experiences in that time, $4.67 a month, together with bad working conditions, strikes an average that threatens alike the economic, physical, moral and spiritual life of the worker.

While the Christian missionaries have helped to better the living conditions of many women in Japan, they have been able to do very little for the 700,000 women and girls who make their living in the big modern factories. There is little opportunity to reach them. They labor twelve hours a day—in some cases sixteen and eighteen, with an hour or two thrown in to clean up after their work is done. Unless the factory owner or employer is a Christian and makes provision for the moral and physical welfare of his workers, little can be done for them.

Out of her $4.67—the average monthly earnings of a woman factory worker—the girl must pay $1.20 a month for food. As that is less than the cost of her food the factory pays the remainder, $1.30 a month. Yet out of this meagre pay the average factory girl sends home fifty cents a month, for she earns more money than almost any other class of woman worker in Japan.

The majority of Japanese factories still run day and night shifts of twelve hours each, with thirty minutes off for dinner and fifteen minutes for rest in the forenoon and afternoon. Holidays are rare and uncertain—two or three in the month at the most. The majority of the factory girls are from fifteen to twenty years old, though often girls from seven to twelve may be found working there. Measures proposed by the Japanese Government to ameliorate [illegible] employment have been brought to naught through the refusal of the legislative branch of the Government to pass such measures.

Some of the factories have dormitories in which the girls live. They are carefully kept inside the dormitories, in many cases for fear they will desert. The period for which the girls "sign up" for factory work is three years. Out of every thousand girls statistics show that 270 work less than six months in the same place, 200 less than one year, 179 less than two years and 141 less than one year, 179 less than two years and 141 less than five years. Only eighty-nine pass the five year period. The reason for this is that the health of the girls break down under the long, hard work and the bad hygienic conditions under which she works and lives.

The Kanegafuchi Company, the Gunze Seishi Kwaisha of Ayabe and the Fuji Cotton Spinning Company are said to be very generous and humane in the treatment of their employes. The terms of employment, wages paid, provisions for ill health, for accidents, for long service and old age, rooms for eating, sleeping and recreation, bathing establishments, education for those who need it and public lectures on ethical and religious subjects compare favorably with the best to be found in Canada.

The Christian valuation of womanhood, emphasized by church workers permeating Japan, has helped greatly toward making the factory living and working conditions much better than they were ten and fifteen years ago. Also it has been found that ill treatment of employes does not pay and for business reasons more humanitarian methods have been adopted.

The Poet Laureate.

From what Mr. Bonar Law tells the House of Commons it appears that Dr. Robert Bridges' post is a sinecure. Such was by no means the case in Persia—the only country besides England where a poet laureate has been maintained of recent years.

Narcisse Persin, a French traveler, who spent some years in Persia at the beginning of the last century, relates that whenever the Shah travelled outside the capital his suite included a dwarf, a giant, a jester, a historiographer and a poet laureate. The last two were kept busy, for, while the historiographer had to record for posterity all the doings and sayings of the King of Kings, the laureate was expected to celebrate a large proportion of these in verse. Persia highly commends this custom, which he found rigidly followed, "for the Shah, knowing that many of his utterances and deeds would be crystallized in an ode, felt bound on these royal progresses to speak and behave majestically."

SKYSCRAPER CHURCHES

"METEORA" MEANS "DOMICILE OF THE SKY."

Strange Monastry In Thessaly Is Reached by a Unique Elevator—A Description of a Visit to the Strange Religious House Built on the Brink of a Precipice 800 Feet High.

FEW religious movements of recent times have aroused such world-wide discussion as the proposal to form a league of churches along lines parallel to the political league of nations.

This proposal came from the most unexpected source, from the Patriarch of the Greek Church who left the Ecumenical throne, violating a precedent of 400 years, to present his plans at Paris. Unexpected, it explains, because the Greek church not only is remote from the Western world's affairs, but many of its own strongholds are isolated and breathe the spirit of past ages. As an example it points to the monasteries of Thessaly, nature-made skyscrapers reached by unique elevators, which are described by Elizabeth Perkins, as follows:

"There is a legend, perhaps it is history, that there was once a ruler in Constantinople who disliked his brother and wished to banish him to the remotest corner of his kingdom. Consequently the monarch built a monastery on a well-nigh inaccessible mountain in Thessaly and founded a brotherhood, about 400 years ago, in what seemed to be the uttermost corner of the earth.

"The monastery was called 'Meteora,' meaning 'domicile of the sky.' After the original was built, twenty-three others grouped themselves around and were inhabited for a while. They were, however, finally abandoned, with the exception of three which are still in use.

"The seven hours' trip across the plains of Thessaly to the town of Kalabaka is most enchanting. Occasionally a Greek priest, with long beard, long hair, and long garments rides by. His high hat and his large cross indicate prominently his calling, and, if he is not in too great a hurry, a pedestrian may stop him, kiss his cross, and be touched on the forehead with a little switch, presumably dipped in holy water, and thereby obtains absolution for the day.

"We left the train at Kalabaka and there took horses and guides to climb to the high-built monasteries. For three hours the horses had to pick their way over hillsides where, in the month of February, no trail was visible.

"As we looked in wonder at one detached colossal pillar of stone, we discovered on its seemingly unattainable summit a building. This habitation of man, half natural rock and half artificial, seemed most extraordinary. Our guides drew attention to the higher precipices, and as we grew accustomed to their outlines we saw, on all sides, monasteries tucked into the ledges of the perpendicular walls. They are not all inhabited to-day, but they are there, bearing testimony that man has climbed, and built, and lived on crags that seem impossible for goats to climb.

"The whole of the west plain of Thessaly lay at our feet, and the white mountains of the Pindos range rose rugged and imposing before us. At the base of the rock on which Trinity is perched, like an eagle's nest, our guides hallooed and beat with a stick on a tin can, found in the bushes. Soon an answering call came back, and over the precipice, some 300 feet above us, the peering faces of several monks were seen. Then something serpentine flew into the air, and as it dropped perpendicularly we saw dangling from a coil of rope what looked like a small fish net. Down came the cable until it touched the earth at our feet, and the fish net proved to be a large shed rope bag, which opened and spread out flat on the ground.

"One at a time we were invited to step into the middle of this net and squat, Turk-fashion. The edges were gathered together on to a large iron hook, a shout was given, and the net soared upward, while its occupant felt somewhat like an orange at the bottom of a market woman's bag.

"The ascent takes just three minutes. Occasionally the open-work elevator swings into the rock with a slight bump, but the monks at the top wind the windlass slowly, and the bumping does not hurt, but as a compensation the view grows more beautiful every second. At the last the top was reached. There was a final swing outward, to get a rebound inward, several pairs of hands were outstretched to pull the net over to the platform, and then came a drop on to the stone floor! The hook was detached, the meshes opened, and the passenger helped to her feet by the black-robed brothers. They all gathered around with words of welcome and hands ready to be shaken in greeting.

"All we had to offer in return for their hospitality were some American postcards. The Flatiron Building caused much unintelligible comment, but also the perfectly understandable remark that 'this must be the Meteora of America.' Our red-haired friend also made us understand the superiority of the original Meteora in having a net bag to facilitate the mounting. Alas! We could not make him understand the greater superiority of an electric lift."

Needed Some More.

A negro bought a horse, which he afterward found would not go. He took it to a veterinary surgeon, who injected morphine into the animal. The horse bolted down the street while the astonished negro turned to the veterinary and asked him what the charge was. "Ten cents," said he. "Then," said the negro, "I want you to put fifty cents' worth of that stuff in my laig." "Why?" asked the doctor. "'Cause I'm out to catch dat boss!"

Optimistic Thought.

To enlighten his subjects is the true province of a ruler.

SCHOONER GOES DOWN ON THE ST. LAWRENCE

THREE LIVES LOST IN SEVERE STORM—LIFEBOAT SMASHED

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Quebec, Oct. 27.—Three men lost their lives in a storm on the St. Lawrence River, barely five miles from Quebec harbor, during the night of Friday and Saturday, and a fourth victim was rescued unconscious after being lashed to the mast of his vessel for the entire night.

Pierre Dion, an aged servant and an old navigator, was taking his schooner down from Quebec to the Island of Orleans. He had with him his two nephews. The old man was at the rudder, and near a point off Lauzon a squall suddenly sprang up and the boat went down. The crew took to the lifeboat, but a hugh wave struck the rowboat and broke her into kindling. The younger sailor managed to reach the schooner again and was rescued next morning.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO MARKETS

A Bird Colony.

The most remarkable bird colony in the world is on Hat Island, in the Great Salt lakes, Utah. The island is about 12 acres in extent, and on a rocky pinnacle 100 feet above the brine, with not a drop of fresh water to be found and apparently nothing to attract the birds except the sense of security which the island offers.

A Jewel.

"First you talk of a jewel robbery," said the policeman, "and now all you have to say is that you have lost your cook." "Well," exclaimed Mr. Crosslots, "that cook was a jewel and some of the neighbors came around and stole her."

Pigeons in London.

The pigeons of London are one of the sights to which the attention of visitors is always drawn. St. Paul's churchyard is a great place of gathering, and here the birds flock down for the more lavish midday meal spread for their benefit, now that rations are less vigorously controlled. They feed out of the hands of their benefactors, perch on their shoulders, and flap and glitter in the sunshine as they fly up and down.

Pun-ished.

"I'll let you off this time," said the judge, "but you fellows want to remember that you have no right to go whirring along regardless of the rights of pedestrians."

"Well, judge," said the pleased motorist, "you know to whirr is human."

"What's that! You are fined fifty dollars for contempt of court."

Canadians! This is a call to National Service—
The Victory Loan 1919 which opens to-day.

YOU are citizens of no mean country.

Canada is a fair, free land.

Canada is your country.

Canada—now—has need to borrow from you—Lend:

Lend without restraint of politics or fine distinctions of creed or party.

The leaders of the political parties endorse the Loan.

It is CANADA that asks:

And why—

To clean up the last of the War's commitments and expenses;

To establish beyond all question the capacity and credit of your country;

To care for the wounded and the maimed soldier;

To finance the bonus of the returned soldier already paid;

To enable the fruits of Victory to be garnered;

To ensure the prosperity of you, her citizens.

The guns of war are silent—but they are not yet cool.

Canada's book of war is gloriously written—make this, the closing chapter, a worthy one. The responsibility is yours. LEND!

TIGERS WIN FROM ROUGH RIDERS

SCORE 15-1—ROSS CRAIG RETIRED WITH BROKEN NOSE IN THIRD

Hamilton, Oct. 26.—In spite of the heavy rain which fell this morning and the promise of showers all afternoon, a large crowd of excited Tiger fans were on hand this afternoon for the first home game of the inter-provincial rugby season. Hamilton's ancient enemy, the Ottawa Rough Riders, were the Tiger opponents and they came to town chuck full of confidence in spite of their defeat last week at the hands of the yellow and black. Much depends upon today's game, and both teams know it, in fact, because of the importance of the battle the weather conditions proved a huge disappointment to everybody. A wet ball and slippery ground resulted in much uncertainty brought into the game, although the Tigers were very confident of victory. The league race in the Big Four this year is so upset that with the season half over the result is very much in doubt. Tigers have played their three games to date away from home and for that reason appear to have a grand chance to at least tie up the race for the championship and the right to participate in the Canadian finals.

The bad start the local crowd got away to has proven a blessing in disguise for it forced out several of the old veterans, who had hung up their moleskins for good and this afternoon such old timers as Bob Isbister, Ross Craig, Norm Clark and others were in harness. Their presence was responsible for the great confidence pervading the Tiger camp, the large crowd feeling cocksure that the Rough Riders would suffer another defeat at the hands of the yellow and black, who have bumped the boys from the capital so often in the past. The teams lined up as follows:

Referee—W. H. Hewitt.

Umpire—Tommy Riddell.

Early in the third quarter Ross Craig of the Tigers suffered a broken nose and had to retire.

The game ended in a score of 15 to 1 in favor of the Tigers.

MAYOR DUNCAN COMMENDS VICTORY LOAN

Peterborough, Oct. 27th, 1919

W. H. Bradburn, Esq.,
Chairman Peterborough County
Victory Loan Campaign.

Dear Mr. Bradburn,—On this, the opening day of the Victory Loan campaign, let me wish your organization all success. I shall subscribe to the Loan, believing it to be a patriotic duty and also good business. I feel that the citizens of Peterborough will respond generously, and that the objective will be reached.

To win the Prince of Wales' flag and crest will be a fine advertisement for this city. We need all the notice we can get in these days when big American industries are making a critical inspection of the most prosperous and wide-awake cities of Canada with a view to locating branches in the Dominion. We must be at the top.

I can assure you that the campaign has the best wishes of every member of the City Council.

Yours faithfully,
GEO. H. DUNCAN, Mayor.

PRICE OF TEA HERE NOT LIKELY TO RISE

LOCAL MERCHANTS HAVE LARGE SUPPLY WHICH WILL BE SOLD AT PRESENT RATES

Mr. A. J. Billinghurst made the statement, according to the Toronto press, that a rise in the price of tea to the extent of from 7 to 9 cents a pound was inevitable.

When asked by The Review this morning how this would affect the price of tea in Peterborough, one of the leading merchants of the city stated that it was his opinion that the price of tea here would not rise to any such extent as that anticipated by the Toronto man. Peterborough merchants, have a sufficient stock of tea on hand, all of which will be sold at the present prices, to last for a considerable time, and it is this merchant's belief that the price of bulk teas will not rise materially anywhere, although no one could tell what the package tea companies might take advantage of. At any rate there will not be a nine-cent raise in the price of tea here for the present, and probably, even if there is anything in that statement the price will have lowered to reasonableness by the time the local supply has been exhausted.

HOME OF CHAS. HEALY BURNDED TO GROUND

OCCUPANT HAD NARROW ESCAPE OF HIS LIFE— NO WATER AVAILABLE

Charles Healy, 133 Woodbine avenue, had a very narrow escape of losing his life when his house was burned to the ground very early this morning. About 3.30 o'clock Mr. Cocklin, a near-by neighbor, noticed the reflection of the fire in his windows and immediately hastened to Healey's to warn him of his danger. The occupant of the house escaped with a few slight burns, barely avoiding very serious injuries.

The fire brigade were summoned, but were helpless as there were no water connections available within reach of the house. It is just inside the boundary of the city.

The house, which was recently completely refurnished, was burnt to the ground. It was insured for $1 000. The cause of the fire is unknown.

TRIS SPEAKER CAUGHT LARGE FISH IN RICE LAKE LAST WEDNESDAY

Tris Speaker, manager of the Cleveland American League baseball team, who has been visiting in Peterborough during the past week on a fishing and hunting trip, left yesterday afternoon for Cleveland, O.

Les Nunemaker, catcher of the Cleveland team, and Morris Ackerman, outdoor writer and editor of Ackerman's Sportsmen's Guide, are still here. They are guests of Chris Graham, of the Empress Hotel. They will remain here until Thursday and meet Speaker in Toronto on Thursday night, going north from there to Nipigon Bay where they will put in some fifteen days after moose, caribou and deer.

Before leaving Peterborough "Spoke" had the following to say: "I have had one of the most delightful trips of my life. During the week I was fortunate to get a nice bag of ducks and best of all to land a splendid lunge. Graham has treated us fine and Cyril Lech, Orval Moore, Stanley Coon, Tommy Hooper and others of Chris' friends have gone the limit to show us a good time. I am mighty sorry to have to leave Peterborough and will always remember it as a place that brought me many new friends and happy hours."

Speaker attends a party given by Ray Chapman, Cleveland shortstop, in Cleveland tonight, and attends Chapman's marriage to Miss Cathleen Daly on Thursday evening. In the meantime Nunamaker and Ackerman are having the time of their lives fishing and hunting in the vicinity. Speaker caught a lunge on Rice Lake last Wednesday that Bert Anderson, Hiawatha Indian guide, estimated to weigh twenty-five pounds. The big fish is being mounted here by Edwin Elcombe, local taxidermist.

BAY OF QUINTE EPWORTH LEAGUE CONFERENCE MEETS AT PORT HOPE

210 Delegates Enjoy Excellent Program—Largest Gathering of Young People Since Before War.

After an interval of four years the regular biennial convention of the Bay of Quinte Conference Epworth League was held from Friday, Oct. 24, to last evening, and was in every sense of the word a success.

Two hundred and ten delegates, including fifteen from Peterborough, attended and were greatly inspired by both services and discussions.

Although the whole conference was inspiring and helpful, special interest centred on to Friday evening's program, when two missionary plays were presented in characteristic Chinese costumes. These were both entertaining and instructive to the delegates.

On Sunday afternoon "Our Thin Red Line" was the feature. This consisted of ten young people, each impersonating the missionary to foreign fields who they are helping to support. This number was greatly appreciated.

The Sunday services were well attended. May Frost spoke at the morning service on "The Call of Service," and during the evening service Rev. Dr. R. M. Burns, of Toronto, spoke on "The War and the Kingdom." Both speakers lightened their addresses with many amusing anecdotes from overseas.

The conference was officially welcomed to the town by Mayor Burnham. It was the largest gathering of young people held since 1914.

The value of the conference was very clearly demonstrated at its closing meeting, when about 150 delegates signed up for definite Christian work.

PRESS ASSOCIATION IN REGULAR SESSION

PUBLISHERS OF DAILIES AND WEEKLIES DISCUSS MATTER OF INTEREST

The semi-annual meeting of the Midland Counties Press Association met in the Council Chamber, Cobourg, Friday, 24th inst. Mr. Chas. M. Mundy, president, was in the chair and Mr. D. D. C. Dawe, Examiner office, Peterborough, was secretary. It is agreed to be one of the best meetings yet held. Among those present were Messrs. J. O. Herrity, Belleville Daily Ontario; George H. Wilson, Roy Wilson, Lindsay Daily Post; D. D. C. Dawe, Peterborough Daily Examiner; A. H. Alloway, C. M. Mundy, Oshawa Reformer; Craydon M. Goodfellow, Whitby Gazette-Chronicle; J. G. Keefer, Harland Keefer, Norwood Register; C. P. Doughty, Hastings Star; Franklin C. Lapp, Cobourg World; Leslie W. Wilson, Cobourg Sentinel-Star; H. S. Keyes, Colborne Express; M. A. James, The James Papers, Bowmanville.

There was a discussion on the necessity for a revision of printers' price list for job work in use in the district, owing to the very great advances, since its adoption, in cost of all classes of papers, ink, type and labor. Messrs. Dawe, Leslie Wilson, B. C. Colpus, Geo. W. James, H. S. Keyes, C. M. Goodfellow, C. P. Doughty were appointed a standing committee on prices.

With a view to introducing more uniform advertising rates in weekly papers based on their respective circulations, Messrs. Alloway, Geo. H. Wilson, Harland Keefer, L. J. Lancaster (Havelock) and R. M. Glover (Peterboro) were appointed a committee to draft on adequate scale.

Mr. Leslie Wilson had a farmer a sale notice to several local papers in Northumberland and Durham. Bills for charge ranged from 75 cents to $1.80 and in his opinion the paper charging the highest rate was the least valuable as an advertising medium.

Mr. A. R. Alloway, now editor of the Ontario Semi-weekly Reformer, Oshawa, gave a capital address on "The Making of a Weekly Newspaper." The editorial and local news departments give a newspaper a proper foundation. These must receive best attention if a paper is to have the influence it should in a community. The news service should include every local item fit to print, leaving the world news to the city dailies. He advised illustrations of county and local public men and others who distinguished themselves. Also write-up of persons, farms, institutions. Make every page of a local paper interesting. Would publish only good serial stories. Mr. Alloway was heartily thanked for his practical and able address.

Mr. M. W. G. Purser of Port Hope having died since last meeting, the president was deputed to send suitable letter of condolence to his mother, Mrs. John Purser, Cobourg.

VALUABLE PIECES OF OLD TAPESTRY

REPRESENT STORY OF THE SEVEN DEADLY SINS—PRICE $33,000.

There are now to be seen in the middle of the Great Watching Chamber at Hampton Court pieces of tapestry which have recently been acquired for the nation.

They were woven at Brussels in the first quarter of the sixteenth century, and formed part of a set of seven pieces symbolically representing the Story of the Seven Deadly Sins, with Biblical scenes and allegorical groups. Presumably they were bought by Cardinal Wolsey, and were hung in the Legate's Chamber at Hampton Court.

Found stored away in an old house in Cornwall, they were bought by the Marquis of Anglesey at auction in 1910 for £6,600, and they have been hung at Beaudesert. There is a still earlier record of sale in 1848, when the price paid was only a few shillings. Their history cannot definitely be traced further back, but there can be no doubt that Hampton Court Palace, to which they are now restored, [illegible]

Y. M. C. A. NEWS

Season's Activities Now Fully Organized and in Fully Swing.

The gymnasium work as usual interests a great many girls. The five evening classes, the three held in the afternoon, and the two morning ones, are all doing good work, and, in addition, some of the girls are preparing dances for the Y.M.C.A. minstrel show.

Two of the six talks on the art of story-telling have already been given with an average attendance of 28. This week the third of the series, "How to Tell a Story," will be given on Thursday night, at seven-thirty, instead of at eight as heretofore.

The first of the Vesper services was held Sunday afternoon at 4.30. A helpful talk on friendship was given by Miss Layton and Miss Ida Wilson sang, after which tea was served. Next Sunday Miss Layton will speak again on the subject, "Our Guest."

On Friday evening the annual hallowe'en party will be held. It is expected that a number of ghosts will be present. Saturday afternoon at three o'clock there will be a party for the juniors. Perhaps there'll be some fairies there!

It is hoped that the swimming pool, which has been closed since the first of September, will be re-opened the middle of November both for lunges and swimming lessons. Further notice of this will be given later.

The training course for leaders in Canadian girls in training work, which has been held each week under the auspices of the Girl's Council, will meet as usual at the Y.W.C.A. on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock after a discussion of the physical standard, Mrs. Pettit will speak on the intellectual characteristics and needs of the teen-age girl. Following the training course there will be a meeting of the Girl's Council. It is hoped that every Sunday School will be represented as important business is to be discussed.

MAY BE INCREASE IN TELEGRAPH RATES

RAILWAY COMMISSIONERS TO HOLD SITTINGS ALL OVER THE DOMINION.

Ottawa, Oct. 27.—The following statement has been issued from the offices of the Railway Commission.

"The Board of Railway Commissioners have decided to hold an extended series of sittings over different portions of Canada for the purpose of obtaining the views of the public on the application of the telegraph companies for an increase of practically 20 per cent in the present telegraph rates.

"The Board will sit in Ottawa on Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 11-12, at which sittings representatives will be heard from the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario. They will be in Winnipeg on Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, the 15th, 17th and 18th days of November; at Vancouver on Saturday and Monday, the 22nd and 24th days of November, and at Victoria on Tuesday, the 25th.

pture of Former Russian Capital Before Cold Weather Ends Campaign Seems Doubtful Soviet Forces, Fighting Desperately, Re-Capture Important Strongholds—Yudenditch and Deniken Forced to Fall Back.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Oct. 28.—Winter, moving ahward from the Arctic regions, coming to the aid of Bolsheviki ops in Petrograd, and the ability General Yudenitch to capture the mer Russian capital before cold ther puts an end to his campaign ms doubtful.

Soviets Fight Desperately.

Soviet forces, fighting desperately inst the North-western Russian my, have succeeded in recapturTsarskoye'selos and Pavlovsk, th of Petrograd, and appear to be a position to prolong defence of city for an indefinite period. of the best soldiers in the k of the Soviet army are said to e been rushed to Petrograd from cow, and it is believed they form ain portion of Red forces which initiated what appears to be a cessful counter-offensive.

Yudenitch Falls Back.

Yudenitch troops are reported to ve fallen back long the front. th of Petrograd, but unofficial reorts would seem to indicate they ve moved nearer Petrograd on a running from Catchina to Krasa Gorka. It is said the town of rila, on this front, has been taken m the Bolsheviki.

Deniken Also Retires.

Furious fighting is going on in and und Kevw, which was taken last ek by General Deniken's forces. some points Denikine's troops ve been forced to retire slightly. Lettish troops are now holding naamunde, below Riga, and have intained their control of the right nk of the Duna River.

A Difficult Task.

Reveal, Oct. 28.—The capture of Petrograd will be no easy task, in the opinion of Gen. Laidoner, Commander-in-chief of the Esthonian army He pointed out today that the Bolsheviki have communications between Kronstadt, Krasnayagorka and Petrograd. The railroad between Petrograd and Moscow is uninterrupted, and the Bolsheviki are able to transport troops from Moscow for the defense of Petrograd.

Reds Well Equipped.

General Laidoner predicted heavy fighting in view of the reinforcements the Bolsheviki have been able to muster. He said the Bolshevik [illegible] organized.

Regarding Esthonian help he declared that many dificulties presented themselves, because Generals Yudenitch and Denikins and Admiral Kolchak do not recognize the border States, while the Bolsheviki have distributed proclamations throughout Esthonia to the effect that they acknowledge Esthonian independence.

Will Aid Yudenitch.

"The Esthonians, it turns out," said Gen. Laidoner, "must cooperate with Yudenitch, who does not recognize Esthonia, against the Bolsheviki, who do. The Esthonians will assist Yudenitch so far as possible, but this will be restricted to necessary help. The Esthonian army a strong organization, could be ordered to fight, but such action would provoke ill-feeling among the troops and peasants."

The Esthonian Commander-in-chief spoke highly of the bravery of Gen. Yudenitch's troops.

DOWNIE ST. CREEK WITH US ALWAYS

FLOODS CITIZEN'S PROPERTY AND FILLS CITY HALL WITH COMPLAINTS.

NO REMEDY YET IN SIGHT

NUISANCE OF LONG STANDING MAY BE (?) INVESTIGATED THIS WEEK.

At a brief session of the city committee of the whole Council last evening, Ald Edgar wanted to know what has been done in regard to Downie street, which almost every heavy rainfall, and certainly each spring runs as much over adjacent properties, flooding cellars and committing exasperating destruction of citizens' belongings generally.

His Worship and the aldermen generally have an idea that this water course blocks up on Mr. D. W. Dumble's property, and [illegible] the Mayor and Ald. Phelan and City Engineer Parsons some weeks ago were deputed to investigate conditions at this point, in company with Mr. Dumble. The latter gentleman contends there is no obstruction whatever on his property to cause overflowing, and offers that diverting the creek by the city some years ago is responsible for all trouble.

His Worship, however, said last evening that he had made a personal survey of the situation, and in his opinion, the posts of a stable, together with a huge tree, in the creek's bed on Mr. Dumble's Downie street property causes a jam of ice in the spring, thus blocking the course and flooding neighboring property.

To Ald. Edgar's enquiry as to what had been done in the way of an inspection of conditions by the committee named for that purpose, his worship replied: "Nothing. I have been willing a dozen times to inspect the creek with Mr Dumble, but cannot get his attendance when I am at liberty, which is very seldom these days." "I am not going to spend my time running after Mr. Dumble," the Mayor added.

In an informal discussion of the situation committee generally agreed that something must be done to relieve citizens of periodical flooding from this creek, and hints were made of action both by the city and suffering citizens to enforce improved conditions at Mr. Dumble's expense, always assuming that the responsibility rests with him, as Council claims.

The committee named above will take immediate steps to assure Mr Dumble's company with them in an examination of this creek's course through his property. Mr. Dumble some time ago invited such action himself.

GOVT. OFFICIALS STILL HOPE TO AVERT STRIKE OF U. S. BETUMINIOUS MINERS

Thought That a Postponement Would Bring With it Negotiations for a New Wage Agreement.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Oct. 28.—Officials today pinned their hope of averting a strike of bituminous miners called for Saturday on a meeting tomorrow, in Indianapolis, of the executive board of the United Mine Workers of America.

A study of union bylaws, officials said today, reveal that the executive board has power to call off the strike or at least to order a postponment.

New Wage Agreement.

Should President Wilson's appeal to the miners be heeded to the extent of a postponment, officials here are of the opinion that the strike will be averted, for a postponment would be certain to bring with it negotiations for a new wage agreement.

FARMERS SMALL COMPACT GROUP

NEW MEMBERS MAY TAKE SEATS BEFORE END OF SESSION

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Oct. 28.—The election of three farmer members to the Federal House yesterday will give the farmers a small but compact group of cross benches of Commons, four in all, with their leader, Hon. T. A Crerar.

Take Seats Soon

It is expected that they will not always vote against the Government, but will be found sometimes on one side and sometimes on another. They may take their seats before prorbgation, which now cannot take place this week on account of Liberal opposition to the G. T. R. purchase bill.

Labor coalition and the Premiership of Ontario, the political critics here today refrain from naming any more probabilities, and confined their attention to the Farmers' Committee of nine, who went into session early this mornin gto formulate their report on leadership and policy, following their conference with the Labor men at Hamilton on Saturday.

No Intimation.

On adjournment at noon, members of the committee gave not the alightest intimation of their progress or decision.

There is still no intimation from the legislative buildings of the date set for the resignation of the Hearst Government. It would seem that Conservatives and Liberals are waiting for U. F. O. Labor Coalition to make the first move.

JEALOUSY BELIEVED THE MOTIVE — MURDERER TURNS GUN ON POLICE.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Joseph Perry, night clerk in the Postal Telegraph Company's main office, shot and killed his wife, Grace Perry, night chief operator in the Stone Exchange of the Rochester Telephone Company, at their home in the outskirts of the city last midnight.

Jealousy is believed to have been the motive. Perry turned his revolver on a policeman who attempted to arrest him, but the mechanism failed. He was arrested on the charge of murder in the first degree.

C. P. R. HAS TAKEN TWENTY MILLION

EMPLOYEES ALSO TAKE AN[illegible] TORY LOAN

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto Oct. 28.—It is announced today that the C. P. R. has taken twenty million dollars of this year's victory loan, which is three millions more than last year.

Employees of the C. P. R. will also take another big slice.

Reports rfom all over the province indicate that canvassers are working well and turning in suscriptions that augur well for the success of the campaign.

PRESIDENT VETOES PROHIBITION BILL

BUT HOUSE AT ONCE CARRIES THE BIIL OVER HIS VETO.

Washington, Oct. 28.— President Wilson unexpectedly vetoed the prohibition enforcement bill and within three hours the House had re-passed it over his veto by a vote of 176 to 55. The total vote was barely more than a majority of the entire membership.

Dry leaders in the Senate immediately began laying plans to repass the bill there. They expect to ask unanimous consent for it consideration today, claiming enough votes to put it through. They expect to act on it by Wednesday at the latest.

The President refused to sign the bill because it included the enforcement of war-time prohibition.

Objects Achieved.

The objects of war-time prohibition, the President in his veto had been satisfied, and "sound public policy makes clear the reason and necessity for its repeal."

It would not be difficult, the President held, for Congress to deal separately with the two issues.

The veto hit Congress like a crack of lightning. The House, getting on its feet again, deserted its leaders, who wanted to defer consideration until Thursday so as to round up all the dry members. But the drys swept into the chamber and showed there was an overwhelming sentiment among them to give the Government ample weapons for dealing with the liquor traffic, now outlawed troughout the land.

Nobody had really professed to know that the President would veto the bill. Republicans and Democrats alike and the countless multitude that had sorrowfully watched the passing of the bars—thought it

NEW YORK'S DRUG CLERKS TO STRIKE

DEMAND AN EIGHT-HOUR DAY, WAGE INCREASE OF 35 PER CENT

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, Oct., 28.—A strike that will vitally affect New York's millions was voted early today by representatives of 400 or 500 drug clerks.

Ask Eight-Hour Day.

After an all night meeting the men voted by 1450 to 70 to walk out during the week, leaving the date to be determined by their officers.

Union officials said that the men involved comprised ninety percent of all the drug clerks in the city.

The clerks demand an eight-hour day a closed shop, and an average increase in wages of 35 per cent.

This bulletin will appear each day, and commencing tomorrow will be more complete. District No. 1 in the second section of the bulletin is the city; the others are in the county.

For the first day's work in Peterborough, the Victory Loan subscriptions total $143,350, of which $76,000 represents the bonds taken by the City Trust Commission The results are satisfactory in the light of the fact that the canvassers found it necessary to spend considerable time getting a "toe hold." There were reported many promises which will be fruitful.

J J. Turner and Sons show their absolute confidence in the loan by subscribing $17,000. This does not include the factory employees, who may be expected to be up with the top-notchers.

Another incident worthy of record is the contribution from the Royal Bank which institution is the first to win the Prince of Wales' honor emblem card, which to establishments where 75 per cent. of the staff subscribe an aggregate amount equal to at least 10 per cent. of the annual pay roll. Every member of the bank staff subscribed for a total of 12 per cent. of the pay roll.

The enthusiasm in evidence throughout the province is indicated in the following telegram received by Mr Harold Fry the organizer for Peterborough County:

"All conservative feeling about the loan seems gone. The campaign has opened with the smash of success. Returns so far are amazing. The first fifteen special subscriptions reported total sixty-four millions and show one-third increase over last year. For the early hours of the campaign Waterloo reports $5,250,000, Peel $100,000, Dufferin $25,000, Dundas $50,000. Stormont and Glengarry and the entire Lake Huron division had exceeded objectives. No doubt a number of specials are promised which will force some units over the top in a few hours.

Ontario's contribution on the first day to the Victory Loan was $10,226,750. This includes the share from Toronto, amounting to $2,539,150. Forty-two units out of sixty reported their results to headquarters yesterday. Ontario's objective in the loan is $224,000,000.

Mr. Wood's Statement.

Mr. G H Wood, of Toronto, chairman for Ontario, last night issued the following statement regarding the campaign in the Province:

"Ontario has got off to-day to a good start in the Victory Loan drive. The total returns for to-day are $10,226,750. This represents reports from forty-two units out of sixty, which is a good showing, considering that it takes time to get all the machinery in perfect working order.

"Reports from all parts of the Province indicate not only a favorable reception of the loan, but in many cases intense enthusiasm, which is quite unusual so early in the campaign Perhaps the most enthusiastic of any of the places we have heard from is the town of Ingersoll, under Chairman Summer, where all their industries had won the honor emblem by 9 o'clock this morning, and where the whole town is simply on fire. Port Dalhousie was the first canvassing district to win its Prince of Wales' flag, which it did by passing its objective at 10 15 this morning.

TWO AUTOMOBILES ARE BADLY DAMAGED

COLLIDE AT CORNER AND ONE TURNS COMPLETELY OVER.

Two automobiles were badly damaged last evening as the result of a collision at the corner of George and Charlotte streets.

Edward Wood, of the Stewart House, Hunter street, was driving east on Charlotte street and approached the corner of George. W. J. Clancy, of 508 Sherbrooke street, was driving south on George street, and not noticing Wood until too late to apply the breaks with any effect, smashed right into the automobile breaking its radius rods and further damaging the car. He struck the car with such force that it turned around and came to a stop at thesouthwest corner of the street.

Clancy's car turned completely over smashing the top and windshield By a miracle no one was injured.

A charge has been laid against Clancy for not allowing the man on the right, the right-of-way as required by the Motor Vehicle Act.

TEN LOST THEIR LIVES IN STORM ON LAKE MICHIGAN EARLY THIS MORNING

Three of Victims Were Passengers, the Remainder Crew City of Muskegon Struck Peir.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Muskegon, Mich., Oct. 28.—Ten persons lost their lives this morning when the Crosby Liner, "City of Muskegon," formerly the "City of Holland," while trying to make the harbor here struck the south pier at Muskegon channel and was smashed to pieces, sinking in four minutes.

Three Victims Passengers.

Three of the victims were passengers, the remainder being members of the crew. There were about 25 passengers aboard, but the vessel lay against the pier so that most of them were able to make their way to safety.

The "City of Muskegon" left Milwaukee in clear weather last evening, but was caught in a raging north-wester that struck Lake Michigan early this morning. Riding the storm well, Capt. Miller decided it was safer to attempt to make harbor than to turn about. Just as the bow of the vessel came into the channel, a big wave caught it and smashed the craft against the end of the pier.

WEATHER FORECASTS
Moderate to fresh west to south-west winds, fair and comparatively cool on Wednesday.

pture of Former Russian Capital Before Cold Weather Ends Campaign Seems Doubtful Soviet Forces, Fighting Desperately, Re-Capture Important Strongholds—Yudenditch and Deniken Forced to Fall Back.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Oct. 28.—Winter, moving ahward from the Arctic regions, coming to the aid of Bolsheviki ppe in Petrograd, and the ability General Yudenitch to capture the mer Russian capital before cold ather puts an end to his campaign ms doubtful.

Soviets Fight Desperately.

Soviet forces, fighting desperately inst the North-western Russian ny, have succeeded in recapturTsarskoy'selos and Pavlovsk, th of Petrograd, and appear to be a position to prolong defence of me of the best soldiers in the ks of the Soviet army are said to e been rushed to Petrograd from scow, and it is believed they form in portion of Red forces which e initiated what appears to be a cessful counter-offensive.

Yudenitch Falls Back.

Yudenitch troops are reported to e fallen back long the front. th of Petrograd, but anofficial reits would seem to indicate they e moved nearer Petrograd on a running from Gatchina to Krasa Gorka. It is said the town of illa, on this front, has been taken the Bolsheviki.

Deniken Also Retires.

Furious fighting is going on in and band Kevir, which was taken last ek by General Deniken's forces. some points Denikine's troops e been forced to retire slightly. Lettish troops are now holding naumunde, below Riga, and have aintained their control of the right nk of the Duna River.

A Difficult Task.

Reveal, Oct. 28.—The capture of Petrograd will be no easy task, in the opinion of Gen. Laidoner, Commander-in-chief of the Esthonian army. He pointed out today that the Bolsheviki have communications between Kronstadt, Krasnayagorka and Petrograd. The railroad between Petrograd and Moscow is uninterrupted, and the Bolsheviki are able to transport troops from Moscow for the defense of Petrograd.

Reds Well Equipped.

General Laidoner predicted heavy fighting in view of the reinforcements the Bolsheviki have been able to muster. He said that Bolshevik troops were well equipped and well organized.

Regarding Esthonian help he declared that many dificulties presented themselves, because Generals Yudenitch and Denikins and Admiral Kolchak do not recognize the border States, while the Bolsheviki have distributed proclamations throughout Esthonia to the effect that they acknowledge Esthonian independence.

Will Aid Yudenitch.

"The Esthonians, it turns out," said Gen. Laidoner, "must cooperate with Yudenitch, who does not recognize Esthonia, against the Bolsheviki, who do. The Esthonians will assist Yudenitch so far as possible, but this will be restricted to necessary help. The Esthonian army a strong organization, could be ordered to fight, but such action would provoke ill-feeling among the troops and peasants."

The Esthonian Commander-in-chief spoke highly of the bravery of Gen. Yudenitch's troops.

DOWNIE ST. CREEK WITH US ALWAYS

FLOODS CITIZEN'S PROPERTY AND FILLS CITY HALL WITH COMPLAINTS.

NO REMEDY YET IN SIGHT

NUISANCE OF LONG STANDING MAY BE (?) INVESTIGATED THIS WEEK.

At a brief session of the city committee of the whole Council last evening, Ald. Edgar wanted to know what has been done in regard to Downie street, which almost every heavy rainfall, and certainly each spring runs as much over adjacent properties, flooding cellars and committing exasperating destruction of citizens' belongings generally.

His Worship and the aldermen generally have an idea that this water comes from Mr. D. W. Dumble's property on Downie street, and the Mayor and Ald. Phelan and City Engineer Parsons some weeks ago were deputed to investigate conditions at this point, in company with Mr. Dumble. The latter gentleman contends there is no obstruction whatever on his property to cause overflowing, and offers that diverting the creek by the city some years ago is responsible for all trouble.

His Worship, however, said last evening that he had made a personal survey of the situation, and in his opinion, the posts of a stable, together with a huge tree, in the creek's bed on Mr Dumble's Downie street property causes a jam of ice in the spring, thus blocking the course and flooding neighboring property.

To Ald. Edgar's enquiry as to what had been done in the way of an inspection of conditions by the committee named for that purpose, his worship replied: "Nothing. I have been willing a dozen times to inspect the creek with Mr. Dumble, but cannot get his attendance when I am at Liberty, which is very seldom these days." "I am not going to spend my time running after Mr. Dumble," the Mayor added.

In an informal discussion of the situation committee generally agreed that something must be done to relieve citizens of periodical flooding from this creek, and hints were made of action both by the city and suffering citizens to enforce improved conditions at Mr. Dumble's expense, always assuming that the responsibility rests with him, as Council claims.

The committee named above will take immediate steps to assure Mr Dumble's company with them in an examination of this creek's course through his property. Mr. Dumble some time ago invited such action himself.

GOVT. OFFICIALS STILL HOPE TO AVERT STRIKE OF U. S. BETUMINIOUS MINERS

Thought That a Postponement Would Bring With it Negotiations for a New Wage Agreement.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Oct. 28.—Officials today pinned their hope of averting a strike of bituminous miners called for Saturday on a meeting tomorrow, in Indianapolis, of the executive board of the United Mine Workers of America.

A study of union bylaws, officials said today, reveal that the executive board has power to call off the strike or at least to order a postponment.

New Wage Agreement.

Should President Wilson's appeal to the miners be heeded to the extent of a postponment, officials here are of the opinion that the strike will be averted, for a postponment would be certain to bring with it negotiations for a new wage agreement.

FARMERS SMALL COMPACT GROUP

NEW MEMBERS MAY TAKE SEATS BEFORE END OF SESSION

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Oct. 28.—The election of three farmer members to the Federal House yesterday will give the farmers a small but compact group of cross benches of Commons, four in all, with their leader, Hon. T. A Crerar.

Take Seats Soon

It is expected that they will not always vote against the Government, but will be found sometimes on one side and sometimes on another. They may take their seats before prorogation, which now cannot take place this week on account of Liberal opposition to the G. T. R. purchase bill

OPPORTUNITY FOR SIR ADAM TO TAKE OVER LEADERSHIP OF U.F.O.

U.F.O.—Labor Coalition Have Exhausted List of Eligibles and no Hint of Progress or Decision.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Oct. 28.—Having practically exhausted the list of eligibles for the leadership of the proposed U. F. O. Labor coalition and the Premiership of Ontario, the political critics here today refrain from naming any more probabilities, and confined their attention to the Farmers' Committee of nine, who went into session early this mornin gto formulate their report on leadership and policy, following their conference with the Labor men at Hamilton on Saturday.

No Intimation.

On adjournment at noon, members of the committee gave not the slightest intimation of their progress or decision.

Beck as Refusal.

Outside opinion, however, continued to suggest that Sir Adam Beck would be receptive if he wanted it. The committee will report to U. F. O. members and the defeated candidate at a general meeting tomorrow.

There is still no intimation from the legislative buildings of the date set for the resignation of the Hearst Government. It would seem that Conservatives and Liberals are waiting for U. F. O. Labor Coalition to make the first move.

SHOT AND KILLED HIS WIFE IN HOME

JEALOUSY BELIEVED THE MOTIVE — MURDERER TURNS GUN ON POLICE.

TEN LOST THEIR LIVES IN STORM ON LAKE MICHIGAN EARLY THIS MORNING

Three of Victims Were Passengers, the Remainder Crew City of Muskegon Struck Peir.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Muskegon, Mich., Oct. 28.—Ten persons lost their lives this morning when the Crosby Liner, "City of Muskegon," formerly the "City of Holland," while trying to make the harbor here struck the south pier at Muskegon channel and was smashed to pieces, sinking in four minutes.

Three Victims Passengers.

Three of the victims were passengers, the remainder being members of the crew. There were about 25 passengers aboard, but the vessel lay against the pier so that most of them were able to make their way to safety.

The "City of Muskegon" left Milwaukee in clear weather last evening, but was caught in a raging north-wester that struck Lake Michigan early this morning. Riding the storm well, Capt. Miller decided it was safer to attempt to make harbor than to turn about. Just as the bow of the vessel came into the channel, a big wave caught it and smashed the craft against the end of the pier.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1919.

YESTERDAY'S BYE-ELECTIONS.

FIVE BYE-ELECTIONS in one day in as many provinces, two of them in urban and three in rural constituencies, gave ample scope for an expression of public sentiment. The result yesterday is simply a repetition of what took place all over the Province of Ontario a week ago. It also gives color to the theory that the sins of the Union Government at Ottawa were visited with dire vengeance upon the Hearst Administration and that the people all over Canada are of the opinion that the coalition party in the Federal field has outlived its usefulness. It was given a lease of power for a certain purpose. That purpose has been attained, and the Government is not justified in presuming to extend its own existence indefinitely.

The curfew has rung the death-knell of old-time party-ism in Canada. The politicians at Ottawa, who find prestige slowly but surely slipping away from them, recognize the necessity for a new organization, but such a fusion as they propose will avail them little. What is wanted is not so much a new name as new ideas, principles and policies.

The farmers of Canada have again demonstrated their strength in the elections of yesterday, when they won three out of the five seats. In the other two nothing else than what actually resulted was to be expected [illegible] that was so long represented by the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier has done itself honor by choosing as his successor Ernest Lapointe, a man, no matter what his politics who belongs in the highest class of citizenship, a Canadian in very truth; not a mere provincial.

Hon. S. T. Tolmie, the new Minister of Agriculture in the Unionist Government, went back to his constituents to ask for endorsation for his advancement. The very fact that he was not re-elected by acclamation was significant. As it was, he won out yesterday, but with a majority of only 2,000 as compared to 8,000 which he secured only two years ago.

Whether the Union Government goes to the country this year or bangs on to office to the constitutional limit it is not very difficult to forecast the result. It is just as apparent, too, that they will not be replaced by their old time opponents, the Liberals. Ontario events are to be repeated in the wider Federal field. A new party will arise, whatever the name by which it will be known, and the old political fabrics will be shattered.

THE VETERANS AND THE GRATUITY.

WHEN THE RETURNED soldiers first brought up the question of a gratuity for the men who had worn the King's uniform during the war there was a general misunderstanding among the people as to the terms of the proposition. It was at once concluded that the idea was to secure $2000 for each man, regardless of the duration or the nature of his service. To comply with such a request would saddle the country with a financial burden of eight hundred million dollars, it was argued by those opposed to the plan.

No such raid on the public treasury was ever conceived by the Veterans. They have drawn up a detailed statement as to what they want, and this has been sent to the Dominion Government, and is now being considered by a committee of that body. To grant the request of the soldiers would entail an outlay of two hundred million dollars, or one-fourth the amount which the general public appears to believe would be required.

All men who wore uniforms are not to share alike. The gratuity for each is carefully graded according to the length of service. Unfortunately there would be only too few eligible for the $2500, the highest single gratuity asked for. Only the survivors of the Princess Pats and the Third Field Ambulance, the only companies that got to France during 1914, could claim this amount, and of these units there are more graves on the battlefields than there are survivors.

The statement that has been drawn up by the Veterans has been prepared by expert accountants, and the figures appear to be irrefutable. The Veterans are, in the basic table of re-establishment, divided into four classes.

If a man enlisted in 1914 and got to England and France the same year, he alone can claim the higher amount, $2500.

The man who enlisted in 1915 and got to England and France in the same year is to receive $400 for his service in Canada, $800 for his service in England, and $800 for actual duty at the front, $2000 in all. From this is to be deducted the six months' gratuity which he he has already received, $600 in the case of married and $420 for single men.

The 1916 Veteran who went through all the stages of the service from place of enlistment to the trenches gets $1500, $300 for Canadian, $600 for English and $600 for battlefield service.

The 1917 man, under the schedule as drawn up by the Veterans, will receive $200 if he never left Canada, $600 if he got as far as England, and $1000 if he reached France.

The man who enlisted in 1918 and remained in Canada will be paid $100; $300 if he got to England, and $500 if he got as far as France. All non-combatants in every class are to receive 25 per cent. less than the amounts here quoted.

The Veterans argue that a Government that appears to have unlimited resources to rehabilitate bankrupt railway companies and to establish financially stockholders who have had the misfortune to engage in a losing business venture, should not object to help in the re-establishment of the men who spent the best years of their lives in patriotic service for nominal compensation, men who, while they were on duty, were assured by the politicians that when the war was over they would want for nothing.

If the report of the committee considering this proposition is adverse, and if Parliament takes no action, every member of the House will be circularized by the Veterans to use his influence to secure an appeal to the country on that issue. In that event, another political revolution may be looked for with a new party, the Veterans, in the field.

WHEN GERMANY STRUCK HOME.

CARDINAL MERCIER, the noted Belgian prelate now touring the United States, is in the habit of saying in his public addresses that he can readily understand why the Americans hesitated so long before getting into the war. Theirs was a neutral country of one hundred million people made up of a diversity of races. They could not be expected to understand the barbarous treatment the Belgians received from the Germans.

The facts are as stated by the Cardinal. But even if the Americans were unable to make Belgium's cause their own in the interests of humanity, the question will always remain as to why they so long tolerated outrages of which they were the direct victims, from the day that the Lusitania was torpedoed.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

GIVE IT A NEW NAME.
(Toronto Telegram.)

"I see Hartley Dewart has been calling the legislative pile in Queen's Park the Castle of Indolence," commented a Conservative voter. "If Hartley gets to running it the name will become Castle of Insolence, judging from his present attitude.

SENSIBLE FRENCHMEN.
(Philadelphia Record.)

France has announced its representative on the council of the League of Nations. No Frenchman is humbugged, or tries to humbug others, by the pretence that France will sacrifice its sovereignty by accepting one place on the council while the British Empire may possibly have six.

THE DEADLY COFFIN-NAILS.
(Woodstock Sentinel-Review.)

The secretary of the temperance board of the Methodist Church in the United States has given notice that the next crusade will be against the cigarette. And, as the world seems to be experiencing a return of the crusading spirit, the threat is not to be lightly ignored. Who would have dared to predict a few years ago that what has happened in the United States and Canada in regard to the liquor traffic would happen? When the crusading spirit gets going there is no telling where it will stop.

COAL MINERS' DEMANDS.
(New York Sun.)

Soft coal miners of the United States propose that they shall work six hours a day five days a week. But this time scale also includes the proposal that the time shall be from "bank to bank"—meaning from their arrival at the pit mouth until their return at the same point, so that as against the present eight hours at the working face the new working time, we are told, might not exceed five hours a day.

The miners demand for this child's week a sixty per cent. increase of pay. They declare that this new order of things shall go into effect one week from next Saturday.

SHOULD MAINTAIN SILENCE.
(Stratford Herald.)

Some one ought to advise Sir John Hendrie, since he does not seem to know it, that if he would maintain the dignity of his office and win respect for his decisions, he should refrain from discussing in the public press what he proposes or does not propose to do. In the novel and complex situation which has arisen it was his clear duty to obtain the best possible legal advice as to his course and then follow that advice. To discuss, with newspaper reporters what he might do, and then to enter into a controversy with a blatant claimant for the honors of premiership was neither in keeping with the dignity of the office of the King's representative nor in accord with the best practice of the Lieutenant-Governor's office.

NEED TIME TO REPENT

German People Do Not Yet Realize They Are Beaten.

"The German officers and officials know they were beaten on the field of battle, though I dont' think the people realize it," says Dr. Henry Van Dyke, former U. S. Minister to Holland. "My impression of conditions is that they are up against it, but don't know it. As for their future they have lots of industry and a tremendous organizing power. I think they are going to get back into business quite rapidly. Some of us don't want that process to be too rapid. We want them to have time and occasion to repent more thoroughly than they have done."

Asked regarding his observations of their methods while he was Ambassador to Holland, Dr. Van Dyke replied: "I saw their methods of warfare actually in Belgium and France. There is not the slightest doubt that the voluntarily used "frightfulness" as method of striking terror in their enemies. In this they failed both in France and Belgium. And as for terrifying the British and Canadinas, of course that's impossible. The Germans made a monstrous record of ruthlessness and cruelty in the war, not only to military forces, but to civilians also."

Asked regarding the League of Nations the professor replied. "The league is the only thing visible on the horizon that promises to prevent the repetition of Germany's crimes."

WIT AND WISDOM

Successful Season.

"What kind of a summer did you have?"

"Sulendid dearie. I got engaged six times."

"Any of them for keeps?"

An Indefinate Stay.

"Here's a modern wedding announcement."

"What about it?"

"It says the happy couple will live at the home of the bride's parents until they can find a house or a flat they can rent."

Modern Simplicity.

"What a beautiful gown you have."

"My dear, its really a very simple little thing and most inexpensive. I paid only $135 for it, would you believe it?"

Had Enough of Them.

"I hear a noise in the cellar," said the timid wife. "I think you'd better go down and investigate it."

"Nothing doing," replied the tired man. "I'm sick of serving on investigation committees."

"Mamma," said little 5-year-old Stanley, "do only good little boys go to heaven?"

"Yes, dear," replied the mother.

"Well" continued the youthful observer, "if that's the case boys must be rather scarce up there."

Tell it to Them

"Money isn't everything in this life."

"Try to convince the profiteers of that, will you?"

BETTER THAN EVER

The Victory Loan now being offered to the public is a better security than that sold in 1918, because the war is over and the country is, therefore, not faced with the further huge increase in the National debt.

We have it on the best authority that not since the Napoleonic wars of more than a hundred years ago, has any country of Canada's present financial strength offered to its people anything like such an attractive issue at the present loan.

In the opinion of high financial authorities the fifteen year bond will sell at 109 or 110 within the next three years, while the five-year bond will also go to a substantial premium.

Sir Thomas White says "Organization and work plus the patriotism and business sense of the Canadian people will make the Victory Loan of 1919 as conspicuous a success as any of its predecessors."

WHO'S WHO AMONG FARMER LEGISLATORS

The people of Ontario feel keenly interested in the U.F.O. group of men who will meet in Toronto on Wednesday of the present week to select a leader, who, in the regular course of events, may become premier of the province as soon as he accepts the task of forming a government.

What are the ideas, temper and position of these farmers, who, within the period of a short campaign, have defeated the two entrenched political parties; and, by holding them divided, now discern a long-wished-for opportunity to correct, or attempt to correct, some hoary abuses of government under the party system?

A week ago many of the social and political leaders of the country were wagging their heads in assumed amusement over the visionary expectations of the rural revolutionaries. Today, strange to say, the college professors, capitalists and captains of industry are offering congratulations and sincere co-operation, the single factor of success making all the difference to the critics.

The members-elect to the Ontario legislature who have won on the U.F.O. platform are, without a single exception, native-born sons of the soil and bona-fide farmers. Coming from every part of the province, they have but little knowledge of each other; and it is all the more curious, for this reason, what a firm hold their common purpose has taken upon them. They represent almost all the religious denominations, and their racial character is equally representative of the old stock of Ontario settlers. The political observer of The World, who followed the recent campaign as closely as anyone interested in it, names the following outstanding figures among the farmer representatives;

Peter Smith of Sebringville (South Perth), formerly a school teacher, who is clerk of his township, approaching five and forty in years, a big man, of good appearance, of Irish-Presbyterian extraction, Liberal in his political leanings, and a fair speaker.

F. C. Biggs, West Flamboro (North Wentworth), who farms four hundred acres, and had labor endorsement in his political claims, is warden of his county; he has has considerable municipal experience, and won his election by a majority of 2800.

Andrew Hicks of Centralia, in South Huron, a Liberal of independence, record, a fluent and rather witty speaker, Methodist in religion.

Lieut.-Col. D. Carmichael (Centre Grey) of Collingwood, who carries the distinction of overthrowing Hon. I. B. Lucas, a few weeks after returning from the battlefields in Europe, where he rose from the ranks and obtained the M.C. and D.S.O. Col. Carmichael is of Scotch descent, unmarried, and is the son of a widow. The quality of his Scotch blood may be equally judged from his military record and the fact that four days after being demobilized he was between the handles of the plow on his mother's farm, with his eye upon Hon. I. B.'s supposedly impregnable seat.

R. H. Grant, who lives twelve miles out of Ottawa, in Carleton county, a graduate of O. A. C., with no public record, a Methodist and Conservative.

A. Hellyer of Kentilworth (East Wellington), an unassuming man of sterling parts held in marked esteem by the community in which he has lived for more than a generation, and where he taught school before taking up farming. He is township clerk, a Baptist in religion and a Liberal in politics.

There should be some of the cabinet material in this short list of names of U.F.O. leaders. But before proceeding it is as well to admit at once that the U.F.O. realizes it found most of its brains and energy in J. J. Morrison, secretary-treasurer of the organization, who worked night and day spreading the U.F.O. gospel and carrying everywhere with him the tenacious purpose of the reformer with the real sense of political duty coupled with intelligence of a high order and plenty of practical common sense. Mr. Morrison was born in the township of Peel, the son of a north of Ireland Presbyterian immigrant, educated in the public school, and immersed both in politics and farming from the age of fourteen. J. J. Morrrison] a one of the best informed [illegible] and candid, and an aggressive and effective public speaker.

Beniah Bowman, "the man from Manitoulin," was the first U. F. O. in the legislature and no longer needs an introduction to newspaper readers. A. J. Tisdelle (North Essex), of Tilbury, is one of the new men of mark. His name is Irish; but he speaks French as fluently as if it were his mother's tongue which it probably is. He is a Catholic in religion. He is one of the big farmers of the "corn belt," and is about forty-five years of age. John Carty (South Renfrew) of Brudenell, is another Catholic, Irish, Tory, young and popular. He beat Hon. Thomas McCarry so easily that Mr. McCarry would have been amused at it himself if the consequences were not so serious.

H. C. Nixon of St. George (North Brant), is a U. E. L., which proves that the U. F. O. is not free from aristocracy taint. Lieut. W. H. Fenton, M.C., of Doffington (North Bruce), is an Anglican Tory, and A. T. Walker of Beaconsfield (South Oxford), a member of the Friends.

In the entire list the Presbyterians somewhat outnumber the Methodists, these denominations contributing the bulk of the new members of the province. The Liberals and Conservatives are also pretty evenly divided, the Liberals having a narrow majority. The U.F.O. column does not anticipate that the wedge either of religion or politics will find it vulnerable at any point; it aims at evoking a "people's party" without boasting tolerance or allowing intolerance to assert itself.

While all are farmers, as has been said, the learned professions are to have some representation in the U. F. O. In the first place an attorney-general must be provided, and he must be a lawyer, because our ideas of responsible government cannot allow a lay attorney-general to retain legal advisers. There is no lawyer among the U.F.O. members-elect, and a seat will necessarily have to be found for a barrister. This point has not, it is well understood, been discussed in the caucus so far and will not be broached until after the selection of the premier-designate. Gordon Waldron has been the legal adviser of the party, holds the confidence of all its members, and enjoys a reputation at the bar that measures up to every requirement of the office of attorney-general. If he should be called to the cabinet the general public would have reason to be well satisfied.

The medical profession also emerges from the revolution again party government with the distinction of having one of its members in the ranks of the U.F.O. This is Dr. George M. Leesan of Varney (South Grey), whose high achievment is the defeat of Dr. Jamieson, the speaker, a gentleman held in the esteem of his party and government, to whom cabinet rank was apparently assured, and who attended the frequently referred-to Eugenia picnic more in the character of one who condescends rather than aspires. On that fatal summer day it never occured to [illegible] member of his own profession, who had taken to the plow, but who already had Mr. Speaker's number.

The U.F.O. party in the legislature will embrace farmers, young and elderly, all the way from 27 to 65 or over. Thhe young men are S. S. Staples, of Ida, (East Durham), who is somewhat famous as a horse-breeder; John Carty of Brudenell; Lieut.-Col. Carmichael, E. N McDonald of Warsaw (East Peterboro), who looks about 36, and R. M. Warren of Eganville (North Renfrew), who is perhaps 37. The elderly group includes H. K. Denyes of East Hastings, who may be 66, and John G. Lethbridge of Glencoe (West Middlesex) one or the old "masters of the grange," a Liberal Presbyterian, well-to-do-farmer and a good speaker who may be 63 years of age or so.

RAILWAY WAR BOARD SPEAKS TO SHIPPERS

MORE FREIGHT CARS ARE NEEDED TODAY THAN EVER BEFORE.

Three tons have fallen from the average load of the Canadian freight car. Instead of carrying 27.4 tons, as in 1918, the average car is now carrying only 24.4 tons. This does not mean a decrease in the total volume of freight moving, but an increase in the number of cars required to handle a given tonnage; an increase in the amount of tare-weight (weight of cars less freight to be handled in train, an increase in the number of engines required, the crews on duty, the coal consumption and the track room occupied. The reserve margin of cars and engines is thus diminished and an unfavorable situation created alike for the railways and the shippers. To the latter, it may therefore be of interest to consider the following review of the transportation situation and the prospect for the approaching winter.

The cessation of hostilities in Europe with its profound effect upon industry on the North American continent, as lesewhere, has had corresponding influence upon the traffic movements and railway problems. The task of moving munitions of war eastward was quickly replaced by the task of moving returning soldiers westward. Following a lull in all domestic freight movement, new currents of traffic in tending to approximate, in some degree, the old movements prior to the war. On the whole, however, up to the first of July last, the transportation situation became easy. Cars were plentiful. The necessity for loading them to full capacity became less apparent and, in spite of warnings from this Board, the average load dwindled seriously, as noted at the beginning of this article.

Conditions, now, however, are not so satisfactory. In March and April, the usual movement of box-cars to the west-growing areas commenced in both the United States and Canada.

In the United States, where strikes in car repair departments were added to the natural disadvantages of the "car pooling" arrangement, and where cars are, on the average, older than in Canada, the superior condition of Canadian box-cars for carrying grain, led many of these cars into the American West where the wheat movement begins in July, two months before the Canadian movement is under way. The balance of cars owing by the United States to Canada was thus increased materially, so that today there are approximately 43,000 Canadian box-cars in the United States as against 19,000 American box-cars in Canada; a net balance of 24,000 cars due Canada and unlikely for some time to be available to this coutnry. This figure it should be observed, is equal to over 16 per cent of the total Canadian box-car supply.

While this loss of cars to the United States has been checked and will ultimately be rectified by the return of the Canadian cars, serious additions to the volume of traffic to be handled by the Canadian roads are imminent. The shipment fo coal from the Western Canadian mines since the beginning of the fuel year, on April 1st, is, to date, only one third of the amount forwarded in the same period last year. Movement by rail is correspondingly delayed and cars will be detained in the West accordingly. More serious still is the prospect that American ports will be closed this winter to Canadian exports. Sixty per cent. of Canada's export grain usuly passes out by American ports. This will remain to be handled across Canada to Montreal St. John and Halifax in Canadian box cars—adding one hundred and fifty per cent to the volume of export grain now taken care of through the ports of the Dominion, and ading much more than 150 per cent in terms of car-mileage.

The seven thousand new freight cars built since last year are not one third of the number now detained in the United States. The additional requirements for coal carrying and for the wheat trade—if the proposed American action is taken—will be extremely serious. At this time of year too, comes a heavy movement of perishable farm produce, moving before the cold weather will necessitate using special cars. Yet, in the face of these factors—the average load per car in Canada has fallen three tons!

The very serious attention of all Canadian shippers is called to this fact. It means that where eight cars were formerly required, nine are now necessary! Where 160 tons to tare-weight were thrown upon an engine for every 216 net tons of freight there are now 180 tons. Labor scarcity, once the excuse for the light loading, is no longer a fact. It is important in the interests of the country, that the heavier loading practice be restored. Railway efficiency is part of your factory, mine, mill or warehouse efficiency!

NEW DEDUCTIONS BASED BY ITALIAN PROFESSOR ON EXPERIMENTS.

LAW OF GRAVITATION UPSET

ACCEPTED LAW OF PHYSICS GOVERNING CELESTIAL BODIES IS UPSET.

Rome, Oct. 28.—Newton's theory of gravitation has been attacked by Professor Majorana, who, speaking before a gathering of prominent scientists here today, declared the results of experiments he has performed upset the hitherto accepted laws of physics governing the motions of celestial bodies.

Lead Gets Lighter

Newton's theory, while hitherto considered absolute, is only an approximate hypothesis, according to Professor Majorana, who supports this assertion by showing that a ball of lead floating in mercury becomes slightly lighter.

Four Conclusions.

From this the Professor deduces four things. First, that bodies have both a true and an apparent mass, the true mass of the sun being double the apparent mass. Second, that the stars attract other bodies with forces entirely different from those thus far admitted to exist.

Evolution of World.

Third, the professor argues, that the solar heat of stars is generated by the force of gravitation emanating from interior strata. (From this he argues, the solar system has had an immensely longer life than has been believed by scientists up till the present.) Fourth, that the evolution of the world has been closely linked to the phenomenon which he has discovered.

Scientific Revolution.

Professor Majorana explains by this means the fact that all stars are more or less luminous, and claims that his theory will bring about a revolution in astro-physical science.

DONATE $894,000 TO FEED JEWS

GENEROUS RESPONSE TO CALL FOR HELP BY WAR VICTIMS IN EUROPE.

Chicago initial contribution to the cause of the Jewish war sufferers of Europe was discovered to be $894,000, as a result of a recount of the sixty minute food of donations at last night's banquet in the Blackstone hotel. This was led by a contribution of $250,000 from Julius Rosenwald. The goal of this city is $2,000,000 and the campaign begins officially Sunday with a large mass meeting at Medinah Temple and continues until Nov. 1.

Mr. Rosenwald, who is honorary chairman of the Chicago Jewish relief committee, glowed with pleasure today as a result of the response of citizens of all creeds. He said:

"Only in a country like America is it possible that citizens of every creed, race and nationality can come together in an endeavor to serve humanity, where the recipients of such charity are mostly Jews. It is because of this fact that I am particularly proud of being an American."

A shirt sleeve banquet will take place tonight in one of the downtown hotels at which the leaders in the drive for Chicago's relief quota will get down to brass tacks and "talk turkey." The dinner will mark the zero hour for the start of the relief campaign. Col. Abel Davis of the 132rd infantry will be chairman and Mr. Rosenwald honorary chairman. James A. Patten and other members of the executive committee are scheduled to speak. Charles W. Folds, leader of the recent liberty loan drives, will give a "pep" talk before the actual work of the evening is undertaken.

GERMAN'S LUST FOR BLOOD ILLUSTRATED

LAST WAR BECAUSE OF SENTIMENTAL MERCY OF HER ENEMIES?

London, Oct. 28.—The lust for blood and the instinct to inflict physical suffering in the Teuton character that have been revealed in the present are strikngly illustrated in two extracts from articles which appear in German and Austrian newspapers. One of the leading educationalists of the fatherland, Prof. Schroeter, throws a new and curiously lurid light on the German psychology in an article which is given special prominence in the Reichsbote, of Berlin, which is regarded as the special mouthpiece of the Kaiser himself. Schreter lays down the doctrine that the reason why Germany is not yet victorious is that she has not yet killed enough of her enemies.

"The fact is," he says, "we do not deserve that God should grant us the decisive victory. We have not yet killed a sufficient number of our enemies who are at the same time the enemies of God. The German people is, and always has been, the most peace-loving, amiable and conciliatory people on earth. It is peculiarly German sentiment that discouraged our military leaders from striking sufficiently death-dealing blows to the foe.

"God in His inscrutable wisdom is punishing us in this way for our super-sentimentality toward the enemy, as He punished the Israelites of old for precisely the same sin. We shall not be deserving of God's infinite mercy and of His favor in giving us an early peace until we harden ourselves and resolve to finish for good and all with the hateful foe."

Overdoing

How Women Break Down

Owing to the modern manner of living and the nervous haste of every woman to accomplish just so much each day, they overdo, and as a consequence develop ailments peculiar to their sex, as is indicated by backache, headache, nervousness, the blues, displacements and weakness.

Women who find themselves in this condition should slow down, and depend upon that good old fashioned root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, to restore them to health and strength, for there is no other remedy known that so quickly restores a healthy, normal condition.

Here is the Story of a Most Remarkable Recovery

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was run down and nervous, could not rest at night, and was more tired in the morning than when I went to bed. I have two children, the youngest three months old, and it was drudgery to care for them as I felt so irritable and generally worn out. From lack of rest and appetite my baby did not get enough nourishment from me, so I started to give him two bottle feedings a day. After taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman, full of life and energy. It is a pleasure to care for my children and I am very happy with them and feel fine. I nurse my baby exclusively again, and can't say too much for your medicine."
Mrs. A. L. MILLER, 2633 East 24th St.

CAPTAIN COOK FEELS FINE NOW

Veteran Conductor Praises Tanlac For Overcoming His Troubles

"A few bottles of Tanlac has made me feel just like a new man," says the statement made by Capt. F. M. Cooke, residing at 144 East Winifred St., St. Paul, Minn., recently. Captain Cooke has been a conductor on the Great Northern Railroad for fifteen years, and is one of the most popular men in the service of the Company.

"For years," continued Captain Cooke, "I uffered from stomach trouble and had scarcely any apetite, and what little I ate disagreed with me so that I would become terribly nauseated. Gas would form on my stomach and affect my heart so I could hardly breathe. I had terrible headaches that would last for two or three weeks at a time and nearly drive me wild, and I would become so dizzy at times that I would have to grab hold of something to keep from falling. My nerves got in such bad shape I could sleep very little, and I would get up in the morning feeling dull and heavy and all run down.

"Nothing I tried seemed to do me any good, and I kept getting worse all the time. A few weeks ago someone suggested that I try Tanlac and I got a bottle, and began taking it, and after taking two bottles I felt a great deal better. I have a fine apetite now, and what I eat agrees with me perfectly. Gas has quit forming in my stomach and I am not troubled with shortness of breath. I never have any more headaches or dizzy spells and can sleep fine, and get up in the morning feeling full of life and energy. I never felt better in my life, and feel at least ten years younger. I am very grateful for what this Tanlac has done for me."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock, by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowler's Corners, by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert, by A. J. Scott; in Westwood, by G. Pringle & Son.

UNIFORM STANDARD FOR ALL HOSPITALS

AMERICAN COLLEGE OF SURGEON ANXIOUS TO IMPROVE PRESENT CONDITIONS.

The plan of the American College of Surgeons for the standarization of hospitals, which is now in the process of being carried out, was presented to the college in session at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York.

The primary purposes of standarization is the protection of patients from carelessness, inefficient service and incompetency, and by the establishment of such a policy to promote a mutual confidence between the hospital and the community.

Dr. John G. Bowman, director of the college, outlined the following minimum standard which the college asks the hospitals to put into effect.

That physicians and surgeons privileged to practice in the hospitals be organized as a definate group or staff.

That membership upon the staff be restricted to physicians and surgeons, who are (a) competent in their respective fields, and (b) worthy in character and matters of professional ethics.

That the staff hold meetings at least once each month to review and analyze the successes and failures in the treatment of patients.

That accurate and complete case records be written for all patients and filed in an accessible manner in the hospital.

That clinical laboratory facilities be available for study, diagonsis and treatment of patients.

Facts Ready for Presentation.

Such a standard, Dr. Bowman said would not only amure proper care and treatment of patients, but would put the board of trustees of hospitals in possession of essential information which many such boards do not now receive and could not obtain.

It was urged before the college of surgeons that communities witheld their support—financial and otherwise—from hospitals whose trustees cannot inform the community as to the character of treatment received by their patients, such as would be provided by the college's minimum standard. Among the 617 general hospitals of more than 100 beds in the United States and Canada, about 468 cannot now present even a fairly complete analysis of their clinical work, Dr. Bowman said.

WAS GEN. PERSHING AT FRONT

Congressmen and Civil War Veterans Ask for a Report.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.—Declaring that in all wars commanding generals should be constantly at the front, Representative Sherwood (dem.) of Onio, who was a brigadier-general in the civil war, asked the Hhouse Military Committee today to report "when and where Gen. Pershing was at the front during any of the great conflicts of the past war."

Citing that 121 generals had been killed in the civil war, Mr. Sherwood told the House that soldiers returning from France had informed him "they never saw or heard of Gen. Pershing at the front."

LABOR'S PLATFORM

In view of the prominence of the Labor group of members of the Legislature in forming a Government in alliance with the U.F.O., its formally declared political faith acquires a new interest. Here is the platform of the Independent-Labor party of Ontario organized less than three years ago, and under whose auspices all but one of the newly elected Labor members were candidates.

The object of the Independent Labor party of Ontario is to promote the political, economic and social interests of people who live by their labor, mental or manual, as distinguished from those who live by profit upon the labor of others.

Therefore, we have established a permanent Provincial organization in order that we may act in co-operation as far as possible with independent political organizations of the Farmers and the producing class for the purpose of electing men or women who will stand by the democratic principle of a working-class movement, with all that the term implies.

Platform.

The public ownership of all public utilities and natural sources of wealth.

Nationalization of banking and credit systems.

Direct legislation through the initiative, referendum and recall.

Gradual elimination of unerned increment through a tax on land values.

Equal pay for equal work.

Abolition of property qualifications for all municipal offices.

Abolition of all election deposits.

Proportional representation, with grouped constituencies.

No court to be legally competent to declare as unconstitutional any Act of the Parliament of Canada.

Amending the British North America Act in order that the decisions of the Supreme Court of Canada shall be final in all matters, civil and political.

That adequate equal pensions be granted to all disabled soldiers, either officers or men, or their widows and dependents.

Pensions for mothers with dependent children.

Old age pensions.

Government control of cold storages.

National, Health and Unemployment insurance.

Maternity benefits and free hospital service.

Equality of opportunity for men and women, politically, socially and industrially.

Control of Industry.

The eight-hour workday.

The democratic control of industry.

Abolition of the Canadian Senate.

Free and compulsory education, including text-books. Free education in all institutions controlled by the Government, every child to be guaranteed from its birth until it becomes a self-supporting member of society the material necessities of life, medical supervision and an unlimited education.

We believe that performance is better than promise, and we rest our claim for the support of the workers on the general declaration that we stand for the industrial freedom of those who toil and the political liberation of those who for so long have been denied justice.

RUB ON SPRAINS, PAINS SWELLING

Don't stay crippled! Rub this soothing, penetrating liniment right into the sprain, ache or strain, and out comes pain, soreness, stiffness and swelling.

Nothing else penetrates, heals and strengthens the injured muscles, nerves, tendons and ligaments so promptly. It doesn't burn or discolor the skin and can not cause injury. Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle from any drug store now—limber up! Rub the misery right out. A moment after "St. Jacobs Liniment" is applied you can not feel the slightest pain or soreness, and you can go about your regular duties.

"St. Jacobs Liniment" conquers pain. It has been used effectively for sprains, strains, soreness and stiffness for 60 years—six gold medal awards.

STOP DRILL IN SCHOOLS

Allies Stop Military Exercises of Hun Children Till Disarmament.

Mayence, Germany, Oct. 24.—Military drills in the public schools of the occupied area of Germany have been prohibited by the allies' committee on the administration of the Rhine territories until such time as the subject of disarmament of Germany provided for in the treaty of peace may be taken up and decided definitely by the allies' commission.

Buy Victory Bonds Through the Banks on the Instalment Plan

CANADA'S banks will make it possible for every Canadian man and woman to buy all the Victory Bonds they can pay for in ten months.

The Finance Minister has made arrangements with the bank managers throughout the Dominion to give every co-operation to enable you to buy all the Victory Bonds you can possibly pay for on the instalment plan.

You do not need to be a customer of a bank to buy bonds under this instalment plan—it is open to everyone.

Put every dollar you can gather together into Victory Bonds—and then go to any bank and buy on the instalment plan all the Victory Bonds you can pay for during the next ten months.

Under this plan you pay ten per cent. on or before November 15th, and ten per cent. each month till August 16, 1920, when you will get your bond. The interest charged you by the bank is balanced by the interest you get on your Victory Bonds.

Any branch of any bank will store the Victory Bonds of small investors for safe keeping for a year without charge.

Buy all the Victory Bonds you can pay for — then buy more on the instalment plan. The banks will help you.

Employers' Credits—The banks have decided to make loans to employers of labour covering the subscriptions of their employees — the rate of interest to be the same as the yield of the bonds—5½%—the loans to be made for 90 per cent. of the amount subscribed—and to be paid off in monthly instalments. The banks have unanimously agreed that these loans will not be considered as impairing the amounts of credits for other purposes.

Advances to Investors— The banks have agreed also to grant reasonable credits to subscribers to the Loan at the rate of 5½% per annum, on loans to be repaid within one year. The amount loaned will be 90 per cent. of the subscription.

FARMERS' CO-OPERATIVE STORE WILL COMMENCE BUSINESS HERE SOON

The shares have all been purchased and the Farmers' Co-operative Store will commence business as soon as it is possible to complete arrangements and procure the necessary stock of goods. This was the announcement of President Rogers at the United Farmers' meeting held in the Sons of England Hall last night.

When the meeting opened there were only 271 shares disposed of but by a personal canvass of the members by the officers the 300 or complete number was reached.

While the last of the shares were being sold Mr. J. C. Smith, of the Farm and Dairy, told of a Farmers' Co-operative store he had visited in the town of Seaforth this summer. He told of them having the same trouble as the Peterborough branch, that of getting in the last subscriptions for shares. But when they had once started, he said, there was an abundance of offers to accept shares from all parts of the district within eighteen miles of the town.

He stated that, after this store had been in operation for about two weeks the business began to grow by leaps and bounds. Although their store was not quite as well fitted up as the best in this city, the stock was kept freash and up-to-date, and induced customers to deal there.

The farmers present were apparently influenced by this report of what others are doing and by the assurance that the stores in other places are paying. The total number of shares were disposed of.

Although each share is worth $25 it costs the U. F. O. member just $12 1-2 as the Farmers' Co-operative Society supply half the funds and do the organizing.

President Rogers announced that Mr Loblaw, the general manager of the Co-operative Society, would be here Wednesday or Thursday to commence organiation. They thought the two stores, warehouse and large yard, formerly occupied by Parsons Bros., on Simcoe street, would be the most desirable location. In fact, Mr. Loblaw thought it was as good a location as there was in any place.

Nominating Committee.

A nominating committe was chosen to put names before the next meeting which is the annual meeting for the election of officers.

Election Expenses.

Each member was requested to donate $1.50 toward the expenses of their successful candidate Mr. E. N. McDonald. They agreed to do this some time ago and are only fulfilling obligations.

It was reported that the Farmers' election expenses in East Peterborough amounted to between $800 and $1,000.

PAYING FOR COAL.

Ald. Taylor reported to the city Council last night that Miss Sophie Cohen, of Toronto, had paid another $500 to the city of her indebtedness for coal not delivered under contract last winter and paid for by this municipality. This makes $1,000 of the judgment for $1,500 secured against her by City Solicitor Widdifield last summer. Miss Cohen complained that the coal had been diverted elsewhere in the scramble for fuel last winter.

VICTORY BONDS ARE AS GOOD AS THE CASH THAT THEY REPRESENT

There is Always a Ready Market for These Highest of all Securities.

The statement has often been made that Victory Bonds are "as good as cash." This is absolutely correct. There are other securities that are liquid and usually marketable, but only in so far as Dominion of Canada bonds are concerned can it be said that there is always a market.

During the last two years, or since the 1917 loan was floated, there have been, at least, $1000,000,000 of Victory Bonds bought and sold. At no time in that period could it be said that a holder of Victory Bonds could not sell his securities and obtain cash for them, and at no time was there any lack of buyers. In fact for many months the demand for the bonds was greater than the supply, and almost continuously since December 1917 Victory Bonds have been selling above the issue price. (In other words, the original subscriber could always obtain more for his bonds than he paid for them.)

Can Always Borrow.

The foregoing is a most remarkable condition and goes to show that there is no more salable security in the world than the bonds of the Dominion of Canada. The holder of Victory Bonds can, if needs money temporarily, always borrow from a bank an amount equal to 90 per cent of the value of the bonds. This is a very important advantage. The farmer if he needs money to buy stock can obtain it instantly, then when he sells his stock he can pay off his loan and still have his Victory Bonds as an investment. The merchant can always obtain money to buy goods and then when his stocks are reduced, pay off his loan and have his Victory Bonds as an investment. In the case of other individuals if money is needed for sickness, holidays, etc., the same means is available.

Victory Bonds Take Priority.

In the past many people have considered that mortgages on farms or residential property were the very best investment obtainable. These investments may be perfectly secure but the holder of mortgages must take the trouble to see that insurance is kept up, taxes are paid and the properties maintained in good repair. On many occasions the holder of a mortgage has found himself embarrassed for the want of funds and experienced great difficulty in selling his mortgage, or even raising money thereon, for the reason that other people may not have the same opinion of the security as the original mortgage. Mortgages may be a good investment but they are not easily convertible into cash. Victory bonds are in a sense a mortgage on all properties and take priority over any other encumbrances.

CREAM FOR CATARRH OPENS UP NOSTRILS

Tells How To Get Quick Relief from Head-Colds. It's Splendid!

In one minute your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh will be gone.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh—Relief comes so quickly.

SUES FOR NONSUPPORT

Ward of Millionaire Works as Phone Operator for Living.

Hammond, Ind. Oct. 27.—Northern Indiana society circles were startled today when Marguerite Hansen Hogarth, young wife of Talbert Hogarth (prior to her marriage a ward of F. S. Betz, millionaire surgical instrument manufacturer), sued her husband for nonsupport of their child. Hogarth's father is one of the Cudahy plant officials at East Chicago.

The couple separated recently and Mrs. Hogarth is now employed as a telephone operator in Chicago. Hogarth was arrested by a court bailiff and will be tried in Hammond next Monday.

SERVANT GIRLS ASK EIGHT HOURS

TWO EVENINGS OFF A WEEK AND SAME FOOD AS BOSS.

RECEPTION ROOM FOR GUESTS

STANDARIZATION OF WORK TO SOLVE THE SERVANT GIRL PROBLEM.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—"I quit my job," said a girl with a jaundice complexion. "Had to work from the time I got up till I crawled into bed. Then the lady called me 'common clay.' And she sniffed when I asked her to call me 'Miss Lindstrom'—instead of "Tillie."

"And I had a gentleman friend; we had to sit and talk in the kitchen among the pots and greasy smells," said a cook. "The missus would sashay in and out all evening. Trying to snoop around and see what's doing, the cat."

Housemaids Tell Their Troubles.

The indignation meeting was in the Women's Trade Union league rooms, 64 West Randolph street, today. Housemaids, nurse girls and cooks told their troubles. It was the echo of last night's meeting, when a hall-ful of girls decided to present demands to the Housewives' Association of Chicago.

"We'll quit work if they don't grant our demands. There are 100,000 servant girls here; we're an influence, mister," said a leader.

These are the demands: An eight hour day; two evenings off a week; same food as the boss; private room for each girl; reception room to entertain friends; no back entrances for servants; time for religious devotion.

"English domestic workers enjoy the eight-hour day—why shouldn't Chicago girls?" said Miss Mary Haney, organizer of the servant girls, today. "It's not right for maids and cooks to be on duty from the time they get up in the morning until they go to bed at night. They must have some time free to do as they please.

Some Don't Get Enough Food.

"Many girls complained to me and Miss Anne Forsythe, organizer, that they don't get enough to eat. This trouble is common in homes of the newly rich. Many cooks are compelled to prepare three sets of meals, one for the children, one for the adults of the family and another inferior meal for the servants.

"Standardize the work of domestic workers and you solve the servant girl problem. The girls say they'll quit work throughout Chicago if conditions aren't improved. They are slaves now!"

A committee representing chamber maids, second maids, general housemaids, cooks, laundresses, ladies' maids, nurses, waitresses and—why, hello, it's James—butlers, will meet in the next few days with a committee from the Housewives' Association of Chicago. The servant girls will meet again next Thursday night.

Y.M.C.A. BOWLING NOTES

The Y.M.C.A. Bowling League got off to a fine start last night. A number of the old-time bowlers as well as some new men were on hand.

The first games were played on schedule time when the Busy Bunch proved too many for the Lawn Bowlers, but teams were well matched and considerable excitement prevailed throughout the games.

Scoring.

The next league game will be played on Wednesday night at 7.30 when E. Walton's Centrals clash with Barries' Big Five for a place at the top of the list.

The alleys are open every night at 7.00 o'clock. Good pin boys are on the job and the best of service is assured.

Summary.

M. Hardill's and A. Gilliam's flying start helped to cinch the first game for the Busy Bunch, but Pratt and Elliott came to the rescue and easily tied the score by winning the second game. The last gme was close but Hardill manged a lead of 30 points, making the game safe for the winners of the first.

50 P. C. INCREASE IN COST OF CLOTHING

THIS IS WHAT IS EXPECTED IMMEDIATELY — FORMER OFFERS ARE WITHDRAWN.

All silk and cotton mills have withdrawn their prices on goods in anticipation of a 50 per cent increase in the price of cloth.

This is a very extensive jump and the reason manufacturers give for its necessity is present labor conditions. They claim that there is not the same production by the eight-hour day. One manufacturer claims that, with the same number of employees at increased wages, where he formerly produced 1,500 overcoats he is now able to turn out only 900.

In the face of this it appears an increase is unavoidable and the 50 per cent increase is anticipated immediately throughout the whole country.

"BEST DUCK SHOT EVER" SAYS CHRIS GRAHAM

LOCAL SPORTSMAN PRAISES SKILL OF LESLIE NUNAMAKER, OF CLEVELAND.

"The best duck shot I ever had the pleasure of being in a blind with," said Chris. Graham, speaking of Leslie Nunamaker, Cleveland catcher, who has been hunting with Mr. Graham for the past ten days.

Chris. says Nunamaker, who is an old-time duck hunter, has shown him more about the art of bagging ducks than any man he ever worked over the decoys with. "'Nunny' never waits for a duck to light. All he ever asks is that a duck, get in good range of his gun and the odds are greatly in his favor," he says.

Nunamaker hunts with Tris Speaker in Texas, along the Gulf of Mexico, and the boys get their limit of ducks in a couple of hours every time conditions of the weather permit shooting. "The best time of all to get a killing shot is just as the bird sets its wings and comes over the decoys," says the big fellow.

The best day's shoot the boys have had to date was thirty-three on Rice Lake last Wednesday, though on Monday week they got fourteen on Pigeon creek, while yesterday Chris. and Leslie bagged nine at Pigeon creek. On other days their bag has not been so large, but it is a noticeable fact that whenever a big bag of ducks was made Nunamaker was in the blind. "There's a reason," chimes in Chris. Graham.

BABES POISONED BY GAS

Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict of Accidental Death.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—A verdict of accidental death by gas poisoning was returned by a coroner's jury at an inquest into the deaths of Mary and Elizabeth Kerr, baby daughters of Michael Kerr, 2510 Haddon avenue who were found dead in their home yesterday. The mother, Mrs. Emily Kerr, was found unconscious, but was revived later at St. Mary's Hospital and will recover, it is believed. The mother, who is a deaf-mute, had also lost her sense of smell and knew nothing was wrong, she said in a written statement.

EDITOR'S MAIL

ALL TOGETHER BOOST

Editor of Review: As October 20th is past and T. Tooms is now M. L. A. and in all probability will be on the Government side of the House, as Mr. Tooms is a new and inexperienced man along with nealy all of the party memebers, I think we all should do a little boosting. It may be that we have had enough of unrest and grouching in the past. Now that Mr. Tooms might get a fair start, I would suggest that he bring in a bill to fix the price of bread so that the citizens of this city can get their bread at the same price as those living in rural counties.

I find that Peterborough bread is being sold in rural centres at 20 cents per loaf of 3 lbs., while the citizens of Peterborough are paying 22 cents. I find that the U. F. O. is anxious to administer affairs so that there will be no cleavage between urban and rural sections and will no doubt give their support to such legislation.

I find that the average farmer is very honorable and would not want their bread 2 cents per loaf cheaper than anyone else if they are getting such an enormous price for wheat as some circles of labor say they are.

Now let us boost! boost— boost! Four years of boosting will do more for reconstruction than all the grouching we have had in the past.

Thanking you, I remain,

Yours, etc.,

W. H. MERRILL.

CANNOT FORGET AND FORGIVE

GERMANY'S CRIME AGAINST HUMANITY TOO GREAT, SAYS LOUIS TRACEY.

FEELS WAR WAS GOD-ORDAINED

ALMIGHTY WILLED THAT ALLIES SHOULD EMERGE FROM FIGHT VICTORIOUS.

Louis Tracy, the English novelist and journalist, a guest of the Canadian Club at Toronto, asked as to the present relationship of Great Britain with Germany, said: "I am at present with the British War Commission in New York. As far as I am personally concerned, I cannot adopt 'Forgive and forget' principles because Germany's crime against humanity is too great. I cannot understand how any nations outside of the Teutonic could sympathize with German aspirations. I feel that the war was God-ordained, and that God ordained that the allies should be the victors. We had to get the spirit of self-sacrifice."

Present conditions in Germany he described as "pretty bad." "Germany," he said, "did not suffer territorially from the ravages of war, but in every other respect she has paid the price of war, and is still far behind, financially. In men and material she also paid a far heavier price than she is willing to admit. Where the allies lost one man, Germany lost two. The talk is that Germany will swamp the world markets with her manufactures, but I cannot believe that the other nations will be foolish enough to permit her to do anything of the sort. Of course she must be allowed to live, and to do so she must be allowed to trade, but it is nonsensical to say that in order to put her on her feet she should be permitted to upset the markets of the world."

U. S. On Right Side.

"I am perfectly assured that the heart of the American people is in the right place, and that in the last parade of the forces of the world the Americans will be found on the side of right and justice," said Mr. Tracy.

Born in Liverpool in 1863, Mr. Tracy entered journalism in 1884. After a period in India, he helped "Tay Pay" O'Connor start the Sun, and with others later acquired the News. He is a great traveller, and has been a prolific writer of adventure tales.

Y. M. C. A. PHYSICAL TRAINING NOTES

There will be a meeting tomorrow evening at 7.15 to form a city basket ball league. All teams wishing to enter are asked to be represented.

Gymnasium classes are progressing strongly. The senior roll shows a list of 49 who are taking this means of keeping fit. The attendance at Monday evening's session was 25. Returned soldiers are taking advantage of the "Y" gymn classes to bridge the difference between the active, fully-occupied day of army routine and the less vigorous round of civilian life.

The business men's class has been changed from Friday to Thursday night at 5.30, so that from now on it will meet on Monday and Thursday. To those so desiring, supper will be served after class.

In a strongly contested game of basket ball Monday evening the senior class representatives proved too much for the business men, winning out by a score of 25 to 17. Basketball has every appearance of a great boom this coming season.

Every man knows some other man who is a little smarter than himself but he doesn't like to admit it.

Threw Away $100

Eugene Quesnel, of Montreal, was suffering from kidney trouble—and had suffered for five long years. This is his letter:—

"I could not sleep nights and on some occasions could hardly walk. I had been treated by some of our best physicians but without relief. I lost over 15 pounds and was very weak, and friends who knew me before were astonished. One day I met one of our leading hotelkeepers, who had been cured by your famous Gin Pills. He advised me to try them. I bought two boxes and before I had used one box I felt a big change. Before I finished the second one I was completely cured, and I can assure you if I had only known what I know now, I would not have spent one hundred dollars for nothing—when two boxes of Gin Pills cured me."

Gin Pills are the finest preparation for kidney and bladder trouble ever produced. At the first warning pain in back or side, get Gin Pills. They work like magic, reducing congestion, soothing, healing inflamed, emaciated tissues, building them into normal and active condition and relieving pain. At all druggists and dealers, 50c. A SIMPLE METHOD TO REMEDY RHEUMATISM

AGE DOES NOT INTERFERE IF TREATMENT IS PROPERLY FOLLOWED

Many persons contend that there is no sure remedy for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Neuritis, or their kindred diseases, but don't be biased: draw your own conclusions from the proof submitted.

Over two years ago, William Nesbitt, of 143 John St., Toronto, Ontario, was attacked by Rheumatism. Mr. Nesbitt was 53 years of age at the time and he feared the worst. After trying many remedies and prescriptions without obtaining relief he took a friend's advice and used Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules. Result—to-day Mr. Nesbitt says, "He hasn't lost a day's work since nor fears Rheumatism any more."

Mr. Nesbitt gives the entire credit for his recovery to T.R.C.'S. Profit by his experience. Try them.

TORONTO INSPECTOR TO INSPECT PLUMBING

The city's Property Committee were in receipt of a communication from Dr. Hastings, M.O.H., Toronto last evening, stating that he would be willing to send his chief inspector down to this city to inspect the plumbing specified by Editor Newsome as not measuring up to the standard.

On motion of Aldermen Edgar and Crowe, the chairman was authorised to arrange a date for said chief inspector to visit Peterborough.

Extend Garbage Areas.

On motion of Ald. Edgar and Crowe, it was decided to invite tenders for garbage collection during the areas be added: South on Park street, east side, from Romaine to Lansdowne street; north side of Lansdowne to Haggard street, on Haggard to Crescent street, and on Crescent to Lock street. In the north, down the G.T.R. to Smith street, west on Smith street, both sides, to Downie, and on Downie, both sides, to London street.

Members Present.

PRESIDENT VETOES

would become a law without his signature.

No Wet Spell Likely.

Attorney-General Palmer, it was said, had declared it constitutional.

But the president, propped up in bed, dictated and then signed the veto message and sent it along to Congress, without worrying apparently about what Congress might do.

With repassage of the law by the House, and the prospect of the same thing happening in the Senate, hope of the big "wet spell" that would run over the Chrismas season vanished into thin air.

Prohibition leaders predicted that the refusal of the House to accept the President's veto meant that the sale of liquor would not be permitted again in the life of this and many other generations.

Result Satisfactory.

"The objective for the Province is $226,000,000, which means that the average daily quota required is $12,500,000. While we have not reached our full amount to-day, the result is satisfactory, in view of the fact that in the units heard from the canvassing teams are more than holding their own as compared with last year.

"The Province is divided into sixteen divisions, including sixty city and county units. These are even more thoroughly organized than last year, because the return of so many efficient men from active service has made it possible to send two organizers into each unit, instead of only one as was the case last year."

OPERATION WILL KEEP DEMPSEY OUT OF RING FOR FOUR MONTHS

Will Then Take on Anyone Whom the Public Will Support.

Jack Dempsey, the heavyweight champion, will not go into the ring again this year to engage in a battle in defence of his title. So forget the matches which managers of many heavyweights have in mind, writes Walter St. Denis, sporting editor of the New York Globe.

The biggest reason is that the nasal appendage of the champion will not permit of him doing so, and the other is that he does not regard the candidates who are seeking a match worthy of such, or rather he does not think that the public wants to see him go in the ring and slaughter a few innocents.

Just the other day Dempsey had an operation performed on his nose. The many thumps he had received as a result of the course of his boxing career caused the condition which called for the operation. The doctor cut away much bone and when he had finished he couched the information that it would be well if the champion didn't allow anybody to hit him for a period of at least four months. That is the length of time it will require for the wound to heal properly.

The chances are that the champion's first fight will be held in England, probably against Joe Beckett, if the latter is successful in his coming contest with Georges Carpentier, the French champion. If the latter wins, then Jack will take on the Frenchman.

Terror engaging in a bout on this side before going abroad is very remote. Jack does not think there is a man the public will insist on meeting him. If, however, a different condition arises he will be ready to go through with any bout. He has quit the stage, finding it no place for a fighter, but during his non-fighting days he will not remain idle. He has about arranged to do some work for the movies, and that will keep him going until the call to England comes.

The champion was a spectator of the races down at Havre de Grace recently, at which place he stated his plans to the writer. Incidently he found that getting money fighting is a much easier way than trying to pick the winners.

The stage work does not appear to have affected Jack's condition in the least. He looked almost as good as he did in the ring at Toledo on July 4. He has grown a little around the waist, but his eye is clear, bearing out his words that he has been taking good care of himself. He appeared as though he could be made ready for a hard fight within a couple of weeks. But since there is no one to fight he is not paying any attention to gymnasium work.

"I want to fight," he said, "but there is no one over here that the public would pay to see meet me. I know I have had many challenges, but you know as well as I do that they are all from fellows who are looking for a looser's end. I have beaten them all, can do it again, so what is the use. Of course, if some good purse is offered that is a different thing, but where is that place which will hang up a purse worth while? I am not asking any fortune, either; the size of my purse to be governed by the place where the fight is held.

"But I will not be able to fight for four months. That is what the doctor told me, and he ought to know. That operation he put me through was tougher to bear than any punishment to which I have been subjected in the ring. If the fight game was as hard as that I'd quit it mighty quick.

"We are now dickering with the English promoters for a fight with Beckett, and the chances are he will be my man early next year. However, if a suitable opponent shows up in the meantime I will be only too willing to give him a chance. All he need have is some ability and the backing of the public that he is a fit opponent."

"HOD" ELLER IS A REAL PITCHING STAR

HIS CATCHER STATES HE IS ONE ONE OF THE BEST PITCHERS OF ALL TIMES.

(By Bill Rariden)

At last the National League has a pitcher who can throw the old ball as fast as Walter Johnson. He is Hod Eller, the Cincinnati pitching star of the world series.

Hod is the hardest pitcher to catch I ever handled. I have been catching him all season and ought to know.

He has so much speed that it burns clear through the thich catching pad. He has more speed by far than any other pitcher in the National League.

The baseball public knows of the fact that Hod smokes 'em over in the big series at Chicago. He had so much stuff on the ball in that shut-out game he pitched that the Cox themselves declared that they had faced no better pitching in their own league this year. He is better than Johnson.

I've caught a lot of pitchers on the various teams I have been a member of.

With the Boston Nationals from 1910 to 1913 I caught Cy Young, Frank Pfeffer, Al. Mattern, Charles Brown, Harry Ferguson, Geo. Tyler, Dick Rudolph, Bill James, Lew Richie, and Cliff Curtis.

With the Indianapolis and Newark Reds in 1914 and 1915 I caught Cy Falkenburg, Earl Mosely, Ed. Ruebach, Harry Billiard, and Harry Moran.

With the Giants in 1916 and 1917 I caught Mathewson, Tesreau Anderson, Benton, Schupp, and Barnes.

And Hod Eller is the peer of them all.

When we started this spring Hod had a fair amount of stuff. We worked with him to smooth out the rough spots and I believe you fans will agree with me when I say that when Hod made his world series start in Comiskey Park he was a finished pitcher.

Besides speed he has a good assortment of pitching wares. He has great control of the shine ball and a big break on it.

He should be even better next season. I look for him to be one of the greatest pitchers for all time. He has the stuff now and I can't see what will prevent him from establishing a pitching record that will stack up beside those made by the greatest box stars in the history of the national game.

RACING IN FRANCE

Vast Sums Wagered on Horses First Three Months This Year.

Paris, Oct. 28 —Two hundred and twenty-seven million francs were wagered on horse races during the first three months of racing in France this year, according to figures compiled by the Ministry of Agriculture. Of that total 22,700,000 francs was lost absolutely by bettors, in sums paid out by the mutuels, as follows; 9,000,000 francs to welfare enterprises in devastated regions, 6,000,000 francs to charitable organizations and the rest to breeders as premiums.

During the same period the public paid 7,300,000 francs as entrance fees to the race tracks. If this rate continues the expenditure for admissions for the year will amount to within 15,000,000 francs and the percentage of bets taken by mutuels will approximate 53,000,000 francs.

DOMINANCE OF MOTOR TRANSPORT IS SHOWN IN 10 HRS. CENSUS OF TRAFFIC

On September 28 the Ontario Motor League took a census of traffic on three main highways radiating from Toronto—the Toronto-Hamilton Highway, Yonge street and the Kingston road. The census covered the ten hours between nine in the morning to seven in the evening, which would catch approximately 75 per cent., of the vehicles passing over the roads on the day in question.

Much interesting information is deducible from these tabulations. For instance, the fact that the 8,234 vehicles that passed the checkers, only 47 were horse-drawn; the fact that of the 8,178 motor vehicles, only 51 were cars owned outside the province—a refutation of the allegation that our highways are nothing but speedways for Yankee motorists; that although the day was Sunday, 71 trucks were counted; that the hour of peak traffic in the morning is between 11 and 12 o'clock, and in the afternoon between four and five on all three roads.

DAUBERT'S PLAYING FOOLED DOPESTERS

WENT INTO WORLD'S SERIES UNDER HANDICAP AND PLAYED STAR GAMES.

When the busy dopesters were figuring up the relative merits of the Redleg and White Sox players for the recent world series they were generally somewhat skeptical concerning Daubert's probable worth to Pat Moran, principally because of Jake's poor showing in his 1916 world series. Consequently there's an added satisfaction for Jake Daubert in knowing that he turned out to be one of the big heroes of the 1919 classic.

Daubert may well be classed as one of the bright and shining brethren. His fielding was Daubertesque—which means that it was brilliant all the way through. True, he made two boots in the series, but his handling of the ball on more difficult chances and in double plays more than erased those errors. His batting—the department in which he was picked to fizzle—was spectacular. As far as base hits were concerned he collected seven in twenty times at bat, including one triple. Neale and his rookie slugger, Duncan, were the only regulars to head him in the Red batting averages. But in the bunting end of the stick game was where he excelled. Moran called on Jake five times to lay down a sacrifice, and Daubert delivered every time. This may not be a record in sacrificing, but it is brought to attention to show that he more than made good.

He's starting right

Dad knows it. For hasn't he vivid memories of other times, before the eventful day when he bought his cherished AutoStrop Razor? So he is happy to find that his boy won't have to put up with what he went through—dull blades tingling face, half removed stubble—these are the things that make dad wince as he thinks of them. But happily all that is past—to stay.

And now for the boy there is only cleanliness and comfort, the sense of physical well being that follow a cool AutoStrop Razor can give. This and the fact, that the AutoStrop Razor sharpens its own blades, and is not taken apart for stropping or cleaning, has led thousands of dads everywhere to recommend the AutoStrop Razor to their sons.

The price you pay for an AutoStrop Razor, strop and blades—$5.00—is on deposit till you're satisfied.

GOD BLESS THE PRINCE OF WALES

KINSTON WELCOMES HEIR APPARENT WITH OPEN ARMS AND OPEN HEARTS

Kingston, Oct 26.—The Prince of of Wales arrived in the city at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning via the Grand Trunk Railway, and was received with open arms and open hearts by the citizens. His Royal Highness was met at the station by His Worship Mayor H W. Newman and Major-General V. A. S. Williams, C.O.C., M. D. No 3, and a guard of honor from the 14th Regiment, P. W. O. R., under the command of Captain H. D. Wightman, M.C. Just as the royal train reached th estation a royal salute of 21 guns was fired by the R.C.H.A., under command of Major Lafferty, at Macdonald Park. His Royal Highness inspected the guard of honor, which was composed entirely of veterans who had served in France. He then entered the mayor's car with Major-General Williams, while his staff occupied four other cars. The party drove to the cricket field, where Mayor Newman introduced the alderman to His Royal Highness and the officers of his staff, and Major-General Williams introduced the officers of his staff, after which the school children, numbering 1,800 under the direction of Lieut.-Col. Galloway sang "God Bless the Prince of Wales." The mayor then read the civic address in which was expressed the honor felt by every citizen by reason of the visit of the Prince of Wales, the loyal attachment to his person as the heir to the Throne, and good wishes for his happiness.

The Prince replied, expressing his grateful acknowledgement of the spontaneous worth of the welcome given to him, his admiration of Kingston, and his appreciation of the loyalty of the citizens during the great war. It was a great pleasure to him to come to Kingston, and he would carry away happy memories of the occasion. The children then sang "O, Canada!" His Royal Highness presented medals and decorations to over 100 veterans for distinguished conduct on the battlefield of France, and shook hands with each man.

After the inspection of the veterans who were lined up in front of the pavilion, a way was made through the crowd to the football field, where the Prince kicked off the ball for an exhibition game between two veteran teams. At the Royal Military College, the Prince was received by Major-General MacDonell, commandant, who introduced the members of his staff. The Cadet Battalion received his Royal Highness with the Royal salute, and was then inspected. Following the inspection colors were presented by the Prince. Dean Starr, chaplain to the college, performing the religious part of the ceremony. A tour of inspection of the buildings was then made, and when this was completed the Royal party had lunch with the commandant and his staff. After lunch, his Royal Highness witnessed a gymnastic exhibition.

Saturday evening at 6.30 the degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon His Royal Highness at a special convocation in Grant Hall. Before the ceremony, Principal Bruce Taylor introduced the deans of the various faculites to the Prince in the red room. Chancellor Beatty was present for the occasion and conferred the degree.

Dinner at City Hall.

At 8 o'clock last evening a dinner was given to the Prince and his staff by the Mayor and Aldermen in the City Hall. His Royal Highness later attended an informal dance at the residence of Major-General V. A. S. Williams, C.O.C., M. D., No 3, at 157 King street. On Sunday morning he attended divine service at St. George's Cathedral, afterwards driving to Cataraquia Cemetery and placing a wreath of roses on the grave of the late Sir John A. Macdonald. His Royal Highness dined at Tete de Pont Barracks with the officers of the R. C. H. A. Later in the afternoon he visited the local military hospitals. On Monday morning the Royal train will leave Kingston for Brockville and the R. C. H. A. will fire a salute of 21 guns from Macdonald Park as the train pulls out from the station.

VICTORY LOAN HALLOWEEN DANCE.

The Wednesday night dance of the Peter Robinson Chapter, I.O.D.E., for this week will be in the form of a Victory Loan Halloween dance, in the Conservatory Hall. Supper will be served. Admission 50c each.

SOCIAL AFTERNOON

The first meeting of the fall term of the Home and School Association of Queen Mary School, which was held in the school recently, took the form of a social afternoon and five o'clock tea, and was very much enjoyed by those present.

It was decided, at this meeting, to hold a rummage sale, sometime during the first week in November, in the vacant store opposite the Barrie building.

The exact date will be announced later. Watch the papers for it.

SOCIAL & PERSONAL

WATSON—ROBSON

In the Knox Church Manse at 12:30 o'clock today, Miss Louise Robson, was united in marriage to Ernest William Watson. The bridesmaid was the bride's sister, Miss Ethel May Robson, and the grooms brother, George H. Watson, acted as best man.

Rev. Mr. McKenzie conducted the ceremony.

Miss Margaret Lynch, Elm street, city, is visiting in Oil City, U.S.A.

Mrs. George Egan has left on a trip to Springfield, Mass.

Mrs. Bernard Pitchford has arrived home from England where she has been visiting with her mother.

Miss Helen Williams of Rochester, N. Y., has returned home after a few weeks' visit with friends in the city.

Mr. H. Walsh of Toronto was in the city on Monday.

Mrs. J. G. Snow and daughter Dorothy M., of Troy, N. Y., are visiting friends in the city.

Mr. H. White of Port Arthur was a week end visitor to the city.

The Young People's Guild of Knox Church, held their annual masquerade social last evening, when a large number of young people gathered and spent a jolly time together in games and music, after which all proceeded to the basement, where refreshments were served. The decorations consisted of all manner of Hallowe'en symbols and presented a very weird and ghostly appearence.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Plant of Toronto motored to the city yesterday.

Mrs. W. A. Wilson, Montreal, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Dickson Davidson, Rubidge street.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Conlin of Toronto were in the city today.

A very pleasant event took place last evening in St. Alphonso's Lyceum when quite a number assembled there and enjoyed themselves at a euchre party given by the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's. Those present, numbering about 190, entered into the game with a splendid give-and-take spirit, making it immensely interesting as well as entertaining. There were about 36 tables in use. The prizes consisting of 100 lbs. of flour and 2 bags of potatoes were won by Mr. Frank Sairen and Mr. Thornton. Both prizes were donated to St. Vincent's Orphanage.

After the serving of refreshments a musical program of special merit was rendered and much appreciated by those present.

Mr. J. Minicola favored the gathering with a coronet solo in his usual capable manner, while Mr. E. Bartley and Miss Gertrude Clancy each contributed vocal solos, which were well receive dby the party. Miss [illegible] conclusion of this program the party dispersed with the memory of a very happy evening.

SOCIAL EVENING AT ALL SAINTS'

OPENING OF THE NEW ROOMS BENEATH THE CHANCEL LAST NIGHT.

A congregational social was held in the basement of All Saints Church last evening. The occasion was the opening of the new primary department, the rooms of which have recently been completed. These will provide increased accommodation for the Sunday school and are a very creditable addition to the church.

The rector, Rev. R. B. Grobb, was in the chair and a programme was rendered consisting of the following:

Vocal Solo.—Mr. John Smith.
Vocal Solo—Miss Doris Rathbone
Banjo Trio—Messrs. Parkins and James.
Vocal Solo.—Miss E. Worth.
Vocal Solo.—Miss Beryl Bates.
Reading.—Mr. Johns.
Vocal Solo.—Mr. Chandler.
Piano Solo.—Miss Flowers.

Mr. L. G. Dobbin spoke on behalf of the wardens. Mrs. Stevenson, represented the Adult Bible Class department. Mr. Curtis represented the Junior department and Miss Curtis represented the Primary department.

The committee which had the work in charge was represented by Mr. William Buller, who presented a very encouraging financial statement.

Alderman J. J. Turner brought the greetings of the Peterborough Sunday School Association and congratulated All Saints upon its splendid new equipment.

A social hour with the serving of refreshments brought a very pleasing evening to a close. All present spoke in glowing terms about the splendid addition to the church equipment.

A special piano for the occasion was very kindly provided by Mr. W. Lawson of the local Heintzman firm.

W.C.T.U. THANKSGIVING

The W.C.T.U. intend holding a thanksgiving meeting in the Green room of the Y.W.C.A. on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Ross will give an address and a cordial invitation is extended to all ladies to attend.

IN MEMORIAM

McKEE—In loving memory of Marjory Hilda McKee, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKee who departed this life October 28 1918.

'Tis sweet to know our little girl
Has only gone before,
And waits to welcome us some day
Upon that gold shore.

Our hearts were sad at parting
Her dear face we sorely miss.
But then we know she lives again
In that glory land of bliss.

Dear Majory, your memory
We will always strive to keep
Green in our hearts forever
As one of the Master's sheep.

HALLOWE'EN FUN BY GIRLS' AUXILIARY

OLD-TIME MERRY-MAKING AT ST. JOHN'S SCHOOL HOUSE LAST NIGHT

An halowe'en entertainment in St John's school house last evening, under the auspices of the Girl's Auxiliary was participated in and much enjoyed by a large number of guests. The main school room was arrestingly decorated with approved hallowe'en effect, including an old-time fire place, in which an imitation fire was blazing merrily, the suggestive black cat, and other witchs' paraphernalia.

The little ones present were dressed in masquerade costume.

The entertainment itself consisted of marches, musical games and recitations, followed by taffey-pulling, roast corn and other sweetmeats.

DUFFUS GARAGE STILL SELLING FARM TRACTORS

In evidence that Fordson Farm tractors are entering into the work of farms generally, it is interesting to note that the Duffus Garage sold eight of these machines two weeks ago, while another car load which arrived the middle of last week was disposed of before closing time Saturday.

In this connection today is universally admitted that the Fordson Farm Tractors and Oliver Plow are admirably adapted for small Ontario farms. This tractor is good investment fo rany farmer; it will draw ploughs, harrows and cultivators to prepare the land; seeders, drills, etc., to pull in the crop; binders, mowers, etc. to reap the harvest. It is fitted with a bevel gear for a side belt pulley for driving threshing machines, ensilage cutters, saws, etc. And it may be used for road making, hauling scrapers, rollers, etc. Then this labor money and time-saving machine is sold at a reasonable price, and its upkeep is as economical, comparatively speaking, as a Ford car. No provident farmer, can be without a tractor today, if he wants to get the best results at a minimum expenditure; and the Fordson, which solves the labor problem, has been thoroughly tried out and found to be efficient in every respect. It is indeed a little wonder of the age.

THE NEW INDUSTRY LOSING NO TIME

GAVE ORDERED ALL EQUIPMENT NECESSARY FOR LOCATING IN PETERBOROUGH.

The city is in receipt of a communication from the Nashua Gummed and Coated Paper Company, whose bylaw to locate here was carried Friday last, stating that they had ordered all equipment necessary to start operations here with the new year, or before, and asking the authorities to go ahead with the repairs to the old Cardage Co., specifications of which they will forward.

On motion of Ald. Hamilton and Morrison, the city clerk was instructed to telegraph, suggesting that the company make the necessary repairs themselves, and charge same against the city to the extent of $6,700; and should they not be willing to accept his proposition, then the chairman of the Property Committee invite tenders for such repairs, and keep a night and day watchman on the premises until taken over by the Nashua people.

Under agreement with the Nashua Gummed and Coated Paper Co. the city are to expend $7,000 in repairing the old Cardage property, but it seems the cost of submitting the bylaw—some $300 is to be deducted from that amount.

It transpired last evening that the Stickney Motors, Limited, who failed to locate in these premises, according to agreement with the city, have paid up all indebtedness to Peterborough corporation, and transferance the insurance of $105,000 on the property.

FOURTEEN VICTIMS IN WRECK OF STMR. "MUSKEGON" YESTERDAY

Twenty-One Officially Unaccounted for—Thought They Include Four of Crew and Three Passengers.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Muskegon, Mich., Oct. 29.—Twenty-one persons were officially unaccounted for early today, and fourteen were known to have lost their lives in the sinking yesterday of the Crosby line lake steamer "Muskegon, which was driven into a pier by the gale after she had battled across Lake Michigan from Milwaukee, and pounded to pieces by heavy seas.

The coroner and Crosby line officials stated they believed all the missing had perished. The purser was unable to give names of those unaccounted for, but thought they include four of crew and three passengers.

Story of Wreck.

Graphic stories of terror, suffering and heroism were told by survivors and the bravery of Captain Edwin Miller and his officers and crew, who remained at their posts to the last was recounted. Captain Miller, sensing disaster as the vessel was driven toward the pier, ordered all to leap for their lives, and the time-hallowed sea rule, "women [illegible]" was followed. Only four women, one of whom was employed on the boat, were to-night known to have been lost.

Captain Miller, heart-stricken by the disaster and loss of lives, declared the undertow swung his ship after she struck the bar. "I told the cabin boys to waken the passengers and crew and ordered all over the rail," he said. "Those who moved quickly were saved. The ones who held back lost their lives."

To R. J Kaknborsky, a coast guard, many of those saved owe their lives. Approaching as closely as possible to the suspender steamer Kaknborsky, while others of the coast guard struggled to free men and women from the tangle of wreckage, held a flashlight, directing the way to safety.

"It seemed that the ship was lifted out of the water, striking with terrific force," said Kaknborsky. "Then the light went out and the boat was pounded to kindling. I used a flashlight and it was by this means that many of the passengers were able to jump to the piers. It seemed to me that those on deck escaped. I heard a few screams, but it was all very sudden and quickly over."

To a stewardess, Mrs. Jessie Hopkins, of Muskegon, who gave her life, is given credit for wakening and thereby saving many of those who escaped. Knowing herself imperilled, she made her way to the staterooms along the ship's darkened passages, pounding on doors and awakening the few who slept despite the storm. Then came the crash and the pounding requiem of the waves.

The Muskegon was an iron vessel, built in 1881 by the Holland Steamship Company, and lately rebuilt for the Crosby Line. She was 231 feet in length and had a gross tonnage of 1,140.

MORE THAN 30 NATIONS REPRESENTED AT WORLD LABOR CONFERENCE TO-DAY

Only States Which Have Ratified Peace Treaty Can Participate in Proceedings—Addresses by Prominent Leaders This Afternoon—German and Austrian Delegates Present—International Congress of Women Also.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Oct. 29.— More than thirty nations, including Canada, are represented here today for opening of the International Labor Conference, created by the treaty at Versailles for the improvement and standardization of Labor conditions throughout the world.

Opened at Noon.

In the opening of the Conference at noon United Sattes Secretary of Labor Wilson, said he would designate the assembly as the "Conference in the process of being organized," and by this interpretation he believes he abides by his contention that only those States which have ratified the treaty can participate in the official conference.

The Programme

The programme for today as outlined by the organizing committee called for addresses by Secretary Wilson and John Barrett, director of the Pan American Union and report of Arthur Fontaine of France, chairman of committee and organization of the assembly.

German Delegates

Delegates from both Germany and Austria were among those here to attend the conference, the Supreme Council having approved their coming following a protest by the Labor Congress.

Amsterdam conference against their exclusion. Whether or not these delegates will participate in the official conference, however, depends upon the vote of the decredited delegates to the conference after they convene. Labor leaders said they expected the German and Austrian delegates would be invited to participate. Whether the federation conference would offer any recommendation to the official conference on this point was not known.

British Delegates

Delegates from the United Kingdom are Messrs. James Sexton, Tom Shaw, C. W. Bowerman, and Alfred Onions. Margaret Bondfield, assistant secretary of the National Federation of Women Workers of Great Britain, and Mary McArthur, secretary of the British Women's Trade Union [illegible] to attend the International Congress of Working Women. This Congress, called by the Women Trade Union League of America, is to precede the International Labor Congress.

The principal question to come up at the Women's conference are those relating to laws for the protection of women and children in industry, which also form one section of the programme to be taken up by the Labor Congress.

RADICAL PLOT TO SPREAD TERROR

ANOTHER SERIES OF EXPLOSIONS IN THE UNITED STATES PLANNED

FIVE MEN AND WOMAN IN TOILS

BELIEVED TO BE MEMBERS OF ANARCHISTIC CIRCLE AT WORK

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cleveland, O., Oct. 29.— The discovery of a radical plot to spread terror throughout the nation by another series of explosions next spring was announced by the police here today, following the arrest last night of five men and one woman suspected of having planned the destruction of Central police station.

Believing they were members of an anarchistic circle that has been working in more than one hundred cities, the police questioned the group all night in an effort to learn details [illegible] organization.

TOOM'S PLURALITY REDUCED TO 685

The official count of the election [illegible] city as given out by Mr. J. F. Strickland, returning officer, gives Mr. Thomas Tooms, labour candidate, a plurality of 685 over Mr. G. A. Gillespie, who has a plurality of 1,322 over Mr. R. J. Soden.

The votes cast in favor of Mr. Tooms are 4,732, for Mr. Gillespie 4,047 and for Mr. Soden, 2,625. Mr. Tooms had a lead of 2,107 votes over Mr. Soden.

Executives of the United Mine Workers in Conference Men Ask 6 Hours a Day and Wage Increase.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Indianapolis, Oct. 29.—Executives of the United Mine Workers of America met here today to take final action on President Wilson's appeal that the nation-wide strike of bituminous coal miners, ordered for November first, be called off.

With but sixty hours left before time for stoppage of production of the nations fuel supply, this meeting assumes the character of the most weighty event which has yet been held in connection with the miners demands for a six hour day, five day week, and sixty percent increase in wages. Out of it will come the final word of the miners on the situation.

Representatives of Men

Representatives of coal miners in parts of the country, were here today for while it originally was planned to hold only a meeting of the executive [illegible] of the organization at this time, in view of the demand of President Wilson last Saturday, that the strike order be rescinded, acting President John Lew's broadened the scope of the conference.

Discontinuance of the production of coal would more effectually tie up industries of the country than would a strike of any other order of work untold suffering among millions of the country's inhabitants.

Peterborough Most Important Unit.

Peterborough County is the most important unit in the Trent Valley division, which also includes Parry Sound, Muskoka, Victoria and Haliburton, Durham and Northumberland. In the 1918 Victory Loan our division obtained 137 per cent. of their objective, only two out of 18 divisions showing a better result. This year fifteen agressive divisions are after our scalp. The Trent Valley division looks to Peterborough for leadership. On results from this county will largely hinge the success of the entire division. To reach our objective of $7,000,000 a subscription total of over $350,000 is required. The first day's result was $61,500 or in other words over $6,000,000 of our objective.

Peterborough County is off to a good start and will soon be hitting on all four cylinders. The team numbers yesterday turned in $30,000 more than the first day.

From Parry Sound this message reached divisional Organizer G. R. Warburton: "Return five out of 29 districts, first day twenty-five thousand, three hundred, bad storm, wire disorganized, more to-morrow, watch our smoke."

$100,000,000 Mark Passed

With the Canadian Pacific Railway subscribing for $20,000,000, of Victory Bonds one-fifth of the total amount required to finance the Dominion has been completed. This huge subscription does not include purchases of bonds by employees of the railway

For the first day amongst the cities, Hamilton led the way in the Province with $3,529,500, with Toronto second with $2,593,000. Barrie's total was $404,250 and St. Catharines $248,900. London with $230,500. Those over the hundred thousand mark being Brantford Fort William, Owen Sound, Sault Ste. Marie and Peterborough.

At the Peterborough County headquarters yesterday everything was running smoothly, and as reports came in it was felt that while Peterborough has a reputation for being a

REPORTED THAT LIBERALS WOULD NOW UNITE WITH FARMER-LABOR COALITION

Looking for one or Two Portfolios in Cabinet For Their Members—E. C. Drury of Simcoe First Choice by Farmers as Leader and Premier—Joint Convention.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Oct. 29. With E. C. Drury, of Simcoe, Ont., the well-known agriculturist leader, again apparently the most likely possibility for government leadership and the post of Premier of Ontario, a separate convention of the U. F. O. and Independent Labor party opened today to settle the matter.

Liberals Would Unite

Added interest is given to the situation today by the report that the Liberals have now officially approached the farmers with a proposition for entering the proposed Farmer-Labor coalition, on the understanding, it is said, that one or two portfolios in the Cabinet will go to their members.

Labor Meets.

The U. F. O. members and unsuccessful candidates met in their headquarters and the I. L. P. men at the Labor Temple to consider reports of their respective committees in the matter of coalition leadership and a general policy.

Accomplish Alliance

Nothing was announced officially, but it seemed to be the popular hint from both caucuses that E. C. Drury would get the leadership. There seems to be no doubt about it that the committees of both Farmers and Labor organizations have agreed on the get-together principle, and it is thought that the alliance, temporarily at least, will be quickly accomplished.

Joint Convention

Tomorrow there will be a joint convention of the U.F.O. and I.L.P., with the prospects of an agreement for united action on all essentials, with a view to taking over the reins of government in the Province of Ontario. J. J. Morrison, secretary of the U. F. O., is today spoken of as a second choice for leadership, and Sir Adam Beck as third choice.

NATIONAL FINANCE TOPIC IN COMMONS

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Oct. 29.—National Finance was the topic for debate in the House of Commons today, with the Government facing probably as critical a body of members as ever in the history of Parliament.

Warm Criticism.

More than a hundred members had given notice of a desire to speak and all of them were understood to be prepared to belabor the Government for its alleged waste and extravagance. Some of the Government's keenest critics are among supporters of coalition, including such staunch Unionists as Sir Edward Carson and Lord Robert Cecil.

RAILWAYMEN TALK OF STRIKE IN SYMPATHY

FIFTEEN HUNDRED OPERATORS IN STEEL YARDS MAY WALK OUT

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Pittsburg, Oct. 29.—The officials of four Railroad Brotherhoods and Shop Craft today started taking a strike vote of 15 hundred employees of the Union Railroad men who operate trains in the steel plants of Pittsburg district.

The result of the vote will not be known until next Sunday, and in event of the men favoring a strike they will be called out in sympathy with the striking steel workers, according to the Brotherhood executives.

TORONTO STEAM BARGE SINKS

GOES DOWN IN LAKE ONTARIO DURING YESTERDAY'S BIG STORM

TWO BODIES WASHED ASHORE

CARRIED A CREW OF EIGHT, AND NO SURVIVORS RECORDED

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 29. The finding at daybreak today of two bodies on the shore of Lake Ontario, wearing life preservers bearing the name of the steam barge "Homer Warren," of Toronto, revealed the total loss of that vessel with her crew of eight. The shore was strewn with wreckage.

The "Warren," in charge of Capt. Scaller, of Toronto, left Oswego homeward bound, yesterday morning, with 500 tons of coal. She was last seen off Pultneyville, 35 miles east of here, at 11 a.m. yesterday while the gale was raging fiercely. She is believed to have gone down during the night.

The bodies have not been identified.

Nothing Officially.

At the offices of the Milne Coal Co. it was stated that the barge Homer Warren usually carried a crew of seven men, generally signed on at United States ports. Nothing official concerning the wreck had reached the offices of the company up to 1.30 p.m.

TO VOTE PROHIBITION

Mr. Burnham Says His Amendments Merely to Enlarge Bill.

Ottawa, Oct. 29. Regarding the prohibition bill Mr J. H. Burnham said: "I intend to vote for the Government prohibition bill. My amendment seeks merely to enlarge it in view of the Ontario referendum sentiment."

G. W. V. A. TO HOLD MASS MEETING TO CONFER WITH MR. BURNHAM

Latter Will Be Given Chance to State Position With Regard to Gratuity Plan—How Adverse Report of Parliamentary Committee is Regarded Here.

Secretary Whatley of the G.W.V.A. has sent a telegram to J. H. Burnham, M.P., requesting him to attend a mass meeting of returned men to be held at an early date. The object of this gathering is to give Mr. Burnham an opportunity to state his position on the Soldiers' Re-establishment Plan and the "graded system of gratuities as submitted to Parliament. Mr. Burnham has replied that he will come to Peterborough as soon as he can relinquish for a time Parliamentary duties.

The idea of holding such mass meetings for the purpose of consulting with the members of Parliament is general and the plan will be adopted throughout the Dominion The fact that the committee of the House has reported adversely on the requests of the Veterans, has aroused the returned soldiers to new activity.

But even if the special committee has brought in a report unfavorable to the Veterans this does not necessarily mean that their case is lost. Parliament is not bound to accept the finding of the committee and the entire matter will now be open to debate. There are friends of the soldiers in Parliament just as there are members who will oppose the plan submitted by them for re-establishment. If Parliament is unable to arrive an early dissolution of the House is looked for. In the meantime, the G.W.V.A., by holding a mass meeting in every riding will take a poll of all the members of the House.

The $2,000 gratuity idea, known as the Calgary plan, has been rejected as well as the more conservative scheme submitted by the G.W.V.A.

What Committee Recommends

The Parliamentary committee concedes the necessity of further re-establishment in certain particulars, and recommends improvements and extensions of the work now carried on by the various departments of government, together with some new lines of work to be undertaken, involving an estimated expenditure of $35,000,000.

Gratuities to Canadians who enlisted in the Royal Air Force and other Imperial United, $9,600,000.

Rebate of transportation expenses paid by dependents who returned to Canada prior to November 11, 1918, $1,000,000.

Provision for extra items of expenditure, such as clothing allowances to S.C.R. patients, pay and allowances to trainees taken on strength of S.C.R. and subsequently not approved; care of sub-normal cases, necessitous cases, pensions under arrangement with patriotic fund; loans to disabled men for tools, equipment, training and education; cashing of cheques at par for Canadians who joined Imperial units; unemployment relief during Winter estimated at about $25,000,000

The findings, as they are likely to be submitted to Parliament, may be summarized as follows:

1—Free clothing to patients of S. C. R.

2—Equalization of gratuities for Imperials.

3—Equalization of pay and allowances for those undergoing medical treatment with S. C. R.

4—Vocational courses lengthened when necessary.

5—Delay in authorizing vocational course to be reduced.

6—Pay and allowance for those recommended for vocational training and subsequently not approved.

7—Immediate investigation of problem cases, with immediate financial assistance when necessary.

8—Suggestion that trainees receive allowances upon completion of course until employment found rejected.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1919.

THE PRESIDENTIAL VETO.

THE RIGHT OF VETO has been guaranteed every ruler, elected or hereditary, and is objectionable according to the extent to which it is abused. Few presidents of the United States have exercised the right to excess. President Cleveland is the first who set himself up high above Congress and erred in this regard.

Twice lately President Wilson has used the veto, when the Daylight Saving Act was repealed, and only the other day when the bill for the enforcement of prohibition was submitted to him for his signature.

The United States is now dry by presidential war-time proclamation. It will become permanently so January 16 next by constitutional amendment. Mr. Wilson takes the ground that prohibition in its present form ceases to exist just as soon as the United States signs a peace treaty with Germany. In brief, his idea is to authorize an interregnum, to make the country wet again between the signing of peace and the coming into effect of Federal prohibition. Probably Mr. Wilson fails to see that his course would result in such an orgy of drinking as the nation has seldom or never seen.

The members of the United States Congress are more practical. They wish to keep the country dry as it is until the Federal law goes into operation. Congress quashed Mr. Wilson's veto of the Daylight Saving Bill. The House of Representatives has already overridden his latest veto, a two-thirds vote of the members present being required for this purpose. The Senate took the same course last night. Congress is greater than the executive head of the nation, and the American Constitution guarantees the proper balance of power. Mr. Wilson, if he objected to the bill, instead of precipitating another test of strength with the representatives of the people, could have compromised by refusing to sign the bill. In that event it would have become law in ten days without his signature.

The British Sovereigns still have the right of veto which is final. There is no provision for carrying a bill over the Royal prerogative. But this right has not been exercised since the days of the Stuarts, and inevitably led to disaster. In 1914 King George was urged by a certain ultra-aristocratic section of the Unionist party to veto the Home Rule Bill when finally passed in accordance with an amended Constitution, but nothing came of the suggestion. Had he done so, the only resource left the then party in power would have been an appeal to the people, the result of which would not be difficult to forecast.

Still, this very Act, passed twice by the House of Commons and stamped with the Royal approval, has never been given effect, but remains a dead letter on the statute books.

OPPOSED TO VETERANS' PLAN.

THE PARLIAMENTARY Committee has at last reported unfavorably on the re-establishment plan as drawn up by the Veterans, the request for a graded gratuity from $2500 downward being also turned down in the report. The finding of the committee was evidently kept from the public until after the bye-elections of Monday, otherwise the result would in all probability have been different in Victoria, where a newly appointed Cabinet Minister was running for endorsation. The matter is likely to be debated in Parliament, and no one need be surprised if the House be dissolved at an early date and the Government appeal to the country with this question as the leading issue.

Is there anything unreasonable in the request of the Veterans, is there anything excessive in their demands for compensation for all their sacrifices? Take the case of those who were rushed to the trenches from the recruiting places in Canada after a brief training in this country and in England during the year 1914. There are few survivors left of the Princess Pats and the Third Field Ambulance. Such as those who served four years in the trenches ask for a gratuity of $2500 to help re-establish themselves in civil life. What did that four years of military duty mean to these men? Loss of health in many, and loss of business connections in all cases. Nine out of ten men who enlisted in the units in question could, if they had remained at home, have earned three times over the gratuity they now ask for. While they were away they drew a daily wage of $1.10 with maintenance.

It may be said that if a man left dependents behind him they were cared for by a grateful and generous nation. But even this was inadequate in the way of compensation. The allowances made from the Patriotic Fund were set in the early days of the war before the cost of living had risen to a height hitherto undreamed of. It may have been increased from time to time in certain cases, but nothing like in proportion to the ever-growing scale of the prices of necessities.

What the Veterans ask for on behalf of their members, classified as to length and nature of service, looks like a clear and logical business proposition. If Parliament feels itself unequal to the task, if the members of the House are disinclined to assume the responsibility of finally disposing of this question, the people should be given the opportunity to decide. The Veterans ask for no more. Believing that their cause is just and their requests well within reason, they are ready to accept the verdict of the people.

CANADA, STRONG AND ALERT.

THE NEW YORK HERALD has published a sixteen-page supplement filled entirely with Canadian articles written by prominent citizens of this country. One of the best of these, the one selected for the position of honor as leader, is from the pen of Edson L. Pease, managing director of the Royal Bank of Canada, and president of the Canadian Bankers' Association. Mr. Pease's contribution is as follows:

The period of the Armistice was marked in Canada by a continuance of war-time prosperity, with a notable growth in both bank clearings and savings deposits. Exports of manufactured articles declined, but increased sales of grain and animal products, and a reduction in imports, resulted in the maintenance of our favorable balance of trade, which for the first half of this year exceeded that of the corresponding months of 1918 by $33,836,424.

The demand for farm hands and laborers for railway construction, together with the Government policy of land settlement and the granting of gratuities to our veterans, has enabled us to carry through with smoothness and success our first great task in reconstruction, the absorption into civil life of more than 400,000 soldiers. The men have returned broadened by their experiences and with an awakened appreciation of the opportunities and advantages offered by their home land. They are preparing to take a more active part in political life, under the watchword, "What is bad for Canada is bad for the veterans."

Our railways, which have borne with so much credit the unprecedented strain of war time, contributed in no small degree to this speedy demobilization, and the Canadian Pacific has afforded a splendid example of efficient corporate management by maintaining the highest standard of service, naying the McAdoo schedule of wages, and earning its usual dividend.

Industrially we are going through a period of unrest similar in all respects to that existing in the United States. Apparently it is not yet fully realized that Europe is no longer eager to purchase all we can produce, regardless of cost, but that price has now become the first consideration, payment a problem, and markets for its own manufactures a vital necessity. It is only by the closest co-operation between employer and employed that we can extend our industrial activity. With the object of bringing about a better understanding between Capital and Labor a National Industrial Conference met in Ottawa on September 11. All great questions affecting Labor were open for discussion. With freedom from labor unrest would come stability of [illegible] depleted stocks replenished and unemployment averted.

The outlook for the grain crop is somewhat disappointing. Manitoba will have the best yield in years, but the prospects in some portions of Saskatchewan and Alberta are not bright. Still, Canada will have a minimum of 100,000,000 bushels of wheat for export, and the problems attending its marketing and financing are now engaging the earnest attention of both Government and bankers.

The interest of the United States in the disposal of our products at good prices is second only to our own, as, if the usual course of trade is followed, a large proportion of the receipts will be expended in the Republic. During the last fiscal year out of total imports amounting to $916,443,432, $746,937,509, or 81 per cent., were purchased from the United States. Should the purchasing power of Canada become diminished through difficulties in the sale of her products, or the present unfavorable rate of exchange continue, the United States will lose in a commensurate degree a rapidly growing market for her commodities, for of all the warring powers none may be expected to recuperate more speedily than Canada. Her gold reserves now stand at $24.50 per capita as compared with $28.76 in the United States, and her holding of precious metals will be steadily augmented by the output of her mines, averaging annually $2.07 of gold and $1.86 of silver per capita, or approximately three times the per capita production of the United States.

Canada's immense coal areas, her marvelous oil prospects recently discovered, her great waterpowers and millions of acres of uncultivated fertile land, all await development; while a shortage in the world's supply will give constantly increasing value to her pulp, nickel and asbestos. Her fisheries and forests already yield rich returns, and the value of her field products alone for the year 1918 exceeded the amount of the whole of her net national debt at the end of that period.

A virile population of only eight millions share this vast heritage. Possessed of such bountiful natural resources, Canada may sometimes be compelled to halt by the way, but nothing can stay her forward march. The opportunities offered to the capitalist are unrivalled; and in no country are investments more secure.

WHEAT LIKE GOLD, PILED IN HEAPS

Leading Montreal Banker Sketches Brilliant Outlook Throughout Western Provinces---Estimates Wheat Crop To Be Worth $350,000,000.

(By Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, General Manager, Bank of Montreal, in the New York Herald.)

It is a good thing for Eastern Canadians to visit the West from time to time so that they may refresh their eyes with a sight of the vast wealth of the Dominion beyond the Great Lakes. First, there is the natural wealth, then the splendid manhood that has galvanized that latent wealth into one of the greatest possessions of the British Empire into an all-important asset of steadily appreciating value in the balance sheet of the Dominion of Canada.

It is impressive and satisfying to note that, as from the beginning, the "Bluenose," the Prince Edward Islander, the New Brunswicker, the Quebecer and the Ontario men are in positions of trust everywhere from Port Arthur to the Pacific.

As regards the crops, one reads and hears of partial failure, but if a wheat-hungry European could suddenly arrive by aeroplane in our western heavens and cover by flight the three provinces, his mouth would surely water at the sight that would meet his eyes. There are bare patches, it is true, but one cannot pass through hundreds of miles within the great triangle bounded by Winnipeg, Edmonton and Lethbridge — where wheat, like gold, lies piled in countless heaps as far as the eye can reach —and talk crop failure.

Wheat Crop Worth $350,000,000

As to quantity, I will leave it to my friends possessed of more data or more courage than I to estimate the yield in bushels. It will suffice for me to say that there is no widespread dejection in the West over the crop result, and that, though there might well have been a more uniform yield, a crop of wheat is assured worth, say, $350,000,000 in current coin of the realm, something to be thankful for in these times and the best tangible evidence of our Western resources, if not, indeed, the pivot of Canada's solvency.

Notwithstanding disquieting reports that subsequently became alarming regarding the livestock situation current in the East, on approaching the ranching country the cattleman were found in a complacent frame of mind and at the moment, from a commercial point of view, were less concerned over the livestock situation than that the great "Stampede," which was recently held in Calgary, should be a success.

In British Columbia, as in the Northwest, trains are full and hotels crowded to overflowing. British Columbians have confidence in the future of their rich and beautiful province. Their men of affairs have an unusually sane outlook as to the future of British Columbia and of the Dominoin at large. There is a general atmosphere of activity.

Shipbuilding in the Coast cities, particularly Vancouver, has contributed much toward this activity, and, while this industry is in doubt owing to expiring government contracts, strong efforts are being made to secure private orders with reasonable chance of success. British Columbia shipyards do not find themselves so severely handicapped in open competition as formerly was believed.

Mining Outlook Promising.

The mining outlook is completely changed because of the rise in the price of copper and the maintenance of silver values, with increasing efforts toward the production of gold. A good deal of development work is going on. The Trail smelter and its controlled properties are in a high state of activity. In general the mining outlook is promising, with assurances of a continuance in the increased production.

The lumber industry is most active. American and Eastern Canadian markets are taking the bulk of the output. The local demand is good. The depreciation of the Canadian dollar is stimulating exports to the United States. Most of the mills are working to full capacity and having difficulty in keeping up with orders. The manufacture of newsprint and sulphite fibre is steadily progressing and two mills in process of construction will materially increase the output next year.

The fishing industry is at the peak of its activity for the year. No statement can be vouchsafed concerning the pack, but reports show that the Skeena River and Vancouver Island districts are tending to offset the poor results on the Fraser River. Prices are high and the better grades are in keen demand. It is not expected, however, that the pack will assume the proportions of last year, when all records were broken.

LONG FAREWELL TO DAYLIGHT SAVING

(By a Workingman)

"Even the daylight saving was fixed for the rich man. First of all, the worker has to get up at 5 o'clock in the morning to get to his work at six. Then some fool would go to work and turn the clock ahead an hour. That meant he would have to get up at four instead of at five. He gets home some time after 5 p.m. It's too early for supper, and he is simply starved. He tries to make a little garden, cuts the lawn, or paints the house. By nine o'clock he is tired, and wants to go to bed.

Some Lullaby.

"But he might as well try to sleep in pandemonium, for he lives on a street where the only difference between his house and his neighbor's is the number on the door. Each of his neighbors has from four to six children, and each has a player piano or a victrola. The racket is kept up until eleven or twelve at night. Poor old man, he just falls into a doze instead of sound sleep. At last the indoor amusement subsides a little, and he begins to drop off into real slumber. But, hark! What festive din is this?

Cupid's Serenade.

"The young folk up the street are coming home in the autos with their friends, the joy-riders. Toot-toot! go the horns, and the rattle and noise of the auto exhausts and engines whirring is something terrible. No chance of sound sleep for half an hour or an hour longer. The girls must giggle, and the boys bid a fond farewell before the autos start up with a rattle and a roar again. Peace comes like a salve for the sore tortured night.

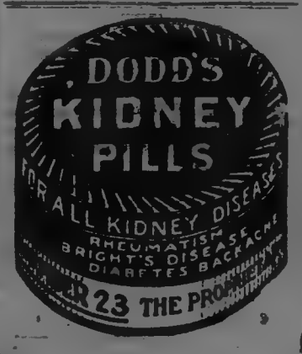
Hail, Smiling Morn!

"Alas, 'tis not for long. Here comes the milk man making his morning rounds, and it's "Ho!" and "Whoa!" and "Giddap!" while the clatter of the milk bottles and the sound of hoofs on the street announce that it's 4 a.m., and the old man's sleep is again disturbed beyond redemption. There might be a fleeting chance of a morning refresher in the shape of sound sweet sleep for another half hour or so, but some genius has decided that the world wants to save daylight, so heigh ho! the old man of sixty pulls himself together and giddap like the dairyman's horse—poor beast—both man and horse forced to get a move on at that unearthly hour! No wonder their enthusiasm for daylight saving could be carried around very roomily in the cavity of a hen's tooth!

How Sleep the Rich?

"But wait. How about Sir Wealthy Business Man, who has perhaps moved his family out to the Beach or somewhere salubrious for the summer—how is he faring under daylight saving? Well, he can get up at 8 a.m., motor into town, stay till about 2.30 p.m. (it really is 1.30) motor back, and have the rest of the day for pleasure. He can motor around till midnight if he chooses, return to the beach, and in the quiet night, beside the gentle ripple and swish of the waves in the soft, refreshing wind by the lake, he can seek his downy couch undisturbed by fighting kids, player pianos, screeching gramophones, tooting auto horns, exploding exhausts and rattling machinery, giggling goodbyes, or jingling milk bottles. For him there is sleep—just sweet, refreshing sleep—till 8 a.m., unless he should chance to be kept awake figuring how he can live still more luxuriously at the expense of the poor working man!

"So good-bye, Daylight Saving, and be darned to you!"



WIT AND WISDOM

Followed Instructions.

Mike—I heard you got a letter from your brother Denny.

Pat—Indeed, I did.

Mike—Was there anything important in the letter?

Pat—Well, I didn't open it, for on the outside of the envelope was printed, "Please return in five days," so I sent it back.

Willie's Tact

"Say, mamma," said four-year-old Willie, "let's play I'm an awful looking old tramp. I'll come round to the back door and ask for a piece of pie, and you get scared and give it to me."

Well Mated

"Are they well mated?"

"I should say so. He seems to be able to make money almost as fast as she can spend it."

An Indication

"Do they take children in this apartment house?"

"They must. Some of the rooms aren't large enough to accommodate anbyody but a child."

Would Get Some, Anyway

Church Notice — "At 7:45 p.m. Subject, 'Fools.' A cordial welcome to all."

Not Jealous

"Delia," said Mrs. Barrows, sternly, "I met that policeman today who sat in the kitchen with you so long last night. I took advantage of the opportunity to speak to him."

"Oh, go on now," replied Delia, with a smile. "Ye needn't think that'll make me wan bit jealous, mum. Oi have got him safe enough."

Precautions

Guest — Bring me a porterhouse steak with potatoes.

Waiter — Beg pardon, sir, but guests ordering porterhouse steak with potatoes are required to make a deposit in advance.

The Reason

"Why was the will set aside"

"It kept getting in the way of the lawyers who were settling the estate."

FEMININE LOGIC

The young lady across the way says one thing she can say for her father is that he's absolutely honest and has never had a dollar of gross revenue.

WHO WORE THE FIRST WAIST?

Who was the first woman to wear a waist? This question has come up in connection with national blouse week in the United States, which is to take place November 10 to 15 and which will be participated in by over eighteen thousand retail stores throughout the country.

One manufacturer, who is a member of the Waist League, has offered a reward for the most authentic answer to the question. It has been said that the daughter of one of the Pharaohs was the first woman to wear a waist, and she did so at a court function. The authenticity for this, however, is not vouched for by the league.

The retailers are being asked to furnish replies to the inquiry in an effort to find some satisfactory solution of this question.

ADDING WORDS TO OUR LANGUAGE

EXPRESSIONS OF WAR ORIGIN INCLUDED IN CASSELL'S NEW DICTIONARY.

London, Oct. 28.—Cassell's new English Pictionary contains many new words, which it was stated in the introduction, are likely to make good their claim to be included in the English language.

Following are some examples:

Cushy, meaning a soft job; conchy, meaning a conscientious objector; bud, meaning a close friend or companion; eyewash, meaning humbug; fed-up, meaning to have a sufficiency; funkhole, meaning Government job; hotstuff, meaning an unscrupulous or formidable person; cutsoice, meaning to fall flat; movies, meaning moving pictures; the push, meaning outkicked; strafe, meaning vent of hatred; tophole, meaning feeling fine; umpteen, meaning an unknown number; the wind up, meaning to show fear; old boan, meaning the head; bus, meaning an airplane; brass hat, meaning a staff officer.

A TUBE SKIRT; DOWN BREAKS

She was ambling along in a tube decreed by fashion, exhuming pride in sheer ecstacy at the performance of her duck waddle, until she came close to where I and the motorman in the front confines of the car were eagerly awaiting the sign of the blue coat to go ahead. When the call of duty came for the motorman, which he answered with precision by tuning on the "juice," lo and behold somebody's darling ventured forth across our path with such exactness of "tickle-toe" flouncing and without looking to right or left, that we [illegible] brakes jammed on and ours was a main floor seating. Thence we beheld, to the "sweet" vociferations [illegible] from the motorman's [illegible] (ah, fair maiden! 'tis well the windows were up!) her imitation of the painful progress of the tortoise. When she had passed and we proceeded, our man of the motor was slightly under control, swearing under his breath.

ONLY TABLETS MARKED "BAYER" ARE ASPIRIN

For Colds, Pain, Headache, Neuralgia, Toothache, Earache, and for Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Neuritis, take Aspirin marked with the name "Bayer" or you are not taking Aspirin at all.

Accept only "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" in an unbroken "Bayer" package which contains complete directions. Then you are getting real Aspirin—the genuine Aspirin prescribed by physicians for over nineteen years. Now made in Canada.

Handy tin boxes containing 12 tablets cost but a few cents. Druggists also sell larger "Bayer" packages.

There is only one Aspirin—"Bayer"—You must say "Bayer"

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

New Business Code Seen in Co-Operatoon.

Co-operative advertising, such as that introduced for the first time in New England by the Olneyville, R. I. Busines Men's Association, must be taken up in every community, sooner or later, Thomas Thomas, Co-Reeves, chief crier of the Town Criers of Rhode Island told the retail merchants' division of that organization at a recent meeting.

The Olneyville co-operative advertising scheme—a pooling of funds by retail merchants for advertising a suburb of this city — has attracted much attention throughout New England and has added thousands of dollars worth of business to the various retail firms of that community.

The scheme, as previously explained, is one whereby retail merchants contribute to a yearly budget expended for advertising Olneyville as a good place to trade, for advertising to show the value of "buying at home."

In his recent address, Mr. Belcher said:

"One of the most interesting features of modern business has been the changes it has undergone within the last few years in respect to business ethics. In nothing else, it seems to me, has the advancing spirit of the times been so adequately reflected as in the changed attitude of the business man, little or big, toward his customers, his competitors and his employees. It is an interesting question how far this movement is to extend and how comprehensive the business motto of 'service' is to become. For the individual definition of 'service' is the differentiation between business men of today, and on this bedrock of 'service' rests modern business.

"It is generally admitted that the world is growing better every day, and it usually is considered that business morality, business ethics, business practice is advancing as a result.

"Is public opinion shaping the new business, or is the new business policy shaping public opinion? In all probability it is a combination of both —although the average man would be apt to look at it from his own point of view and to maintain that the changes realized have been forced from outside, a conclusion which is far from being in line with the facts.

"The greatest change of all is the change in the standard of business honesty in the replacement of the old attitude of "Do others or they'll do you" by the modern adaptation of the thousand-year-old adjuration — 'so you would be done by.'"

He referred to the community advertising of the Olneyville Business Men's Association as a splendid example of this newer tendency in business and as a move resulting in immeasurable benefit to every business man and dweller in Olneyville.

Sells More Suits by Showing Right Side

A suit of men's clothes draped on the right side is more conducive to good sales than one draped on the left states John F. Loock, display manager of George's clothiers, of Buffalo, N. Y.

Here's the way he explained it before the display men's convention at Chicago: "The average clothing house has a button designer—a man who designs buttons to harmonize with each suit designed. Now the store doesn't have any buttonhole designer, so why should you show us the left side, where the buttonholes are, when there is beauty on the right side in properly designed buttons? Buttons, well chosen, are a good selling point, and it is essential that they be shown to good advantage."

Two Sources of Live Mailing Lists.

The compilation of a live mailing list becomes comparatively easy when the merchant sells principally to a special trade or profession, but the merchant who sells the general run of regular people has a harder job.

Here are ten suggestions by Julian M. Solomon, manager of the exhibitors' service department of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation. It's the way the movie houses get up their lists, and most of the ten suggestions will convey valuable hints to the average merchant.

First. From local dealers. It's a case of swapping lists between two or more sellers of different types of goods to the same class of customers.

Second. From Blue Book and Social Register. These publications give the names, addresses and lines of business of prominent people. They are valuable when it is desired to reach a social or money class.

Third. From society columns of the newspapers. Here again it is a case of a list of social or money prominence as a rule. The announcement of weddings, dances and other functions at least convey a pretty good hint as to who is spending money for jewelry, food, clothes and a host of other articles of merchandise.

Fourth. From canvass by boys (The children of a neighborhood may be put to work this way by the offer of prizes. Often the local Boy Scout organization is glad to undertake it in return for a donation of some sort to the organization. In this case printed clips for name, address and telephone number should be distributed to the canvassers.

Fifth. From the telephone book. This is a fairly accurate guide to substantial people and within periods of publication (three or four times a year) is up to date. If a neighborhood list is desired thecom piler may run down the telephone number column, skipping all but the local exchange. It's a process that's somewhat tedious, but it yields a big list, with the phone numbers as well as addresses. Of course, the classified sections of the directories speak for themselves. They are ready made.

Sixth. Through newspaper advertisements. If the merchant is able to offer any inducements to prospects convincing them why they should be on his mailing list there is no better way to announce it than in a newspaper advertisement. This will bring in a list of genuinely interested ones.

Seventh. From membership lists of clubs, lodges and societies.

Eighth. From canvassers who also "sell" the store. If the right salesmen are available to put one or two of them at work steadily over an extended period in a house-to-house canvass. They make no attempt to take any order, unless the prospects themselves suggest it they simply ask for names and make some brief suggestions to the prospect as to reasons she might find it profitable to deal with the merchant in question.

Ninth. From the State Highway Department. A list of automobile owners may often be secured from this source.

Tenth. From the local librarian.

CANADA'S FUTURE DEPENDS ON LOAN

Steady Employment and Prosperity Hangs on Victory Loan.

Canada's future prosperity depends to a great extent upon the success of the Victory Loan. No country can exist upon trade within its own boundaries. Canada counts on the trade with Great Britain and other allied countries to keep the flood of good times in the country.

The surplus products of the farm and the factory find their way across the seas. The revenue of the farmer and the manufacturer is dependent on this trade relationship being sustained. The employment of many hands depends on the orders that come to the firm. The pay envelope only comes with steady employment.

Great Britain and overseas countries are still desirous of continuing trade relations, but, overwhelmed with war expenses, they must be given credits for the time being. The farmer and the manufacturer must be paid for their products and manufactured articles in cash. Therefore, Canada must finance the proposition to keep the tide of commerce coming this way. But in order to have the money on hand to do this great thing Canada must borrow from her people.

The Victory Loan offers bonds to subscribers paying 5½ per cent. interest. The guarantee behind the bonds makes them an absolutely safe investment. Victory Bonds are accepted as collateral at any bank, and can easily be turned into money at a profit. It is then to the interests of every Canadian to subscribe for all the Victory Bonds he can, for it is profitable, it is patriotic, and it is necessary for the continued prosperity of the country.

CANADA NEEDS MONEY

War Expenditures Still to Be Met From Proceeds of Victory Loan.

The war is over and won; but Canada's main expenditures for war will not be complete until well on into 1920. The $610,000,000 raised last year has all been spent, $400,000,000 having been largely devoted to soldiers, for providing markets, for our surplus products, for the needs of reconstruction. And that is why another Victory Loan is necessary. Canada still needs money, and needs it badly.

A Good Investment.

Speculation is one thing. Investment is another. The majority of citizens want an investment, not a speculation. And they want a safe investment. Victory Bonds fill that requirement as does no other investment. Because behind every bond there is the national wealth of Canada— a wealth so great that it staggers the imagination.

Canadian Bank Clearings.

That Canada is well able to support the Victory Loan is clearly shown by the Canadian bank clearings for the current year. They indicate that the year's total will exceed $16,000,000,000 compared with $13,776,000,000 in 1918. And the year's total clearings should be three times those of 1909.

Must Subscribe More

Dividing the people of Canada into three classes — the comparatively poor, the moderately wealthy, and the very wealthy — it would seem that if contributions to the Victory Loans constitute service to the nation, the moderately wealthy class is hardly doing its share. Of the money subscribed to the Victory Loan 1918, two hundred and seventy-one million dollars were in bonds of $1,000 and under, ninety-four millions in bonds of between $5,000 and $20,000, and three hundred and one millions in bonds of $25,000 and over.

Be true to yourself. Buy Victory Bonds.

You did it before. You can do it again. Buy Victory Bonds.

Canada pledged her last man and her last dollar. Redeem that pledge in Victory Bonds.

If the fighting were still raging, you wouldn't hesitate to buy Victory Bonds.

To make the Victory Loan a success is a national obligation. It may be that you are the deciding factor.

If you are concerned about the future welfare of Canada, buy a Victory Bond and make it a sure thing.

Don't forget the future of your children. Lay a good foundation with a Victory Bond.

Would you lend a soldier $50 if you knew it would save his life? Buy Victory Bonds and keep the military hospitals up.

If you appreciate a good investment you will buy a Victory Bond.

You deceive no one but yourself when you say you can't afford a Victory Bond.

Maple Products.

Reports from various maple districts in Eastern Canada show that the maple products this year will beat all records. The makers of maple sugar and syrup in Canada exceed 45,000. About 550,000 acres of land are being reserved in their natural wooded state, of which two-thirds are situate in the Province of Quebec. The Eastern Townships of Quebec are the centre of the world's supply of maple products. Maple syrup is rapidly becoming known in Great Britain as a table delicacy, while maple sugar is finding favor as a sweetmeat.

Loans to Soldiers.

The latest figures given out by the Soldier Settlement Board show that up till the 26th of July the board had approved 6,620 loans, aggregating $21,311,425.

The figures of the agricultural training branch of the board indicate that 25,722 applications had been received, of which 19,558 had been approved.

The greatest activity, of course, is in the four western provinces. Alberta reports 6,312 applications; Saskatchewan, 5,683; British Columbia, 4,428; Manitoba, 4,191.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS

Best Wishes Follow Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fife to Peterborough.

On Tuesday evening last at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fife, in Otonabee, the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Kidd assembled to say farewell to them on the eve of their removal to Peterborough.

As a token of the esteem with which Mr. and Mrs. Kidd are held, they were asked to accept an address of appreciation accompanied by a handsome desk reading lamp and a gold embossed umbrella.

The address was read by Mrs. Alven Davis and the presentation made by Mr. Pallin.

Mr. and Mrs. Kidd were taken completely by surprise but replied in suitable terms, expressing regret at severing connections with Indian River.

After refreshments, the evening was spent very pleasantly with music and games.

The best wishes of a host of friends follow Mr. and Mrs. Kidd on entering into a new sphere of work and a new circle of friends.

DREAM RESULTS IN A SERIOUS INJURY

GUELPH RESIDENT FALLS FROM WINDOW AND IS TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Guelph, Oct. 27.—Suffering from serious internal injuries received when he either jumped or fell from a second storey window at his residence, Mr. Adam Taylor, secretary-treasurer of the Taylor Forbes Co., lies in a critical condition at the General Hospital. The injuries from which Mr. Taylor is suffering were received in a peculiar manner and while he was in his sleep. He retired to bed shortly after midnight and some time later dreamed there were burglars in the house. In his sleep he jumped out of bed, and after going through the hall, rushed into his daughter's room and either fell or jumped out of the window to the ground below.

When discovered Mr. Taylor had recovered consciousness and was able to tell what had happened Mrs. Taylor and her two daughters assisted him to the house and med[illegible] The injured man lapsed into unconsciousness several times and at ten o'clock it was decided to remove him to the General Hospital, where it was discovered Mr. Taylor was suffering from grave internal injuries, and little hope was entertained for his recovery. An operation was performed this afternoon and the latest report is that there is a chance for his recovery.

WAR-TIME PROHIBITION ENDS AFTER PEACE TREATY IS RATIFIED

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Oct. 28.—War time prohibition will be brought to an end by presidential proclamation immediately after the Senate ratifies the German peace treaty, it was said today at the White House.

In President's Hands

If the Senate re-passes the Enforcement bill over the President's veto the country will be dry until the issuance of a presidential decree fixing the end of war-time emergency during which the measure was to remain in operation. After the President issues such a decree the country will be wet until the constitutional amendment goes into effect on Jan. 16 next.

SAFE-BLOWERS ARRESTED

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 28.—Chance discovery of several acetylene tanks in an alley adjacent to the Colonial Theatre on Woodward Avenue early today by detectives stopped an attempt to blow the theatre safe, and resulted in the arrest of four men who the police declare have done several safe blowing jobs in the city recently. One of the men arrested is Arthur McCafferty, 39 years old, Sandwich, Ont.

Officers were passing on their rounds when they noticed the tank lying in the alley. They waited until one of the gang came out and arrested him, after which Detective Rhodes donned the man's coat and hat, entered via a skylight as had the robbers and arrested the other three.

The most recent robbery attributed to the quartett is that at the Standard Laundry last week when $150 was taken after the doors of the safe had been melted off with oxy acetylene blow pipes.

Lloyd King, Amherst, N. S., convicted of killing Lewis Crosman, of Tidnish, in a quarrel, was sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary.

Manitoba's Plan to Limit Prescriptions Not Workable Here.

Toronto, Oct. 29.—Officials of the Ontario License Commission are doubtful of the practicability of the plan to be adopted in Manitoba, under which physicians will be permitted to prescribe liquor only for their regular patients. "Every patient must be a new one some time," observed W. E. Dingman, vice-chairman of the board. "And no doubt there have been a lot of new ones since the Manitoba Temperance Act came into force?"

"Yes, perhaps."

The Ontario License Commission have requested the co-operation of physicians in restricting the issuing of prescriptions, and have warned those believed to have issued so many, in a few cases resorting to more drastic measures but they have not considered such a project as that adopted in Manitoba.

When They Went Away Singing "Tipperary"

In those brave days of '14 and '15, they were indeed the idols of the Nation. To their support Canada brought all that the weight of money could bring.

And when they came to the furnace of their testing, we acclaimed them proudly as of no common clay.

"Tipperary" is forgotten, swept like a butterfly caught in a tornado or a catch of song in the throat of death. But Ypres, St. Eloi, Vimy, Hill 70, Passchaendale, Cambrai and Mons have placed its singers among the Immortals.

In these brave days—that to some of us are still but of yesterday—Canada proclaimed herself in the fight to the last man and to the last dollar.

Well has man played his fighting part. It is our Dollar that must now redeem the pledge.

To make the Victory Loan a success is a National obligation.

If the fighting were still raging you wouldn't hesitate to invest.

Be thankful then that it is ended, and be glad that your part now is but to lend money to pay the Debts of Honour.

The spirit that moved you to buy Victory Bonds one year ago and two years ago should impel you to buy them again.

But even if you suppress that spirit—grant that you may not—the material advantage of the investment cannot fail to appeal to your good common sense.

Think of it. The peerless security of a mighty nation—a nation at peace—the great uncertainty of war past—and 5½% interest. Where can you find its equal?

Whichever way you look at it, if you are true to yourself you must

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OF RAILWAYS WOULD RESULT IN STARVATION

United States Congressman Warns the Nation of the Danger of Taking Over Public Utilities, Coal Mines Included

Washington, Oct 29.—Representative George N Young of North Dakota, who represents an agricultural constituency and has taken a leading part in fighting the battles of the farmers of the northwest, has taken a strong stand against the Plumb plan for the nationalization of the railroads.

Mr. Young has been somewhat alarmed to notice the effect of agitation for the scheme among the farmers of his part of the country.

"When the plumb plan is mentioned one is apt to think of it as applied only to the goverment ownership of railways. It is proposed to apply it ao so many industries. The coal miners have declared for it, and in the meantime are threatening to strike if they are not granted a six-hour day, a five day week, time and a half for overtime, double time for Sundays, and on top of all, a 60 per cent. increase in wages. That is their notion of how much they should do and how much they should be paid, and, presumably, if they are to get complete control of the coal industry, by means of the Plumb plan, they would give themselves that kind of a layout, provided in the meantime their notions of pay and hours of labor had not become more pronounced.

"The world will starve to death if placed upon the six hour day. That is why it is economically unsound. Do you suppose for a minute that hired men are going to stay on the farm to work 12 hours a day when they can get more money by working 6 hours per day plus two holidays each week in the town or city? How are you going to keep them from going to the cities after the millennium has been established in the transportation and manufacturing industries?

"And will the owners remain on the farm? Already there is a decided movement upon the part of farm labor to the cities, and already the owners are facing an era of falling prices for their products and increased costs in every direction. Owners of farms are leaving them even when they cannot find tenants. They say they can make more as workers in manufacturing plants.

"The Plumb plan has no place in this republic. This is a government of, by and for the people, the whole people. Mr. Plumb proposes that the government shall buy industries and turn them over for the benefit of a certain class. It is unsound. It is un-American. It will, among others, ruin the farmers. When they are all enticed from the farms to the cities by big wages and short hours and the farms are deserted they and their Plumb-plan brothers will die of hunger.

"Farmers never strike. They will not do so. But if the Plumb plan in industry prevails, one by one they will nail boards over the windows of their homes and quietly leave the farms. When that time comes the truth may dawn upon the people of the Plumb variety, if they survive the calamity brought upon themselves and their fellowmen."

To see the healthy bloom in your face, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, to wake up without a headache, backache, coated tongue or a nasty breath, in fact to feel your best, day in and day out, just try inside bathing every morning for a week.

Before breakfast each day, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it as a harmless means of washing from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases and acidity and gives one a fine appetite for breakfast.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate that those who are subject to constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, rheumatic twinges or whose skin is sallow or pallid, that one week of inside bathing will have them looking and feeling better every way.

WIFE KILLS HUSBAND

Pair Quarrelled Over Where They Should Make Their Home

New Orleans, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Rae Houston, a native of Memphis, shot and killed her husband, F. R. Houston, formerly of Chicago, in a rooming house here yesterday. She then turned the pistol on herself, inflicting a wound which hospital authorities said probably would prove fatal.

The police stated the shooting followed a quarrel, the couple being unable to agree as to whether they would make their home in the north or south. Mrs. Houston told the police her husband tried to poison her.

BRITISH OFFICERS FEIGNED MADNESS

ONE METHOD OF WINNING WAY TO FREEDOM—PRISONERS IN TURKEY

An amazing human document of the war will shortly be in the hands of the public in the form of a volume relating the experiences of Lieut. E H. Jones and Lieut. C. W. Hill, who were taken prisoners by the Turks and won their way to freedom by feigning madness under the most critical scrutiny of the leading Turkish alienists for a period of seven months. The story is authenticated in every detail.

Lieut. Jones, who is a son of Sir Henry Jones, professor of moral philosophy, of Glasgow University, began to amuse his fellow-prisoners by pretended demonstrations in spiritualism. He so impressed the camp commandant that the latter appealed to him for assistance to unearth a buried treasure supposed to be hidden in the neighborhood.

Ultimately the two officers were sent down to Constantinople under suspicion of shamming. On the way down they pretended to attempt to hang themselves, and because of the failure of an accomplice they very nearly succeeded.

Jones pretended to be affected with general paralysis of the insane, and Hill with religious melancholia, and altogether they passed successfully through the hands of about a dozen doctors who had the preconcieved notion that they were shamming.

The spiritualist fraud runs through the whole volume, and its piquncy is enhanced by the fact that it is designated to be a reply to the views of Sir Oliver Lodge and Sir A. Conan Doyle on spiritualism.

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR BREAKFAST

The Fear of Indigestion Often Prompts One to Start the Day Wrong. Eat What You Like, Take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet And You're Safe.

Breakfast offers many of the most savory dishes of all the things we eat. And yet more people than otherwise go without breakfast save a roll and cup of coffee for fear of indigestion. If you like a fried egg, or some buckwheat or sausage for breakfast go to it and follow with a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet. You'll have no trouble. The average person who neglects breakfast will be hungry before noon. Most men smoke to kill the appetite, or munch on something to carry on till lunch time. An empty stomach under these conditions is not storing up energy but on the contrary, is susceptible to many influences that may work hardship for the next meal.

It is advisable to eat three good meals a day and digest them. If the stomach seems to be weak, to help it or give it assistance is the rational thing to do. Try a good breakfast and follow it with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and you'll soon learn that regularity of meals follows a natural tendency, not an acquired one. You will find Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets on sale in almost all drug stores throughout the United States and Canada.

TWO PIRATES WHO WORE THE SKIRTS

ANNEY BONNEY AND MARY READ CAPTURED IN CARIBBEAN SEA.

There have been only two women pirates—Anne Bonney and Mary Read, who were captured in the Caribbean Sea a little over a century ago and charged with "having piratical tendencies," says Tit-Bits.

At her trial Anne Bonney confessed her reason for becoming a pirate. The daughter of a Cork planter, she was disowned by her father for marrying a common sailor. After the elopement and marriage—she ran away dressed in male attire—she discovered that her husband was a pirate, and decided to join him in his adventures.

From her childhood days the garb of man had always had a fascination for her, and when she joined her husband in his piratical voyage she donned the full dress of the bold buccaneer.

None but her husband was aware of her sex or identity. She took rank above her men comrades and obtained a high reputation for courage.

The manner in which she met Mary Read, the only other woman pirate known to history, is curious in the extreme and makes fascinating reading. Mary Read was on another pirate ship, and, as often happens, the two came to blows on the open sea.

After a terrific combat the ship on which Anne Bonney was sailing admitted defeat, and among the boarders was Mary Read.

Although at first each was ignorant of the sex of the other, the two female pirates became fast friends. They only found each other out when Mary Read began to fall in love with Anne Bonney's husband.

Even this, however, did not impair the mutual feelings of friendliness, for Mary Read soon married another man who was also a pirate.

Curiously enough the two women became widows at the same time; this was during an engagement when the ship flying the skull and cross-bones had perforce to flee before one of his Britannic Majesty's schooners.

The piratical careers of these women plunderers ended in an engagement with a British ship, which went disastrously against them. Mary Read died in prison, and Anne Bonney, who had several people to plead for her, was restored to her family.

GERMANY'S OUTLOOK IS FAR FROM GLOOMY

HAS SUFFICIENT FOOD AND RAW MATERIAL—BUT SELLING TOO CHEAP

Berlin, Oct. 29.—Germany's economic prospects are more favorable, the country being provisioned with corn, meats, vegetables and fish for a long time to come, according to a statement made by Herr Schmidt, Minister of Economics, who reviewed the situation before the National Assembly here yesterday.

Difficulties are recurring, however, in connection with the importation of raw materials, he said, and Germany was declared to be selling its products too cheaply abroad. The Minister foreshadowed a control of prices in order that a continuance of this condition might be prevented. Germany's principal anxiety, Herr Schmidt declared, was a shortage of coal.

TOOK BANK ROLLS FROM HIS FRIENDS

HENRY CRONK ROBBED COMPANIONS WHO SHARED ROOM WITH HIM

Toronto, Oct. 28.—For stealing over $400 from two friends, bota returned soldiers, Henry Cronk was sentenced to 18 months in jail by Judge Widdifield in the Criminal Court.

Cronk, who originally came from Belleville, met David Walker and C Prince Edward County, while on a visit to the city on September 18 last. The trio spent a couple of days together, mostly pool. Prisoner slept over night with the other two in their room in a downtown hotel. Early in the morning, upon awakening, they discovered both Cronk and their bank rolls missing. All three occupied one bed.

Cronk denied the story in giving evidence on his own behalf. Manning lost about $340 and Walker $85 mostly their army gratuities. No trace of the money was found.

PREM. HUGHES ASKS RELEASE OF PRIEST

FATHER O'DONNELL HELD IN IRELAND ON CHARGE OF DISLOYALTY.

Melbourne, Australia, Oct. 29.—Premier Hughes has sent a cable message to Lord Milner, Secretary for the Colonies, asking for the release of Father O'Donnell, the Australian chaplain, who was arrested October 18 on the charge of traitorous and disloyal language and was ordered turned over to the Australian military authorities for court-martial.

Premier Hughes declares that during the war, by words and deeds Father O'Donnell proved himself a patriot.

At Dublin on Saturday the King's Bench refused a writ of habeas corpus in the case of Father O'Donnell.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder troubles you.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

DID FRENCH LOSE HIS HEAD?

Writer of War's Official History Fears Such to Have Happened

London, Oct. 28.— John William Fortescue, who is writing the official history of the war, has contributed to the Quarterly Review articles dealing with controversy regarding Field Marshal Viscount French when he had command of the forces in France.

"The fact, we fear, is," says Mr. Fortescue, "that on the 26th. September, 1914, Lord French and his staff had completely lost their heads, and that in a vain endeavor to conceal this he has taken leave of all sense of accuracy."

Two young men arrested in an empty cottage about three miles from Goderich, are suspected of being O'Brien and McPherson, who escaped from Stratford jail.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

WRITING WILL BE TAUGHT TO MUSIC

EXPERIMENTS OF BORN MUSICIAN FINDS FAVOR WITH SCHOOL INSPECTOR

Toronto schools are about to enter upon a new era in the subject of penmanship. Not that they are going back to the old "back-hand" movement, or intend to introduce the "shading" system again. No, this time the innovation is in the method of teaching.

Some four years ago, Miss Munn of Deer Park School, a born musician, and very successful in experimental work, [illegible] plan of her own. Instead of counting time for her little primary and kindergarten-primary folk to write to, she played the piano, to which they kept time with their pens and pencils. The movement grew, and the children became good writers because they loved the novelty of writing to music, and, incidentally, the ear-training was an untold benefit to them.

At the recent teachers' convention J. Milner Dorey, of Trenton N.J., demonstrated the grafonola for class work and writing as one of the subjects recommended as best lending itself to the voice of the machine. Before a mass meeting of teachers, Principal Mason, of Deer Park School, taught three classes—second, third and fourth grade. By putting on a record with suitable time for the mixed classes, Principal Mason was able to walk around the room and give added instructions, comment upon their work and give personal suggestions.

The results were amazing. Though the Deer Park pupils are well acquainted with this music method, the little practise class had not tried it before and were delighted. There was no monotony, and far into the noon hour the children wrote joyfully and well. The teachers present were delighted, and it is very likely that the use of the grafonola in the schools will be universally adopted, and not for writing only.

"It is one innovation well worth while," declared Inspector Mosher, of District Three, and he voices the opinion of teachers and fellow-inspectors.

HISSED AMERICAN FLAG

Fiume Theatre Audience Shouts "Down With President Wilson."

Fiume, Oct. 28.—The United States flag was hissed when it was unfurled last evening in the Phoenician theater here, and when "The Star Spangled Banner" was played by the orchestra the audience cried:

"Down with America!! Down With Wilson! Long live greater Italy and Fiume-"

Several scores of American sailors who were present and stood up, when the American national anthem was played also were hissed and sluring remarks were directed at them.

The demonstration occurred when an English company presented a "parade of the allies," in which the appearance of the Italians only was applauded.

Jas. Lamabo, an employe of the Canadian Yale and Towne plant at St. Catharines, was instantly killed by a street car.

Harry Brooks and Percy Shields were drowned in Kenogami Lake, Cobalt, when their canoe filled with water and sank.

Henri Roch, aged 20, of Montreal, was accidentally shot in the head by his father while they were hunting together, and is in a serious condition.

IT IS BETTER TO PAY THE PRICE than PAY THE PENALTY

In our Prescription Department it is not exactly our aim to fill your prescription at the cheapest rate, but rather to use the best drugs and chemicals money can buy, and charge a reasonable amount for material that is certain to have the effect, for which the prescription is written. This is well worthy of your consideration, and a Dime or a Dollar does not weigh in the balance with inert or inferior ingredients used in a prescription.

ALLIANCE IN ACCORD WITH MR. BURNHAM

BELIEVES THAT BILLS LESS HIS AMENDMENT ARE NOT SUFFICIENT

Mr. J. H. Burnham wires from Ottawa to The Review as follows:

I have received enclosed in a letter to me, advance sheets of the statement of the Dominion Alliance regarding the Prohibition bills now before the House and specially to be considered. The Alliance protests against these bills in the strongest terms, characterizing them as dangerous and tricky. These are the bills to which my now celebrated amendment refers.

In the face of the Alliance protest I cannot see how the Government bills can go on. Although I intend to vote for the Government Prohibition bills, even if they reject my amendment, it is edifying to find that the Alliance is practically of the same opinion regarding them, viz., that they are insufficient. If we are bound to a thing, let us do it as the people want it, fully and honestly.

GIRLS! A MASS OF WAVY, GLEAMY BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Let "Danderine" save and glorify your hair

In a few moments you can transform your plain, dull, flat hair. You can have it abundant, soft, glossy and full of life. Just get at any drug or toilet counter a small bottle of "Danderine" for a few cents. Then moisten a soft cloth with the Danderine and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Instantly, yes, immediately, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will be a mass, so soft, lustrous, fluffy and so easy to do up. All dust, dirt and excessive oil is removed.

Let Danderine put more life, color, vigor and brightness in your hair. This stimulating tonic will freshen your scalp, check dandruff and falling hair, and help your hair to grow long, thick, strong and beautiful.

CONVICTED OF SLAYING NUN

Woman Committed Crime Twelve Years Ago—Gets Life Term.

Leland, Mihc, Oct. 28.—The maximum penalty of the Michigan law—life imprisonment at hadr labor—was imposed on Mrs. Stanislaw Lypchinski today, followed her conviction in Circuit court on a charge of slying Sister Mary John, a Felician nun, at the convent of Isadore, near here, more then twelve years ago. It was generally beleived that the nun had become lost in a swamp in the course of a walk through the woods. Last spring, however, Jacob Fiess, sexton at the convent, made affidavits that he had helped transfer human bones from a shallow grave beneath the convent to a near cemetery. The bones were exhumed and with them were found pieces of the habiliments of a nun.

WHITE WOMAN SLAIN BY NEGRO

STABBED TO DEAH ON BRANTFORD STREET IN DAYLIGHT YESTERDAY

DEATH WAS INSTANTANEOUS

TRAVELLER BEAT MURDERER INSENSIBLE PENDING ARRIVAL OF THE POLICE

Brantford, Oct. 28—A brutal murder was committed on Market street here this evening at 4:45 when Geo. Jones, colored, stabbed to death Mrs. Arthur Giles, an English woman, resident at 117 Market street. The fatal affray folowed extentions by the colored man to Mrs. Giles and as alleged by the police an elopement which took place six weeks ago. Men, women and children along the thoroughfare witnessed the stabbing, while Jones was beaten down by an eye witness with an umbrella as his only weapon.

The murder was a most vicous one. Jones first went about 4:30, to the boarding house at 117 Market Street, of Mrs. Giles and family, went upstairs and there threatened in the presence of the daughter to take the life of the mother. The daughter, aged 18 years, showed fight. In the meantime Mrs. Giles made her escape and ran across the road. She was closely followed by Jones, who ran with an eight-inch knife outstretched and racing his victim on the sidewalk stabbed her several times. Death was almost instantaneous and the body was left stretched across the sidewalk pending the arrival of the coroner, Dr. Fisette.

Beat Negro Insensible

Roy Thornton, a local traveler, was an eye-witness to the whole affair and taking his umbrella he beat Jones into insensibility, then the police arrived and Jones was taken to the County Jail and placed in the hospital ward, his injuries having been severe.

The police tonight, fearing trouble, would not announce where Jones had been taken, merely stating that he was in safe custody.

The victim was an English woman of about 38 years of age. She had three children and her husband was employed at the Waterous Engine Works Company. He stated tonight that Jones had given his family a lot of trouble, while the police announced that a warrant had been issued for the arrest of Jones, who was alleged to have run away with Mrs. Giles. Since her return, Jones had threatened to shoot her, and the husband fearing trouble had commenced to save sufficient money wherewith to take his family away from Brantford. In two weeks, he said, he would have been able to do so.

Coroner Fisette ordered a jury of be empaneled and the jurors met tonight and adjourned.

The case was generally viewed as a clear one of murder. It was commited in broad daylight, many women, children and men being eye-witnesses to the affair.

COSTLY TO AUSTRIA

False Report of Armistice Caused Capture of Thousands.

Vienna, Oct. 29. — Major-General Arz von Straussenburg, chief of staff of the Austro-Hungarian army in the final stages of the war, and Field Marshal von Waldstaten, chief of the division of operations, appeared today before the commission appointed to investigate delinquencies of military officers during the war. They were examined particularly regarding the circumstances under which a premature armistice report was circulated thirty-six hours before the armistice was actually signed. This false report resulted in the capture by the Italians of several hundred thousand Austrian troops.

MUTT AND JEFF'S LATEST SUCESS

DON'T MISS THEIR EXPLOITS AND FROLICS IN "LAND OF DREAMS."

An opportunity for universal rejoicing which invariably attends the announcement of a new Mutt and Jeff play will in all probability be enhanced by the fact that these two renowned personages of cartoon fame are to appear at the Grand on Saturday matinee and evening. On this occasion the locale of their latest exploits and frolics is the "Land of Dreams" which should open a valve for endless opportunities for some of the best fun the public has been able to witness in many a day. Critics all over the country have proclaimed the production one of the best that Manager Gus Hill has arranged since he took the pair of popular 'Bud' Fisher comics and presented them upon the stage. For three acts they are permitted to run riot with the result that their antics and foolery forms almost three hours of irresistable screams, mirth and unadulterated laughter. From start to finish the fun is fast and furious. In fact one is bound to laughwhether they wish to or not — quite an achievement in these days of profiteering, high taxes and the like.

The company is composed of a select cast. This includes a champion beauty chorus of prettw girls who can both sing and dance. The music comprises twenty song hits, while there is an attractive array of inimitable specialties, surprise features and novelties. "Mutt and Jeff's Dream" is the title of this extraordinary conglomeration of melody, singing, dancing and hilarity.

NORWOOD OUT TO MAINTAIN RECORD MADE IN PREVIOUS LOAN CAMPAIGN

Rousing Meeting at That Flourishing Village Last Night Addressed by Col. Birdsall, Geo. J. Sherry, E. N. McDonald M. L. A.-Elect, J. G. Campazzie and Organizer Fry

Norwood, Oct. 29.— Norwood has made up its mind, judging from the enthusiastic meeting held here last night in the town hall, to even better the remarkable record of subscriptions made by the Norwood people to the Victory Loan of 1918. Col. Birdsall was chairman.

That Norwood's allotment of the 1919 Victory Loan will be greatly over subscribed is a foregone conclusion. Every purchaser yast year will purchase this year, and those who failed to buy in 1918 will not make the same mistake in 1919.

In a masterly, lucid and thorough going explanation of the 1919 Victory Loan, its purpose and objects, Mr. G. J. Sherry held the intense interest of his audience and made so clear to his hearers the unquestionable desirability of the 1919 loan, both from self-interest and from patriotic standpoint, that if their were any in the audience who had not made up their minds to purchase the bonds to the limits of their power, Mr. G. J. Sherry's explanation convinced them.

The peaker prefaced his remarks by recalling to his audience, the fact that he had one time been a resident of Norwood and spoke of his interest in seeing his old home town maintain the high standard set for it in previous campaigns.

Mr. J. G. Campazzie, next speaker, expressed his pleasure in having an opportunity to address as chairman of the Publicity Committee for Peterborough County, the people of Norwood on the subject of Victory Loan. Norwood's record had been such an exceptional one that the speaker felt as though he was carrying coals to Newcastle; as the people of Norwood by their high percapita buying in previous loans had evidenced a very clear appreciation of the value of these securities. One point that the speaker felt should be particularly dwelt upon, was the necessity of a clear understanding on the part of the general public of the fact that Victory Bonds are as liquid as currency.

Good as Ready Cash.

Unfortunately there were some who still believed that when they bought a Victory Bond, that their money was tied up until the maturity date of the bond, and this idea hindered many subscribers from investing to the extent that they would have other wise. The speaker made it clear, that a 1919 Victory Bond, for instance a $100 bond,, was just as available as currency ten-ten dollar bills, and that in addition to this the high rate of interest of 5 1-2 must be taken into account. Investors should bear in mind also that Victory Bonds will appreciate their value and that judging from the current prices of former issues that 1919 Victory Bonds would be selling within 6 or 8 months at a premium of 5.6 or even 7 per cent. on par price. This, bear in mind, in addition to the interest.

Of the security behind the bonds the speaker emphasized that the whole wide Dominion of Canada, the resources of which had hardly been scratched on the surface; the whole assets of this great Dominion and its people were pledged to make good these bonds.

As to the ability of Canadians to finance this loan within Canada itself, Mr. Campazzie pointed out that whereas on August 1st. 1911, there were deposits in Canadian Banks at the rate of $123.00 per capita, that on September 1st, 1919 there was on deposit in Canadian banks drawing 3 per cent interest, $1,781,000,000 or a per capita deposit of $221.00. What was even more remarkable was the fact that during the five year period covered by these figures that Canadian people had bought $1,400,000,000 worth of Canada's war and victory bonds.

As Mr. Sherry had clearly gone into the purposes of the loan, the speaker would not dwell on this phase of the work, except to recall to the minds of his hearers that the debt that civilization owed to Britain was one that could never be repaid, that we, as Canadians should grasp the opportunity to assist England in every possible way in our power and particularly in the case, by subscribing to the loan and so make possible the financing of credits to the ex tent required. Let the fact always be before us that Britain and the British army and particularly the British navy were the two real reasons that German burgomasters were not ruling things throughout the civilized world.

East Peterboro New Legislator.

Mr. E. N. McDonald, M. P. P. in a brief address endorsing the loan assuerd his hearers that every would be done in so far as he and his associates were concerned to push the loan to the utmost. This is a task that Canada had to do and a task that Canada would be proud to do.

In closing the meeting Mr. Harold Fry dwelt on the wonderful record made by Norwood and expressed the confident hope that last year's figures would be surpassed.

That the G. W. V. A. Association hold heartily given its support in the endorsement to the work of selling the Victory Bonds in Norwood and vicinities was a source of much gratification to Mr. Fry and his coworkers and this augured for the overwhelming success of the campaign in Norwood.

Col. Birdsall, in bringing the meeting to a close , requested his hearers to consider carefully their duty as Canadians, but expressed the confident knowledge that the motives that would actuate the purchasers of bonds in Norwood, would be inspired by that high patriotism that has always been characteristic of the people of that section.

The singing of "God Save the King" brought the meeting to a close.

Canals In Finland.

Besides the railways, the canals are very important for communication in Finland, especially the Saima Canal, which is equipped with 28 sluices and has a length of 68 kilometers. This canal connects the big lake system of Saima and the sea. The total value of the canals is estimated at 100,000,000 marks

Comprehensive.

English rector (to parishioner)—Good morning, Thompson. I hear you have a son and heir. Parishioner—Yes, sir; our household now represents the United Kingdom. Rector—How so? Parishioner—Why, you see, I am English, my wife's Irish, the nurse is Scotch, and the baby wails.

Las Vegas Has Future.

Las Vegas was founded by some Mexicans when New Mexico was a part of old Mexico, in 1835, and the Mexican government granted to the new community an area of some 400,000 acres. The Mexicans took up what they needed of this land and built a village in the middle of the settlement. It remained a sleepy Mexican town until some time in the seventies, when it was struck simultaneously by several Yankees and Jews, and by a wave of prosperity.

The Mexicans, who had been squatting on a part of the community grant, showed that they were capable of learning modern business methods by claiming the whole 400,000 acres. After a long contest the courts confirmed them in their titles to the lands they actually occupied, but decided that the rest of the area belonged to the community. And so it is today. This town owns great grazing areas, which are open to all citizens, and valuable timberlands. Ultimately Las Vegas will be rich and her people tax free.

The Essential.

The new doorkeeper at the museum turnstile had learned the book of rules by heart before taking over the job.

"Here, sir, you must leave your umbrella at the door," he said to a visitor who had failed to hand over that article.

"But I haven't an umbrella," the visitor pleaded.

"Then you must go back and get one," said the doorkeeper. "No one is allowed to pass in here unless he leaves his umbrella at the door."—Ex.

PROSPERITY IN EMERALD ISLE

AND PEOPLE HOARD WEALTH

MILITARY OCCUPATION HAS ADVANTAGES FROM STANDPOINT OF TRADE

Dublin. The prosperity of Ireland is shown in the bank returns, writes Jay G. Hayden, a C. S. journalist here. Bank deposits have increased during the war from $320,000,000 to $580,000,000 in spite of the fact that Ireland has this year contributed $150,000,000 in taxation to the British Government in comparison with less than $60,000,000 in 1914. Irish bankers declare that the bank deposits would be much larger but for the tendency of the people to hoard their accumulated wealth at home in the fear that, if they put it into the banks, the British Government will in some manner contrive to take it away from them

Economic Result.

The chief economic result of the continued governmental clash between Ireland and England and Ulster, during the war period, was to leave South Ireland all of her hands and permit her to profiteer "with good conscience." Britain fixed the prices at which she would purchase Irish grain and horses and cattle, so she could scarcely complain that these prices were too high. Nor was it to be expected, under the circumstances, that the Irish farmer would protest he was being overpaid.

Has Its Advantages.

Even a military occupation has its advantages from the standpoint of trade. One of the great complaints of Ireland has always been that taxes collected in Great Britain are spent in Great Britain, whereas taxes collected in Ireland have likewise been spent in large part in Great Britain This does not hold, however, with respect to the 100,000 British soldiers now in Ireland. These must be fed and housed and the materials and labor required in the keeping of them must needs be bought chiefly in Ireland. Then the Irish garrison draws pay at a minimum rate of a pound sterling a week from 6the British exchequer and the soldiers spend this money in large part with Irish merchants. The cost of maintaining the Irish army of occupation, exclusive of the police, was stated in the House of Commons recently to be 355,000,000 annually. At that time the army of occupation totalled 60,000; the cost now is much higher It is certain that there will be some sad tradesmen mingled with the throng which will celebrate the withdrawal of British troops from Ireland, if this much sought after event ever comes to pass.

Dodge Income Tax.

Whereas all Europe is trembling under the burden of debt which the war has left, Ireland has found an excuse, satisfactory to its own conscience at least, to avoid accepting any responsibility for this burden Irishmen dodge the British income tax and other direct war levies, as far as possible, and comfort themselves for the taxes they are forced to pay with the thought that they are at least forcing Britain to spend in Ireland a large part of the money collected.

Tricks of Tropic Plants.

That plants eat and drink in their own way through the soil is a well-known fact. But in South America is a species of orchid which takes a drink whenever it feels thirsty simply by letting down a tube into the water. When not in use, the tube is coiled up on the top of the plant.

In Mexico there is a plant that likes to change its attire three times a day just like any fastidious person —it is white in the morning, red at noon, and blue in the evening. At times it gives out a very strong perfume, and at other times it is absolutely odorless. There is another odd Mexican plant, the odor of which causes people to lose their way and makes their sense of direction nil until the smell ceases.

Central India owns a tree whose leaves are heavily charged with electricity and merely to touch them gives a person a distinct shock. In Brazil similar electric power is put to lighting purposes. Within the immediate vicinity of such a plant a person can see well enough to read the finest print and another is so luminous that it can be plainly distinguished in the darkest nights for a distance of more than a mile.

But the most wonderfully constituted plant of Brazil is the ball-throwing one. It is a small fungus about the size of a pea which projects a ball to a distance of several inches with a distinctly audible report.

Precious Metals.

Ontario, which has already produced 300,000,000 ounces of silver, and has the greatest gold mines in Canada, continues to make progress as a mineral producer. The total production of the Nipissing mine last year was 50,000,000 ounces of silver. The total dividends paid since the first payment in 1906 amount to almost $18,000,000.

Victory Loan 1919 Is Bridge Between War and Peace.

Agricultural and Industrial Prosperity of Canada Depends on Success of the Loan.

Why is it necessary to have another Victory Loan? Have you heard this query? Or have you asked it?

The Victory Loan of this year stands out as the bridge between war and peace. The war is over. Our boys won that. The reconstruction period is dawning and we at home must win that.

Much of the money that Canada is asking for will be needed to clean up the war debt. The expenses of demobilization were heavy, and there is still much of it unpaid. Now that our men are back, let it not be said that we repudiated the debt for bringing them back.

The sick and wounded soldiers still in hospitals are expecting that Canada will care for them and their dependents until they have been returned to health and strength. The hospital services must be maintained at full strength as long as there are returned men needing attention.

Many men through disability are unable to return to their pre-war occupations. The Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment is doing a fine work in training returned soldiers in trades and professions that they can earn a living at, and in following up the training and seeing that they obtain remunerative employment. The maintaining of this branch of reconstructive service calls for much funds, and the Victory Loan will be used to pay for it as well as the other purposes.

Under the Soldiers' Land Settlement Act, enough money is lent to returned soldiers to enable them to buy and stock a farm. This money will be repaid at a low rate of interest. The soldier is thus given a chance to re-instate himself in civil life, and production is given a boost. Of the total amount of the forthcoming loan, $24,000,000 has been apportioned to finance these soldier-farmers.

Pensions to the disabled and dependents of our glorious dead, as well as the authorized gratuities will be other items on the expense sheet. These are some of the obligations owing to the returned soldier who is now in health.

The maintaining of Canada's prosperity is an important reason why the Victory Loan should be a smashing success. The money is needed to finance the credits to overseas countries so that they may continue their trade relations with us. If Canada cannot give these credits other countries will, and then Canada will lose all that great overseas trade that has been the mainstay of our agricultural and industrial life for so long.

As an investment Victory Bonds are eminent. Paying 5½ per cent., selling above par on the open market, and guaranteed by the Dominion—what farther reason can you have for hesitating? The Victory Loan 1919 ought to be oversubscribed, and all right-thinking citizens will do their utmost to see that such a result is obtained.

TO CARE FOR WOUNDED

Money From Victory Loan Will Be Used to Re-establish Soldiers.

Our soldiers in France faced perils other than those of shell and gas and machine-gun fire. There was the peril of tuberculosis. Up to August last 3,909 soldiers, suffering from this disease had been returned to Canada. These were placed in sanitoriums under the direction of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, and they are one of the departments of that branch that must be maintained, and come under the head of capital war outlay.

All of these men and some 20,000 others, disabled or ill, will be looked after with money raised through the Victory Loan 1919. It is the sacred duty of Canadians that the money is forthcoming.

Credits Must Be Established for Sale of Surplus Products.

Success of Victory Loan 1919 Will Insure Steady Markets for Farmers.

It takes some six bushels of wheat to feed the average person in Canada annually. Roughly, therefore, the eight million people here consume about 50,000,000 bushels each year. But even in a poor year the crop is some five times that amount, and the surplus must be sold if the farmers are to get a return for their time and labor. But the sale of the crop must be financed. Great Britain, which provides our greatest market, has not the ready cash; and so Canada must find means of raising the money. Hence the Victory Loan 1919. In view of the fact that the prosperity of the Dominion is dependent to a considerable extent upon the sale of her surplus grain the necessity of the money being forthcoming is patent.

Your dollar may be the last straw that sweeps the Victory Loan over the top. Would you take the chance of making it a failure?

Lend your money that your pay envelope may be always filled, as will follow the success of the Victory Loan.

Victory Bonds are the fodder that keeps the machinery of Canada's industrial world running at full speed.

Thos. Gray, employed on the Welland ship canal, committed suicide at St. Catharines by placing a dynamite cap in his ear and attaching the lighted fuse to it.

"PETE" MULDOON TELLS HOW LACROSSE WAS MADE POPULAR ON THE COAST

Field Was Shortened and Narrowed and Delayed Penalty System Allowed.

Pete Muldoon, the well known manager of the Seattle Hockey Club, champions of the Coast League, and for many years identified with the Vancouver pro lacrosse team, was a visitor in Winnipeg recently on his way home from a jaunt to the east. Pete is recognised as one of the authorities in sport circles at the coast and his version of how lacrosse has been popularized by cutting down the length of the field and making the players work much harder, will no doubt be of interest to local enthusiasts, who have been endeavoring to create new interest here in Canada's national pastime. Here is what the coast sport mogul had to say about sport:

"I was down to see the world's series baseball games and the results of the series were very pleasing to me. A peculiar thing happened: the world is small. The fellow sitting beside me said, well I came all the way from Winnipeg to see these games. The fellow at the back of me said, I came from Moose Jaw, and a fellow in front came from Georgia, and with Muldoon from the coast we represented a wide space of territory. I was pulling the Cincinnati to win, and, of course, when the Vancouver Northwestern product, Ruether, put over a winner, was well pleased.

"Our lacrosse season was a success on the coast. Our changes in rules has helped the game. When in the east I had a talk with a number of lacrosse men, including Lalonde and Querrie. I explained to them the changes we had made in the rules of the pro. game on the coast and they thought the changes would prove beneficial if they were adopted in the east. I do not know whether you are familiar with them but if not here are the principal ones: The field must not be more than 70 yards in width. Ninety yards between goals, with a space of ten yards between back of goal net and fence at each end. Playing grounds must be enclosed. You see this rule prevents the players from killing time chasing the ball to the fence and fooling back of the net. On account of the continuous shooting on the goal our rules call for a net six feet high and four feet and a half wide instead of five feet. This keeps the score down in the east, if you noticed, it was a common thing to have scores around 17-10, etc. Substitution at any time. A delayed penalty. Never less than nine men on the field. Three 20-minute periods. We find the players playing the game, as we have it now, they are so tired at the end of the sixty minutes' play that they are not capable of playing an additional period of good lacross. Lacrosse will rank close to hockey in action on the small field.

"While east I was talking with big sporting goods men and they tell me it was impossible to get enough lacrosse sticks for the players and at present they have ordered treble what they did last year and expect they will have to duplicate that. As to the hockey situation, I cannot say anything. Being away from the coast since early September I am out of touch with conditions."

THE KIDNEY PUNCH

The kidney punch has been so much in disfavor when boxing was sanctioned and controlled by the State Athletic Commission that it has been taboo in the various states where boxing is permitted. The reason for this is because boxers would get into a clinch and hit one hand free and so mar the bout from a spectator's point of view.

"It is an effective blow, when used properly," says veteran Joe Choynski, "but the fighters of today do not know how to use it.

"To old-timers it is quite amusing to sit at a fight and hear remarks about the kidney punch when some third rater reaches over the shoulder of his opponent and slams him with the open hand on the back. Ad Wolgast, a world's champion, was supposed to know how to use the kidney punch. But even Wolgast did not use it properly."

LATEST SENSATION IN HOCKEY PLANS

REPORT THAT VICS AND WINNIPEG ARE GOING TO AMALGAMATE

Brandon, Oct. 28.—The latest sensation in the hockey situation is the story from Winnipeg that the Vics and the Winnipegs are going to amalgamate, and the rumor that the Selkirk, Man., team are going to jump to Saskatoon. The story that the Vics and Winnipegs will join hands in an effort to put a strong team on the ice sounds plausible enough, for both sextettes were pretty well robbed of their players by Western raids. But neither team suffered any more than the Monarchs when Dick Irwin, Chum Irwin and the two Hays jumped to Regina.

The Falcons are still intact, being the only team exempt from the epidemic of Western fame hunting by hockey players. Just who the Monarchs will line up in their team is not known. When the club was inaugurated some little time ago several of the players were given shares in the club to stay in the big city, among them Hal Winkler, but Moose Jaw and Regina's bait was too tempting to turn down, and they jumped.

Great Team in Selkirk.

The Selkirk, Man., team is practicaly intact, and added strength will be given it by the return of some former 61st Battalion stars. In 1911 the entire Brandon team jumped to Moose Jaw and played a sort of pro. hockey there all winter.

Reports are now reaching Manitoba of the line ups which will face sport readers for the Western cities this winter. Moose Jaw's haul from Winnipeg, with some returns yet to be made, includes Hal Winkler, who played in the net here last season; Ab. Newell of the Argos; Stan. Marples, with Victoria in the pro. league Spunk Sparrow, also of the Argos, and Cecil Browne and Bostrom, who were overseas. With this importation added to by Bellefeuil, Jr. Donald, Aubrey and Stranahan, Moose Jaw should have a pretty fair chance to dispute the championship with Regina.

The Saskatchewan Capital, which started the raiding of the Winnipeg clubs, has also a great line up, Fred McCulloch, who starred in the Pacific Coast League, has been reinstated and will play goal. Fred Barker will be on the defense, and Chum Irwin, Reg. and George Hay, from the Monarchs are also on hand. Freddie Wilson, one of Regina's home brew stars, will also be in the game, and when he pals alongside Dick Irwin, recognized as one of the greatest centre men on the ice, the Regina forward line will be one of the speediest playing the game.

Must "Something Better."

Calgary are blazing a trail in the coming hockey situation also. In goal they have Reid a former Vancouver shipyard player, whom Lester Patrick said turned down a pro. offer to go to "something better" in Calgary. On the defense they have Billy Borland from Winnipeg and Arbour, former N. H. L. star, from Port Arthur. On the forward line they have Mickey McKay, the outstanding star of the Pacific Coast pro. league, Jack Baker of the Winnipeg Vics, Fraser of the Port Arthur Pascoes, and a few other importations. This line-up given is for the Wanderers, and says nothing about the other team which Calgary is promoting called the Columbus Club.

And now the Coast League is the beginning to holler that the Middle West hockey clubs are outbidding them for the players' services. The magnates on the coast claim that many of their former star puck chasers have passed up fine offers to accept something better in Calgary, Edmonton and Regina. When in Winnipeg a month or so ago, Lester Patrick is said to have told Claude Robinson that he offered Dick Irwin $1,500 for the hockey season, but the former Monarch player turned it down, saying that he was going to play in Regina.

With the Allan Cup trustees firmly of the opinion that the Western teams will not be allowed to compete for the championship of Canada, the Western teams are not worrying about that at all. The Patton Cup is already up, it is understood, for a play-off for Western Canada, and Calgary, Edmonton, Regina, and Moose Jaw already have their eyes on that bit of silverware.

HUGGINS WILL MANAGE YANKS

OWNERS ARE SATISFIED HE DID WELL AGAINST STRONG OPPOSITION

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Despite reports to the contrary Miller Huggins is to manage the New York Yankees again next year. Toward the end of the baseball season it was rumored he was to be ousted and replaced—possibly by Wilbert Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers. This story has been nailed to the floor as Huggins before he left New York came to an agreement with President Ruppert of the Yankees and will be at the helm for another season.

"Huggins is to be given another chance," said a New York baseball man while in Chicago to see the world's series. When the season closed in the East, he went to Ruppert and demanded to know whether he was to be retained or kicked out, ading that if he were to be supplanted he desired to know it immediately so that he would have a chance to cast about for a new position. Ruppert was satisfied with the results obtained and informed Huggins the job was his for some years more."

Too much was expected of Huggins in the American League race. When the season opened critics in Gotham declared he had the best looking club in the league and ought to win the pennant. They praised his team to the skies but did not reckon with the strength of the other clubs, and when the Yankees disclosed no disposition to become pennant winners the experts began to ride Huggins and put the blame on his shoulders. It was then that the story was circulated that the team was to have a new leader.

Huggins was criticised for the manner in which he handled his pitchers, it being asserted by men who watched his club daily that he used little or no judgement in working them. He had three excellent twirlers in Mogridge, Quinn and Thornahlen, but these three were unable to pitch well enough to withstand the power of the White Sox Tigers and Indians. Huggins strove to maintain his flingers in winning fashion but found the opposition a bit too strong.

"Huggins came into the American league at a tough time to win the pennant," said Ty Cobb, shortly before the season closed. "It must be admitted he had a fine ball team, but there were three others just as good and perhaps a little bit better. We in Detroit had the greatest ball club have seen. Jennings manage in years and yet we could not win. Cleveland was a hard club to beat at any time and so was the White Sox. The American League was relatively stronger this last season than it has ever been. Therefore one should not blame Huggins or any other manager for not winning."

While it is known that Manager Huggins had a band of terrific sluggers with him it is also known that these same players were not fleet of foot and as agile as they might have been. This had something to do with th failure of the club to beat out the White Sox for the championship. Hits and many of them, had to be made for the Yankees to score as the players did not possess the speed on the bases to take advantage of a few hits made. Baker Lewis and Pipp, three of the Yankees heavy hitters, are slow and it was proved that a club needs more than driving power in order to win.

Did Well to Get Third.

Huggins did very well with the Yankees in finishing third—if he is allowed to remain in third place, as he will probably be, despite the efforts of President Navin of the Detroit club to have the game Carl Mays pitched thrown out of the records. Chances are that the records will not be changed, although Mays was declared ineligible by President Johnson when he was suspended. The board of directors of the American League reinstated the pitcher and declared they had the power to do so under the rules of the league—therefore it is not likely Navin's complaint to the national commission will be allowed.

President Navin filed his complaint with the commission he says to protect his players—as he thinks they are more entitled to a share in the world's series pool than the Yankees. Detroit was beaten for third place by a scant margin and would not have been defeated if Mays had not pitched and won nine games for New York. Therefore, Navin asks the commission to ignore Mays's victories and vote the prize to the Tigers. To avoid complications in the American League this probably will not be done.

ONTARIO CURLERS MEET IN TORONTO

PETERBOROUGH REPRESENTED AT ANNUAL MEETING — LARGE NUMBER OF DELEGATES

R. M. Wadell and J. A. Kerr attended the 45th annual meeting of the Ontario Curling Club at the Granite Club, Toronto, yesterday. President Burden, of Detroit, was in the chair and a large number of delegates were present from all parts of the province, speaking well for the success of curling for the coming winter.

Business.

The annual reports on the Tankard, District and Ladies' competitions were read and adopted. Only two returns were made last year in the points competition, and none on the "Burden Loving Cup." Lack of ice was the cause.

A vote of appreciation of the interest in curling shown by the Governor-General in the donation of a trophy was passed.

The report on the annual read the riot act to the clubs for not sending in returns promptly and the warning given that no copy for the annual would be received after Dec. 15.

Alliston, Coldwater, Thornbury and Millbrook were admitted to the association Orangeville withdrew its application.

Tankard Grouping.

Group No. 1—Brockville, Kingston, Napanee. Play at Kingston. Umpire, T. M. Asselstine.

Group No. 2—Belleville, Campbellford, Cobourg, Oshawa, Picton, Port Hope. Play at Cobourg. Umpire, J. W. Bickle.

Group No. 3—Bobcaygeon, Cannington, Lession Falls, Lindsay, Norwood, Peterboro. Play at Lindsay. Umpire, J. D. Flavelle.

Group No. 4—Richmond Hill, Weston, Toronto Granite, Toronto Queen City. Play at Toronto. Umpire, H. J. Bastedo.

Group No. 5—Toronto, Toronto Aberdeen, Toronto High Park, Toronto Lakeview, East Toronto. Play at Toronto. Umpire, Jno. McBain.

District No. 2, Group A.—Bobcaygeon, Cannington, Lession Falls, Lindsay. Play at Lindsay. Umpire, W. A. Reesor. Group B.—Keene, Lakefield, Millbrook, Norwood, Peterboro. Play at Peterboro. Umpire, R. M. Waddell.

CANADA'S TRADE.

Figures Must Be Altered to Restore Value of Dollar.

Ottawa, Oct. 29.—Statistics for the first [illegible] months of the fiscal year 1919 indicate that while the adverse balance is made with the United States is still unfortunately large conditions in this respect are at any rate better than they were in the corresponding period of 1918. That is, Canada has been selling a greater value of goods to the United States, and importing a less value. There has been a marked falling off in exports as well as imports since March, however, the decline in imports being perhaps due to the high rate of exchange, which has led to the cancellation of many orders. The figures from Ottawa follow:—

IMPORTS.

January	$47,624,700	$59,431,482
February	41,185,814	52,255,909
March	70,570,794	56,557,492
April	66,924,076	43,071,213
May	78,266,622	55,083,040
June	70,597,035	61,236,510
	$375,179,041	$330,635,646

EXPORTS.

	1918	1919.
January	$26,681,092	$38,836,250
February	22,795,703	32,357,038
March	27,111,492	37,086,020
April	26,459,114	23,625,004
May	36,784,057	35,179,067
June	39,834,229	29,383,659
	$189,665,691	$196,467,038

From these figures it will be seen that the adverse balance of trade against Canada the first half of 1918 was $185,513,350, while for the corresponding period of this year it was $134,168,608. The balance must be still further reduced if the value of the Canadian dollar is to be restored. The discouraging feature of this year's trade is the falling off in exports since March. Canada must produce more—not only enough to supply her own people, but to afford a larger surplus for sale abroad.

The Influenza in Labrador.

The ravages of the Spanish influenza in Labrador during the past winter and the many deaths in that portion of North America have created a new problem to be met by the friends of the Labrador mission. In a letter from Dr. Wilfred Grenfell an account is given of the effect of the influenza epidemic in the Sandwich Bay district of Labrador. Twenty per cent. of the population perished as a result of the illness. Dr. Grenfell gives a long list of the dead and adds: "As these Labrador settlements are very small each one generally consisting of a few houses, some idea can be gained of the catastrophe to that part of the country. The distances are great between places and families, and the difficulties of the doctor and nurse traveling over that area are almost insurmountable. The point that I should like to emphasize in this connection is the pressing need for care for the orphan children who are left as a result of this epidemic. A number of men left young families, and in several cases both parents were taken. Our present orphanage, besides being so poorly constructed and difficult to run, is full to capacity, and we are at our wits' end to meet the problem of caring for so many helpless children."

Moving in Prayer.

An eminent divine is responsible for the story that when he was a boy he heard the deacons at his father's house discussing the merits of their respective ministers. After many had spoken one old elder said: "Waal, our minister gives so much attention to his farm and orchard that we get pretty poor sermons; but he's mighty movin' in prayer in caterpillar and canker-worm time."

slow starter in any campaign it is nevertheless not far behind once it gets into its stride.

$79,350 for Tuesday.

In spite of the inclement weather, the canvassers rolled up a total for the day of $79,350, bringing the total for city and county for the first two days up to $223,800, from 388 applicants.

One or two amusing incidents were encountered. One man brought in a snap shot of himself to be attached to the application, but was informed that he wasn't needed to go overseas to clean up the war, all that was required now being the almighty dollar to pay for it. The usualghard shell was also encountered, but he usually turns out to be a big buyer when his liver becomes normal.

On the whole, the canvasser met with a good reception and the consensus of opinion points to larger amounts being taken by the subscriber to this loan than in former years.

THIS MORNING'S POLICE COURT

ONE FINED FOR ASSAULT AND THREE FOR RECKLESS AUTO DRIVING

William Maharry was fined $5.00 and $4.60 costs in police court this morning for assaulting John Thompson. Both men are employed by the Quaker Oats Co. filling in the hollow across which the tracks are going to be placed.

According to the evidence, Thompson agreed to file a couple of saws for Maharry for twenty cents each. This he did, but charged Maharry seventy-five cents for the job.

Maharry objected strenuously, and in the heat of the argument yesterday at the dinner hour Maharry used forceful means of impressing his point and brandished a broken pick handle over Thompson's head threatening to kill him. It is asserted Thompson swore that Maharry hit him on the back of the head with his fist, but this was denied by several witnesses.

The magistrate ruled that the assault had taken place and fined Maharry $5 and costs.

Fined for Speeding

G. Hendron, an undertaker from Lakefield, was fined $1.10 for speeding on George street last Saturday night while driving an automobile.

Wm. J. Clancy, the man who was in the automobile accident Monday evening, was fined $8.10 for a breach of the Highway Travel Act for not allowing the right of way.

A resident of the south ward was fined $13.10 for driving at an excess rate of speed on Albert street. Several complaints were to hand of speeding in this part of the city, and a policeman went down and caught one of the speed artists.

"STICK CLOSE TOGETHER."

No Federal Election Likely Before Session of 1923.

Ottawa, Oct. 29.—If the ship of State can weather the gales to come under Unionist pilots, there will be no election before the summer of 1923. "Take my advice. Stick close where you are," is the counsel constantly tendered the Administration by their following.

VICTORY BONDS

Some men are funniest in the hour of their deepest gloom and Victory Loan salesmen are no exception. If you want to hear real comedy, pack a few thousand dollars in your jeans, some night, stroll to the Victory Loan headquarters, whack down your greenbacks at the counter, and get your receipt entitling you to partake of the hilarity. Watch the salesmen as they saunter in to report at the Temple of Bonds. Pick out the stout and pleasant-looking canvasser. There is only one.

As he talked last night to the crowd about him, his auditors held their sides and howled. It had been a bad evening. His objective had refused to part with a cheque for $10,000. He had told the salesman it hurt him to buy a postage stamp from the Government, and furthermore his tongue was contaminated when he moistened the glue. In this strain he gave his opinion of Governments, Victory Bonds, canvassers and all. When the V. L. C. had finally relieved himself, he had the whole crowd thoroughly convinced that a Victory Loan campaign was one of the merriest experiences of a lifetime, and not to be missed. As he sauntered out his muttered vow was "I'll get that $10,000 yet."

Mary bought a little Bond
With [illegible]ings, dimes and nickels;
And now Miss Mary takes it soft—
The maid does all the pickles.

Some men are born rich, others buy Victory Bonds.

The boy stood on the burning deck
The crew had swam the pond;
The boy was safe because he had
A hundred dollar Bond.

"Money talks," sang the Victory Bond holder.

"But it lways says good-bye to me," sighs the grouch who hadn't bought.

The M. C. has been added to the list of official honors. It goes to the canvasser who takes the most knocks and comes through with the [illegible] It stands for Master of Comedy. Ward Patterson received one last night.

Backward, turn backward, Oh! Time in your flight,
Give me the time to buy bond while it's light.

THE WHEELS MUST MOVE

Prosperity is the keynote of the Dominion of Canada. The wheels of progress are turning at high speed. There is a market for what we grow and a demand for what we make. The driving force of the wheels of progress and prosperity is the Victory Loan 1919.

You and I must keep that wheel turning. Our surplus products and manufactures must ever find a ready market. There must be no cessation of the wheels.

Countries that will purchase call for credits. Canada must supply the credits if she wishes the orders. The wheels must not cease. We, you and I, must supply the money for those credits. That is the Victory Loan.

If those wheels were silent, unemployment would be the result, and agricultural and industrial stagnation. The way to prevent such a catastrophe is to get behind and boost the Victory Loan 1919.

EXEMPT SOLDIERS' PROPERTY.

Every returned soldier living in Peterborough city and owning his own home, who desires exemption of taxes on his property, excepting for schools and local improvements is asked to send in his name to the secretary of the G. There will be a great extra demand for this number, and, as the edition will be limited, should you desire extra copies forward your order at an early date.

RED LETTER SUNDAY AND HALLOWE'EN PARTY

SUCCESSFUL SERVICES WERE HELD BY MARK STREET METHODISTS

By request of the Trustee Board the pastor took charge of the anniversary services in Mark Street Church last Sabbath, and the result was abundantly successful. The sum of 300.00 was required to meet the connexional funds and fuel for the year, and Sabbath saw this amount promptly provided for.

The congregation was the largest that has yet greeted the new pastor, and there are bright prospects for East City Methodism. Since the 13th of July last, this congregation has provided nearly $1,200 for the carrying on of the cause of God. This surely spells progress.

The morning subject was "Bringing in the Lillies," and that of the evening, "Bread Cast Upon the Waters." The music by the choir was excellent at both services, and all agree that the splendid rendering of the anthems, both at the morning and evening service, would do credit to any choir in the city.

On Monday evening a hallowe'en banquet was given to the successful competitors in the recent contest for new members for the Epworth League. The losing side covered themselves with glory by their splendid ability to entertain, and the later's gay attire, mingling with the gorgeous colors of the artistic decorations of the banqueting hall, reminded one of a magnificent marriage feast.

Nor did the winning side forget their host on this occasion. The pastor, as toast-master, called for a toast to Madam President Mrs. W. T. Morton, and Mr. H. Nellis replied with a well-prepared and pethy address. A toast to the king called out a splendid patriotic reply by Mr. Gamble, superintendent of the Sunday School, while a toast to the royal entertainers was responded to by all the guests rising and, led by Rev. and Mrs. Ross, singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows," with rhymes eulogizing the good things provided by the youthful entertainers.

Between fifty and sixty leaguers met on this occasion, and the result reflects much credit on the president and her helpers.

NEW CORNET SOLO PLAYER FOR TEMPLE BAND

The local Salvation Army are fortunate in securing the services of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wilson, of Leeds, England, who arrived in the city yesterday and purpose making their home here. Mr. Wilson was bandmaster and choirleader at Leeds and is an excellent solo cornet player. Mrs. Wilson also sang in the Leeds choir. The addition of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson to the local choir will be greatly appreciated.

Mrs. Wilson is a daughter of Mrs. Sutton, and now that she is in the ranks of the local corps, Mrs. Sutton's whole family are members.

John Sutton is a solo cornet player in the band.

THE ROLL OF DRUMS AND THE BUGLE'S CALL

The roll of drums! The blare of trumpets in the distance! Closer and closer it came until it was your heart and soul a-flame with its significance. It was one of those airs, brave and gay, to which our men marched away. Perhaps "Tipperary" or "Pack up your Troubles" or "Till the Boys Come Home."

With it was the rythmic tramp, tramp of many feet, as line upon line of khaki went by.

Your throat ached and you could not cheer, for it was good-bye to men who had heard the call, who had the love of Canada in their hearts, just as they bore it inscribed in shining letters on their shoulder straps.

Was Canada ever so dear to you as it was then; or as it was later when the news was flashed beneath the depths of the ocean that "Canada saved the day?"

Ah—we paid for it—in priceless lives of men who held their country dear. Yet even when heads were bowed in grief, we knew that it was worth the sacrifice, that it could not have been otherwise.

Canada's sons had died for her and thousands more must do the same, with that little shinning word on their shoulders telling just why they did it.

After the war could any one say that love of country was not real, was not great and powerful?

But it is not only in war that Canada needs us. The men "over there" beneath the scarlet poppies and the little white crosses died that Canada might live. They have done their share. We must still go on doing ours. And our duties did not cease when the armistice was signed.

The war cost Canada the lives of thousands of her bravest men. And it cost Canada millions of dollars in money.

If men were willing to give their lives, surely, surely we, men, women and children for whom they died, will lend our money!

The war is over, but the effects of the war are not. A country can not do its duty by wounded, crippled men, by men returning to civil life, without money. And where is Canada to get the money if not from her own people?

Is there a man or woman who can conscientiously refuse to lend the money to help care for the men who fought and suffered?

How little it is, too, to do? We lend our money, and in so doing we benefit ourselves. We have the money which otherwise would be spent unnecessarily.

And more! We get a generous rate of interest on that money we lend.

The men gave their lives and won little resting place beneath the scarlet poppies—and undying honor.

We lend our money—and win our self-respect and a bank account.

Are you answering to the bugle call of peace, by preparing to buy Victory bonds, as the men, loyal and true, answered the call of the drum to war?

MR. BURNHAM REPLIES

Editor Review: In reply to Rev. Mr. Pogue. He says: "Now God made the grapes. He did not make the ferments." God made barley. He did not make the yeast plants." This is a case of the most appalling ignorance I have ever seen. If God did not make these things something else did. Is there another equal to the power of creating? If so, who is it? Let me tell Mr. Pogue that there is not one thing in this universe that has any existence whatever that God and God alone did not create. Scientists tell us that all life is the result of ferments. What a scientific education Mr. Pogue must have! Or does he see the real difficulty and fear it!

Surprise Party at Home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Winson.

Letter carriers with their wives and friends, in number altogether about twenty-five, called on Carrier R. Winson, at his home, 577 Harvey street, last night. The surprise party, for such it was, was formed for the purpose of welcoming home Mrs. Winson, who returned from four years' military service, accompanied by a charming English bride. A complimentary address was read by Mr. R. Reid, after which Mr. and Mrs. Winson were presented with a handsome parlor clock and a solid silver marmalade spoon. A pleasant evening was spent by those present in games and music.

OREL REPORTED RECAPTURED BY RUSSIAN GENERAL DENEKINE

Advices Received in London Say Situation on Petrograd Front is Satisfactory, But Yudenitch in Bad Way.

London, Oct. 31.—A report from Russian sources received here says General Denikine has recaptured Orel from the Bolsheviki and is advancing towards Moscow. The situation on the Petrograd front is reported in official advices received here to be stable. It is asserted that the Bolshevik attack with heavy concentrations, which forced General Yudenitch's army back, appears to have exhausted the reds, whose losses were very heavy.

Yudenitch's main difficulty is to restore traffic along the Gatchina railway, which has been badly damaged, and until this is done he cannot attempt any large offensive, according to the advices.

A Bolsheviki wireless communication received here to-day says:

"The Red army, despite the [illegible] series of villages around Gatchina, and also has advanced and captured a number of points 14 miles eastward and 16 miles southward of Luga, and at the same time is conducting a successful attack south-east of Gdov."

Another View.

Helsingfors, Oct. 30.—Despite the boldness and the gallantry of the thrust which General Yudenitch, with a force of less than 12,000 men, has been making during recent weeks for Petrograd, it now seems certain that his entire operation is approaching failure, if not worse.

The north-western army of General Yudenitch not only has been defeated in the race for Petrograd against the coming snowfalls, but it may even be driven to retreat into the heavy swamps south and west of Gatchina, around which it is fighting to-day. The early snows turn to water as fast as they fall, and may turn these swamps into death traps. Apparently it is the Bolshevist plan of campaign to drive the Yudenitch army into them.

DEFAULTERS TRY TO ENVADE FINES

FIGHT IN MONTREAL COURT PUT UP BY COUNSEL ON TECHNICAL GROUNDS

Montreal, Oct. 31.— The fight of draft defaulters to evade the $250 fine started anew yesterday before Judge Lanctot, when L. Houle appeared on behalf of Joseph Rollin, and brought up new points for which the charge should be dismissed. The case of Rolin s one of the fve hundred on the waiting list, which had been left in suspense while other judgments were being disposed of before Mr. Justice Greenshields. Mr. Houle asked the dismissal of the case on two grounds; first because it was not on record that the prosecution had been entered in the name of his Majesty, and that the plaintiff in the instance, Inspector Fafard, had not the power to sue in his own name; secondly, that in the case of a conviction the accused could not legally pay his fine to the Government, and therefore, was still exposed to other prosecutions by the King.

Mr. Houle claimed that all actions had to be entered by the attorney general of Canada, or the Minister of Justice.

Judge Lanctot asked for time to read over the authorities, and Lucien Gendron, who appeared for the Federal Police, asked also for time during which to prepare an answer by writing.

Miller's Hotel, Long Island City, N.Y., for 35 years the rendezvous of politicians and sporting fraternity, was sold and will be turned into a phonograph factory.

WILL REPAIR OLD CORDAGE WORKS

CITY ARRANGING TO GET BUILDING READY FOR NEW COMPANY

The City Council is preparing to fulfill its part of the agreement with the Nashua Gummed and Coated Paper Company, and at last night's meeting of Property Committee arrangements were started for repairing the building to be occupied by them.

Watchmen have been engaged at the rate of 50c an hoar for both day and night and the necessary repairs will be commenced as soon as possible.

The Paper Company showed its anxiety to get started here by sending a telegram to the Mayor requesting the city to commence putting their building in a condition to be occupied immediately.

A request was received from H. J. [illegible] to be included in the garbage area, but the matter was left over for further investigation.

SETTLEMENT OF FIUME QUESTION

PEACE CONFERENCE AWAITS DECISION OF UNITED STATES WITH CONFIDENCE

Paris, Oct. 31.—Notification has been given the Peace Conference by a representative of Italy here that the proposal made by Foreign Minister Tittoni for the settlement of the Fiume problem had not been accepted by the United States.

It is declared in authoritative Italian quarters, however, that although the reply of Secretary of State Lansing was unfavorable as a whole, a considerable portion of the Tittoni proposal was accepted, and that the exchanges with the United States on the subject will be continued.

A Buffer State.

Unofficial statements on the terms of Foreign Minister Tittoni's proposal regarding Fiume show that it contemplated the creation of a buffer state comprising Fiume and the adjacent coastal territory southward to Brescia. The project included the annexation to Italy of the district of Volosca, lying between Fiume and Trieste.

Attacks America.

Rome, Oct. 28. — The Tribuna makes another attack on President Wilson and the American Government in connection with an article on Italian claims.

"After fighting alone," the newspaper adds, "Italy conquered her traditional enemy. One man then arose to deny her the fruits of victory—a man who had nothing to do with Italy.

"Is it possible," asks the Tribuna, "to allow this man to weigh on Italy's future, causing internal and international discord?"

BELIEVED PREM. HEARST HAS HANDED IN RESIGNATION OF SELF AND HIS CABINET

No Official Announcement Yet, However,—Premier-Prospective C. E. Drury Plowing on his Farm, and Meditating on the Personnel of his Ministry—All Quiet in Liberal Circles.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Oct. 31.— While Premier prospective, Charles Ernest Drury, leader of the Farmer-Labor Coalition, is today turning up the furrows of his Simcoe County Farm, and at the same time turning over in his mind possibilities for his cabinet.

Awaiting Resignation

Reporters are waiting at the parliament buildings for official intimation that Sir William Hearst, has handed his resignation and that of the members of his cabinet to the Lieut.-Governor, and recommended that Mr. Drury be caled upon to form a new Government. Sir William said that this would be done today or tomorrow.

May Have Resigned.

[illegible] conference with Lieut.-Governor Sir John Hendrie, at noon today, and although it was not officially announced it is believed the resignations of the Hearst Government are handed in and the name of Ernest Charles Drury, leader of the Farmer-Labor Coalition suggested as the man to form a new Government.

Driving at the Plow.

Before Mr. Drury left the city yesterday for his farm he told some of his friends that he could think better when plowing. It was also conceded that he had not definitely chosen his future colleagues. The inference is that he is doing so today while about his chores at the farm. He has left all his political advisers in Toronto, and has promised to return on Monday with his mind practically made up in regard to his cabinet.

No New Developments

In other respects there re no developments in the situation as reported today. The Liberals will hold a meeting over the week end, and soldier members, irrespective of party affiliation, will meet on Monday to discuss their policy in regard to re-establishment of soldiers in Ontario.

A Challenge to Simpson.

The action of Mayor Macbride, of South Brant, in leaving the Farmer-Union Coalition on the ground that Labor was not being fairly treated is not being endorsed by other Labor men and apparently is not greatly concerning the U.F.O. leaders. Macbride claimed that the Labor men were to be given two portfolios in the new Government one, that of Minister of Labor, which naturally was to go to Walter Rolo, the Labor leader, and another, for which the Labor members were to pick the man. The new leader, he claimed, had assumed an autocratic attitude and was proposing to choose the second man. In view of this breach of faith Mayor Macbride declared that [illegible] part of the coalition, but would enter the House as an Independent Laborite.

The fact that the U. F. O. reply was voiced by James Simpson who was so thoroughly defeated by Dr. Forbes Godfrey in West York the South Brant Labor man back to the attack yesterday. He announced from Brantford that he was thoroughly out of sympathy with the "red flag" ideals of Simpson, and showed that he was ready to defend his course before his constituents by inviting a contest there with Simpson as his opponent. He also promised that if Mr. Drury sought to run in North Brant, one of the seats offered to him, he would be given a fight for it.

Mr. Simpson when asked last night whether he would accept Mayor Macbride's challenge and run in South Brant if opportunity offered, characterized the proposition as an absurd one. A test of popular strength would settle nothing, he declared.

Mr. Simpson expressed himself strongly regarding the statement credited to Mayor Macbride that Simpson had on one occasion in the Arena declared that the red flag rather than the British flag was his emblem. "That is absolutely untrue," he said, "I never made such a statement."

J. J. TURNER & SONS, AND THEIR EMPLOYES PRESENTED WITH VICTORY LOAN BANNER

Mr. W. H. Bradburn Made the Award on Behalf of Local Committee—Fitting Addresses.

The J. J. Turner & Sons Company are the proud possessors of the first 100 per cent Victory Loan Flag won in this city, which was presented to them yesterday afternoon by Mr. W. H. Bradburn, chairman for the county.

In presenting the flag Mr. Bradburn congratulated the company and employees on being first in the city, and in fact one of the leaders in the province to win the flag. He explained that Canada required the money is now being borrowed from the people to finance the country, and to help the Mother Country, whose credit is good, but who lacks currency.

He expressed himself as confident that this county will reach its objective of $1,800,000, and that the Dominion will reach the necessary $300,000,000 and probably rise to $500,000,000.

He presented the banner, not for its intrinsic value, but for what it signifies, that the firm and its employees had done their part for the Dominion of Canada, in its hour of financial need.

Mr. J. J. Turner, speaking on behalf of the firm and employees declared he was glad that they had done their duty as a unit. They accepted the trophy with great pleasure on account of its significance.

He called attention to the large banners which the employees had made on the same style as the one presented but much larger. He explained that their enthusiasm did not cease with winning this flag or on reaching the 100 per cent mark, but would be hoped, be measured by the difference in the size of the flag they may subsequently win.

Mr. Vincent Eastwood, vice chairman of the district, spoke with great praise for the firm of J. J. Turner & Sons. "You have done more to advertise Peterborough than any other industry" he declared. "Your goods go to the end of the earth."

He expressed his appreciation that this factory should be the first in the city to reach the 100 per cent in the Victory Loan campaign.

Mr. H. Fry, county organizer added his expression of appreciation to those already given. He stated that he had every confidence in the County of Peterborough reaching its objective and very probably exceeding it. He was glad to see that the members of this factory were willing even after the patriotic fervour had in a measure passed away, to stand by their country even to the last dollar.

A telegram was received from Mr. Wood, chairman of the provincial campaign, expressing his appreciation of the honor J. J. Turner and Sons and employees had earned by winning the flag.

The meeting broke up with three hearty cheers for the company and its working staff.

JAPAN RATIFIES PEACE TAEATY

UNITED SATES ONLY GREAT POWER LEFT TO SIGN PACT

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Tokeo, Japan, Oct. 31.—The emperor today ratified the Versailles peace treaty

Tokeo advices received on Thursday announced ratification of the German peace treaty by Japan. It is clear from the foregoing that the ratification was by virtue of Imperial action. It was not preceded by any action by Parliament, this constitution of Japan not requiring the assent of the Legislative body.

Waiting for U.S.

Japan's favorable action on the treaty has left the pact unratified by only one of five great powers signatures to Versailles conditions—the United States.

GERMANY MUST SHOULDER BLAME

GREAT BRITAIN HOLDS GERMAN GOVERNMENT RESPONSIBLE FOR SINKING FLEET

Paris, Oct. 30. — The Supreme Council to-day discussed the armistice conditions which the reports of Marshal Foch and others have shown Germany has violated. The violations are covered for the most part by the terms of the Peace Treaty, and it seems unlikely that any steps to punish Germany will be taken outside those provided for in the treaty.

The payments Germany must make for the warships sunk at Scapa Flow was again discussed by the Council, and it was proposed that floating drydocks and similar property be exacted from her in payment for the destroyed warships. There is some question, however, as to whether this property does not already fall under the control of the reparation commission, consequently no decision can be made until the conference experts make a report on this point.

Accepts Responsibility.

The British Government apparently has accepted in principle the responsibility for the destruction of the fleet at Scapa Flow (British waters) and is willing to guarantee France against any loss from this cause of warships that might have been awarded to her. While Great Britain and the U. S. were understood some time ago to have virtually agreed to sink whatever warships they might receive from Germany, there are indications now that the British view has changed.

The Supreme Council has assured France that her share of the German warships will not be reduced as the result of the destruction of the Scapa Flow units, for which the German Government, and not German officers individually, is to be held responsible.

GOVT. WILL FIGHT U. S. COAL STRIKE

FEDERAL ACTION TO PREVENT EFFECTIVENESS OF PLANNED TIE-UP

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Indianapolis, Oct. 31.—With more than four hundred thousand bituminous coal miners prepared to go on strike at 12 o'clock tonight, Federal court action by the Government in Indianapolis to prevent the effectiveness of the intended tie-up loomed big as a probability today.

DOMINION LOAN TOTAL SHOWS BIG INCREASE IN THREE DAYS

"The new crowd at Toronto are not so slow after all; here's a new lift lock already," was the remark of a local wag as he slowed up at Victory Loan headquarters this mornig and surveyed the spectacle before him. Then he walked on.

But the idea of the new lift lock is to impress the people of Peterborough with the fact that it's a long lift to the top, and many more subscribers to the Victory Loan must "come across" if the city and county are to show up well when the campaign is over.

The slogan is "Help the Lift Lock Lift It Over." So if you have not already subscribed, the lift lock must remind you. Subscriptions will be received at the Loan headquarters.

Among the splendid window decorations is the display at Grafton's. It is interesting to note that ex-Mayor Rush, who is to be seen in the group of veterans of 1866, is one of the busy salesmen in the 1919 Victory Loan campaign. It's a long jump from the days of the Fenian Raid to the present.

Bonds and Wheat.

"Uncle Canada beckons at Cressman's, where the large display space has been given over to boosting the Loan. Several of the most attractive lithographs have been arranged on pedestals and framed with sheafs of wheat. Victory bonds and wheat mean much to Canada, and this thought has been brought out splendidly.

Substantial Increase

The latest Dominion total shows an increase of $14,050,300 in three days' campaigning.

The latest reports by provinces give the following results for two days with the exception of Ontario, which is for three:

Alberta	$1,342,750
Saskatchewan	1,371,800
Manitoba	1,281,650
Ontario	52,099,300
Quebec	24,444,500
New Brunswick	908,650
Nova Scotia	827,600
P. E. I.	56,000

The Work in Toronto

In Toronto five teams are working on the special subscription work, and each has an objective of $8,000,000. Messrs. E. R. Wood and J. H. Gundy, the Dominion and Ontario chairmen, are after the odd $10,000,000.

In the Toronto factories comparative figures show some firms' employees doubling their subscriptions over last year.

Star Pub. Co. employees, $55,000; last year $36,000.

Can. Wm. A. Rogers employees, $38,000; last year, $11,000.

Southam Press employees, $27,000; last year, $16,000.

P. W. Ellis employees, $31,000; last year, $18,000.

Busy at London.

London is planning a carnival for today, as she has the proud distinction of leading the cities as far as objective goes with 58.63% of her objective already attained for a total of $4,282,700. Hamilton has 45.7% and being 41.08% of objective, and Toronto with $20,042,800, being 11.16% of objective.

Adriatic's Passengers, Too.

Passengers of the White Star liner Adriatic, while that steamer was coaling in Halifax harbor preparatory to resuming her voyage to New York, subscribed to $250,000 Canadian Victory Bonds yesterday.

Scout V. L. Bonfire Postponed

Owing to the heavy rains it has been impossible to gather enough dry brush for a real bang-up bonfire, so that it has been considered advisable to hold this event later.

Meeting at Havelock

Havelock is holding a large V. L. meeting Monday night. Rev. F. E. Malott, G. O. Cameron and J. W. Worth of Peterborough are the speakers, and F. C. McRae of Norwood is to show his four V. L. movie films.

Clergy To Speak

The executive committee of the Victory Loan for Ontario are requesting the clergymen of the various churches throughout the Province to make Sunday, Nov. 2, Victory Loan Sunday. The committee believe that a great impetus will be given to the campaign if the clergy will speak of it from their pulpits and remind their congregations that it is an opportunity for every patriotic citizen to help Canada complete her war work.

The Campaign Elsewhere.

Mr J. H. Gundy, chairman Dominion Special Subscription Committee wires the Peterborough headquarters as follows: "Number of units that have left their special subscriptions objective behind fast meeting daily. Increased subscriptions chiefly responsible for early accomplishment of first task. Following units are over the top in specials: London, Brantford, entire Lake Huron division, Leeds and Grenville, Peel, Stormont, Dundas and Glengary, Carleton, Dufferin. These are now forging forward to new high records. Reports from other Provinces equally good with many units claiming honors. This is assuredly a wonderful work."

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1919.

ONTARIO'S NEW DEMOCRACY.

THE STATE OF MICHIGAN across the border is about equal to Ontario in wealth and population. Michigan has a governor who stands in the same relation to the commonwealth that elects him as the President does to the United States. He is an executive officer in fact, not the mere mouthpiece of the party in power.

The governor of Michigan is paid a salary of $5000 a year, and is elected—not appointed as a reward for party service—every two years. The election expenses exceed the salary many times over, but the honor of the position is regarded as sufficient compensation. The governor has to provide his own residence. If he lives other than at the capital, he must, for a portion of the year at least, maintain an establishment in the latter place. He is regarded as an official, not as a man to set the social pace for the wealthy and the ambitious. There is a lieutenant-governor, too, maintained chiefly as a ready successor to the position in case of the death or disqualification of the chief executive.

In Ontario, the lieutenant-governor, in whose selection the people have no say, is paid a yearly salary of $10,000. A mansion has been built for him at a cost of [illegible] dollars, and the yearly upkeep of this palace is a heavy drain upon the people of Ontario. The lieutenant-governor's chief duty is to hold himself as the representative of Royalty, to entertain lavishly the social elect, and to do what the members of the Cabinet direct.

The U. F. O., the controlling power in the Ontario Legislature today, are nothing if not democratic. They are devoted to economy as well. Retrenchment in the public expenditure is their watchword. In carrying out this policy they are likely to start in at the top and cut down outlays for ornamental purposes. Under the new regime Ontario is likely to become democratic in fact as well as in theory. If the Government House should be converted into a home for the soldiers, for the unfortunate, or even be used as an asylum for the insane, no very serious objection would be heard from the electorate. If any man wishes to shine as a social leader the opportunity will not be denied him, but the U. F. O. are likely to insist that he do so other than at the public expense.

The opening of the next Legislature is likely to mark a new era in provincial politics. Radical changes may not be made at the beginning, but some are to be expected. The shooting of toy cannon, the parade of soldiers, in a brave show of mimic warfare, are likely to be dispensed with. And the official who ventures into a legislative hall in which farmers and workingmen hold the majority, wearing a court dress, will do so at his own risk of reputation as a sensible Canadian citizen.

VICTORY LOAN OBJECTIVES.

ONTARIO'S OBJECTIVE for the Victory Loan 1919 covering the four largest cities—Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa and London, and a dozen divisions embracing all centres in the Province—is $225,825,000. This sum represents the total of the team members' objectives and the special subscription committees' objectives combined. For instance, Toronto campaigners are out after at least $90,000,000, of which $40,000,000 is to be gathered in by the teams, and $50,000,000 is to be the minimum for special subscriptions.

The combined objective for Hamilton is $13,000,000 Ottawa $9,500,000, and London $7,300,000.

Erie-St. Clair Division includes Essex North, Essex South, Kent, Lambton and Elgin Counties, with official objective $15,400,000.

Niagara division includes Wentworth, Haldimand, Lincoln and Welland Counties, with official objective $12,300,000.

Lake Huron Division includes Huron, Perth, Waterloo North, Waterloo South, Wellington North and Wellington South, with official objective $16,800,000.

Central division includes York East, York West, York North, Peel, Halton and Ontario Counties, with official objective $10,050,000.

Trent Valley Division includes Northumberland, Durham, Peterborough, Victoria and Haliburton Counties and the districts of Muskoka and Parry Sound, with official objective of $6,925,000.

Bay of Quinte Division includes Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox, Addington and Frontenac Counties, with official objective $6,400,000.

St. Lawrence Division includes Lanark, Leeds, Grenville, Dundas, Stormont and Glengarry Counties, with official objective $6,450,000.

Ottawa Valley Division includes Renfrew, Carleton, Prescott and Russell Counties, with official objective $3,150,000.

Northern Division includes Sudbury and Manitoulin Nipissing District, Temiscaming, Sault Ste. Marie and Algoma, with special objective $6,300,000.

Superior Division includes Port Arthur, Fort William, Kenora, and Rainy River District, with official objective $2,925,000.

In the last Victory Loan every one of these districts exceeded the objective, some of them more than doubling it.

Between all the larger cities, those that constitute a division in themselves, there is this year, just as there has been on all similar former occasions, a friendly rivalry in the matter of making a record. None of these cities would be satisfied by merely obtaining the objective. Their aim is to exceed this amount, and their success will be judged by the excess subscriptions to the loan.

The Province has been carefully divided by experts for the purposes of this loan, each division consisting of a number of counties. The allotment is fair, having been made according to the estimated wealth of each division. There must be between these various divisions the same spirit of rivalry, if the loan is to be made the success which the promoters hope for.

Peterborough, city and county, is the wealthiest section of the Trent Valley division, and the allotment is proportionately high. There is no doubt as to what Peterborough's record will be when the returns are all in. Some one has figured that the percentage of the amounts so far subscribed is below the percentage of the period allowed for canvassing, but Peterborough has on these occasions always been noted for whirlwind finishes. Let every county in the division do its share and the reputation of the Trent Valley will be maintained.

There is hardly an argument that has not been used in favor of the loan. The money is needed, and in the expenditure of that money every class in the community will be benefited. The half yearly payment of interest will mean a revival of prosperity. The rich and those in moderate circumstances can invest. Every owner of a Victory bond will feel a new interest in his country just as does the man who puts money in any private concern. And best argument of all, money borrowed at home will save the interest payment to the Canadian people.

AT HOME AND ABROAD.

Mr J. H. Burnham, in supporting a motion of Mr. D. D. McKenzie, that the Government appeal to the country, said that the idea had his approved "as a patriotic Canadian who never expects to get back to this House." It is unfortunate that any patriotic—really patriotic—Canadian, such as the member for Peterborough undoubtedly is, should be compelled to make that statement. It is to be hoped that whatever befalls, the member for Peterborough will be in the next House. His views may not always meet with general approval, but he is at least a courageous and outspoken representative and one whose absence would be felt.—Ottawa Citizen.

THE EXAMINER sees in Mr. Burnham's announcement a double significance [illegible] with the circumstances under which it was made, nothing but subject for unseemly jest. Here is a man who says he has no idea that he will ever be re-elected. There must be scores of members in the House who hold similar personal convictions, but who lack the courage to express them. This silent bunch are doing all they can to hang on to office, to delay the dissolution of the present Government as long as possible, that the official emoluments may be theirs. Mr. Burnham is willing to sacrifice everything in the interests of the public, and urges an immediate appeal to the country.

The Examiner sees nothing big in such a course. Perhaps such a standard of official honor is above its conception. The feed rack has been placed too high for it, and it cannot strain itself sufficiently to reach the fodder.

NOT MUCH INFORMATION.

(Journal of Commerce.)

SELDOM, IF EVER, has an important measure been laid before the Canadian Parliament with less accompanying information than that which has been supplied in relation to the proposal of the Government to acquire the Grand Trunk railway of Canada. Study of the matter—if time were allowed for study—would suggest numerous points on which information is needed to enable one to reach a proper conclusion. When information is asked, the answer is that it is not available on this side of the Atlantic, as the Grand Trunk is an English company. One of the requests made in the House of Commons was for a list of the holders of the various classes of stocks of the company. A Minister replied that they numbered thousands and that it would be too expensive to have the list cabled. But if there would be inconvenience and expense in getting the information by cable the mails are available. The fact that desired information is not to be had on this side of the ocean, but must come from England, is an additional reason against the rushing of the measure in the closing days of a parliamentary session.

The Minister treated the inquiry respecting the ownership of the stocks as one of no importance or interest. But why should not the Canadian public know who are the people from whom they are buying this property? Why should the Canadian public not know who are the people who are to reap the remarkable financial advantage that will arise from the sudden conversion of a weak stock of a market value of 45 or 50 into a Government guarantee worth 90 or 100? There is a widespread impression that the people who will reap much of the advantage are not the old stockholders of the Grand Trunk, but the shrewd operators in the London stock market, who, in anticipation of the enactment of such a measure as is now proposed, have been accumulating the stock at low prices. It is not to be assumed or suggested that there is anything wrong in the action of persons who have speculated in this way. It is the business of stockholders to avail themselves of such profit-making opportunities. Nevertheless a curiosity to learn the names of the lucky winners, present holders and the date of their purchase, is entirely legitimate. The people should know with whom they are dealing in his important matter.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

NOW IS A GOOD TIME to hold on to the Bonds you have, and buy more.

EVERY VICTORY BOND offered for sale is a bargain. There should be a rush to the counters.

IF CANADA is to be in debt, isn't it just as well to have as few foreign creditors as possible?

THOSE CHECKS from Ottawa paying the interest on the Bonds come every half year and are as welcome as they are prompt.

VICTORY BONDS

Somebody has discovered that one of Shakespeare's books is the most valuable in the world, but can you imagine what this newspaper will be worth, a few hundred years hence.

Man hopes for little here below,
To grab, he'd get in dutch;
But buying Victory Bonds to-day,
He gets that little, much!

This one is worse, but it has a good moral:

Buy and the Bonds stay with you,
Spend and lose a heap;
Leave your Bonds deep in your trousers,
They're safe from your wifey—she'll sleep.

No Real Estate Agents.

"What were you in civilian life?" asked St. Peter as McCannan approached the gate.

"I was a Victory Loan salesman," replied Mac.

"That's the only thing that saved you. Pass on in!"

A miss is as good as a mile and a bond is the start of a pile.

Mary sheared her little lamb,
The wool was very dear:
She used the cash for Victory Bonds,
The little profiteer!

The Stillest Thing in Town.

The still is still a still,
But it's empty and it will
Be still
Till they kill
The bill
That killed the empty still.
But there's something stiller still—
He's the man who needs a pill:
He never bought a Victory Bonds
And swears he never will.

A Miss,
A Man,
A Bond,
A Band.

There was a young lady named Min
That when she essayed
To drink lemonade
She slipped through the straw and fell in.

Eventually, you will buy Victory Bonds, why not today?

KING'S APPEAL FOR PEACE

On Monday, October 13, His Majesty issued the following:

Buckingham Palace, Monday.
We have won the war.

That is a great achievement, but it is not enough. We fought to gain a lasting peace, and it is our supreme duty to take every measure to secure it.

For that nothing is more essential than a strong and enduring League of Nations.

Every day that passes makes this more clear.

The Covenant of Paris is a good foundation well and truly laid. But it is and has been no more than a foundation.

The nature and the strength of the structure to be built upon it must depend on the earnestness and sincerity of popular support.

Millions of British men and women, poignantly conscious of all the pain and suffering caused by the brutal havoc of the war, stand ready to help if only they be shown the way.

Knowledge of what has already been done, appreciation of the difficulties that lie before us, and determination to overcome them; these we must spare no efforts to secure.

I commend the cause to all the citizens of my Empire so that, with the help of all men of good will, a buttress and a sure defence of peace to the glory of God and the lasting fame of our age and country may be established.

INDIANS WARNED

Notified of Dire Punishment Should They Not Behave

Simla, Oct. 30.—Owing to the hostility of the Waziris Mahsuds during and since the Afganistan trouble, it has become necessary to adopt measures to prevent continual attacks on British posts and convoys and raids into British territory.

Representatives of these tribes are being summoned to hear the British terms. In the event of their non-compliance with the terms they will be given time to remove women and children and will then be subjected to a period of intense aerial bombardment which will be followed by other punitive measures, against sections of the tribes implicated in the recent outrages.

Six infantry brigades, as well as cavalry and artillery, commanded by Major General Climo, are being employed.

DINING WITH KING GEORGE

"Even in these days of economy, dinner at Buckingham Palace is a fairly ceremonious function," says a writer in Tit-Bits.

"To start with, the number of servants who wait at table has been more than doubled since the declaration of Peace, and each is arrayed in the full scarlet and white livery of the court.

"When His Majesty was Prince of Wales only three servants were on duty at dinner, but now the number has been increased to eight, under the control of a Groom of Chambers, who does not wait himself, but directs the movements of his subordinates.

The King is waited on by a special servant, who does not attend to anyone else at table. Their Majesties, as Prince and Princess of Wales, now the Royal party at dinner seldom consists of less than a dozen.

"Dinner is served in the large dining room on the first floor at a quarter to eight. At half past seven the members of the Royal households who have been commanded to be present, assemble in what is known as the equerries' drawing-room—a spacious apartment, separated from the dining-room by a smaller reception room, through which the King and Queen enter.

Court Meals the Rule.

"A few minutes before dinner hour the equerry in personal attendance announces that their Majesties are about to enter the room. Everyone present rises. The King and Queen bow when they come in, and then at once lead the way to the dining-room. The dinner table is oval saped; the King sits at the centre on one side and Queen Mary at the other, the chief members of the households present sitting next to their Majesties on either side.

"King George greatly dislikes a prolonged meal, and dinner, except when guests are present, does not, as a rule, last more than three-quarters of an hour.

"On ordinary occasions the meal is a simple one, consisting of rarely more than half a dozen courses. The dinner service usually used in made of the finest Dresden china, and in the centre of each plate is a gold crown. The dishes and dish covers are all silver. At state dinner parties a massive silver dinner service is used.

"There is no music at dinner on ordinary occasions, but when there are guests the band specially attached to the court known as the King's Band, or a dozen members of one of the Guards' bands play in the hall.

"The King always rises from table first when dinner is finished, and then the Queen. When His Majesty was Prince of Wales, the Princess of Wales rose first from the table. The King and Queen then lead the way to one of the reception rooms, usually the crimson drawing-room, followed by their suites. At eleven o'clock the members of the household, with the exception of one lady-in waiting and an equerry, are dismissed, and the King and Queen retire to their private apartments."

JOY IN REAL WORK; SIX HOUR DAY WILL NOT BRING HAPPINESS TO HUMAN RACE

I find an almost infallible rule to be this: "The crowd always does the wrong thing." That is to say, when civilization takes up a new fad, and fits it into ethics and morals on a big scale, it is safe to predict that it is riding to a fall. What I am trying to do is to find a place here to take an uppercut at the modern chaze for what is called "efficiency." That we now have it in a most virulent form I think will be admitted. If ever the world has had anything rammed down its throat, that thing is efficiency. Our patriotism and loyalty have not only been supplied us in canned form, but human nature itself is now controlled by push buttons, card systems, stop watches, whistles, textbooks and traffic regulations. Machines have supplanted men.

The purpose of efficiency was said to be the elimination of waste, the conservation of precious time and the lowering of costs to the public. It must be admitted that in exceptional cases this has been the result(but these cases are so rare that you can locate them only with a microscope. Just wake up, rub your eyes and take a general view of conditions as they are right now. Was there ever a time when the prices of everything were so brutally high as they are in this year of of prohibition, 1919? What is the cause? Oh you can't dodge the answer—for it is "efficiency". Efficiency made the world war, and efficiency stopped it. And about all the public has had out of efficiency is staggering taxation and staggering costs of everything there is. Efficiency has only made the old condition worse. It has only piled up bigger profits for the few and made the purchasing power of the dollar less for the many.

Capital isn't the only element that has made use of what we call "efficiency." Labor also has this efficiency in its most aggravated form. It has forced its wages to the highest point in history, but the workingman doesn't seem to be happy at that. He finds he isn't getting as much out of life as he did when wages were lower and when efficiency was still buried in books of philosophy. Now, having increased his wage to a point where danger threatens, he switches round and sets his mind upon shortening the work day more and more. He used to work ten hours for two dollars. Now he wants to work six hours for ten dollars. He seems to think that human happiness proceeds from loafing. But honestly folks, it doesn't. When the six hour standard is reached, civilization will begin to loaf to death.

The idea that loafing is happiness seems to have dominated the mind of the man who figured or dreamed out the hereafter. Heaven is held out as a place where nobody works. This means that everybody loafs. Can the human intellect conceive the monotony of eternal idleness? No one ever worked at a harder job than he who does nothing but lie around doing nothing. My notion of heaven would be a place where everybody is kept busy doing something useful. Efficiency has gone to seed, and the germ of life in the seedpod is bolshevism. Bolshevism is the back fire of the attempt to subdue the individual through efficiency and merge him into a cog, a belt, a pulley or a shaft. Bolshevism is efficiency reduced to tyranny in the hands of so-called labor and the only way to abolish bolhevism is to abolish all systems that discourage independent thought and individual effort. We have got to come back to the old days that work is not something to be shunned; that work into which a man can put his heart and soul is the source of his greatest joy; that no man can do so well under automaton as he can under the good old style where he was known as Bill or Jack; that the more the hours of labor are reduced the more will vice thrive through the added hours of idleness. Busy folks make the best citizens.

The advocates of the six hour day tell us that men need more time for recreation and education. What are they doing in that direction with the time they have now under the eight-hour day? Oh not very much of anything. They are even so well endowed with common sense as their father who used to work ten hours, for busy men think sanely, while the idle don't. They have simply become more expert in the fine art of doing nothing. The reduction of the hours for working only adds to the hours for loafing, and loafing is what we did all the time before we came down out of the trees.

By this time you probably think I am in favor of men working themselves down to skin and bone, but I guess you don't know what I mean by the word "work". Work to me means doing some useful thing, as opposed to loafing; which means doing nothing. The one good use to which efficiency can be put is to show men and women that physical exertion is necessary to good health and good thoughts; that physical exertion expended in producing something useful brings sounder sleep at nights than physical exertion expended in hitting a little ball all over a big golf links or in looping the loop at Coney Island, or in wasting energy in shimmy dancing or shuffling the pasteboards. I like work in which there is joy rather than a mere Saturday night wage. I like to see men do the work in the shops, women do the work in the home, and children to do most all of the playing. Childhood is the time to play. Manhood is the time to get your play out of useful work.

The task of the world is not to point out the beauty of labor; also to point out that efficiency systematizes every vestige of joy there is in work out of it. Slavery is efficiency reduced to decimals. Bolshevism is slavery in its most vicious form. We hear that the age of competition is gone, and that the age of efficiency and co-operation is here. Now, then man to man, do you like the change? Do you relish having ideas, rules, customs, prices, the hang of your pants and your haircut come in tin cans? If this be democracy, would you not gladly go back to what we had before democracy was achieved at so great a human sacrifice? Wouldn't you rather get two pounds of porterhouse steak for a quarter under the old conditions than one pound for fifty cents under the new? And weren't times better under no efficiency, when eggs were 10 cents a dozen and chickens 25 cents apiece, than under the present conditions when eggs are $1 a dozen and chickens $3 apiece? Efficiency is the most costly thing ever invented. Is it worth what it costs?

VON HAESELER WAR VET DIES

EIGHTY-FOUR YEAR OLD GERMAN MARSHAL DIES VERY SUDDENLY

Berlin, Oct. 31.—The sudden death of Field Marshal Gottieb von Haeseler, Germany's veteran soldier and strategist, from heart disease, is reported in the Lokal-Anzeiger. He was eighty-four years old.

Field Marshal von Haesedler, a veteran of the Danish campaign of 1864 the Austro-Prussian war of 1866, and the Franco-Prussian war of 1870, was probably the most picturesque [illegible] celebrated throughout Germany for his soldierly qualities and epigrammatic utterances. He was one of Von Moltke's "Paladins" in the Franco Prussian War and acted as Quartermaster of the Army of Occupation in France after that conflict.

He was placed on the retired list in 1908, with the highest rank in the German army, but continued to work in the General Staff theatre.

When the European war broke out, the almost eighty-year old veteran attached himself as a spectator to the German armies, and with his keen instinct for fighting generally managed to be on the spot, and often almost in the front lines when any important offensive operation was in progress. He held no command of any sort however, and reports which often circulated in the Entente capitals of his responsibility for decisions were entirely without foundation.

BEGGER BUYS AUTO

Crippled and 23 Years Old He Lives by Begging.

Brooklyn, Oct. 31.—Michael Starke twenty-three years old, admitted in the New York Avenue Court, Brooklyn that he had bought an automobile for $20 and had $75 left of the money he had obtained begging on the streets.

Starke has a leg which a child and although he is a skilled mechanic he has been begging with the plea that he lost the limb in the army. Magistrate Brown ordered him to sell the automobile and turn over $275 to the American Red Cross, and also put him under bond of $250 to keep the peace for one year, with the option of ten days in jail. The bond was furnished by a relative.

Starke recently married, and his wife, who was in court, declared she did not know he had made his money begging.

PACKERS OWN STOCK IN NEW YORK HOTELS

LETTERS INDICATE THEY INVESTED LARGE SUMS IN AMERICAN HOSTELRIES

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Letters indicating that the big Chicago packers had invested large sums in the stock of large hotel companies, especially in New York city, wre introduced in the Interstate Commerce Commission's hearing of the National Wholesale Grocers' Association's complaint that the packers receive special service from the railroads. The letters went into the record over the objection of counsel for Swift & Co.

[illegible] by Louis R. Swift, had of Swift & Co., indicated that Armour & Co., held $200,000 in stock in the Baltimore and about $500,000 in the Commodore Hotels of New York and that Swift & Co., had taken $50,000 in the McAlpin. The letters to other officials of Swift & Co suggested that it should be a good policy to take stock in substantial hotel enterprises in order to obtain the business of provisioning them, and told of an effort to obtain stock in the Biltmore and Commodore, adding "but it was impossible; Armour had arranged it in advance."

A Swift & Co. subsidiary ,the Metropolitan Hotel Supply Company, had a share, of the provision business of the Manhattan Hotel of New York, according to the letters, and had been promised the entire business of the Ansonia, also of that city. One letter recommended an investment of $100,000 by Swift & Co. in the United Hotels Company, operating hotels in several cities.

STRAY DOG BITES TWELVE CHILDREN

CHASES SCHOLARS AROUND SCHOOL CLASSROOM; SEVERAL LITTLE ONES FAINT

THOUGHT NOT BADLY BITTEN

FIRE DRILL ALARM SOUDED AND 300 MARCH TO SAFETY

New York, Oct. 31.—Twelve school children were bitten by a stray dog, which barked and snapped his way among a class of thirty-five children in the parochial school of the Church of our Lady of Good Counsel, Madison street, and Ralph venue, Brooklyn.

Sister Mary James was in charge of the class when the dog trotted into the room and by his mad antics threw the children into a panic. They fled into closets and wardrobes, jumped on desks and radiators. Some fainted.

As the dog chased the children around the room their screams grew so loud that pedestrians and chauffeurs of automobiles passing the school rushed into the building.

Patrolman Albert Anderson of the Ralph avenue station, on duty at the crossing in front of the school, hurried to the scene. He met Father Peter A. Donahue, pastor of the church, on the stairs, and together they went to the classroom. Anderson told the priest to sound the alarm for fire drill, and the 300 pupils in other classrooms marched to safety.

The dog, meanwhile, continued to dash around the room. Anderson was afraid to fire his revolver for fear of hitting one of the children. He, Father Donahue, Sister Mary James and others caried the chikiren out of the classroom. The patrolman then went after the dog and beat him with his night stick.

Dr. Oransky of Bushwik Hospital was summoned and treated the children who had fainted. The twelve who had been bitten were taken to the Bushwick Hospital for treatment.

The dog was taken to the Ralph avenue station pending a trip to the Board of Health for examination to see if it had rabbies.

Hospital officials would give no report as to the condition of the children. The police said they did not think any of them were bitten badly.

AGITATORS A PERIL DECLARE FARMERS

POLITICAL DISTURBERS AND UNSCRUPULOUS LABOR LEADERS NATION'S MENACE

Hagerstown, Md., Oct. 31.—Activities of political agitators and labor leaders of the "unscrupulous" sort were denounced as a menace to the political and economic security of the nation by speakers at the opening session here of the thirty-ninth annual meeting of the Farmers' National Congress.

The need of an effective assertion of $100 per cent" Americanism by the farmers of the country in combating the attempt of radical elements to undermine the political institutions of the country was impressed upon more than 1,500 warmer delegates representing all sections of the country, who attended the opening session of the congress.

Responding to the sentiment of its speakers, the Congress, by unanimous resolution, pledged its "steadfast support to the Government in the strict enforcement of law and order in combating certain radical elements that would vitiate the fundamental principles of our Government and tear down its institutions." "To prevent the spread of anarchistic and radical heresies, there solution asserted, "the conservatism of the American former must be eternally on guard."

Welcoming the delegates, on behalf of the State of Maryland, Gov. Harington declared the farmer must accept his full responsibility in directing the course of the nation and "make himself heard in all councils which seek a settlement of industrial conflicts."

In a plea for "unadulterated Americanism," among all classes the Governor declared "both capital and labor must be taught that they cannot jeopardize the sovereignty of the nation." Anarchists and other agitators who have "assumed our citizenship without sympathy for our form of Government, "must be put down" he asserted, and "the farmer must take an emphatic hand in meeting the emergency."

J. H. Kimble, president of the congress, told the delegates the farmer must "exert a greater influence if we are to win the battles of peace." His strength, both politically and economically, the speaker said, lies in more thorough organization and coperation

Declaring the only way to treat "preachers of anarchy" and the irresponsible" among labor leaders was to "shoot 'em or ship 'em." A. P. Sandles of Sandusky, Ohio, elicited vociferous cheers from the assembly.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT SCORED TRIUMPH IN FINANCIAL DEBATE

Press Generally Admits Premier's Speech a Great Oratorical Success---Chancellor of Exchequer Congratulated.

(From Tuesday's Daily)

London, Oct. 31.—The press today is unanimous in acknowledging that the Government scored a triumph in the financial debate yesterday. Even the Daily News, the most severe critic of the Government, generaly admits that the speech of the Premier was a great oratorical success and made a tremendous impression on the House of Commons.

Discussion Fizzled.

The discussion, the News states, fizzled out by the time the Premier had resumed his seat. Nevertheless, some newspapers continue a criticism of what they call the Government's faith-healer finance. They accuse the Government of replying with rhetoric and despising logic and facts. The Times states that there will be widespread regret that the Commons is so easily cajoled, and those believing in representative institutions will tremble for democracy's failure.

Congratulates Chancellor.

Mr. Clynes, speaking on his amendment, congratulated Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, on "the most skilful speech he had ever delivered in the House of Commons," but declared that the chancellor's address yesterday had not outlined any policy. The Labor party, said Mr. Clynes, contended that the financial situation was so extraordinary that it called for extraordinary measures.

Mr. Clynes condemned the system of unemployment doles and subsidies but agreed that it would be folly to cease these immediately unless the Government had solved the problem in a proper way by finding employment for the men now receiving out-of-work benefits. The objections of the chancellor of the exchequer to a levy upon capital should not preclude an inquiry into this subject and also an investigation of increased production and of war profits, the facts of which had never been revealed.

Mr. Clynes concluded by saying that the debt of £8,000,000,000 could never be wiped out or even diminished through ordinary taxation.

Increased Production.

Prime Minister Lloyd George, dealing with the world-wide responsibilities of the Government, said:

"We left Armenia because we wanted to economize. We cannot really police the world. We honestly thought there were other powers that might take their share."

Lloyd George contended that the speech of the chancellor of the exchequer and the general course of the debate had disposed of the charges against the Government of avoidable extravagance. The Premier emphasized the lack of agreement that had been developed regarding suggested remedies. It had been further shown he said, that the sort of "epileptic screaming" which had deafened the country's ears, could find no echo in a calm assembly like the House of Commons.

Mr. Lloyd George said it was a crime to distort the situation in order to destroy the country's credit. It [illegible] confidence, and Great Britain would weather this as she had weathered other storms.

Increased production, the Premier concluded, was the truest economy and the only remedy for the depreciation of the pound abroad, which was the nation's heaviest present task. He deprecated economy on the social services, like education and national health, which he declared would be folly.

LOCAL OPINION OF OUR NEW PREMIER

BOTH GRITS AND TORIES AGREE HE IS A VERY CAPABLE LEADER.

"I think the farmers have, with their usual good sense, chosen the very best leader possible," was Mr. E. A. Peck's comment when asked his opinion of Mr. E. C. Drury, the new leader of the U.F.O. and the I. L. P., and probably Ontario's next Premier.

"I have heard him speak several times and he impressed me as a very capable speaker."

Mr. Peck said that the new leader is very well informed in municipal government and that he is in every way capable of filling the position he will be called upon to fill.

Mr. Joseph Wearing also stated that he had no doubt whatever that Mr. Drury is capable of filling the position of Premier with satisfaction. Mr. Wearing was brought up in the same neighborhood as Mr. Drury and knows him very well, having gone to threshings, etc., with him."

The future Premier is essentially a farmer. When the message came for him to go to Toronto, it found him in farmer attire guiding a team of horses and a plow as any ordinary farmer. The U.F.O. leader is a terrific worker and always has been. He works a large farm, sometimes with, and sometimes without hired help, and he spends every evening reading and studying. Mr. Wearing is responsible for the statement that he is an authority on tariff and his knowledge of economics is vast.

Both Grits and Tories, in this city at least, appear to be well pleased with the man who will be chosen as leader of this Province.

THE BOOK OF REVELATIONS

Address on This Subject Continued At Gospel Hall Tonight

Tonight Mr. Brown will continue his addresses in the Gospel Hall on the Book of Revelations. The subject will be a Parenthesis, entitled "The Sealed Jews and the Saved Gentiles," after which he will proceed with the theme, "The Opening of the Seventh Seal."

Last night he dealt with the opening of the six seals.

The seven seals are the sevenfold reply of God to the sevenfold sin of man, but during the present age of grace God is not replying. This is the period of the "gospel of the grace of God" in the widest and purest sense of grace. God is not judging now, but his drawing men to himself by pure grace. All men of all ages are saved on the basis of the work of Christ upon the cross, but during the last two thousand years it has not been accompanied by judgments. When the seals are opened, the "gospel of the grace of God" gives way to the everlasting gospel, which is, "Fear God and give Him glory for the hour of His judging has come and worship Him which made heaven and earth and the sea and the spring of waters," (Rev. 14:6, 7), and so the seals represent the hour of His judging.

When the first four seals are opened four horses are sent forth by the four living creatures that have supervision over the four great relations of God to man.

The first living creature is like a lion and when the lamb opens the first seal the lion calls and a white horse goes forth. The one upon this horse has a crown and a crown was given to him and he went forth conquering and to conquer. White represents righteousness and the lion had supervision of the righteousness of God in the world. Now, if there is one thing more than another that men do not believe in it is the righteousness of God. Only those who believe in the sacrificial work of Christ in our room and stead believe in the righteousness of God in these days. But this sign indicates that God is beginning to do what many demand that he show his righteousness in judgment. Then, again, we would have crushed our enemies in one battle if we could and Jesus could as he does in chapter 19 11:20, but all these judgments from chapter 6 to 19:10, beginning lightly and becoming slowly more heavy and more terrible as man hardens his heart and refuses to repent and rejects judgment. Just as he has rejected free grace for nearly 2,000 years, these judgments represent the unspeakable long-suffering patience of God. He went forth conquering and to conquer, chapters 6 to 19:10 should he read between these words "conquering and to conquer".

The second living creature has supervision over the sacrifical work of God in the world. He is like the calf which was one of the principal animals of sacrifice. And as men deny more and more the sacrificial work of Christ and the "bloody religion" as they term it and substitute Christ's example and martyrdom, crime will increase. The great restraining influence during these last 2,000 years has been the fact that so large a part of humanity believed that Christ was their "peace," that before they were guilty before God and their mouths stopper, that they were dead in trespasses and sins and so helplessly under the power and that the love of God and the sacrifical work of Christ for them, and the energizing power of the Holy Spirit had lifted them from the pit and the iry clay. They were forgiven and recreated all through the power of another, our Lord Jesus Christ, and all upon the basis of this work on the cross.

And not only has there been the restraining influence of the real Christian who has received the light of the gospel, but the world that came in contact with them has received the twilight and has often taken to himself the credit although he knows he has been influenced to do things by God's true children. But when this influence becomes extinct by the sudden translation of the church then crime will increase in an alarming way and they shall kill each other.

FOCH AND JOFFRE PRAISE ROSEVELT

MAYOR OF ROME ALSO CABLES TO THE MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION

New York, Oct. 31.—How Europe appreciated Roosevelt was shown graphically by three cablegrams — one from Marshal Joffre, another from Marshal Foch and the third from Adolfo Appoloni, mayor of Rome—received by Col. William Boyce Thompson, president of the Roosevelt Memorial Association, forwarded to-day to Charles W. Folds chairman of the Chicago committee.

"His memory will always be fresh in the hearts of all Frenchmen," Marshal Foch declared.

"Very happy on Theodore Roosevelt's birthday to attest my admiration for his energy and elevation of character," Marshal Joffre said.

"I knew Roosevelt well and have always admired him. He had a strong will and labored always for the common good," the mayor of Rome said in his cablegram.

More than $300,000 towards the memorial fund is now in the hands of the local committee, it was reported. Contributions are pouring in by every mail.

DOMINION'S LOAN TOTAL $111,254,800

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Oct. 31. Victory Loan subscriptions up to noon today for the whole Dominion are reported to be $111,254,800, which compares favorably with last year's total to date of $88,242,350. Ontario's total this afternoon is the same as reported this morning.

Five youths in an auto at Detroit had successfully effected four holdups and were engaged in robbing a jewelry store when frightened away by a policeman. All escaped.

Mrs. Julian Heath, New York, president of the National Housewives' League, called upon all members to boycott butter, eggs and coffee, in an effort to force prices down.

STEAM SHOVEL AT BRIDGE

The Russell Vale Shend Company are apparently endeavoring to speed along the construction of the new Hunter street bridge as much as possible. This afternoon they are using a large and [illegible] steam shovel which, especially when the horses and men get used to it, will add considerably to the speed of loading the wagons. This afternoon some delays were caused by frightened horses and the shovel getting the ground suitably torn up but soon this will be an excellent time saving device. It fills a wagon in approximately two shovel fulls; that is, when the horses remain still and allows all the earth to fall into the wagon.

Keep Baby's Woollens Soft and Sweet

Even little garments are dear now—you must make them last. And, of course, you want them always soft and comfy for the important wee person.

The little woollens never need shrink a thread—never stiffen or grow thick—not after repeated washings, if you cleanse them in the pure creamy LUX lather. It's so simple to whip the delicate LUX flakes into a rich suds—so simple to squeeze this suds through the little garments—then take them out absolutely sweet and clean and fresh.

LUX is now being demonstrated on our main floor by Miss Walker who will be glad to show you just how to use LUX to the best advantage. If you have a silk or crepe waist you would like washed bring it in and Miss Walker will do it.

CANADA'S SUGAR FOR NEW YORK

REPORTED 3,000 TONS TO BE DISTRIBUTED AMONG MANUFACTURERS

New York, Oct. 30.—Arrangements are being made to bring from Canada 3,000 tons of sugar for distribution among manufacturing plants in this city.

"The sugar will be here in a week or ten days," Mr. Williams said. "Some of the plants which will get parts of the consignments now are ready to shut down because they haven't sugar. This sugar will release an equal amount for use in the homes

Mr. Williams turned over to Ben. A. Matthews, Assitant District Attorney, yesterday another alleged case of sugar profiteering. The accused is A. Gronowitz, a Stanton Street wholesaler. Mr. Williams says Gronowitz was charged with demanding 22 cents a pound for sugar and compelling the buyer to take also 200 pounds of corn sugar with its purchase.

The committee on storage, markets and marketting of the State Council of Farms and Markets conducted a public hearing yesterday at 90 West Broadway on the proposal to modify the cold storage egg stamping rule. Under this rule it is necessary to stamp each egg in freezers with the shall be stamped. Dr. Day, Market the discussion seemingly indicated that the council at its next session will revise the rule so that only containers and not individual eggs shall be stamped, Dr. Day, Market Commissioner, presided.

Cyrus C. Miller, former director of the bureau of transportation and distribution of the State Food Commission, represented the Butter, Cheese and Egg Dealers Association of New York city. He assured the committee the men in the trade are anxious to cooperate in every way with the committee to establish and enforce workable rules. Mr. Miller said that a rule calling for the stamping of the words "cold storage" on egg containers would be agreeable to the trade. He said also a rule requiring the invoicing of cold storage eggs through to the retailer would be acceptable.

John J. Berman of Buffalo proposed that the sale of cold storage eggs in original containers should be required.

Seward Miller, counsel of the State Council of Farms and Markets, said there should be a definition of what constitutes a fresh egg, and dealers should be prohibited from selling "held" eggs as fresh eggs.

William E. Dana, president of the council, said he thought the present stamping rule would be changed, so that it will satisfy the trade and protect the public.

Le Roy W. Rose, United States District Attorney of Brooklyn, assigned yesterday two deputies to make a further investigation into the case of Louis Leavitt, white lead manufacturer, charged with hoarding 1,300,000 pounds of bacon.

IMPROVEMENT IN MORAL CONDITIONS

SIXTY PER CENT FALLING OFF IN NUMBER OF ARRESTS OF WOMEN

New York, Oct. 30.—Statistics made public last night by William McAdoo, Chief City Magistrate, indicated that the number of cases involving personal morality that get into the Women's Night Court are gradually becoming smaller. Magistrate McAdoo was unwilling to say whether or not this situation is due to the reduced consumption of alcoholic stimulants.

The figures for September indicate that for Manhattan, Brooklyn and the Bronx the cases involving disorderly conduct and violations of the Tenement House law numbered 128. This compared with 296 for last May, 252 for June, 97 for July and 107 for August.

"There is still more marked falling off," said the Chief Magistrate, "by comparing the months of July in the years, 1917, 1918 and 1919, which show respectively as to number of cases, 372, 344 and 136. The total number of cases in July, 1919, against those of the preceding year shows a falling off of 208, or about sixty per cent.

"The number of cases that come into this court are entirely dependent upon the arrest made by the police. It therefore follows that in the months of July, August and September of this year the number where the offence involved immorality has fallen off most remarkably."

Magistrate McAdoo then asks a series of questions which analyze the situation. He says that at present he is unwilling to answer any of those questions.

Mrs Barbara Estes, 77, Tusin, Mich., has fallen heir to $2,000,000 through the death of an uncle in England.

MOTHERS' PENSION SCHEME OF HEARST

A MILLION EACH YEAR IS THE COST ESTIMATED IN REPORT

Premier Hearst announces that a draft bill to provide mothers' pensions has been under consideration by his Cabinet, founded on a report by Dr. W. A. Riddell, which places the number of widows with children at 16,048, with 31,223 children and estimates the annual cost of assistance at $1,078,440.

Dr. Riddell recommends as a basis for grants: That the father shall have been a British subject, the mother and children residents of Canada for two years, and at the time of the father's death of incapacitation; and the applicants to have lived in Ontario for two years, and to continue to reside here; that the mother must have conjugal status, and be either a widow, the wife of an inmate of a provincial hospital for the insane, or the wife of a man who is permanently incapacitated and must be in every way a suitable guardian of her children of under 14 years; that the mother and children do not own property valued at more than $2,000, more than $500 cash or securities convertible into cash, other than household goods.

An administrative commission of five, to include two women, who will fix the pension in each case, half the cost to be borne by the province and the rest by the county concerned.

COMPOSITION OF DRURY'S CABINET

MUCH SPECULATION AS TO WHO WILL BE NAMED FOR PORTFOLIOS

Toronto, Oct. 30.—Mr. Drury declares that he gives up all leanings Ottawawards, and definitely assumes the Ontario leadership for as long as the party wants him. The prospective Premier, to make himself right so far as his "war record" is concerned, says that he ran and was defeated as a Conscriptionist Liberal in North Simcoe in 1917.

The New Cabinet.

There is much speculation as to who will form the Cabinet of the U.F.O.-Labor Government. The conference yesterday agreed to leave it to Mr. Drury.

In well informed circles the following is said to be pretty close to the choice which Mr. Drury will make:

Premier and Minister of Agriculture, E. C. Drury.

Attorney-General, Gordon Waldron, or J. W. Curry, or W. D. Gregory.

Provincial Secretary, A. S. Tisdelle (Essex N.)

Provincial Treasurer, F. C. Biggs (Wentworth N.)

Minister of Lands, forests and Mines, Peter Smith (Perth South).

Minister of Labor, W. Rollo (Labor-Hamilton West).

Minister of Education, B. Bowman (Manitoulin).

Minister of Public Works, Lieut.-Col. Carmichael (Grey Centre).

Minister without portfolio, M. Dohaerty.

There is another Cabinet position to be filled by a Labor man, who will likely be appointed Minister without portfolio. It is said by some that Mayor MacBride, of Brantford, may be offered this position, but owing to his disagreement with the conferees yesterday it is not likely he will accept. Others predict that James Simpson may be named as Minister without portfolio.

Drury Waiting.

The position that Mr. Drury now assumes, that of waiting for the word of the Lieutenant-Governor to call him as he sees fit, is constitutionally correct, according to authorities. The Lieutenant-Governor is not bound to call the leader of a party that has merely a plurality in the Legislature to form a Government; he has first to be assured that the leader has a clear majority. The Lieutenant-Governor's power even goes beyond that. It is declared that he has no constitutional duty, but many privileges. He can almost do as his wisdom dictates in the matter.

There was no meeting of the Cabinet today, and Sir William Hearst sent out word to the reporters that he had no statement to make. It is not expected that the Premier will tender his resignation until he has another conference with the Lieutenant-Governor.

Some of the newly-elected members visited the buildings this morning to take a look through. They were most interested in the legislative Assembly room.

BURGLARS IN PORT HOPE

The grocery store of John Curtis and Son, of Port Hope, was burglarized at night, and fifteen dollars in silver and coppers stolen. The thieves gained an entrance by throwing a large stone through the plate glass window at the front door. Sibun's general store at Bewdley also received a visit from the burglars, and more than three hundred dollars worth of merchandise and cash was carried off.

Senator Poindexter, Washington, announced he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for President in 1920.

"ONE WEEK OF LIFE" IS CRAVED BY ALL, SAYS PAULINE FREDERICK

See This Gifted Screen Star at the Grand Theatre Monday Next

One week of life! What doesnt that hold for thousands of people? No sooner had the scenario of Cosmo Hamilton's play of that name been sugested to me as my next Goldwyn Picture than the title ran through my mind. Without guessing its relation to the drama, I was arrested by its general significance. For who in the world does not long for a week of life such as they think would bring them happiness?

Not only those who are tempted by illicit love, as is the case of characters in "One Week of Life," but hundreds of other reasons prompt people to yearn for surcease from the monotony of every day existense. It is not lovers alone, who wish to run away, but the weary mother, the over worked husband—even the rebellious schoolgirl. All dream of a different taste of life, and all when they finally experience it find it lacking in what they expected. It is like the two weeks vacation of the clerk and stenographer—they usually are glad to come back to their desks. The mother, if she is fortunate enough to be rid of the children for a day, is anxious to see if they are all right. And so it goes.

Even a woman like Mrs. Kingsley Sherwood, in "One Week of Life" finds that the rendezvous with the man she thinks she loves doesn't ring true. The woman she has persuaded to take her place in the Sherwood household worries her. She wonders if her husband will notice the deception when he dines with the substitute, if her counterfeit will carry out the deception to the letter, if in the end the society woman's week of life will not end in discovery and disgrace. These are the questions which torture her and make the retreat in the country more irksome than her restrained lesires ever were. The end of such a selfish love can only result in disaster. But it is the means of bringing deserved happiness to the girl whose fentural resemblance to her is so strong that the curious bargain is made, a bargain founded on deception. Mrs. Sherwood pretends to be visiting her sick child and the girl believes that the woman's husband will not make this possible unless he is deceivd into thinking his wife remains at home.

Not usually is the experienced player so enthusiastic over the play she is to do, but nowadays w aim to reflect life on the screen, not merely to involve ourselves in mimic situations.

When I am fortunate enough to find a vehicle which does this with the fidelity of "One Week of Life" and adheres to the unities of fine drama at the same time, a genuine prize is mine.

Pauline Frederick declares that most people first get tired of each other at mealtimes. Also that bores are always developed at a dinner table. This observation is sharpened by what happens at dinner in "One Week of Life" her new Goldwyn Picture. Mrs. Kingsley Sherwood [illegible] hand had she not dined with him nightly. It was too much to see him once a day. How she escaped this ordeal and enjoyed a week of life—and what came of it—constitute much of the interest in the Cosmo Hamilton drama.

NONE SO POPULAR AS MUTT AND JEFF

THERE ARE PLAYS BUT THESE FUNNY ONES DISCOUNT THEM ALL

This year that best of all roaring musical farce spectacles, "Mutt and Jeff's Dreamin" comes to the Grand Saturday matinee and evening, with everything rearranged, sparkling and rejuvenated Mr .Hill has replaced everything heretofore used with entirely new up-to-date material and the consequence is a brand new and thoroughly finished farce comedy spectacular review of the latest fads and funny things of the day. "Mutt and Jeff" has long since earned the top-notch position among extravagant farces, and the idea of remodeling the scenic environment and reconstructing the piece generally has been an annual occurence, but this season an extra effort has been made in the way of renewing the lines situations and a decidedly refreshing atmosphere permeates the entire performance. A brilliant and prettily costumed chorus of youthful maidens assist in the attractively arranged ensembles and the modern popular music leaves nothing to be decided in a musical way.. The specialties are the best that ever appeared in any musical farce comedy. A wealth of money has been expended this season to costume it beyond the fondest dreams of the indulgent public.

NEW TYMPANIES AT THE GRAND

ADD APPRECIABLY TO EFFECT OF THE SPLENDID ORCHESTRA

The last of the series of the "Seven Dealy Sins" was the feature picture at the Grand last night. This series has attracted considerable attention to the local playhouse and have been well worth seeing. In last night's production all the stars from the rest of the series were introduced.

"The Marriage Ring," an added feature, is a very clever picture, in which Miss Enid Bennett is starred. The action takes place in Hawaii mainly and some splendid photography is shown.

A pleasing feature at last night's show was the introduction of a new set of tympanies, which were handled to perfection by that artist of the traps, Mr. Robt. Beach.

This splendid program will be repeated again tonight.

HONDURAN CITY OF MYSTERY

No Scholar Has Been Able to Decipher the Picture-Writings Left in Copan.

Copan is a city of mystery. The people who once thronged its streets and bowled at its altars are long since gone, leaving no record of their existence save the hoary stones of their city. These stones, built into pyramids, walls and monuments, bear their story carved in the Mays characters. But no descendants have survived to interpret the stories, and no scholar has arisen wise enough to read the picture-writings of Copan.

Ruins of this oldest city of the Maya Indians may still be seen by those sufficiently persistent and enthusiastic to seek them out. A little Indian village in western Honduras, and the river on which it lies keep the name of Copan alive today. To visit the ruins of the great Copan you must seek out this village by train and then go a long journey on horseback. Just beyond the village lies the old Maya metropolis.

The only inhabitants of Copan today are queer figures of the Maya gods, that peer out of unexpected hiding places like the creatures of a bad dream. Wonderfully carved many of them are, grotesque in attitude and expression, according to the artists' conception of the beings of the other world.

When Copan flourished, how it fell, and what became of its last people, no one knows. The city is as desolate as only a deserted city can be, oppressive and sad even in the bright sunlight of a tropical midday.—"Niksah" in Indianapolis Star.

FIRST TO WEAR FINGER RING

Legend Makes Prometheus the Pioneer of Custom That May Now Be Called Universal.

The first finger ring is supposed to have been worn by Prometheus, who stole fire from heaven that man might warm himself and cook his food. This act so incensed Jupiter that the king of gods condemned him to be chained upon a rock where vultures could constantly feast upon him. The sentence was carried out, but Prometheus was released. Then Jupiter ordered that Prometheus wear a link of chain about his finger as a reminder of the punishment. A fragment of the rock to which he had been chained was set in the ring, so that he might still be regarded as being bound to the rock.

The custom of wearing an engagement or wedding ring upon the third finger is due to an ancient belief that a nerve or vein directly connected this finger with the heart, according to a writer in the Pittsburgh Dispatch. Macrobius said: "Because of this nerve the newly betrothed places the ring on this finger of his beloved, as though it were a representation of the heart." And just to show that the practice is a very old one, Macrobius admitted having obtained the facts from an Egyptian priest, thus linking the belief with the dim reaches of the past.

His friends said it was excusable because it was his first boy. He exhibited the photograph at the bank where he was employed.

"Isn't he a wonder?" the young father would say, passing it through the window.

"You bet he is—really good looking and intelligent: yes, he does resemble his father." And papa would beam and act as though he had not noticed the flattering smile. All day the same thing was repeated as friends entered the bank.

He was "real tickled" with himself when he went home that night and handed the package of photographs to his wife. As she opened it the much flattered papa told her how his friends had admired "Junior," and did she think the little fellow looked as much like him as people had said?

Mrs. Bank Teller took one look at the contents of the package.

"Why, dearie, the photographer has made a mistake; he gave you the wrong pictures."—Kansas City Star.

Clock Tower of Jerusalem.

Since the occupation of the holy city of Jerusalem by the British it is gradually becoming more westernized. For the first time in its history its streets are properly cleaned and it has been given a fire brigade service and now an efficient water-supply. Hitherto its inhabitants depended upon a few wells and water collected in overhead cisterns. The telephone, too, has been introduced.

Its most striking improvement—though it is one that was carried out just prior to the war—was the erection of a fine clock tower at the Jaffa gate. It is built of white stone obtained from Solomon's quarries, of which the temple was constructed. The clock, which was supplied by a London watchmaker, shows both European and Arabic time. Opposite the tower a drinking fountain has been erected, and the roadway which leads through the old walls into the city at this point has been entirely rebuilt.

Vary Your Garden.

Remember that plant diseases and insects thrive where they have become established. Therefore, gardeners this year should take care not to place the individual crops where the same crops grew last year. Varying the arrangement of the garden reduces the danger from disease and insects. The same vegetables in the same place each year exhaust certain food elements, and reduced yields are sure to result.

There is to be a big shake-up in the Chicago police force in an effort to check the epidemic of murder and other crimes there.

Paid for V.C. With His Life

DURING the strong enemy counter-attack a Lewis gun in a forward post in a communication trench leading to the enemy lines, was buried by a shell, and the crew, with the exception of one man, killed.

Sergt. Hobson, though not a gunner, grasped the great importance of the post, rushed from the trench, dug out the gun and got it into action against the enemy who were now advancing down the trench and across the open.

A jam caused the gun to stop firing. Though wounded, he left the gunner to correct the stoppage, rushed forward at the advancing enemy and, with bayonet and clubbed rifle, single-handed, held them back until he himself was killed by a rifle shot. By this time, however, the Lewis gun was again in action and reinforcements shortly afterwards arriving, the enemy were beaten off.

The valor and devotion to duty displayed by this non-commissioned officer gave the gunner the time required to again get the gun into action, and saved a most serious situation.—Official Record.

The labyrinth of trenches between Hill 70 and the city of Lens was captured by the Canadians in the attack of August 15, 1917. That piece of ground had passed between hands so often in the three years previous that No Man's Land was a maze of trenches running in all directions. In places they led directly from the Canadians to the Germans' lines, and were divided only by blocks garrisoned by machine guns. The weather, which was unsettled and sultry on the 15th, by the 18th was clear and sunny and the rains of two weeks previous were quickly drying the chalky soil.

Nabob alley was one of the old communication lines leading across No Man's Land. Up this trench on the morning of the 15th Sergt. Hobson, of the 20th Battalion, had bombed his way for about 70 yards. There he established a post and garrisoned it with Lewis guns. The conquered trench was held for three days by "A" Company.

Midnight of August 17-18 passed. It was the dark of the moon and little could be seen of what was going on out on No Man's Land. At 1.45 o'clock the silence of the night was broken by the roar of heavy artillery. Every inch of the Canadian front line was deluged with shells. For half an hour the din and devastating fire continued. Every wire to the 20th Battalion headquarters was broken.

Then a lull came. The men in Nabob alley crouched in their trench while gas shells poured over them on to the village of St. Pierre behind them. Another pause and the artillery broke out again. Every gun that the Hun could bring up was trained on Hill 70. The ground was torn up and tons of earth and stones hurled into the air. Men were killed in groups. Practically every Lewis gun was smashed or buried beside its crew. The advanced posts were ground into the earth. The Canadian lines were in confusion.

Then down the line the word was passed from lip to lip that the Hun was out in No Man's Land, coming towards Nabob alley. Sergt. Hobson peered into the darkness and saw the grey figures of the enemy coming at the double. They came down Nabob alley, where only one Lewis gun was now left. The gunner trained his fire on the wave of German grey, but while he was in the action a shell made a direct hit and buried crew and gun. Only one man was alive when Hobson ran up to the spot and started digging him out. He pulled him out of the debris, bruised and dazed.

"Pretty close call," the gunner said to his rescuer, but Hobson was already digging at the gun, while the Huns advanced down the trench.

"Let's get this out," said Hobson, and the two men began to dig with all their might. The Germans came closer in the dark. Hobson was struck by a stick bomb, but on he went with his work. The gun must be got out at all costs. At last they got it into position and the gunner opened on the enemy with telling effect. Two men were holding back the German advance. Then the gun jammed.

Grabbing a rifle, Hobson ran ahead.

"I'll keep them back. You fix the gun," he said and opened on the enemy. With bayonet and clubbed rifle he fought them off till a pile of their dead lay at his feet.

"All right," shouted the gunner to Hobson, and opened on the invaders. But at that moment a German got a direct aim and Hobson fell, killed instantly.

The gunner made the enemy pay dearly for the deed. With his Lewis gun he stemmed the advance until he was reinforced by another company and they turned the Germans back. But the hero who had saved the post in the first onrush lay dead—his rifle still tightly grasped in his hand. They found him when dawn was coming over the ridge.

Frederick Hobson was born in London, England, in 1876. Before coming to Canada he had been in the Imperial forces. He enlisted in the 20th Battalion at Toronto in October, 1914. On the morning of August 17, Hobson was acting sergeant-major, and it was in fulfilment of his responsibilities in that capacity that he made his last gallant defence of his battalion and won the Victoria Cross.—Carolyn Cornell in Toronto Star Weekly.

The Crucial Moment.

The time when life's affairs begin
To seem entirely wrong

Where you do not belong.

Safe blowers escaped with $50,000 loot from the bank at Alexandria, Ky. They isolated the town by cutting all telephone wires.

Big Girl for That.

That tooth was certainly annoying Miss C——, the primary room teacher of the A—— school, put her finger into her mouth to discover the cause of this annoyance. Ollie, a bright faced little pupil, noting the act suddenly asked: "Teacher, how old are you?" Choosing to ignore his impertinence she made no answer. He was not to be daunted, however. With an expression of scorn he said: "I know you're over twenty, and just think! still sucking your finger."

Obedient Little Winifred.

Winifred was in the habit of visiting a neighbor and coming home with her hands full of chocolates. I remonstrated with her about it and the day after she stood by the neighbor's door and said: "My mother says I'm not to come in if you are busy, but you're not busy, and she says I must never ask for chocolates." A moment's pause and then she spoke winningly: "But you haven't any chocolates, have you?"—Exchange.

The Sleep Ration.

John Wesley experimented in sleep rationing as a cure for insomnia. Finding he woke every night about twelve and lay sleepless for some hours, he decided to go to bed later and rise earlier. The first day he rose at seven instead of eight, the next at six, the next at five, the next at four. By rising at that hour he found he slept without waking throughout his "ration," and thereafter rose at four for good.

Family Pride.

Family pride, as it exists in society, seems to involve an absurdity, inasmuch as the honor of being descended from a great man increases exactly as the degree of consanguinity to him diminishes; for his immediate descendants are as mere upstarts compared to such of his remote posterity as can trace their origin to their great progenitor, back through a period of many years.—John Malcolm.

How Character Is Revealed.

The little things that we do without thinking are the things that tell what we really are. We may desire to possess a character that we have not yet attained, or we may pose for the kind of person we are not, but our unguarded movements betray us. What we are speaks more loudly than what we say.

"Philadelphia Measure."

When old Philadelphia was laid out a defective chain was used in the survey. This chain made each hundred feet three inches longer than it should have been. Property in much of Philadelphia is still defined in this incorrect measure. Hence the term "Philadelphia measure."

Stansfield's Five Capture Three Games From Rollers

Stansfield's five captured three games from the Rollers in last night's bowling at the "Y". In spite of the fact that the Rollers worked hard they were unable to shake the hard luck which favored them. Some remarkable frames were the features of the games and scores were generally good. The men from the C. G. S. are out to make all comers travel, while the Rollers promise their next opponents a thorough going over. Scores:

Winners.	1st	2nd	3rd	Total
Beaton	161	136	139	—436
Stanton	106	122	143	—371
Huffman	123	173	122	—418
Browett	119	175	163	—457

Pogue	122	82	74	—278
Roper	...	...	117	—117
Totals	600	616	630	—1846

Stanfield and Beaton starred in the first game, while Taylor, Loucks and Herbison worked hard to counterbalance their efforts. Loucks topped all scores in the second game, but with hard luck working against them, his team mates were unable to give the necessary support. The last game looked promising to the Rollers with a good start and a pinch hitter in but the Jonah made himself known again while Stanfield's five speeded on to a victory in all three games.

The next game is scheduled for Monday, November 3rd—Centrals vs Busy Bunch—at 7.30 p.m.

P. C. I. AT BELLEVILLE

The members of the P. C. I. rugby team are leaving this afternoon to motor to Belleville where they will engage the High School in their return match for rugby honors. Last Saturday the local boys defeated the Belleville invaders by one point and both teams will enter tomorrow's contest confident of victory.

BONDS BURNED HIS CONSCIENCE

SO JUDGE RELEASED COLLECTOR WHO WAITED TWO MONTHS IN JAIL

Hammond, Ind., Oct. 30.—Clifford Butts, who collected liberty bonds from ignorant foreigners here last summer on the plea that he was going to have the numbers changed, was tried to-day before Judge A. B. Anderson in the Federal court on a charge of impersonating an officer. Butts said that after he got the bonds he did not know what to do.

"Burned holes in your pockets, did they?" asked Judge Anderson.

"No, they burned holes in my conscience," answered Butts.

Having awaited trial in jail for two months, he was released.

LINDSAY MIDGETS HAVE ORGANIZED

HAVE FAST TEAM FOR JUNIOR O. H. A. SERIES.

Lindsay, Oct. 31.—The Lindsay Midgets have organised for the coming season, and will have a strong O.H.A. junior team on the ice. A number of last year's players are on hand, besides some new material. It is expected that Peter Sprat will coach the boys, and Alf Gamble will be trainer. The management include the following: C. M. Squire, R. Butler, F. A. Martin, F. Carew, Ed. C. Armstrong.

SHAMROCK IN POOR CONDITION

WILL COST CONSIDERABLE TO PREPARE LIPTON'S CHALLENGER FOR RACE

New York.—Shamrock IV, Sir Thomas Lipton's America's cup challenger, will be put overboard in South Brooklyn in a few days and towed up to City Island. There she will be hauled out and housed for the winter. Sir Thomas' houseboat Killarney, with the challenger's sails, already has been taken to City Island. Her mast and spars will follow her there.

The moving of the yacht was a result of a recommendation of Charles E. Nicholson, their designer, after he inspected her. The South Brooklyn yard, where she has been hauled out and housed in with galvanized iron since she arrived here shortly after the outbreak of the war in 1914, is jammed with merchant ship work.

The roof of the building in which the spars were kept was found to have caved in. During the tearing out of the cabins of the yacht to convert them for war work several bath tubs were tossed on the spar shed and the roof sagged under the weight. It was found that the challenger's great hollow wood mast was on the verge of deterioration. This mast, which is the largest of its kind ever constructed, cost $20,000 and it was figured it would cost twice that sum to replace it, even if the work could be done in the crowded shipyards of the United Kingdom. The sails stowed away on the Killarney were in good condition.

Workmen are now tearing away the house built around the Shamrock IV., as she lies out of the water. When that work is completed she will float although she has a wooden hull, which has not been wet in more than five years. If she should sink she could be raised easily.

YANKEES AFTER A THIRD SHARE

CLAIM THAT SATURDAY'S INJUNCTION RE-MAYERS SETTLES QUESTION

New York, Oct. 30.—Col. Jacob Ruppert and Col. T. L. Huston, owners of the New York American League club, announced tonight that the share of the world's series receipts to which the Yankee players are entitled for finishing third in the American League pennant race would be demanded of the National Commissioners immediately.

The club owners said that the permanent injunction issued Saturday restraining President Ben Johnson of the American League, from enforcing his suspension ruling against Pitcher Carl Mays, "definately closes up the question raised by the Detroit club's challenge of New York's right to third place."

This challenge based on the claim that New York took third place by using Mays, who was then under a suspension not enforced because of a temporary restraining order, has caused the world series money due to the New York players to be withheld, according to Colonels Ruppert and Huston.

HESSE DEMANDS RE-INSTATEMENT

OLD-TIME LACROSSE GOALKEEPER'S REQUEST FOR CARD WILL BE APPROVED

Vancouver, Oct. 30.—Although it is reported that a dozen or more local athletes, professionals in other days, are to ask to have the whitewash brush applied by the powers that be in British Columbia, only two have so far come forward with their applications. Corey Hesse, old-time lacrosse goalkeeping star, is one and Foley, a local youngster who was coaxed into the professional lacrosse ranks during the past season and side-tracked when he failde to land a permanent berth, are the two men to submit their applications. Hesse's application is certain to be approved. He has been out of professional sport for several years and during the past few years has been devoting all of his time to the amateurs, doing good work in the encouragement and promotion of amateur sport. Foley deserves consideration, as there is no doubt that he jumped to the pros. without giving the matter much thought and only after the promoters had painted glowing pictures of the future for him in the sport.

Dave Leith, vice-president of the A.A.U. of C. and chairman of the Vancouver branch, stated to-day that all athletes who intend applying for reinstatement should do so before Monday night. A meeting of the Vancouver board will be held early next week to consider the applications and to nominate representatives to attend the meeting of the provincial executive. Victoria wants the meeting of the B. C. executive held at Nanaimo on November 1, but it is altogether likely that the meeting will be set back for one week.

Love Fest to Mark Golden Anniversary of Team December 9

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Woodlawn Bards and other baseball boosters, heads of the local ball clubs and everyone connected with the national pastime will be invited to join with the "Fans of 69" in their celebration of the golden anniversary of the White Sox at the Great Northern hotel, Dec. 9. A meeting to perfect plans for the big love feast will be held Friday night at the same hostelry and at that time it is expected more than one hundred of the half century fans will be in attendance.

The preliminary meeting of fans recently brought together old followers of the pastime who had not met for years. Most notable of these reunions was the meeting of William Sidney Booth a player on the Actives in the '60s, and Hughie Reed, pitcher for the Aetnas, after a lapse of forty years.

Among the fans pledged to back the banquet are Bob Dennis, Al Spink and John L. Dennis of the Actives; John S. Burke William Burke and James Forest of the Garden Citys; Charles S. Dennis and Fred Dennis of the West Ends; Peter Norton of the Dreadnoughts of 1870 and Frank Keefer, secretary of the Aetnas in 1869.

CHAMPS TO BE HONORED

Belleville, Oct. 31. — The C. O. League Cup and the "News" Trophy, emblem of amateur ball for Ontario, along with the individual gifts for the G.T.R. Champions, will be presented at the armouries here, itis stated, on November 7. All of the players, with the exception of two were born in Belleville, and these two have spent several years here. The team has made a fine record for the town.

BUT IT WORKED WRONG.

(Brantford Expositor.)

Now that it is all over, most people are not sorry that Premier Hearst killed two birds with one stone by having the referendum and provincial elections take place on the same day. It was a pretty cut party dodge, just the same.

MOZAMBIQUE.

Portuguese Colony In the "Dark Continent."

The war is over, but the necessity for learning strange sounding names of new lands and peoples is far from over. The spot light which is brought to view such little known peoples as the Czechs, the Croats, the Ukrainians in Europe, now will be turned, in part, on Africa.

Through the redistribution of colonial possessions, and the removal of the blight of German domination, Africa bids fair to be the 'boom continent' of the twentieth century.

New interest is being taken in the colonies of the erstwhile "Dark Continent." Mozambique is a Portuguese colony to the south of what was German East Africa, now released from the imperial designs of German African expansion, and therefore extremely apt to play a more conspicuous part in African development.

A description of Mozambique is given by O. W. Barrett, as follows:—

"A country as big as the Atlantic states from Florida to New York, with the capital near the southern boundary and half a dozen smaller towns scattered along the coast; more than 3,000,000 inhabitants, of which only about one per cent. are white; one of the oldest of all European possessions and one of the richest in agricultural possibilities, at least, but one of the least known countries in the world. Such is Mozambique.

"Four or five good ports and as many navigable rivers, a small but up-to-date capital city, and a generous number of military posts and outposts, a few of which are in the real raw interior; millions of acres of the finest aluvial soil fairly aching to show the farmer what big crops may be grown; waterways like the Zambesi, the Limpopo, and plenty of smaller ones to allow cheap handling of products; no deserts, no salt sinks, no large swamps, no mountainous wastes, no impenetrable jungles; out of some twenty only one or two tribes that object seriously to paying taxes to the Government, now that they realize that the tax collector is a vital organ of the white tribe, which objects to any one tribe exterminating another in the good old way; for, wicked as a bush policeman tries to be, he must needs fall far short of the unrestrained chief's 'induna.'

"The early history of this strange section of East Africa should not be, even if it could be, written. We know the old-time black was as bad as a barbarian can be, and the endless tale of persistent, widespread, and continuous butchery would not be good to read.

"The Zulus have had for centuries a superstitious fear of salt water, and so, when Chaka, Dingaan, and their brother fiends had devastated practically all the country between Zululand and Inhambane, wiping out kraals and even whole tribes by scores, they came to a long chain of lakes (the Lower Inharrime) parallel with the coast, and there they stopped, thus saving one tribe of true, pure-blood Kaffirs who had fled over onto the dunes and low, bushy hills between the 'rosary' of brackish lagoons and the Indian Ocean. This tribe, the M'chois, is the purest if not the only unmixed Kaffir tribe now in existence.

"At Quesico we had the good fortune to witness a batuque, or ball, lasting nearly three days, at which about 3,000 fine specimens, mostly adults, were present. To describe the weird minor music of the marimbas, or huge xylophones, the blood-freezing death chants, the thrilling war songs, the 'expression' dances of both women and men, and rites and divination ceremonies which the witch doctors were indjeed to show us would require much space.

"The young girls' dance of the M'chopis tribe requires several years' practice before the difficult poses and contortions can be successfully performed. Ankle rattles are worn by girls. These hollow spheres are made of palm-leaf or grass, if not young gourd fruits, and are partially filled with large seeds, pebbles, etc. The noise of these ankle rattles is supposed to assist in keeping time in the dance. This is probably a Zulu custom, and even to-day in civilized Durban the rickshaw boys frequently wear similar ornaments.

"Near Mopea, three days up the Zambesi, we passed through two small native kraals in which the lions had eaten eighteen people in three months previous. It is quite impossible to hunt these man-eaters on account of the tall, rank grass (four to six feet high), and, since they soon learn that two or three cuffs will make a big hole in the side of an ordinary hut, the poor native must roost high or die."

The Word "Selah."

The word Selah, which occurs so frequently in the Psalms, is usually believed to be a direction to the musicians who chanted the Psalms in the temple. Matthieson, the great musical critics, wrote a book on the subject, in which, after rejecting a number of theories, he came to the conclusion that it is equivalent to the modern "da capo," and is a direction that the air or song is to be repeated from the commencement to the part where the word is placed.

STRONG SENSE OF HONESTY

Of Course It Was That, and No Other Reason, Which Caused Volunteer's Action.

Loton Horton, the milk magnate, was talking about the terrific New York milk strike.

"Oh, well," he said, apropos of an opponent's honesty—"oh, well, we're all honest when it pays to be. We're all more or less like the volunteer."

"The volunteer?" said the reporter.

"It's a story," Mr. Horton explained. "A movie actress, the prettiest movie actress in Los Angeles, was conducting a recruiting campaign at a bazar, and she guaranteed to kiss every young man who would volunteer to fight for Uncle Sam.

"Well, there were lots of volunteers, of course, and the actress permitted each of them to kiss her, and they did so, while the crowd laughed and applauded, in a polite, gentlemanly manner.

"But one volunteer seemed to lose his head. He threw his arms about the lovely actress and kissed her with such abandon that she was almost suffocated, and had to push him away. Yes, she pushed him away, her eyes blazing, but he stalked off to the recruiting office without a word of apology.

"An hour later the fellow dashed into the hall again, seized the actress in his arms once more, and pressed his lips to hers in a kiss more passionate than before. Again she pushed him off.

"'You fresh chump,' she hissed, 'what do you mean? You had your kiss an hour ago!'

"'But the recruiting office turned me down,' he said, 'and so, like an honest man, I had to give it back to you, didn't I?'"

Miracles Due to Mothers.

Medicine can to some extent prevent disease from attacking the child; medicine cannot perform miracles. It is a miracle if children brought up in foul and evil surroundings grow up healthy and wholesome men and women. The miracle, incidentally, is usually accomplished not by doctors but by the self-sacrifice and heroism of the mother of the children, who too often loses her own health in the process.—London Times.

Language and Thought.

Language is properly the servant of thought, but not unfrequently becomes its master. The conceptions of a feeble writer are greatly modified by his style; a man of vigorous powers makes his style bend to his conceptions—a fact compatible enough with the acknowledgment of Dryden that a rhyme had often helped him to an idea.—Clulow.

Music a Necessity.

Music is not one of the luxurious superfluities in our time. It has come to be classed as a necessity. It is, like flowers, the staff of life to the hungry soul upon a pilgrimage. It is in relief to all the strident and discordant sounds made in the fevered industrial rack and turmoil of "man's fitful uproar mingling with his toil."

Contract Marriages.

Contract marriage is now the commonly accepted doctrine that marriage is a civil contract requiring only the free and intelligent consent of parties capable of contracting. A contract of this sort, drawn up and signed, is a marriage in the eyes of the law in all the states.

WAS DICKENS' OFFICE BOY

And All He Remembers of Great Author Is the Peculiar Style of His Clothes.

The perseverance with which the unimportant lingers in memory is illustrated by the sum total of what the veteran porter who lately retired from his post at Temple Gate, London, can now recall about Charles Dickens. Back in the sixties this man, it is said, was office boy for the author, then editing "All the Year Round." All he remembers is that Dickens wore a "black velvet coat with big smoked-pearl buttons, and a queer waistcoat, and trousers of shepherd's plaid, the biggest check you ever saw, and a great big deerstalker hat, as they called them, and his hair all hanging down, wiry like." Also that once upon a time somebody asked him, "Is that a shewman?" And he answered, "That's the great Charles Dickens." A vivid picture, and this is probably why, plaid trousers and all, it still sticks in the former office boy's memory; but one wishes he could now recall some of the other things he must have observed in his remarkable chief.

Opportunity.

Opportunity never hunts a man up, but it clings fast to good brains like a burr holds fast to good wool.—J. J. Hill.

Daily Thought.

Honest bread is very well—it's the butter that makes the temptation. —Douglas Jerrold.

Foch Joins the "Pipers."

Marshal Foch has acquired a British habit. The French do not generally smoke pipes. Day by day Marshal Foch saw Field Marshal Haig and other British generals in the vortex of the work calmly doing their work behind good high-bowled briar pipes. Foch asked Haig what it was like to smoke a pipe. He bought an English one. He filled it under careful British military instruction. He began the attempt with energy and purposeful determination, but at first smoked more matches than tobacco. Now, however, he has mastered it and thoroughly enjoys a good briar which he has bought from an English firm.

Many Horses Stay "Over There."

Not all our fighters will return to the land of their birth. Most of the men—those that are living—will come home, but many of the horses will not, for there is great need of draft animals in the reconstruction work in France and Belgium, and there are plenty of war-worn horses that a few weeks or months of rest will restore to usefulness. The Red Star animal relief organization in New York is interesting itself in the pleasant task of getting the poor old war horses into fresh fields and pastures green.—Youth's Companion.

The Victor's Homecoming.

Sir Douglas Haig's Grenadier guard of honor at Charing Cross, when the man of the hour came home, was a particularly fine body of men, and from end to end of the lines there was hardly a man without wound stripes. Not a few of the distinguished people on the platform noticed that three of the guard, standing side by side, had 16 wound stripes between them.

How to Tame Hubby.

Modern wives, here are a few tips on how to keep that husband of yours from becoming a wild man. Mrs. Gene Holmes of Evanston, named by Mrs. George Remus as the other woman in Chicago's latest triangle, is sponsor for the tips.

Need we explain Mrs. Remus is seeking a divorce from her husband? Here are the tips:

Give the husband all the rope he wants—he'll never hang himself. Never, never try to curb his liberty; make him happy; keep the home cozy and attractive; always appear cheerful and pretty—always; feed him well, pet him, humor him—these three things alone will keep him from causing you any trouble; never look upon him as a mere provider—they should be treated like pets.

"If," says Mrs. Holmes, "after doing all these things the husband does not want to stay at home—he isn't human that's all."

What Did He Mean?

The minister had eaten a very good dinner and was getting ready to leave for a long time. He happened to glance at the eighteen-year-old daughter.

"Well, well," he laughed. "I suppose that pretty soon I'll be coming back to marry this young woman to one of the interesting young men of the congregation."

The irresponsible eight-year-old son spoke up:

"Oh, no, you won't," he offered. "Mary is going to be an old bachelor."

The family's laugh told him that he had used the wrong word. So straightway he started to make it right.

"I mean an old witch," he asserted more positively than before.

About Eggs.

Ontario, Canada, now has an egg "circle." This egg circle has been organized for the purpose of eliminating the wholesaler and middleman. Its idea is specifically to prevent any person or persons coming between the farmer's supply of eggs and the consumer. More and more as the cold storage warehouse has come between the consumer and his egg, has the consumer suffered from the separation. "Most every one" will wish the egg circle well.

LINDSAY DEFEAT LOCALS AT CHECKERS

The Lindsay Check Club defeated the Peterborough players at the Y. M. C. A. last night by 25½ games to 10½ games. Although the shouting and cheering was not extensive, the players appeared to take a keen interest in the games. Chief Thompson was the only local player to break even with his opponent the rest all going down to defeat

After the game the Lindsay players were entertained in the dining hall of the "Y." The return game will be played in the course of a few weeks.

DRAW FOR THE CUP : IN THIS DISTRICT

Peterborough, Oct. 29, 1919.

Editor Review:

Sir,—Kindly correct your report re O.C.A. annual meeting.

In the Ontario Tankard the correct draw is as follows: Group No. 3—Bobcaygeon, Cannington, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay, Norwood, Peterborough. Play at Lindsay. Umpire, Mr. J. D. Flavelle.

In the District Cup as follows: District No. 2, Group A — Bobcaygeon, Cannington, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay. Play at Lindsay. Umpire, W. A. Reesor. Group B—Keene, Lakefield, Millbrook, Norwood, Peterborough. Play at Peterborough. Umpire, R. M. Waddell.

Winners to play off at Peterborough.

I never heard of a Mr. M. A. H. Wright ever belonging to the Peterborough Curling Club. If there is a man of such a name here, I am sure Mr. F. Brownscombe, secretary-treasurer, would be glad to have him join.

The rules of the Ontario Tankard have been so that if only three clubs were entered, each should play the other and one that wins to count first. In case of a tie, points to count.

The amendment to the rules were that this should also apply to the District Cup competition.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,

Yours truly,

R. M. WADDELL.

PARK STREET CLASS MAKES PRESENTATION TO MEMBER

On Eve of Departure Miss Joliffe Receives Good Wishes of Former Students

The Cavell Class of Park Street Baptist Sunday School gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. O'Neil, Rink street, on Wednesday evening, to bid farewell to one of the members, who was leaving to reside in Detroit. The evening was spent in songs and games. During the evening the following address was read by Miss Myrtle O'Neill, and at the proper moment, Miss Lily Feasey presented Miss Joliffe with a beautiful suit-case umbrella suitably engraved:

"Peterboro, Oct. 29, 1919.

"Dear Netta.—

"It is with deep regret that we learned of your departure from our midst at an early date, and we cannot let you leave us without in some way showing to you the esteem and love we have for you.

"Your deep interest in the work of our class and all other church work has been a noble example to us all. We would ask you to accept this umbrella as a slight token of the many happy hours spent in our midst. We wish you peace and happiness in your new home and trust that you will continue to work in His Master's vineyard.

"Signed on behalf of the Cavell Class of Park Street Baptist Church Sunday School—Miss O. S. Matchett, Miss O'Neill, Lilly Feasey, Lila Campbell, Thelma Purvis, Mary Humb, Winnie Cooper, Katharine Feasey, Norma Johnston."

Refreshments were served and a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. and Mrs. O'Neil for entertaining the class.

ALDERMEN DEBATE ON FEES FOR POLICE INVESTIGATORS

Recommended That Judge Huycke Receive $100 and Others $50.

The City Council'se finance committee met last night, when it was recommended that Judge Huycke be paid $100 for his services in the recent police investigation, and that Mayor Duncan and Magistrate Dumsle the two other members of the commission be each paid $50.

The recommendation was an amendment to a motion moved by Ald. Edgar that the three members of the commission each receive $50, Ald. Edgar expressing the opinion that all three investigators should share alike. His contention was based on the fact that Judge Huycke receives a salary of $200 a year as chairman of the Board of Police Commissioners, but the other two members receive no renumeration.

Ald. Edgar intimated that he would oppose the recommendation when it reaches Council.

The amendment was moved by Ald. Turner and seconded by Ald. Morrison, Ald. Taylor voted for it.

PRINCE OF WALES WILL AGAIN VISIT TORONTO NEXT WEEK, ARRIVING MONDAY

City Will Present His Royal Highness With Loving Cup of Solid Gold.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—No official programme will be prepared for the second visit of the Prince of Wales to Toronto. His Royal Highness will arrive in the city next Monday morning at 9.30 and will remain until Wednesday morning at 10.30, when he leaves for Ottawa preparatory to his departure for his visit to the United States.

During his stay in Toronto the Prince will address the Canadian Club and will attend a Bishop Strachan School dance. It had also been planned to arrange an exhibition hockey game for him at the Arena, but word has been received at the City Hall from Admiral Halsey that the Prince regrets very much his inability to be present for this event and it has accordingly been abandoned

It is altogether likely that His Royal Highness will again visit the Lambton Golf Club during his stay here. He played over the course on his first visit and at that time expressed a desire to enjoy another game there when he returned.

Toronto's Loving Cup.

On Tuesday or Wednesday the city will present a loving cup to the Prince. There will be no formal ceremony. Mayor Church and members of the Board of Control will proceed to Government House and there make the presentation.

The cup is being made by a Yonge street jeweller, etc. will be of solid gold on a mahogany base and will weigh 700 pennyweights, being of 18-karat gold. Along the top of the bowl of the cup will be the feathers of the Prince of Wales, and on the handles will be chased-in maple leaves. On one side of the bowl will be the city's crest and on the other side the engraved inscription reciting that the cup was presented by the Mayor and corporation of the city of Toronto. The cup will be enclosed in a solid mahogany case and is to cost $1,000.

LETTER CARRIERS' HALF HOLIDAY IS REFERRED TO DEPARTMENT AT OTTAWA

After Consultation Between Delegates From Carriers' Association and Members of Board of Trade—Hours of Work Put in by Employes at Local Office.

A delegation from the Letter Carriers' Association have had a conference with members of the Board of Trade relative to the complaint of the Local Council of Women with regard to the Saturday half holiday for postal employes. The carriers stated their case, and the matter is now in the hands of the department at Ottawa. There have been isolated complaints of the same nature submitted to Postmaster Edgar, and these are being dealt with in the same way.

One half the world does not know how the other half earns a living. There is a poular misapprehension as to the duties and hours of labor of the letter carriers. Some people appear to believe that the postles saunter down to the office or enjoy a free ride on the street car about 8 o'clock, shoulder their bags, that have been filled for them by other employes, and then start out on their rounds, completing their labors for the day about 3 p.m.

The busiest place in the city in the morning is the post office. Owing to the time at which the mail trains arrive, the heft of the work in this city has to be done before the rest of the city is awake. Carriers gather before 6 o'clock in the morning to begin their day's work. Some of them have to walk over two miles, the street cars not running when they turn out. The night force at the post office has been busy sorting the mail as it came in from the different trains. This is placed in boxes numbered to correspond with the numerical designation of the carrier who is to distribute it among the citizens.

The carrier puts in a busy time, one and a half to two hours or more in duration, all depending on the amount of mail to be handled that particular morning. Every letter and newspaper must be sorted according to street and number so that no time will be lost or confusion arise in the work of delivery.

The carrier is supposed to be out on his route by 8 o'clock, and go he must, regardless of weather or other conditions. He is lucky if he gets through by 3 o'clock. It is a delusion to suppose that he works only eight hours a day, when the time he puts in on his route and in the office is considered.

There was a time when a letter carrier in uniform could board a street car anywhere and ride free. Then the road became public property and economy was necessary. The carriers now receive a limited number of tickets, which they say is not sufficient for their needs. They are under the necessity of spending their own money for car fare while on duty in order to make time.

ENDED LIVES WITH MELANITE

CHARGED WITH THEFT, BELGIAN AND SWEETHEART SUICIDE TOGETHER

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Chateau Thierry, France, Nov. 1—Thirty-five pounds of melanite, set off by a detonator, was that method employed by Adrien Thumerel and his sweetheart to end their lives here today.

Charged With Theft.

Thumerel, an employee of the explosives depot at Mezy, near here, was charged with theft of items from stores, destined for war prisoners, and was to appear in court tomorrow to answer to the charge. He is said to have decided upon suicide. The menslite was made ready in a shack where Thumerel and his sweetheart met. The explosion, which followed was heard for miles, and destroyed property within a radius of one hundred yards.

UPWARDS OF THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND COAL MINERS RESPOND TO STRIKE CALL

Union Leaders Claim Walk-Out Will Extend to 500,000 Men---United States Government Will Protect all Miners Who Desire to Continue at Work—Precautions Against Disorder.

Chicago, Nov. 1. — Upward of 394 thousand bituminous coal miners throughout the nation of a total of 65 thousand men employed in that industry today were on strike in response to a general strike call, effective at midnight last night, according to reports received by union leaders. Despite the general injunction issued at Indianapolis against the strike leaders, who generally stated they would disregard it, answered that the strike today would be extended to more than five hundred thousand miners. The exact strength of the walkout probably will not be konwn until Monday, however, since in many of the country's mines Saturday has been recognized as at least half holiday, and work suspended altogether in others on Sundays. Mine operators early today had announced no plans for carrying on mining, despite precautionary steps taken, and promised by Federal and different State Governments.

Miners must make the next move in the soft coal strike, was the opinion today of Government officials.

Men Have Struck.

The strike was a reality today. Even though the directing heads of the United Mine Workers of America were restrained from activity by the Federal Court injunction.

Government officials awaited reports as to the extent of the walk out for upon this information rests the future course of the Government Should reports show that any considerable number of miners desire to continue work, the Government is prepared to furnish them protection Should disorder occur the Government is ready with all the police force at its disposal to put it down

Prices Fixed.

But the Government's activities were not alone in the coal fields. Maximum prices for bituminous coal, formulated to meet the war's necessity, are again in effect. Priority of distribution, based in part of war schedule, is in operation.

Protect Workers.

All steps to protect miners who refused to heed the call of union heads, to preserve peace in the bituminous fields and to lessen, in so far as possible, suffering by the public and disruption of industry, incident to such strike, had been taken. Nothing more can be done by the Government officials intimated until the way was shown by strikers themselves. For this reason officials were not prepared to discuss the Government's course other than has been outlined, neither had they given out an estimate of the number of men on strike.

42,000 Out.

Pittsburg, Nov. 1.— Approximately forty-two thousand miners in Pittsburg distirct went on strike today in response to the order of the United Mine Workers of America, according to officers of the district number five of the organization. The number represents practically one hundred per cent of the coal production of Western Pennsylvania.

Not One Works

Springfield, Ill, Nov. 1.—Early indications today were that every one of the thousand soft coal miners in Illinois responded almost simultaneously to the strike call effective at midight last night. he machinery was ready at almost all of the mines to begin work at the usual hour this morning, and whistles sounded the "work to day" signal, but there was no response.

First Time in Kentucky

Madisonville, Ky. Nov. 1.—Affected first time in ten years by a strike of large magnitude, Kentucky today was within the grasp of a nation-wide strike of soft coal miners which went into effect last midnight. Approximately ten thousand miners of this State had joined the walk-out early today, according to union officers, who predicted that several thousand additional men would quit before Monday.

LOCAL ENGINEERS' CLUB BRANCHES OUT

The Engineers' Club of Peterborough, at a banquet in the Empress Hotel, on Thursday evening, Nov. 6th, will receive a charter as a branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada.

The Engineering Institute of Canada was formed in 1887 as the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers, but in 1918 the name was changed to the present one. This was done because the original name was somewhat misleading, in that the organization included in its members practically all the leading electrical, mechanical, mining and other engineers.

The objects of the Institute as set forth in its charter are to facilitate the acquirement and interchange of professional knowledge among its members, to promote the professional interests to encourage original research, to develop and maintain high standards in the engineering profession, and to enhance the usefulness of the profession to the public.

The total membership in the Institute is 8,500, and includes engineers in all parts of Canada. Mr. R. B. Rogers, of this city, is a charter member.

The Institute will be represented at the banquet by its president, Col. R. W. Leonard, of St. Catharines, and its vice-president, Walter J. Francis, of Montreal, a former resident of this city. Fraser S. Keith, the general secretary, will also be present, and the following well-known engineers: R. A. Ross, consulting engineer of Montreal, who is a member of the City Commission, and who will be the next president of the Institute; J. B. Challies, of Ottawa, superintendent of the Dominion Water Power Branch of the Department of the Interior; John Murphy, of Ottawa, electrical engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals; Prof. Peter Gillespie, of Toronto University; A. H. Harkness and Frank Barber, consulting engineers of Toronto, and E. R. Gray, city engineer of Hamilton.

The afternoon proceeding the banquet will be spent by the visitors in inspecting the various manufacturing plants of the city, the new Hunter street bridge and the lift lock.

A COMPARSION FOR FIVE DAYS

GRAND TOTAL FOR CITY AND COUNTY OF PETERBORO IS $614,850.

A comparison of results in the Peterborough County for the first five days of the campaign follows:

City and factory teams $251,050

	Last Year.	This Year.
City and factory teams	$251,050	$389,450
Special sub-committee	195,000	217,000
Outside city	168,800	97,450
Grand total for County	$614,850	$623,900
No of applications	1,292	1,137

Peterborough liff lock had a busy day of it and went over the top many times.

The Toronto ways wonder why it didn't reach a final resting place in the Mayor's chair.

Come on Peterborough, we must have that flag!

MOTHERWELL GOT VOTE OF ALIENS

POLLS WHERE FOREIGNERS STRONG GAVE HIM HIS MAJORITY

Winnipeg, Oct. 31.—Grain Growers in the three Prairie Provinces are taking up at their meeting the injection of Hon. William Motherwell into the Assiniboia contest as an evidence of the deliberate hostility of the Mackenzie King Liberals towards the organization. The numerous denials and charges that Motherwell acted directly under orders of King in contesting the seat resulted in the statement on the editorial page of the Free Press to-night that in September Motherwell wrote Mackenzie King, saying the Grain Growers' candidate should be opposed for organization purposes by the Liberals, and urging King to accept the Liberal nomination, and that King, replying, told Motherwell to take the nomination and he would support him, and King then sent McMaster, Pedlow and Frank Oliver to help

The Free Press further points out that Motherwell secured majorities only in those polls where the non-English-speaking electors were in the majority, and that this was due to the attitude of Motherwell on the language question, and that at least one non-English speaking priest in his sermon the day before the election from the pulpit exhorted his congregation on this point, and referred to Motherwell's service to them on the subject of education

COMMITTEE DELAYS REPORT

Ottawa, Nov. 1 — The report of the Soldiers' Re-establishment Committee is being held up because of the premature publication of its proposed recommendations. The delay is attributed to the liberal members who, it is now stated, propose to bring in a minority report.

When the report was published there was an outcry among some of the Liberal members who attended the National Convention They pointed out that this convention adopted as one of the planks of its platform the principle of cash gratuities without stating the amount to take the place of land settlement and vocational training scheme. In view of this policy they have been urging Liberal members of the committee to reconsider their position and bring in a dissenting report.

There is certain to be a division in the House on the subject as Col A. J. Currie, who advocated the Calgary plan or someone else will move an amendment.

SCHOOL IN TORONTO AFIRE ALL WEEK AND NOT A SOUL KNEW IT

Soft Coal Piled in Basement Ten Feet High—Fire May Have Been Smoldering Some Time.

Toronto, Nov. 1 — Williamson Road School had been afire all this week, it seems, and no one knew it. Soft coal was piled ten feet high in the basement, had taken fire and smoldered away until flames and smoke poured out of the windows yesterday. The fire brigade extinguished the fire with two streams of hose.

The caretaker, under examination, said he had found the basement large enough to pack away all the coal for the school's supply during the winter. Away back in the early summer, the coal had started to come as Supt. Kerr could supply it. From time to time ever since, more coal has been dumped in.

The Story of the Fire.

"I have found out since that about a week ago some one began to smell smoke," explained Mr. Doughty. "According to the Fire Department, the fire may have been smoldering there for a long time. However, it was not until smoke and flames poured out of the windows that anyone knew of the fire. Two streams of water have been playing on the coal all day, but the smoldering has died out now."

"What other precautions have been taken?" asked the somewhat flabbergasted trustees as they thought of what might have been.

"I have had the coal shovelled down and into the yard until it is at a level of five feet," replied Mr. Doughty. "To every caretaker throughout the city I have sent word that he must not leave the building while the pupils are in school, no matter what hardships it may entail for him Furthermore, each is warned to keep a sharp lookout for the smell of smoke. If the slightest is detected, he is to notify the principal, who in turn will notify us and the Fire Department if there proves the slightest sign of fire."

CHEESE FACTORIES MAY AMALGAMATE HOPE CO'Y WILL BE LAUNCHED SOON

Factories in Peterboro, Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Affected.

The success of the United Farmers in the recent provincial elections has increased the interest in the proposal, which has been under consideration for some months, to form a big dairy company to take over and operate on a co-operative basis many of the cheese factories in Peterborough, Hastings and Prince Edward Counties. Some of our local farmers have been asking what is being done in reference to the formation of this company. We are advised that a meeting of the representatives of the cheese factories in Peterborough County is to be held Tuesday, Nov. 11, to receive reports from the committee that has been at work upon it. It is likely that steps will then be decided upon to form the company and that a couple of provisional directors will be appointed. As shortly after that as possible it is proposed to hold meetings of the representatives of the cheese factories in Hastings and Prince Edward Counties, at which similar reports will be presented and an opportunity will be given to those present to decide if they are in favor of proceeding with the organization of the company.

Arrangements are in the hands of a committee composed of representatives of the United Farmers of Ontario and of the Eastern and Western Ontario Dairymen's Associations. This committee is hopeful that the company can be launched this fall in time to take over a considerable number of the factories before spring in order that operations may be commenced on a large scale in the spring The action of the British Ministry of Food in setting the price of cheese last spring without consulting the dairy farmers has given a decided impetus to the formation of this company, as many dairy farmers have become convinced that not until they become organized and look after the marketing of their products themselves will they receive the consideration at the hands of the Government and the buyers that they feel they are entitled to and which was given the grain growers of the West when the price of grain was fixed both last year and this year. The meetings are being called by Mr. H. B. Cowan of Peterborough, who is the chairman of the committee that has been handling negotiations so far.

LABORERS COMPLAIN

Say They are Subjected to Unfair Treatment on Bridge Work.

The following letter has been sent in to the City Council:

S. R. Armstrong, Esq.,
City Clerk,

Dear Sir:—I have been instructed by the Labourers' Union and Workers of the Hunter Street Bridge to write and inform the City Council of the very unfair conduct being shown toward city men. Men are being dismissed without any intimation of the cause, and men from outside the city limits taking their jobs. Tyranny is practiced on this job. As citizens of Peterborough and tax payers, we call upon the Council to hold an investigation of these matters in an unbiased and fair manner, getting witnesses from both sides in order that the Council may at least be fair and just and so place the responsibility where it belongs.

Yours respectfully,
JAMES GRISDALE,
Secrtary.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1919.

THE U. F. O. AND PATRONAGE.

THERE IS in some quarters a pleasant fiction to the effect that the Union Government has abolished the patronage system, and from this it is argued that the U. F. O., now in control of the Legislature of Ontario, should do likewise. Anything that the Union Government has done in this regard can be interpreted only as a transfer of power. The change was made so as to give each party in the coalition government a chance at the fleshpots. When the Conservative-Unionists were handed a loaf, the Liberal-Unionists could at least claim a fish.

It will be an unfortunate day for the Province if Ontario ever hands over the appointment of the public servants to an independent commission that has no knowledge of local conditions. County officials should be selected by those who know them. Local offices should be filled by local men, not by outsiders, as could easily happen under a so-called reformed patronage system.

In the event of vacancies in county offices occurring under present conditions, the situation is unusual. Take this county, for example, with a representative associated with the U. F. O. party in power. There is no defeated member to deal with such matters. The U. F. O., however, have in this city a powerful and representative organization of over two hundred members. Surely this organization could be entrusted with the duty of naming a county official in the event of a vacancy occurring. Not alone in Peterborough, but in every riding in the Province there is such a branch of the U. F. O., efficient, too, for this line of public service, if the riding is not represented in the Legislature by a farmer.

The platform of the old Patrons of Industry, the farmers' political party of the nineties, was more radical than that of the U. F. O. One of the main planks called not only for the abolition of the fees system, but for the election of all county officials except the judge. This agitation is likely to be renewed, and it would appear the logical solution of the patronage system. Let the people decide. There is no reason on earth why they should not be given the right to elect a sheriff or a county clerk, as they are to choose their members for a county or a township council, for Parliament or Legislature. With the old partisan spirit crushed for all time officials could be so elected and their efficiency guaranteed. The people are now enjoying a taste of power. Being only human, it is to be expected that they will ask for more.

USE INTEREST TO BUY BONDS.

ABOUT $18,000,000 in interest will be distributed today among those who subscribed for Victory Bonds during 1918. This is a lot of money, being at least $8,000,000 more than was paid in interest on all public loans at the outbreak of war. It should be reinvested.

The matter of chief concern is not the size of this interest payment, but how much of the $18,000,000 will be reinvested in Government securities. A large portion of it will go to the owners of small bonds, who may consider the amount they receive so small as not to be worth bothering about.

This is a mistaken idea. It is on the savings of the great mass of Canadians that the stability of Canada's financial and industrial life must rest. Interest drawn from previous issues of Victory Bonds should be reinvested in the 1919 issue. This should be done because Canada needs the money to clear up her war bills, to provide for her soldiers and their dependents and to take care of the large capital expenditures that are a part of the work of reconstruction.

Put your War Bond interest into new Victory Bonds. The former cleaned up Germany, the latter will clean up our war bills.

SCIENCE VERSUS SCRIPTURE.

SOME TIME AGO Rev. R. Pogue wrote a letter to the local press in which he dealt with certain arguments used by Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P. Mr. Pogue is not given to sensational or immoderate statements, and the language which he used on this occasion was no exception to his general policy as regards his public utterance. Certainly what he said was entitled to careful consideration.

Mr. Burnham, it seems, not satisfied with replying to Mr. Pogue's letter, submitted it to Prof. McCallum of the National Council of Scientific Research, for expert treatment. We must decline to publish the finding of Prof. McCallum, whose words are intolerant, not to say violent. His is the characteristic egotism and self-satisfaction of the man who submits everything to a scientific analysis and who believes that none but members of his school can possibly be right on any question.

The people will not be disposed to take the learned professor too seriously if they understand his viewpoint. If Mr. Pogue quoted Scripture to the effect that in six days the Lord created heaven and earth, Prof. McCallum would probably challenge the assertion and argue that thousands of years were required to bring order out of chaos, and that the process was one of slow chemical development. If the Bible does not clear up the mystery of the formation of the earth, Prof. McCallim and his cult, dealing with the same topic, can accomplish little more than setting up a school of "learned ignorance" and hiding the light from eyes only a trifle more darkened than the vision of the scientist. In a word, Prof. McCallum would conceal anything in the way of truth by hanging before it a gaudily painted screen of scientific balderdash.

Let us admit, for present purposes, that God really makes alcohol, as Mr. Brunham so strongly maintains. No man or set of men have ever yet sought to prohibit the use of that alcohol as it comes from the hands of the Creator. It is the man-made variety that has caused all the trouble on earth. Man in his greed sought out many inventions in the way of distillation and fermentation. He so manipulated the grain, the gift of the Creator, as to render the hulls fit food only for the beasts of the field, preserving only the poison for the use of mankind.

But the prohibition question has just been emphatically disposed of. So far as The Review is concerned, all further discussion of this topic must cease. It is impossible to see that any good could result from dealing with it further in the public press. Let the victors cease to boast and the vanquished to wail.

THE VETERANS AND THE GRATUITY.

WHEN THE WAR was at its height and the Canadian men at the front were calling for reinforcements, the mugwump section of the Liberal party jumped at the conclusion that these over-taxed heroes did not know what they really wanted or what was good for them. "Carry on with what men you have," said these mugwumps in effect. "All the men at home are required to raise grain and hogs and manufacture munitions. We will see to it that you are well fed. What more, in reason, can you ask for?"

The sentiments of these Liberals towards the soldiers have not changed. They seem to believe now that what the returned men really need at present is partisan paternalism. The soldiers, in a clear and logical statement of their case, ask for a graded gratuity to help to re-establish them in civil life. The Liberals in Parliament offer by way of compromise certain concessions agreed upon at the party convention last summer, concessions that were merely a palpable attempt to catch the soldiers' vote. It is the old story of 1917, millions in food but not one conscripted man, told all over again. The soldiers ask for something at the hands of the nation on whose behalf they suffered. The Liberals tell them the country is out of that particular stock and offer instead a shop-worn substitute, mildewed with ancient politics.

There are still to be found newspapers that back up this system of dealing with the veterans, just as they did two years ago, but they are fortunately few. These are the papers that have plaudits for the veterans, but little in the way of substantial aid. They talk glibly of "our boys" and what they have done, and of how the gratitude of the nation is theirs. The returned men have been fed up to the point of nausea with this brand of sentimental tommy rot, and are making that fact manifest. They refuse to be used as political pawns. They realize that tricky statesmen and maundering newspapers would have them believe now that their highest duty, the one way in which they can triumphantly climax their public service, is to turn in and help defeat the Union Government and place in power the party that has failed them in every practical test. But of the Union Government fails it will not be succeeded by a party the members of which have been tried and found wanting.

THE HIGH COST OF INVESTIGATION.

EVEN POLICE investigations these days come high. The members of the Finance Committee last night—Ald. Edgar dissenting—decided to recommend to the City Council that the members of the Police Commission be paid for the time they spent on the recent investigation of charges against members of the force, Judge Huyck as chairman to receive $100 and the other two members $50 each.

If the Police Commissioners donated their services on the occasion in question, it is hard to see how they would thereby be placing themselves under any obligation to the public. The County Judge, is a member of the Police Commission by law, just as are the Police Magistrate and the Mayor. The Judge receives $200 a year in addition to his judicial salary for acting as chairman of the Board. The others serve without compensation. They are, however, paid for their other public duties, the Mayor's salary having been doubled for this year.

The charges which the Commissioners spent a few sessions in probing were made against members of the police force, for the membership and general conduct of which the Commissioners are responsible. The tax payers will be inclined to the opinion that the Commissioners would welcome an opportunity to look into these charges and remove anything in the way of odium from the force and public criticism of their own acts. Not only would they be willing to do this, but to do it without cost to the property owners in the city. How is the tax rate of the cit yto be kept down if all public officials already on the pay roll are to receive extra compensation for anything they may do out of the routine of their regular duties?

But if the Commissioners are to be paid, why discriminate? Why give the chairman, already in receipt of a salary, twice as much as the others, who receive nothing for their regular services. But this question has yet to be dealt with by the Council, so that the final chapter may have a different ending from that proposed by the majority of the Finance Committee.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

OF RECENT YEARS, political lightning seldom strikes twice in the same place—and seldom needs to.

THERE ARE as good fish among the U. F. O. members as have ever been caught in either of the other political ponds.

AFTER SURVIVING the professional majority all these years Ontario will have nothing to fear from a farmers' regime.

NOW THAT the women of the city have organized a Canadian Club, the public may look for something doing in this line that is really worth while.

HOW THEY ENFORCE THE DRY LAW IN NEW YORK

(New York Sun)

The first effort to enforce the war prohibition law under the Volstead act was begun last night with a raid on the saloon of O'Brien and Cotter in Forty-second street, nearly in the middle of the lock between Seventh and Eighth avenues. Many shots were fired and the raid drew a crowd that blocked the street until policemen from the West Forty-seventh were called out.

The raid was made by three agents of the Bureau of Internal Revenue. As soon as they entered bullets began to fly. The place was crowded.

One agent leaped over the bar and grappled with a bartender. In a moment the saloon was besieged in front by a mob, which, unecared by the revolver threat, was anxious to see what was going on. The bartenders continued to serve beer to those who could reach the bar.

Two men were struck by bullets. Edward F. Deles, who said he was hit while in the street outside, had a cut on the right knee. Thomas Toomey, who reached town yesterday from Newport N. H., on his way South, was scratched on the head. They were treated in the back-room by a Bellevue interne. After being fixed up both were arrested.

Altogether six men were locked up in the West Forty-seventh street police station to be held for arraignment before United States Commissioner Samuel M. Hitchcock to-day. The others were John O'Brien and Michael Cotter, the proprietors; John Bradley a bartender, and Dennis O'Shea, a chauffeur. The Government agents would not explain why they arrested men not connected with the saloon.

Samples of the beer were taken. Thirty-eight bottles that bore the label of a brand of whiskey were found in a cabinet and confiscated. The agents put the crowd out of the place and closed it. Then they went to another saloon run by O'Brien and Cutter at Eighth avenue and Twenty-first street and closed it.

Detectives started an investigation of the revolver shots, but stopped it quickly. They said the agents had admitted firing at the ceiling.

Two bartenders were arrested in The Bronx. They were John Sommers of a saloon at Webster, and Tremont avenues, and Max Selig of a saloon at 3830 Third avenue. They were held at the Tremont police station for arraignment to-day.

Busiest Drug Store
Handles Only Drugs

The Firemen's Drug Store at Broad and Market streets, Newark, N. J., is given credit by pharmacists throughout the United States as being the busiest establishment of its kind in the country, and is visited from time to time by the knights of the mortar and pestle to learn just how to gain business and hold it.

Its owner is W. J. Beldon, aged about forty-five an quiet and unassuming man, who was told by his friends a few years ago that he was plain down right crazy when he quit his little store, where he was making a good living, to embark in business in the center of town.

What impresses the visitor to the store is the absolute absence of any kind of the department store atmosphere that so often is found in the pharmacy of to-day. It is a drug store—only that and nothing more. Beldon sells drugs and the usual accessories and lets the other stuff go.

A marvel of efficient arrangement where the public can be served quickly and efficiently is thus provided and the Firemen's Drug Store is inspected as a model by druggists from all over the country when they get near or in New York. They all say it is worth the trip to Skeeter Land.

Beldon has nothing to say about how he did it. He advertises in the papers of Newark and Elisabeth and lets it go at that, saying he advertises drugs but not himself. So the druggists who have gone over the place with a critical eye have reached some conclusions on how a small drug store has attained this pre-eminence. These are:

First. Picking a location that assured plenty of traffic and having the nerve to abide by one's own judgement.

Second. Possesing the right kind of an eye to see what the public wants and having it ready for them when they call.

Third. Arranging every department so the busy commuter need not wait.

Fourth. Telling the public by advertising what is to be had and thus securing quick turnovers.

ANNUITIES FOR CLERGYMEN

How Presbyterians Proposed to Care For Aged Pastors

To form a co-operative insurance society for ministers and their dependents was the suggestion presented in the form of an overture by Mr. Donald McGregor Campbell of Preston to the Presbyterian Synod of Toronto and Kingston, which concluded its session Thursday.

The proposal was to discontinue, as such, the existing aged and infirm ministers' fund, and the widows' and orphans' fund, and set aside the accumulated funds as a nucleus for the establishment of a co-operative insurance society, of which all ministers now paying rates should be members.

It was suggested that a measure be enacted to enable the General Assembly to assess each congregation on a pro rata basis to provide an anuity of at least $1200 for retiring ministers, widows and orphans to receive a similar amount. The overture was sent on to the General Assembly.

The Synod's special committee, in an overture, urged that everything possible be done to secure an annuity of $1000 for each retiring minister, and $600 for widows.

The recommendation of the committee on sympathetic giving for the budget allocation of $300,000 for 1920 was accepted, as was the thankoffering forward movement allocation of $1,105,000.

Grocers Propose Laws to Help Cut H. C. L.

As a means of taking constructive action toward reducing the high cost of living the National Retail Grocers' Association, through its secretary, Leon M. Hattenbach, of Denver, Col., is urging state secretaries to advocate the passage of four federal laws, as follows:

First. That a limited embargo be placed upon exports of all essentials, permitting only the surplus to be exported after ascertaining the available supply and estimating the requirements necessary for home consumption.

Second. That resales between members of the same group of distributors be prohibited.

Third. That all trading on all boards of trade and exchanges be limited to transactions intended for actual delivery.

Fourth. That only those actually engaged in the production or distribution of the people's food or other necessities, both raw materials and finished products be permitted to deal in the same.

Mothers Shop While Children Read Book

Attracting the book trade of both adults and children is the Children's Book Corner in the Lord and Taylor Book Shop, New York. Tucked away inconspicuously at one end of the well stocked bookshop for adults is special corner, enclosed by high counters that insure little people complete privacy and quiet when they pore intently over Mother Goose rhymes. This secluded little room, walled by bookshelves, is furnished with the most diminutive chairs and tables imaginable, just high enough for little boys and girls.

For this little corner is the children's own—a department devoted exclusively to literature for little people. In this quiet spot children are invited to come and read—whether mother buys the book or not.

In other words, to quote Miss Ennis, the brown-eyed sympathetic woman, who takes charge of the Children's book Corner: "This is a corner where children may come and amuse themselves while mother does her shopping upstairs.

Miss Ennis realizes, of course, that on the whole children are not strictly the immediate buyers of children's books. Rather, adults who purchase the majority of children's books, have to be sold first. On the other hand this shop realizes that children play a considerable part in the selection of their reading, and this corner provides a quiet spot in which to do it.

Most mothers find it quite a delightful help to leave their children in such safe, capable hands while they do their shopping alone upstairs. Needless to say, the children prefer to wait here among the picture books, too. Nothing makes a little boy or girl more fretty and impatient than to be hurried around dress departmens or millinery sections and here buried interestedly in fairy tales or pirate adventures—well, the time just flies.

Another attractive feature of this Children's Book Corner is the little guest book idea. There is a big brown leather-covered guest book devoted exclusively to the little visitors to the corner. Nothing delights a child more than to be asked to write his name. Even the tiniest person feels important and many are the broad juvenile scrawls of Marjories and Billies, who read in the book corner.

Exploit Success to Win More Business.

Believing in the old adage that nothing succeeds like success, Refowich Brothers, clothiers of Pottsville, Pa., are using a large portion of their newspaper space this fall to tell the public just how well they have done the last several years.

They point out that on August 2, 1919, their business done to date for the year reached the total handled for the whole of 1918, notwithstanding 1918 was a profitable year.

The corollary to the feature is that their line is bigger and better than ever before and that they can sell more cheaply because of the volume of business done.

Chinese Distrust Japs.

It was in the quaint, terraced city of Foo Chow, China. The bearers of my sedan chair pointed out to me a fine grey building against the hillside and exhausted their collective store of English trying to tell me what it was, says a writer in World Outlook.

"Japanese hospital," said one, with a knowing air, as if he could say more if he would.

"To cure sick Japanese?" I asked, wondering whether there was a sufficiently large colony to support an institution of such size.

It took some time for this question to percolate through their heads. When at last it did so, there was more excitement in their answers than mere statements of facts would warrant.

"Japanese make Chinese well. Japanese say 'Chinese man — him very sick; must make well'."

There was inarticulate sarcasm in their manner. At last one of them found the English he was after, and came out with it: "Japanese no love Chinese man," he said. "Then why make Chinese man well?"

It seems that Japanese were beginning to realize that American philanthropy, represented by the missions and by the Rockefeller Foundations, was creating good-will for the United States. So they, too, decided to become philanthropists, and some fine Japanese hospitals for the Chinese were the result. The Chinese, however, still distrust the move. They cannot be sure that it has the genuine unselfishness of Christian propaganda. They tell tales about machine guns concealed in the hospitals, and soldiers who reconnoiter by night. I never heard these rumors substantiated, but I did meet a seemingly benevolent young surgeon and a Japanese nurse with the sweetest face in the world.

Controlling Aircraft.

For some time experiments have been carried out in various countries with the object of controlling aircraft from the ground, and a French machine succeeded recently — on a prescribed course with certain specified detours—in covering a distance of 180 kilometres (about 110 miles), and in landing, when required, in a certain airdrome. A similar machine has been developed in the United States which, according to a recent statement of Secretary of War Baker, can travel without a pilot some 100 miles and land close to a designated post.

Record Novels.

Nowadays the shorter novel is in vogue as well as the short story. Occasionally a novel runs to 100,000 words, and sometimes a little over, but 80,000 is about the limit as a rule.

Martin Chuzzlewit and Dombey and Son probably run to 400,000 words.

The longest novel in the English language is Richardson's "Clarissa Harlow," published in 1749. It was originally issued in eight volumes. It runs to over 800,000 words!

But even this is far surpassed by Mlle. de Scudery's famous novel of the seventeenth century, La Grand Cyrus. This ran to ten volumes, and was translated into English and appeared in five folios of 500 pages each. Yet it was read widely.

Then there was La Caprenede, who wrote Cleopatra. This novel, which found hosts of readers, actually ran into twenty-three volumes.

Employees' Initiative.

Nothing pleases an employer more than to find that employees have been useful and helpful in doing things that they were not told to do. It shows the spirit of initiative; it indicates the ambition to get on, a willingness to pay the price. The progressive employer has little use for the employee who never does anything he is not told to do. Originality, intentiveness, resourcefulness are passports to his favor—and to promotion.—The New Success.

Warm and Cool Colors.

The warm or advancing colors, which arouse the senses quickly, are those having yellow or red predominating, as yellow green, yellow orange, orange, red orange, red and red violet. The cool or receding colors, which soothe the nerve senses, are blue and the colors in which blue predominates, as blue green, green violet and blue violet. They are called cool colors because of their association with water, ice and the sky.

THE CANADIAN BANKS

RAPID GROWTH OF SO-CALLED "MONEY TRUST."

Since the End of the War 731 New Branches Have Been Opened In Different Parts of the Dominion and Returns Show a Great Increase In the Savings of the People of This Country.

SINCE Sir Thomas White, then Minister of Finance, lifted the ban on the opening of new branches shortly after the signing of the armistice, there has been an unprecedented scramble on the part of all Canadian banks to open up new offices all over Canada. From the signing of the armistice to the end of July, 731 new branches were opened in Canada, and as only 20 were closed, there is a net gain of 711, more than the total number of branches of all Canadian banks eighteen years ago, and an average of two a day.

Now there are over four thousand branches of Canadian banks in Canada, or one for every 2,500 people. In the United States with its national banking system, there is one bank for every 3,600 people, and in England, there is only one branch for every 4,800 people.

What is the meaning of this great expansion in the number of Canadian banks? Some experts deplore it; they say that it is a "mushroom" growth; that Canada has not enough business to keep 4,000 bank branches busy. Yet an analysis of the clearing house reports and monthly bank statements does not tend to this view. Clearings have increased an average of 25 per cent. all over Canada in comparison with last year's figures. In some cities, Windsor, for instance, they have gone up as much as 100 per cent. Savings deposits have shown the most remarkable increase. The lessons of thrift, inculcated in the people of Canada by the war and the Victory Loan campaigns, are not the kind that will easily be forgotten.

There are others who say that the vast numbers of new branches being opened in the smaller centres of Canada will not add much to the prosperity of the towns and villages they are located in.

They claim that the banks open these branches merely to increase their deposits, and instead of loaning back this money to the local industries, they collect large reserves in the important cities, such as Toronto and Montreal, and loan the money to large corporations. These people who make this complaint allege that there is a "money trust" in Canada and they see no good in the amalgamation of Canadian banks. It is a question that is agitating England to some extent now, but it is probable that competition between Canadian banks has prevented the formation of "money trusts."

Another answer to this argument is seen in instructions issued by the head offices of two of the largest banks to their local managers, in which it is pointed out that branch managers must "know" their communities, that they must be "community builders" and do everything to boost local industry.

This summer several of the banks have held conventions of their various managers. Bankers from all over the country met and discussed better banking, local and national problems, etc. This bringing together of men who have an intimate knowledge of the commercial and financial problems of every one of the great geographical divisions of Canada is found to have a good effect in helping the East to know the West, Quebec to understand Ontario, and in lessening misunderstandings. In fact, one New York writer sees in this feature of Canada's banking system—each bank controlling branches in every province—the greatest asset for the future welfare of the country.

Canada's banks have good connections with the outer world. The Union Bank, in connection with the National Park Bank of New York, has recently established the Park-Union Foreign Banking Corporation with branches in Yokohama and Shanghai, to aid in the development of a larger Canadian trade with the Orient. The same corporation is also opening branches at Tokio and Kobe, which is becoming Japan's greatest industrial and shipping city. Other branches of Canadian banks outside Canada are as follows: Newfoundland, 18; West Indies and Central America, 45; United States, 16; Cuba, 31; Great Britain, 8; France, 3; Mexico, 1; Siberia and Spain, 1.

Ontario	1,388
Quebec	1,011
Saskatchewan	562
Manitoba	278
British Columbia	193
Nova Scotia	143
New Brunswick	103
Yukon	3
Total	4,056

Adding to this total the 143 branches located outside the Dominion of Canada, the banks have a total of 4,199 branches. How does this compare with the total of about 100 we had at the time of Confederation, or the total of about 500 branches we had (twenty years ago?

Gin Pills FOR THE KIDNEYS

A MAN OF DEEDS.

Col. Ripley Never Looked for the Spot-light.

The khaki of returned men is fast being relegated to the limbo of half-forgotten things, and the thoughts of war experiences are transient now in the pursuit of the much longed for return to a civilian occupation. A toast list beside me, with the simple, but apt quotation, "the true and the frank and the free," recalls the splendid qualities of Lieut.-Col. Blair Ripley, D.S.O., C.B.E., O.C., of the 1st Battalion Railway Troops, whose splendid leadership, untiring industry and pardonable pride in his crack railway construction unit, made his name to be a revered one among the men who had the good fortune to come under his command. A quiet and reserved man, he has that bigness which comes from big undertakings. As a C.P.R. engineer, the Lethbridge viaduct, and the North Toronto grade separation, were prewar testimonials to his skill and efficiency. Twenty-seven months of unremitting work in France and Belgium have enhanced that enviable record and experience in supervising the laying of steel and the erection of bridges.

"Railways are the arteries of modern warfare"—this fact was early recognized by Sir Eric Geddes, and miles of light guage railway track was laid with the rapidity of spreading a stair carpet, but it only partially relieved the congestion. Broad gauge railways were urgently required to bring troops and military supplies to the rail heads. In the autumn of 1916, the 1st Battalion, C.R.T., worked on the Somme, building narrow guage, at Maricourt, Combles, le Forel Farm, Rouge, and Bouchevesnes.

Early in the following spring the Germans, yielding to pressure from the British, evacuated Bapaume and Peronne, leaving a vast tract of wilderness in their wake. It did not seem possible to lay heavy steel on this indescribable waste of mud, and interminable shell torn region. Could it be accomplished? Was it worth the tremendous effort? There was a diversity of opinion and many officers in high places were against the project.

Col. Ripley undertook the job, and in less than two weeks a train ran over broad guage rails into Peronne yard, from Plateau, via Maricourt, (the jumping off place of the first Somme offensive). Skirting Trones Wood, through Clery, then a heap of rubble, the Scots' Guards carried the 36 feet lengths of rail, by number; ties and fastenings were rushed up through the snow on motor lorries, and the 1st C.R.T. spiked with commendable vigor. It was a feat of skill and determination, and another evidence of Canadian energy and enterprise was recognized by the British authorities. Consequently the 1st C.R.T. became the nucleus of the Canadian Railway Troop Corps, afterwards so ably administrated by Brig.-Gen. Stewart. The 2nd Railway Troops came into the field during 1917, and when the armistice was signed thirteen units were in operation, two more in formation, with subsidiary companies of skilled railroad operators, tramway companies, engine drivers and a bridge building aggregation in Palestine.

The red square was a distinctive and a respected badge. The men who wielded the spike maul could also shoulder a rifle. One C.R.T. unit distinguished itself at Villers-Bretonoux, holding a part of the line until relief came.

Col. Ripley must have accepted the axiom that "actions speak louder than words," early in his professional career, and he followed that motto in the army. He was on the Western front to build railways and did it. Oratory and verbosity are foreign to him. He shunned eulogizing press men. Completion reports stated all, the blue print frame told its story. The numerous letters he received from army commanders pleased him because they reflected credit on his battalion. He had a very warm regard for those men, who ate raw turnips with him in 1916. A silent man, but a reservoir of warmth and kindliness to those who sought him in time of trouble. He had no patience with malingerers but the punishment always fitted the crime. An officer and gentleman, one "who never turned his back, but walked straight forward," through the dark grey war days, he is held in high esteem by the old members of his battalion.

The annual public auction sale of live stock at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, was quite successful.

FINALLY REACHED HIS POINT

Lawyer's Flowery Eloquence Turned Out to Be Prelude to Very Simple Request.

Norman Hapgood, the new minister to Denmark, was talking about a "whitewashing" case.

"The case reminds me," he said, "of Pietro Libertini, a scion of sunny Italy, who was on trial for a murderous assault. His lawyer defended him in this manner:

"'Your honor,' the lawyer began, 'my client, Signor Pietro Libertini, comes from Italia la Bella, land of romance, art and immortal literature. He comes, your honor, from the sun-kissed home of the illustrious Michelangelo Buonarotti, of the divine Raffaello and the undying Dante Alighieri. He comes from the olive-crowned birthplace of Tasso, Ariosto and the humorous Boccaccio. His home is Italia, prolific mother of art and science, progenitrix of Galvani and Galileo Galilei.'

"After the lawyer had gone on in this strain for about an hour the judge began to get impatient.

"'What has all this got to do with the case?' he finally asked.

"'My poor words,' said the lawyer, 'are by way of preface. My client, from immortal Italy, home of the painter and the sculptor, humbly prays this court to apply to him the very lowest form of pictorial art. He prays, your honor, to be whitewashed.'"

Orchardists Seek to Encourage the Woodpecker to Settle in Their Midst, as It Were.

It may sound like a joke to speak of the manufacture of woodpecker nests, but there is actually a factory in Maine that takes many orders for such nests.

The birdhouses are constructed of pine blocks 15 inches long and from five to six inches in diameter. The back of the block is squared to permit of the patent adjustment being properly attached to the tree or placed where the house is to be located, a canopy or top piece to keep out the weather being made like a roof. A perfect nest is drilled by a reamer. Within three inches of the bottom a corkscrew indentation is made to the [illegible] of the nest of the woodpecker are in pairs, two before and two behind, with sharp, strong claws, the whole structure of the foot making it adaptable for climbing.

The houses are sold to orchard owners, as the claim is made by the ornithologists that the woodpecker's feed consists chiefly of insects and their larvae, which the birds get by digging into the bark and wood of trees. The woodpecker's tongue is an important instrument in obtaining its feed, as it can be extended far beyond the bill, its tip being horny and furnished with a barbed filament.

Grocers Propose Laws to Help Cut H. C. L.

As a means of taking constructive action toward reducing the high cost of living the National Retail Grocers' Association, through its secretary, Leon M. Hattenbach, of Denver, Col., is urging state secretaries to advocate the passage of four federal laws, as follows:

First. That a limited embargo be placed upon exports of all essentials, permitting only the surplus to be exported after ascertaining the available supply and estimating the requirements necessary for home consumption.

Second. That resales between members of the same group of distributors be prohibited.

Third. That all trading on all boards of trade and exchanges be limited to transactions intended for actual delivery.

Fourth. That only those actually engaged in the production or distribution of the people's food or other necessities, both raw materials and finished products be permitted to deal in the same.

Mothers Shop While Children Read Book

Attracting the book trade of both adults and children is the Children's Book Corner in the Lord and Taylor Book Shop, New York. Tucked away inconspicuously at one end of the well stocked bookshop for adults is special corner, enclosed by high counters that insure little people complete privacy and quiet when they pore intently over Mother Goose rhymes. The enclosed nook is furnished with the most diminutive chairs and tables imaginable, just high enough for little boys and girls.

For this little corner is the children's own—a department devoted exclusively to literature for little people. In this quiet spot children are invited to come and read—whether mother buys the book or not.

In other words, to quote Miss Ennis, the brown-eyed sympathetic woman, who takes charge of the Children's book Corner: "This is a corner where children may come and amuse themselves while mother does her shopping upstairs.

Miss Ennis realizes, of course, that on the whole children are not strictly the immediate buyers of children's books. Rather, adults who purchase the majority of children's books, have to be sold first. On the other hand this shop realizes that children play a considerable part in the selection of their reading, and this corner provides a quiet spot in which to do it.

Most mothers find it quite a delightful help to leave their children in such safe, capable hands while they do their shopping alone upstairs. Needless to say, the children prefer to wait here among the picture books, too. Nothing makes a little boy or girl more fretty and impatient than to be hurried around dress departmens or millinery sections and here buried interestedly in fairy tales or pirate adventures—well, the time just flies.

Another attractive feature of this Children's Book Corner is the little guest book idea. There is a big brown leather-covered guest book devoted exclusively to the little visitors to the corner. Nothing delights a child more than to be asked to write his name. Even the tiniest person feels important and many are the broad juvenile scrawls of Marjories and Billies, who read in the book corner.

Exploit Success to Win More Business.

Believing in the old adage that nothing succeeds like success, Refowich Brothers, clothiers of Pottsville, Pa., are using a large portion of their newspaper space this fall to tell the public just how well they have done the last several years.

They point out that on August 2, 1919, their business done to date for the year reached the total handled for the whole of 1918, notwithstanding 1918 was a profitable year.

The corollary to the feature is that their line is bigger and better than ever before and that they can sell more cheaply because of the volume of business done.

Chinese Distrust Japs.

It was in the quaint, terraced city of Foo Chow, China. The bearers of my sedan chair pointed out to me a fine grey building against the hillside and exhausted their collective store of English trying to tell me what it was, says a writer in World Outlook.

"Japanese hospital," said one, with a knowing air, as if he could say more if he would.

"To cure sick Japanese?" I asked, wondering whether there was a sufficiently large colony to support an institution of such size.

It took some time for this question to percolate through their heads. When at last it did so, there was more excitement in their answers than mere statements of facts would warrant.

"Japanese make Chinese well. Japanese say 'Chinese man — him very sick; must make well'."

There was inarticulate sarcasm in their manner. At last one of them found the English he was after, and came out with it: 'Japanese no love Chinese man," he said. "Then why make Chinese man well?"

It seems that Japanese were beginning to realise that American philanthropy, represented by the missions and by the Rockefeller Foundation, was creating good-will for the United States. So they, too, decided to become philanthropists, and some fine Japanese hospitals for the Chinese were the result. The Chinese, however, still distrust the move. They cannot be sure that it has the genuine unselfishness of Christian propaganda. They tell tales about machine guns concealed in the hospitals, and soldiers who reconnoiter by night. I never heard these rumors substantiated, but I did meet a seemingly benevolent young surgeon and a Japanese nurse with the sweetest face in the world.

Controlling Aircraft.

For some time experiments have been carried out in various countries with the object of controlling aircraft from the ground, and a French machine succeeded recently — on a prescribed course with certain specified detours—in covering a distance of 180 kilometres (about 110 miles), and in landing, when required, in a certain airdrome. A similar machine has been developed in the United States which, according to a recent statement of Secretary of War Baker, can travel without a pilot some 100 miles and land close to a designated spot.

Flossy Gelatin.

An Englishman has discovered a process whereby iridescent and mother of pearl effects can be given to sheets of gelatin, useful for many purposes.

Record Novels.

Nowadays the shorter novel is in vogue as well as the short story. Occasionally a novel runs to 100,000 words, and sometimes a little over, but 80,000 is about the limit as a rule.

Martin Chuzzlewit and Dombey and Son probably run to 400,000 words.

The longest novel in the English language is Richardson's "Clarissa Harlow," published in 1749. It was originally issued in eight volumes. It runs to over 800,000 words!

But even this is far surpassed by Mlle. de Scudery's famous novel of the seventeenth century, La Grand Cyrus. This ran to ten volumes, and was translated into English and appeared in five folios of 500 pages each. Yet it was read widely.

Then there was La Caprenede, who wrote Cleopatra. This novel, which found hosts of readers, actually ran into twenty-three volumes.

Early Sewing Machine.

Thomas Saint, an Englishman, obtained a patent for the first sewing machine in 1790 in London. The mechanism of the machine was made of wood.

Employees' Initiative.

Nothing pleases an employer more than to find that employees have been useful and helpful in doing things that they were not told to do. It shows the spirit of initiative; it indicates the ambition to get on, a willingness to pay the price. The progressive employer has little use for the employee who never does anything he is not told to do. Originality, intentiveness, resourcefulness are passports to his favor—and to promotion.—The New Success.

Warm and Cool Colors.

The warm- or advancing colors, which arouse the senses quickly, are those having yellow or red predominating, as yellow green, yellow orange, orange, red orange, red and red violet. The cool or receding colors, which soothe the nerve senses, are blue and the colors in which blue predominates, as blue green, green violet and blue violet. They are called cool colors because of their association with water, ice and the sky.

THE CANADIAN BANKS

RAPID GROWTH OF SO-CALLED "MONEY TRUST."

Since the End of the War 781 New Branches Have Been Opened In Different Parts of the Dominion and Returns Show a Great Increase In the Savings of the People of This Country.

SINCE Sir Thomas White, then Minister of Finance, lifted the ban on the opening of new branches shortly after the signing of the armistice, there has been an unprecedented scramble on the part of all Canadian banks to open up new offices all over Canada. From the signing of the armistice to the end of July, 731 new branches were opened in Canada, and as only 29 were closed, there is a net gain of 711, more than the total number of branches of all Canadian banks eighteen years ago, and an average of two a day.

Now there are over four thousand branches of Canadian banks in Canada, or one for every 2,500 people. In the United States with its national banking system, there is one bank for every 3,600 people, and in England, there is only one branch for every 4,800 people.

What is the meaning of this great expansion in the number of Canadian banks? Some experts deplore it; they say that it is a "mushroom" growth; that Canada has not enough business to keep 4,000 bank branches busy. Yet an analysis of the clearing house reports and monthly bank statements does not tend to this view. Clearings have increased an average of 25 per cent. all over Canada in comparison with last year's figures. In some cities, Windsor, for instance, they have gone up as much as 100 per cent. Savings deposits have shown the most remarkable increase. The lessons of thrift, inculcated in the people of Canada by the war and the Victory Loan campaigns, are not the kind that will easily be forgotten.

There are others who say that the vast numbers of new branches being opened in the smaller centres of Canada will not add much to the prosperity of the towns and villages they are located in.

They claim that the banks open these branches merely to increase their deposits, and instead of loaning it in this locality, as they should do, they collect large reserves in the important cities, such as Toronto and Montreal, and loan the money to large corporations. These people who make this complaint allege that there is a "money trust" in Canada and they see no good in the amalgamation of Canadian banks. It is a question that is agitating England to some extent now, but it is probable that competition between Canadian banks has prevented the formation of "money trusts."

Another answer to this argument is seen in instructions issued by the head offices of two of the largest banks to their local managers, in which it is pointed out that branch managers must "know" their communities, that they must be "community builders" and do everything to boost local industry.

This summer several of the banks have held conventions of their various managers. Bankers from all over the country met and discussed better banking, local and national problems, etc. This bringing together of men who have an intimate knowledge of the commercial and financial problems of every one of the great geographical divisions of Canada is bound to have a good effect in helping the East to know the West, Quebec to understand Ontario, and in lessening misunderstandings. In fact, one New York writer sees in this feature of Canada's banking system—each bank controlling branches in every province—the greatest asset for the future welfare of the country.

Canada's banks have good connections with the outer world. The Union Bank, in connection with the National Park Bank of New York, has recently established the Park-Union Foreign Banking Corporation with branches in Yokohama and Shanghai, to aid in the development of a larger Canadian trade with the Orient. The same corporation is also opening branches at Tokio and Kobe, which is becoming Japan's greatest industrial and shipping city. Other branches of Canadian banks outside Canada are as follows: Newfoundland, 38; West Indies and Central America, 45; United States, 16; Cuba, 31; Great Britain, 8; France, 3; Mexico, 1; Siberia and Spain, 1.

Ontario	1,588
Quebec	1,011
Saskatchewan	562
Manitoba	278
British Columbia	193
Nova Scotia	143
New Brunswick	103
Yukon	3
Total	4,056

Adding to this total the 143 branches located outside the Dominion of Canada, the banks have a total of 4,199 branches. How does this compare with the total of about 100 we had at the time of Confederation, or the total of about 500 branches we had twenty years ago?

Gin Pills FOR THE KIDNEYS

A MAN OF DEEDS.

Col. Ripley Never Looked for the Spot-light.

The khaki of returned men is fast being relegated to the limbo of half-forgotten things, and the thoughts of war experiences are transient now in the pursuit of the much longed for return to a civilian occupation. A toast list beside me, with the simple, but apt quotation, "the true and the frank and the free," recalls the splendid qualities of Lieut.-Col. Blair Ripley, D.S.O., C.B.E., O.C., of the 1st Battalion Railway Troops, whose splendid leadership, untiring industry and pardonable pride in his crack railway construction unit, made his name to be a revered one among the men who had the good fortune to come under his command. A quiet and reserved man, he has that bigness which comes from big undertakings. As a C.P.R. engineer, the Lethbridge viaduct, and the North Toronto grade separation, were prac-tically his work, and at the time of his enlistment he was in charge of the construction of the Quebec bridge.

Twenty-seven months of unremitting work in France and Belgium have enhanced that enviable record and experience in supervising the laying of steel and the erection of bridges.

"Railways are the arteries of modern warfare"—this fact was early recognized by Sir Eric Geddes, and miles of light guage railway track was laid with the rapidity of spreading a stair carpet, but it only partially relieved the congestion. Broad gauge railways were urgently required to bring troops and military supplies to the rail heads. In the autumn of 1916, the 1st Battalion, C.R.T., worked on the Somme, building narrow guage, at Maricourt, Combles, le Forel Farm, Rouge, and Bouchevesnes.

Early in the following spring the Germans, yielding to pressure from the British, evacuated Bapaume and Peronne, leaving a vast tract of wilderness in their wake. It did not seem possible to lay heavy steel on this indescribable waste of mud, and interminable shell torn region. Could it be accomplished? Was it worth the tremendous effort? There was a diversity of opinion and many officers in high places were against the project.

Col. Ripley undertook the job, and in less than two weeks a train ran over broad guage rails into Peronne yard, from Plateau, via Maricourt, (the jumping off place of the first Somme offensive). Skirting Trones Wood, through Clery, then a heap of rubble, the Scots' Guards carried the 26 feet lengths of rail, by number; ties and fastenings were rushed up through the snow on motor lorries, and the 1st C.R.T. spiked with commendable vigor. It was a feat of skill and determination, and another evidence of Canadian energy and enterprise was recognised by the British authorities. Consequently the 1st C.R.T. became the nucleus of the Canadian Railway Troop Corps, afterwards so ably administrated by Brig.-Gen. Stewart. The 2nd Railway Troops came into the field during 1917, and when the armistice was signed thirteen units were in operation, two more in formation, with subsidiary companies of skilled railroad operators, tramway companies, engine drivers and a bridge building aggregation in Palestine.

The red square was a distinctive and a respected badge. The men who wielded the spike maul could also shoulder a rifle. One C.R.T. unit distinguished itself at Villers Bretonneux, holding a part of the line until relief came.

Col. Ripley must have accepted the axiom that "actions speak louder than words," early in his professional career, and he followed that motto in the army. He was on the Western front to build railways and did it. Oratory and verbosity are foreign to him. He shunned eulogizing press men. Completion reports stated all, the blue print frame told its story. The numerous letters he received from army commanders pleased him because they reflected credit on his battalion. He had a very warm regard for those men, who ate raw turnips with him in 1916. A silent man, but a reservoir of warmth and kindliness to those who sought him in time of trouble. He had no patience with malingerers but the punishment always fitted the crime. An officer and gentleman, one "who never turned his back, but walked straight forward," through the dark grey war days, he is held in high esteem by the old members of his battalion.

The annual public auction sale of live stock at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, was quite successful.

FINALLY REACHED HIS POINT

Lawyer's Flowery Eloquence Turned Out to Be Prelude to Very Simple Request.

Norman Hapgood, the new minister to Denmark, was talking about a "whitewashing" case.

"The case reminds me," he said, "of Pietro Libertini, a scion of sunny Italy, who was on trial for a murderous assault. His lawyer defended him in this manner:

"'Your honor,' the lawyer began, 'my client, Signor Pietro Libertini, comes from Italia la Bella, land of romance, art and immortal literature. He comes, your honor, from the sunkissed home of the illustrious Michelangelo Buonarotti, of the divine Raffaello and the undying Dante Alighieri. He comes from the olive-crowned birthplace of Tasso, Ariosto and the humorous Boccaccio. His home is Italia, prolific mother of art and science, progenitrix of Galvani and Galileo Galilei.'

"After the lawyer had gone on in this strain for about an hour the judge began to get impatient.

"'What has all this got to do with the case?' he finally asked.

"'My poor words,' said the lawyer, 'are by way of preface. My client, from immortal Italy, home of the painter and the sculptor, humbly prays this court to apply to him the very lowest form of pictorial art. He prays, your honor, to be whitewashed.'"

BIRD APARTMENTS RENT FREE

Orchardists Seek to Encourage the Woodpecker to Settle in Their Midst, as It Were.

It may sound like a joke to speak of the manufacture of woodpecker nests, but there is actually a factory in Maine that takes many orders for such nests.

The birdhouses are constructed of pine blocks 15 inches long and from five to six inches in diameter. The back of the block is squared to permit of the patent adjustment being properly attached to the tree or placed where the house is to be located; a canopy or top piece to keep out the weather being made like a roof. A perfect nest is drilled by a reamer. Within three inches of the bottom a corkscrew indentation is made to the bird entrance, as the toes of the wood peckers are in pairs, four altogether, two behind, with sharp, strong claws, the whole structure of the foot making it adaptable for climbing.

The houses are sold to orchard owners, as the claim is made by the ornithologists that the woodpecker's feed consists chiefly of insects and their larvae, which the birds get by digging into the bark and wood of trees. The woodpecker's tongue is an important instrument in obtaining its feed, as it can be extended far beyond the bill, its tip being horny and furnished with a barbed filament.

MEDICAL SYSTEMS OF THE FUTURE

Doctors Must Organize, Not to Increase Their Incomes, But, For the Betterment of the Service.

Doctors must organize not into unions for mutual protection and the increase of income, but for the betterment of service, ath physician and patient scrap most facilities that can never be furnished by the individual practitioner. We have swarms of experts but each is playing a lone hand. Outside of hospitals and dispensaries there is no team work at all, and its logical development is seen only in a very few institutions such as the Mayo Clynic. In an article on "Group Medicine," contributed to the American Journal of Public Health (Boston) by Dr. Michael M. Davis, Jr., director of the Boston Dispensary, the wastefulness of our present methods of "family doctoring" is emphasized, and its replacement by co-ordinated effort is advocated. At present the rich and the poor are fairly well cared for, to the injury and neglect of the man of moderate income. To quote and condense his article:

The Speed of Specialization.

Specialization in industry has progressed to an extreme point. Along with it had gone another factor which has rendered a high degree of specialization both possible and efficient. This factor is organization. In medicine within a generation, specialization has developed enormously. The factor of organization is as yet relatively undeveloped. It is the purpose of this paper to suggest some indications of its present and probable development.

In private practise among the well-to-do, a family will call during twelve months upon a pediatrist for the baby, an orthapedist for father's feet, a neurologist for mother's nerves, a laryngologist to take out Tommy's tonsils, a surgeon for the debutante's appendix, an oculist and a dentist for nearly every member of the family. The expense of this system of specialization without organization may not be a defect to those who can afford it. But the system is far from 100 per cent. of medical efficiency. This is particularly apparent in those cases which are difficult to diagnose, or which present practical problems of treatment. For without a central point of view, to harmonize the opinions and plans of several specialists the patient is likely to take the advice that is the least trouble to himself or that fits in best with his own preconceptions or prejudices. Such a system of unorganized specialist practise is not a solution of the problem of medical care, even among the well-to-do, and it is far too costly to extend to the public as a whole.

Free Medical Treatment.

The most [illegible] clinic [illegible] physicians who are specialists, spend most of the mornings or afternoons in well paid private practise among the rich, spend much of their afternoons or mornings in hospitals or dispensary, we have specialization brought to a high degree, and also have another factor introduced, namely organization. An elaborate equipment of instruments, microscopes, laboratories, X-ray facilities, sterilizing and mechanical apparatus, are brought together in a single building instead of being scattered through many separate offices, and are placed under one general administrative control. The hospital or dispensary provides and administers equipment for joint co-operative use.

Further than this, in the hospital or dispensary, the relations between the different specialists are organized by common consent under one central authority, represented by the managing body of the institution itself. Producers are fixed by the central organization and supervised by it.

Thus there is not only organization of equipment, but also organization of skill. This mean group medicine. Group medicine presents a system of utilizing the man in resources of modern medicine in all its various branches for diagnosis and treatment, so as to promote the most effective economical [illegible] tion of technical equipment for the most efficient co-ordination of professional skill.

Group medicine is new, because specialization in medicine is comparatively new, the modern hospitals in their most developed forms represent group medicine, but there are hospitals which today are merely boarding houses. The development of medicial organization plus specialization is coming to mean a new and much more efficient organization of hospitals and dispensaries.

Group Medicine System.

There are also institutions which have been formed particularly for the practise of group medicine. Most notable is the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., an institution which stands on the principle that group medicine is more efficient than the individualistic or specialized practise without organization. The Mayo Clinic receives patients who, as a visitor was once told, may pay, "anything from nothing up to $10,000," and gives the same treatment to all. Group medicine in Battle Creek, Michigan, in Fall River, Mass., and a number of other places in the country, is represented today, by organization specially formed for the purpose. These organizations are based on business-like and well-conducted private academics.

The time has arrived, Dr. Davis believes, when "organized practise" by physicians should be permitted both by law and public opinion. On the other hand, no hospital, mutual medical organization, or any other group should be permitted to carry on the diagnosis and treatment of disease except under public supervision. The responsibility of physicians to patients does not cover the situation. The practise of medicine has gone beyond any one man. Specialization carries with it organization and the necessity of public (organization) supervision. Dr. Davis goes on:

The further development of group medicine is needed by the medical profession and the public. The general practitioner is cut off very often from the best facilities of modern medicine. His patients have not access to these facilities because they cannot pay high fees. Only through organization which will pool the equipment and co-ordinate the various branches of special skill, can the facilities of modern medicine be opened up to all.

A group medicine plan is applicable not only to a large city but to the small communities also. In cities of small size specialists may visit on occasions, even if they cannot dwell there permanently. There visits should be arranged for by the local medical group, at regular intervals. Thus a body of specialists would take part in a co-operative medical group often enough to meet the needs of the locality. Thus all physicians who were members of the group would get the benefits of co-operative work and the advantage of equipment which not individual physician could provide for himself. The public of the locality would be similarly benefited.

Does group medicine mean breaking the personal relationships between the individual and the physician? It need not do so. As a matter of fact, the personal relationship of the average practitioner to his patients, particularly in cities, is decidedly discontinuous, whereas the personal relationship of the specialist to his patient is generally not only discontinuous but fragmentary. The patient is seen by sections. Group medicine can be organized and cause munification of personal interest in the patient, and to preserve personal relationship, as well as promote medical efficiency.

Public Need Education.

The development of group medicine in the immediate future may perhaps be stimulated if business men and social promoters recognize that it is coming useful, and promote forms of organization to meet the Community needs for medical care. But if the development of group medicine is to take place in the best way, it must move forward on the basis of public service rather than the individual interest. The general public must be educated to see the advantages of group medicine and to support those hospitals, dispensaries, health departments, and other organizations which are endeavouring to further it. A health insurance system might be another way in which funds would be available.

Military Service Experience.

The experience of military service will have rendered thousands of physicians familiar with methods of organizations and accustomed them not only to the treatment of individual patients but to the co-ordination of work with other doctors. The return of these physicians to private life may well be occasion for stimulatin gthe organization of medicine and for helping the institutions in which group medicine is practised. Group medicine is a necessary progressive step in the practise of medicine for the public service. Was there ever a time more ripe for forward movement than the present?

EVERY MONTH MANY WOMEN

Take ZUTOO Tablets and are free of the Griping Pain and Sick Headaches.

Read what Mrs. Wright says:

"I received your sample of Zutoo Tablets, and took them for severe pain (monthly) and headache. At the end of 30 minutes, I was entirely free of pain and experienced no more throughout the period. I suffer a great deal at these times and feel grateful that I have a remedy which affords quick relief. Every woman in the land should know about Zutoo Tablets and what they will do."

Mrs. ALLEN WRIGHT, Fulford, Que.

TAKE ZUTOO

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Backachy or have Bladder trouble.

Meat forms uric-acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a table-spoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

STATISTICS FOR THE MONTH.

During the month of October there were in the city 47 births, 35 deaths and 27 marriages.

The building permits issued for the month numbered nineteen for a total value of $99,390.

VALUES IT MORE THAN A FORTUNE

Power Gains Eighteen Pounds — Rheumatism Disappears After Taking Tanlac.

"I consider what Tanlac has done for me to be worth more than a fortune," said George Power, of Halifax, N.S., while talking to the Tanlac representative a few days ago. Mr Power lives at 20½ Rottenberg St., Halifax, has lived in Nova Scotia all his life and is a well known employe of the Nova Scotia Tram and Power Co.

"I've actually gained eighteen pounds since taking Tanlac, and I feel better in every way than I have in twenty-eight long years, and what's more I have spent hundreds and hundreds of dollars on medicines and never got a particle of good until I found Tanlac," continued Mr. Power.

"I had rheumatism in both my legs from the knees down and in damp weather I just had to stay at home from work. My ankles bothered me too, and I don't believe anybody in the world ever suffered from rheumatism as bad I did for it was just a sharp shooting pain that would go through my knees, down my legs and into my ankles like somebody was sticking a knife through me, and I would be in such agony that I would turn as white as a sheet. When these attacks came on me I wouldn't be able to sleep a wink but would roll and tumble all night long, and my joints would swell and my knees would be as stiff as a board and I couldn't walk a step for or three days at a time and would be laid up at home flat of my back with my knees so stiff I couldn't bend them at all.

"I noticed where Tanlac was being highly recommended by people right here in Halifax, so I decided to try it. And I wouldn't take anything in the world for the good it has done me. If anybody don't believe that I am a well man, and that the rheumatism has left me entirely and that I never feel even a trace of it, just tell them to see me. My appetite has picked up and I have gained in weight and feel better in every way and can sleep fine at night. Tanlac is the greatest thing I have ever seen, and I want you to publish this statement for I want everybody to know what this medicine will do."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. H. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock, by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield, by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowlers' Corners, by W. A. Hunter; in Norwood, by G. Trimble and Son.

FARMERS' MARKET.

The farmers' market this morning was not quite as large as it has been for the past few weeks, but considerable bargaining was carried on during the morning. The prices:

Butter, lb., 60c to 65c.
Eggs, dozen, 65c to 70c.
Apples, bag, $2 to $2.25.
Potatoes, bag, $2.25.

Lots of men who have an aim in life lack ambition.

St. Thomas I.O.D.E. raised $277 by a tag day.

PICKING A TELEPHONE GIRL

How ought one to choose a telephone girl? That question was put to the president of a large firm in Leipsig, who is visiting in Stockholm to lecture and demonstrate the latest methods of testing efficiency. The president replied that he ascertained that the aspirants to the honor of running his 'phone board must have tidy hair and manicured finger nails.

The German experts do not think that goes far enough. They think that employers are extraordinary inefficient in picking their hired help. They object to the Munsterberg and Taylor tests, as they stigmatize them, as trying to get the greatest amount of efficiency out of a man or woman instead of first ascertaining whether or no the subject of experiment is a round peg in a square hole. The theory of these Leipsigers might be summed up thus: If you get the right men and women for the right jobs you do not have to bother with any efficiency propaganda and experts. Choose good tools to begin with. They see great scope for psychological tests in industry, in fact nothing short of a new and indispensable profession. Good-looking girls will continue to get the pick of the stenographic jobs, and there will be wives' younger brothers of fearful and wonderful inefficiency flourishing in unsuitable positions for generations to come. But these experts are enthusiastic over their vision, which sees all employes first passing a psychologist subjecting them to tests that will lead the best folks to the best work for them. One great industrial firm in German spent 500,000 marks on a psychological laboratory and claims that it paid for itself in the first year.

QUAKER OATS WELFARE CLUB

Under the auspices of the Girls' Welfare Club of the Quaker Oats Co [illegible] was held last evening in the spacious dining room that has been so generously provided for the convenience and comfort of the girls working at this institution.

In entering the dining room, on the fourth floor of the main building, facing Hunter street, one's attention is at once attracted to the well laid out plan of the dining tables with their profusion of flowers and plants and to the tea and coffee room, in which the very best tea and coffee are served free of charge to the girls.

On the left of the dining room is a well laid out secluded rest room with rugs on the floor, couches on which to rest, lounge chairs, and a profusion of books and magazines for the use of the girls; also a very fine toned Victrola dispensing sweet music from the latest productions.

A Real Treat

Last evening's party was a real treat for the onlookers as well as for the participants. Between fifty and sixty bright, intelligent girls, in all manner of costumes, from Britannia down to apple women and flower girls, Red Cross nurses, and not forgetting the many who, realizing the absence of the men, tried in their feminine way to fill in by posing as young men in very fancy suits soldiers' suits, clowns, boys of the streets, etc.

About 9:30 p.m. dainty refreshments were served, and they were very appetizing, consisting of cake, doughnuts, pumpkin pie, tea and coffee, apples, marshmallows and taffy, which were all fully enjoyed. The happy party dispersed a few minutes after ten o'clock, looking forward to the next social, which takes place every second Wednesday during the winter months.

At the last social held the girls were honored with a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Cormack, the former being superintendent for the company, and after a very enjoyable evening spent together the girls tendered a very warm welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Cormack and family to Canada and more especially to Peterborough. The welcome was very modest but sincere from the girls, and Mr. Cormack very suitably replied for himself and Mrs. Cormack, assuring those present that they desired to help all of them not only in regard to welfare work but in every way posible that would tend to their interest.

The business meetings of the Girls' Welfare Club are presided over by an executive committee elected by themselves, the officers for the present term being: President, Miss E. Carter; Vice-President, Miss L. Mesley; Secretary, Miss M. Warman forelady.

ARE THE DAYS OF MIRACLES OVER?

IS SUPERSTITION AND FALSE BELIEF TO OVERSHADOW FACTS ANY LONGER?

When a woman who has been sick for years becomes well after taking a certain scientific preparation—can you deny that the remedy must be good?

Read these extracts taken from a letter written to us by Mrs. H. Cress, of 362 King Street West, Toronto:—

"I suffered for several years with inflammatory Rheumatism and could hardly get up or down stairs. My husband bought me a box of Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules, and almost immediately I felt relief. The swellings started to go down and the stiffness left my knees. I might say that previously to using T.R.C.'s I had tried almost everything under the sun without success. I am a happier and wiser woman now, and I cannot thank you enough for the aid T.R.C.'s have given me."

It's the same story from hundreds of other Rheumatic sufferers. They tried T.R.C.'s and T.R.C.'s fixed them up. If you suffer, try them.

Ask your Druggist or write us for our new booklet. It is interesting and costs you nothing (Templetons, 142 King West, Toronto). We mail T.R.C.'s anywhere on receipt of $1 ea.

MONEY WASTED IN MINING INDUSTRIE

OWNER OF COLLIERY CLAIMS FREE COMPETITION THE CAUSE

Edmonton, Nov. 1.—Put the coal mining industry of Alberta under the control and supervision of a board appointed by the Provincial Government, with power to fix wages, regulate working conditions, pass upon all proposed developments, widen markets, and workmen to look after the interests of both the producing and consuming public. Only so can the industry, now in a bad condition, recover itself and make progress in the future.

That is the suggestion made by H. A. Lovett, president of the North American Collieries Co., as a contribution to the inquiry of the Government's coal commission, which held a second session in Edmonton yesterday.

Free competition in the coal industry of this province had proved an expensive luxury, said Mr. Lovett in his testimony, and by means of it a great amount of money had been wasted and lost. Twenty mines could produce the six million tons of coal supplied to the prairie trade by more than 300 mines working in Alberta.

Turkish Crescent.

The Turkish crescent, although now regarded as essentially Mohammedan in significance, is, it appears, of Christian origin. A crescent moon was the emblem of the Byzantine Empire and of the Eastern Church. The Turks adopted it as a badge of triumph after the capture of Constantinople in 1453. With reference to the crescent, the story of the origin of the crescent-shaped Vienna roll is of curious interest. It arose in the sixteenth century, when the Turks were besieging Vienna. Failing to carry the city by assault, they began to mine the walls. At that period the bakehouses were in the walls under the fortifications, and when the mines were almost through the sound of the work was heard in the underground bakehouses and an alarm was given. To celebrate this event the bakers of Vienna adopted the Turkish emblem as the form in which to mold and bake their bread.

An Historic Family.

Miss Hester Leavenworth, Trumbull, descendant of John Alden and Priscilla Mullens, was married at Litchfield, Mass., recently to Miles Standish, Jr., of Boston, who traces his descent directly from Capt. Miles Standish of the Plymouth colony. The bride's line is through Faith Robinson, wife of the famous Jonathan Trumbull, of Connecticut. Mrs. Standish is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs William Trumbull, of Litchfield.

On Thursday evening Messrs Robt. Duff, Thompson, Breden, Harry Fitzgerald and Wesley Sherin attended the Victory Loan banquet at the Empress Hotel.

GOSPEL HALL NOTES.

Arrangements have been made whereby Mr. E. W. Brown of South America will remain in the city over Sunday. A special meeting will be held in the hall at 3 p.m. at which Mr. Brown will give a special address not on Revelations, but on another theme. At 7 o'clock he will preach on "The Everlasting Gospel, or the World's Dilemma," and on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday he will continue with the wonderful revelation. All should hear the marvelous address.

London's Landlords.

What Sir Marcus Samuel paid for the twenty acres of the West-end, which he bought recently, it is impossible to say, says Tit-Bits. As, however, the land itself is worth about $10,000,000 and the buildings erected on it are worth another $15,000,000 it is easy to arrive at a fairly correct estimate of the cheque which he signed for the property.

This purchase places Sir Marcus among London's biggest landlords. Contrary to public belief, however, the 116 square miles of London County are not owned by a few, but by thousands of landlords — 38,200 in all. More than one-half of these only own two or more houses, while there are only 700 who own estates of five acres and upwards. The Ecclesiastical Commissioners own Bayswater property which brings in $2,500,000 a year in ground rents.

The Duke of Westminster is the largest individual owner. His 400 acres in Pimlico yield a yearly rent of $15,000,000. Lord Howard de Walden owns 292 acres off Oxford street, which bring in an annual rent of $14,500,000. In Clerkenwell Lord Northampton is the biggest landlord, owning 260 acres worth $8,000,000 a year. Lord Portman, the Duke of Bedford, and Earl Cadogan own between them 270 acres, with a total annual rent of $25,000,000.

LAKEFIELD TO VOTE ON HYDRO QUESTION

BYLAW TO THAT EFFECT PASSES SECOND READING IN COUNCIL

Lakefield, Nov. 1.— The regular Council meeting was held on Tuesday evening in the council chambers. Communications from the Hydro-Electric Commission and the Victory Loan were read.

The following accounts were presented and recommended for payment:

Bell Telephone Company	$7.35
Electric Light Company	60.31
R. Graham, wages	3.00
A. Fairburn, wages	1.50
A. Clysdale, wages	6.00
Jos. Watson, postage	2.25
Expenses for delegates to Toronto	41.30
	$128.46

The report was on motion received and adopted.

A bylaw entitled a bylaw to take vote of the ratepayers in the village entitled to vote on money bylaws, on a question to be submitted as to whether said ratepayers are in favour of the supply of electric power from the Hydro Commission of Ontario, received its first and second readings.

Bylaw No. 564 to authorize the borrowing of money on security of debentures issued under bylaw No. 562 of the village of Lakefield, until such time as the debentures issued there from can be sold, received its second reading, and was passed, signed and sealed by the reeve and clerk.

Moved by Councillor Porter, seconded by Councillor McDonald that E. J. Milloge's tender be accepted for putting steel roofing on the new village hall.

ANNIVERSARY OF RE-OPENING OF ST. JOHN'S

DATE OF RESTORATION NOV. 1 1882—FESTIVAL CHORAL SERVICE TOMORROW

Sunday is the fifty-second anniversary of the dedication of St John's Anglican Church after its restoration, and the services will be of a festival character, carried over two Sabbaths. Special music has been prepared in keeping with the occasion.

The semi-centenary dedication anniversary of this old land-mark of Peterborough was observed in November, 1917, when the rector, Major (Canon) Davidson, was serving overseas as chaplain, and when many of the congregation's young men were fighting in France and Flanders for the preservation of British freedom.

The nearly half a century old vine, which completely covered this sacred building's ancient tower, was destroyed to permit of placing the people's chimes, and the church is only just recovering its vine-clad antique English beauty marred thereby.

St. John's old bell, generally conceded to be one of the most beautifully toned bells in the country, now does service at All Saints' Church. Many an old churchman and churchwoman miss this bell from its original home in St John's more than they appreciate its successors, the chimes. To them the call of St. John's first bell to matins and vespers was as the voice of an old-time friend.

One of the Oldest.

To the exact day All Saints' Day is the true anniversary of the re-opening of St. John's Church after restoration on November 1 1882. This was effected during the rectorship of Rev. J. W. R. Beck. The chancel was then added an the grounds laid out. The dedication of the church by Archbishop Sweatman was made a great event and was attended by all the clergy and many leading laity of the district. The dedication festival will be kept tomorrow and on the following Sunday.

Tomorrow parochial communion services will be held at 8 and at 11 a.m., with commemoration of the departed and remembrance of past parishioners. In the evening there will be a festival choral service.

St. John's is one of the oldest buildings in Peterborough, having been erected in 1835-36, when the population was about 500. Many of the early pioneers were members of the congregation.

Rev. Mr. Armour, who arrived in 1827 was was the first rector and Rev. H. D'Olier was in office when the church was built.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

NOTED PUBLIC MEN ARE EXPERT TYPISTS

It is not generally known that amongst other things, President Wilson is an expert typist. Whilst at his official White House residence he scarcely ever uses his pen unless it is to sign some important documents

The President possesses an absolutely unique typewriter, and he taps away at a speed which would make a professional typist envious.

Quite recently he personally typed a very difficult and lengthy message to Congress whilst on board the convoy ship George Washington. It contained nearly sixteen thousand words, and the President accomplished the task in a remarkably short space of time.

Mr. Wilson, however, is not the only great statesman who personally manipulates his own typewriter, for Mr. Hughes, the well-known Prime Minister of Australia, rarely travels a long distance unaccompanied by his typewriter, which, it is interesting to know, was especially built for him.

When commencing a sea voyage, Mr. Hughes invariably takes with him two reliable machines, in case one gets out of order, and long after his fellow passengers have retired for the night, the Australian Premier can be heard drumming away at the keys.

Mr. Lloyd George is an enthusiastic believer in the possibilities of the typewriter, and has all his speeches typed out by his secretary, who "runs" a strongly-built machine equipped with extra large pica type, this feature enabling the Premier to read the manuscript at a distance.

Yet another President who has a complete mastery of the keyboard is President Poincare. Like President Wilson, he is an expert typist, and frequently prepares his own manuscript. He possesses a very valuable machine, presented to him by a famous typewriting company.—Tit Bits.

Canadian Writer Honored.

His Majesty the King has graciously accepted a copy of "The Maple Leaf's Red Cross," by Mary MacLeod Moore. Their Majesties have shown a keen interest in the work of the society and are well posted in its activities. On one occasion when visiting a large military hospital the Queen spoke to a Canadian soldier and asked if he had a Red Cross visitor, as she knew that through the information Bureau, under Lady Drummond, all sick and wounded soldiers were visited and cared for. The King it will be remembered, lately co-operated with the Red Cross in giving Bushey Lodge and Hospital for the use of the ailing children of London.

King George has traveled more widely than any other king who ever occupied the British throne.

LITTLE BOY AND THE TEA KETTLE

Nineteen-Nineteen is Centenary Year of the Great Engineer Who Invented the Steam Engine

Among the anecdotes assiduously cultivated in Scotland for the encouragement of ambitious youth is that of a little boy playing with a tea-kettle, watching the lid rise and fall under the influence of the steam and many years later inventing the steam-engine.

The little boy was James Watt, who died one hundred years ago last August 25th. Scotland gave him birth; but the great engineer spent forty-five years of his useful life in Birmingham, England.

The late Dr. Russell Wallace, in a comparison of the achievements of the nineteenth with the eighteenth century, only grudgingly admitted the [illegible] engine, saying: "The improvements, though very important, had a very limited result . . . The bulk of the population knew no more of them (the engines) nor derived any more direct benefit from them than if they had not existed."

As a corrective to this strange judgment most people would prefer the epitaph written by Lord Brougham for Chantrey's marble statue in Westminster Abbey, which proclaims that James Watt,

Directing the force of an original genius,
Early exercised in philosophical research,
To the improvement of
The Steam Engine,
Enlarged the resources of his country,
Increased the power of man,
And rose to an eminent place
Among the more illustrious followers of Science,
And the real benefactors of the world.

It was on January 5, 1769 — the sameyear in which Arkwright obtained the patent for his spinning machine—that Watt took out the patent for his steam, or, as he called it, his fire engine, and it was in the same year that, embittered by disappointment and the news of an attempt to appropriate his inventions, he wrote: "Of all things in life there is nothing more foolish than inventing.'" On January 31, 1770, he wrote. 'Today I enter the thirty-fifth year of my life, and I think I have hardly done thirty-five pence worth of good in the world; but I cannot help it."

The good that Watt did lives after him, and to his memory there is the Watt Institute at Greenock, Scotland built in 1837 by a son of James Watt at a cost of $15,000 on a site presented to the town by a local landowner, the late Sir Michael Shaw Stewart. A marble bust by Chantrey stands in the vestibule, and behind the Institute is the Watt Museum and Lecture Hall built and endowed in 1876 by a local merchant. In the cemetery there is a beautiful and novel cairn to Watt's memory. It is built of many different kinds of stone, sent by Scotsmen from all parts of the world, each bearing a suitable inscription.

James Watt, did not, of course, invent the steam engine "out of his head." Enthusiastic Scotsmen and many laymen assume. Engineers know that the steam engine in Watt's day was the product of many clever brains working through a period of over a century. Watt's own account of how he hit on the improvement of Newcomen's pumping engine is worth quoting, for the precision of its language. "One Sunday afternoon he wrote. "I had gone to take a walk on the Green of Glasgow, and had got about halfway between the Herd's House and Arn's Well, my thoughts having been naturally turned to the experiments I had been engaged in for saving heat in the cylinder, at that part of the road the idea occurred to me that as steam was an elastic vapour, it would expand and rush into a previously exhausted space; and that, if I were to produce a vacuum in a separate vessel and open a communication between the steam in the cylinder and the exhausted vessel, such would be the consequence."

It is characteristic of Watt's mathematical exactness that he noted the precise part of the road where the idea occurred to him.

Danish Railroads.

The principal railways of Denmark are owned and operated by the Government. The length of the Government roads is 2,103 kilometers (1,307 miles) and that of the several private roads is 2,067 kilometers (1,284 miles). The private companies operate, for the most part, only the short lines, whereas the Government operates the main lines and handles the greater part of the business.

Thrift.

Genoa longshoremen recently converted themselves in twenty-four hours from striking workmen to employers of labor. They obtained through the strike a day wage rate of $6.50 and the following day hired other men for their jobs at $2 a day, thereafter living easy lives on the remaining $4.50 for eight hours' management of the $2 a day underling.

Japan's Population.

Until a few years ago the rate of increase in the population of Japan was a little more than 500,000 but last year's increase is put at close to 800,000.

MUTT AND JEFF IN A NEW GUISE

AT THE GRAND THEATRE TO-DAY MATINEE AND NIGHT

After eight seasons of veritable triumph, Gus Hill comes back for a ninth season with his perennial success, Mutt and Jeff, in an extra new three entitled "Mutt and Jeff's Dream," which will form a background for Bud Fisher's inimitable characters, which easily assume the credit of the greatest and most durable success of the cartoon world, embodying about all of the real The new production is an innovation "meat" of standard amusement, the thrill of the melodrama, the side-splitting situations of farce comedy and the harmonious art of musical comedy.

The story, music, costumes, lyrics and scenic equipment are absolutely new and the company is one of the best ever offered. All in all "Mutt and Jeff's Dream" will live up to the world.

"Mutt and Jeff" is the attraction at the Grand today.

WONDROUS CREATIONS FOR GRAND THEATRE

Mr. Harry Dahn has received word that arrangements are concluded for giving the patrons of the Grand positively the latest and most approved film attractions yet seen in Peterborough. In this connection the following speaks for itself:

"Mr. Harry Dahn,

"Manager Grand Opera House,

"Peterborough, Ont.:

"With a view to giving your patrons at the Grand Opera House a line of film attractions such as have never before been presented in Peterborough, I have made arrangements for the exclusive presentation in your city of the latest releases of the celebrated Big Four combination, which includes Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks and D. W. Griffith. You will also receive from time to time the complete series of films now in course of production by the world-famous screen star, Madam Nazimova, who will present at the Grand during the first half of the coming week her most recent success, entitled "The Red Lantern." I am also sending you for early presentation D. W. Griffith's wondrous creation called "Broken Blossoms." Mary Pickford has been booked for November engagements in both "Daddy Long Legs" and "The Hoodlum."

"MOUNTAIN OF GOLD" A MYTH.

It Would Lessen the Value of Gold Standard.

The nearest approach, literally, to a "mountain of gold" is Mount Morgan, in Australia. And they are mining to-day there as they have for thirty years. The net proceeds have been $38,000,000. This so-called "mountain of gold" has yielded, on an average, half an ounce or less of gold to the ton.

This has led many persons to ask seriously, "What would happen if a mountain of pure gold were found?" For ages men have dreamed and writers have written yards about "mountains of gold," but just what would happen if one were found is still a question with as many sides as a quartz nugget of the precious yellow stuff.

That it would lessen the value of the gold standard goes without saying, and yet some other rare metal or substance would undoubtedly be found readily enough to take its place in coinage if this should happen. Concerning this interesting question, mining experts have talked most interestingly. Those of us, they say, who are familiar with gold mining, and more especially, the big bonanzas of the world, need not strain our imaginations to conceive of an ore body or even a mass of gold big enough to upset international monetary standards. Many a prospector frying his bacon at a camp fire and stimulated by a reconcentrated cup of coffee must have seen visions of a golden mountain or creation as if it would never stop. Every now and then we hear of fabulous mineral discoveries, like that of Bitter Creek, in June, 1910, and when the irresponsible scribe of the Daily Scream has exhausted his vocabulary he usually ends by talking about a "mountain of gold."

When the stampede to the Australian diggings was at its height in 1852, the ignorant emigrants, having heard that gold was found in quartz and not knowing that pervasive mineral, supposed it was "quartz," and hence expected to gather the gold in pints and pails. This fact is vouched for by F. J. Dunn, the Australian geologist, who as a boy went to the diggings at that time.

And why not? We may laugh at simpleton from the farm, and we may sneer (and we do) at the perfervid scribbler of the untechnical paper, but it is doubtful whether even that peripatetic philosopher known as the man in the street could give adequate reasons for the improbability of such a golden discovery.

For instance, what is the biggest mass of native copper ever found? Of course, it was in the Lake Superior region. It was in 1857, in the Ontonagon district. At a shallow depth there was discovered a mass of copper 46 feet long, with a maximum thickness of 8½ feet. The mean width was 12½ feet, and the mean thickness four feet. The total weight actually recovered was 420 tons.

No such masses of gold as this, of course, have ever come to light. Yet gold in great quantities has been won in brief periods. California river beds yielded $81,294,700 in 1851 alone, and the shallow diggings of Victoria gave $63,000,000 in 1858. In the Klondyke more recently one miner cleaned up $46,000 in eight hours and took out $750,000 from a claim about 80 x 50 feet.

Much of this gold was in coarse pellets and nodules, and yet the largest nugget ever found was picked up near Dunolly, Victoria, Australia, in 1869, and weighed 190 pounds. Another weighing 184 pounds and including some quarts brought in nearly $42,000. There have been others nearly as big, yet this is very far from masses such as the huge copper nugget above described, and farther still from a "quarry" or "mountain" of gold. The nearest approach to this as yet imaginary possibility seems to be Mount Morgan, in Queensland, Australia, a hill about 500 feet high, the crest of which was a "gossan" containing several ounces of gold per ton.

This has been excavated in successful benches, so that it approximates to the "quarries" of gold mentioned by certain writers. But the workings are now far below the foot of the hill. However, they have yielded a quantity of gold so great as to render Mount Morgan unique in the history of mining. Since its discovery in 1886, according to the latest figures available, this ore deposit has yielded in excess of 3,680,000 ounces of gold worth $73,000,000, besides 33,000 tons of copper. The company owning the mine has distributed more than $37,500,000.

Poise.

Sarah Bernhardt is credited with having said: "Prettiness does not matter. If a woman has charm and energy, she can secure whatever else she desires—love, success, power." There is a distinction between prettiness and beauty. A fluffy-headed, highly powdered and rouged woman may be pretty, but the beautiful woman has to have wholesomeness, cleanliness, neatness and charm. And the latter is the permanently endowed.

PROVERBS OF BALZAC.

Less Ornate and Poetical Than Those of Victor Hugo.

Honore de Balzac, to whom has long been accorded the primacy among the realists of fiction, deserves also the distinction of being acknowledged the leader among novelists whose sententious observations and epigrammatic asides as their plot unfold adapt their works to the quoter's purpose. From Balzac's great romanticist rival, Victor Hugo, more ornate and poetical sentiments could be culled, but they are not of the kind so likely to remain in the memory. Were all Balzac's shrewd little sayings, epitomes often of common sense—sometimes, it is true, with a flavor of cynicism — collected, they would prove not unworthy of comparison with the "Maxims" of La Rochefoucauld. In proof of which there follow two-score, representing half as many novels:

"Noble conduct makes even ignorance seem worthy."

"Hope is the better half of courage."

"Botany came later than flowers."

"In a long run it is with a profession as with marriage—we cease to remark anything but its drawbacks."

"The finest things in life are life's illusions."

"If you count your sheep the wolf will eat them."

"Talent in man is much what beauty is in woman—simply a promise."

"Fame, like the sun, hot and luminous at a distance, is cold as the summit of an Alp when you approach it."

"After Sunday there will come Monday."

"To forget is the great secret of strong creative natures."

"Fear makes for itself idols."

"Power consists not in striking hard or often, but in striking straight."

"Gratitude is a fool's word; one finds it in the dictionary, but it is not in the heart of man."

"Humanity, socially speaking, is not placed between good and bad, but between bad and worse."

"The husband who leaves nothing to be desired is a lost man."

"The world always ends by condemning those whom it accuses."

"It often takes two men to make a perfect lover."

"'Legality' is a powerful adverb; it supports many fortunes."

"Fortuneless people must be faultless."

"The sayings of great men are like silver gilt in use; constant repetition destroys their lustre."

"In every poet there is hidden a pretty woman of the worst kind."

"In love first sight is second sight."

"Between doing good and doing evil the only difference is a good or a bad conscience; one is as much trouble as the other."

"The moment the mind becomes finical the manners follow suit."

"We are never so fortunate or unfortunate as people say we are."

"Hope is the flower of desire, faith the fruit of conviction."

"The fall of a great man is always in the same ratio as the height he has reached."

"Glory is a poison best taken in small doses."

"Liberty gives birth to anarchy, anarchy leads to despotism, and despotism brings back liberty."

"Death is the consecration of genius."

"He who can govern a woman can govern a nation."

"Nothing demands more attention than things which seem natural; one is always suspicious enough of the extraordinary."

"All human power is a compound of patience and time."

"Troy and Napoleon are only poems."

"A man who has a vice is always the valet of his enemies when they know how to pull the string."

"Confidence is accepted as power, of which it is the outward sign."

"Mistrust a woman who speaks of her virtue."

"We never lack money for our caprices; it is only the price of useful and necessary things that we haggle about."

"Yes and no—is not that the history of every controversy—religious, political or literary."

Women in British Industries.

The vast extent to which British women replaced men in industry and commerce during the war is disclosed in a white paper just issued. It is estimated that the net increase in female workers employed outside their own homes was 1,200,000.

The number of females employed in industrial concerns and government establishments in April, 1918, were: Munitions, 701,000; other government work in industry, 774,000. The number of females employed as permanent work people in agriculture in July, 1914, was 80,000; in 1918 the number was 113,000.

Encouragement.

He (dejectedly)—Is this final? Is there no hope for me?

She—Oh, my, yes! There are lots of girls not so particular as I am.

THE TINIEST STEAM ENGINE.

It Would Take 1,920 Like It to Weigh a Pound.

"Give me one pound of your smallest size in steam engines, please."

The storekeeper takes an engine and places it carefully on his counter. He takes another, and another, and another. Assuming that it requires ten seconds to place each engine in front of the customer, at the end of five hours and twenty minutes there will be a display of 1,920 engines on the counter and the order for "one pound" will be filled.

No such order has ever been given, but its possibility is suggested by the sight of "Tiny Tim," the smallest steam engine in the world. On a continent where the "biggest ever" is a frequent sight, to possess the smallest specimen in existence of anything is unique.

Toronto has many engineering plants capable of turning out gargantuan steam engines that register horsepower by the thousands, but to build an engine so minute that a microscope is necessary to examine it is an accomplishment altogether beyond the united capacities of these great engineering shops.

Such a feat has been achieved, however, by T. H. Robinson, a Toronto watchmaker, who has made a steam engine so small that it takes 1,920 to weigh one pound, or 3,840,000 to weigh one ton. It can be slipped easily into the shell of a twenty short cartridge and when placed alongside a house fly the latter appears like a prehistoric monster by

Mr. Robinson began his career as an engine builder with a model which, although measuring only one inch in height, assumes almost gigantic proportions when seen beside its much smaller successor. It is of the vertical type, with oscillating cylinder, and a five-cent piece provides it with ample standing room.

Comparing this first model with ordinary watch work, Mr. Robinson decided it was too easy and he resolved to make an engine that should have the proud distinction of being the smallest in the world.

The result was "Tiny Tim," a perfect-working model steam engine built up of seventeen pieces.

"Tiny Tim's" bed and stand are of gold. His shaft runs in hardened and ground steel bearings inserted in the gold bed. His fly wheel has a steel hub and arms and a gold rim. His stroke is 1-32 of an inch, and he can make 6,000 revolutions a minute. When in motion he makes a noise like the "ping" of a mosquito.

For practical purposes "Tiny" does not cut a great deal of ice. He baulks at turning the churn or working the family washing machine, and he is useless for generating electric light. A careful estimate of "Tiny Tim's" horsepower has been made by Dr. C. A. Chant, of the Department of Physics in Toronto University. Dr. Chant calculated the speed by means of tuning forks and measured the horsepower as 1-498000 of one horsepower. The statistically afflicted may work this out in terms of flea-power.

Steam, of course, is not used in driving this microscopic engine, but compressed air is fed through the hollow gold base.

"When I began my first engine," said Mr. Robinson, "I thought it would be small enough, but before I had finished it a strange thing happened. It appeared to grow until when completed it seemed about twice the size I expected it would be.

"I decided to make a smaller one, something more worthy of a watchmaker's skill. 'Tiny Tim' was the result."

"Do you consider 'Tiny Tim' the absolute limit in small engines?" Mr. Robinson was asked.

"There must be some limit to the working size of an engine," was the reply. "It may be that limit has been reached in 'Tiny Tim'. I do not show it as the smallest I can make. I have tried this thing only twice, and you will notice a big drop in the relative sizes of the two engines. I believe I can make a smaller one, if I have to."

Promise With a Proviso.

A Chicago boy of six was being shown through the Art Institute by his mother, who stopped before one of the "old masters" and, after explaining the beauty and value of the picture, said: "Now, dearie, won't you promise to remember all I have told you about this picture?" The young hopeful said: "Yes, I will if you will promise never to bring me here again."

Fine Old Hen.

Lord Fisher tells of this blunt but amusing compliment paid to his country by an American admiral. It was at a dinner. Fisher had made a speech in which he said some nice things about America, and at the conclusion of it the admiral arose and exclaimed by saying: "It was a fine old hen that hatched the American eagle."—Boston Transcript.

CAVALRY MAN WINS V.C.

Lieut. Harvey Was First Canadian To Do So.

For most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty. During an attack by his regiment on a village a party of the enemy ran forward to a wired trench just in front of the village, and opened rapid rifle and machine gun fire, first at a very close range, causing heavy casualties in the leading troop.

At the critical moment when the enemy showed no intention whatever of retiring, and fire was still intense, Lieut. Harvey, who was in command of the leading troop, ran forward well ahead of his men, and dashed at the trench, still fully manned, jumped the wire, shot the machine gunner, and captured his gun.

His most courageous act undoubtedly had a decisive effect on the success of the operation. — Official Record.

In the general retreat of the Germans in the spring of 1917 the Canadian cavalry brigade was used to harass them in their departure from the Somme area. The Germans were fighting a rear defence action. The now famous Hindenburg line was their objective and in order to give themselves time to gain this position and consolidate themselves therein they maintained a strong outpost action in the rear. Villages were fortified and many of the best troops were left for their defence. The enemy seemed sometimes to lose his usual strategical balance and to change his mind worriedly. Several would re-attack, the fortunes of war going usually to the British who were following on the heels of the unwelcome visitor who was making haste to leave the territory which he had held for the last two years.

In March the brigade was ordered near Peronne, north of the Somme river. So rapid was the retreat that the infantry were put to it to keep up with the Germans as they left their trenches and strong points, destroying everything as they went. Peronne was laid waste. Civilians were turned out of their homes in villages and the houses blown up. And yet the retreat continued. Only the cavalry could overtake the enemy with speed enough to hurry him as he left. In this the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery did splendid work. When the cavalry had driven the Hun out of a position it handed it over to the infantry and continued the chase over hills and through woods, where frequently strong machine gun posts had to be dislodged.

March 27 saw the cavalry still in pursuit of the enemy. In the early part of the day several village and fortified woods were reclaimed from the Hun and a counter-attack driven off. Then a snowstorm stopped proceedings for several hours. It was 5.15 o'clock in the afternoon before the air was clear enough for the horsemen to start out again.

The daylight was failing when the Lord Strathcona Horse reached the top of the hill overlooking Guyencourt. They found themselves faced by strongly held machine gun posts, and wheeling they galloped around to the northwest corner of the town.

Lieut. Harvey was in command of the leading troop. Riding ahead of his men he was first to reach the outskirts of the town and found again that the Germans had entrenched a machine gun in front of the town and protected it with wire entanglements. Springing from his saddle, he ran at the post, firing his revolver at the same time. He leapt over the wire, shot the gunner and jumped on the gun. When his men came up he was in possession of the post. The troop entered the town. For clearing the way for his men the troop leader was awarded the Victoria Cross.

Lieut. Harvey was the first Canadian cavalry man to win the Victoria Cross in this war. Besides this, the highest award a soldier can win, Lieut. Harvey wears two other decorations, the Military Cross and the French Croix de Guerre. The French decoration was conferred on him for being the first to enter the village of Fontain, March 28, 1918, where he effected a connection with the French cavalry. It was at this time that the French, mistaking Harvey and his men for German spies dressed in British uniforms, had them arrested and held for several hours, releasing them with many apologies on identification by other British officers.

The Military Cross was won a few days later when by sheer gallantry the Canadian cavalry stemmed the advance of the Germans on Amiens.

Lieut. Harvey was farming and ranching near Macleod, Alta, when war broke out. In the spring of 1916 he joined the 13th Canadian Mounted Rifles as a private, receiving his commission before going overseas. He was with his unit at the time of signing the armistice and just before going into Germany with the army of occupation went to England one day in a fog in an airplane to get the colors for his regiment, under which to march into the conquered country. The colors were presented by Lady Strathcona.

Frederic Maurice Watson Harvey was born in County Meath, Ireland. —Carolyn Cornell in the Toronto Star Weekly.

Ice Thick.

Specimens of ice obtained by a party of fifteen men who recently returned from a trip to the Arctic Ocean, according to Popular Mechanics Magazine. Special attention was given to the study of currents in Beaufort Sea, that part of the ocean which washes the coast of Alaska and Canada in the Banks Land, and numerous soundings were made in the cold waters. The flow on which the strange voyage was made was seven miles wide and fifteen miles long. Many seals, polar bears, ducks and land birds made their homes on the floating block of ice.

St. Catharines' Population.

The population of St. Catharines, Ont., is nineteen thousand, one hundred and ninety-five, an increase of six over last year. The large number of foreigners who went back to their native land after the war is given as the reason for the small increase, the smallest on record. The assessment of the city is sixteen million and forty-three thousand, an increase of a little over half a million. Income tax assessment shows an increase of two hundred and ninety thousand.

Merely Nominal Right.

The freedom of the city of London carries with it, nominally, at any rate the right to keep pigs in the parish of St. James, Piccadilly. But even were any one disposed to avail himself of this liberty, and if the sanitary authorities failed to object, land in that part of London is somewhat too costly for profitable pig-farming.

Pompey's Pillar.

This is the name of a celebrated column on a slight elevation in the southwest section of ancient Alexandria. It is a monolith of red granite upon a pedestal. Its total height is 98 feet 9 inches. The inscription shows it was erected by Publius Epareh of Egypt in honor of the Emperor Diocletian, A. D. 302.

Wire for Ocean Sounding.

A very fine steel piano wire is used in making ocean soundings. The ocean at its deepest point as far as is known is 31,614 feet—about six miles deep. This hole in the ocean is near the island of Guam. A wire must be very fine and very strong to support six miles of itself in making these soundings.

Bluejay Helps Sunday School.

The superintendent of the Sunday school at Plainville, Kan., took charge of a sickly bluejay and nursed it to health, says the New York World. He has tamed it and trained it to do tricks and it follows him around his home like a dog. The last two Sundays the bird has gone with him to Sunday school, where it has done all the stunts it has learned before the class. Whenever there are others near the bird keeps close to its master. There is so much interest in the bird among the Plainville boys that Sunday school attendance is increasing.

Stockholm is built on islands, and the name means "an island in a sound." For several months in the year it is closed by ice.

Windsor's population is reported by the assessor is 41,485.

Seaman Kent Co of Meaford, will establish a branch in West Lorne.

CALGARY PROTESTS AMATEUR SPORT

PROTEST AGAINST MIXING PROFESSIONAL AND AMATEUR ATHLETES IN WEST

Winnipeg, Nov. 1.—Regina, Edmonton and Moose Jaw sport leaders are loud in the defence of the ringers and old pros that are going to play hockey in Saskatchewan and Alberta this winter, but Calgary is awake to the true situation.

The Calgary Herald says: "In the case of these professionals who are reported to be slated for positions in amateur hockey this winter, the amateur union is going to take a firm stand. The Calgary governors have already expressed themselves very strongly on this point, and from all indications these players will be ruled ineligible to compete. Fans may be disappointed to learn this, but it is amateurism the officers of the Alberta Union are protecting and not the tastes of a certain section of the sporting fraternity. It is true that the best calibre of sport must be served out to the fans, but the Alberta officials will not permit this to be done at the expense of honorable amateurs.

"Neither do the amateur officials intend to permit any small body of men who secure a livelihood from sport to come here and disintegrate an organisation built up through years of fervent effort on the part of perservering amateur advocates.

"These moguls who would attempt to perpetrate such a colossal plan of disruption will be firmly opposed by Alberta's amateur officers. This information has been obtained from the officials themselves and they are fully armed to oppose any such movement. When Calgary is ready to take care of professional hockey, let the professionals be imported, but in the meantime play the game on the square and let the meal-ticket athletes be hanged."

Dan Laith, of Vancouver, vice-president of the A.A.U. of C., says: "Just what action the governing body will take I am not prepared to say, but steps must be taken at once to put an end to the promiscuous reinstatement of professionals whose present status does not merit consideration."

MANRICO GOES TO SWEDEN

Lexinton, Nov. 1. — Manrico, 2.07½, winner of the only six-heat Futurity ever trotted over Lexington grand circuit track was sold today by the Walnut Hill farm to Christian L. Mueller, of Sweden, who will export the young stallion to that country late in November. Three brood mares, two colts and one yearling were also purchased from various Lexington horsemen and will be shipped with Manrico.

This constitutes the biggest sale of harness horses for foreign studs made here since the outbreak of the war. The price paid for Manrico was not made public.

Money from Canteens.

Canada will benefit by a substantial sum from the proceeds of the expeditionary force canteens. These were canteens with which the Y.M.C.A. and other organizations supplied all the British troops in France with extra messing supplies, liquors, cigarettes, and various other articles. Their surplus proceeds have been turned into a fund of which Gen. Julian Byng is director and which will be used for ex-service men of the Imperial army, and amounts to over $30,000,000. An allotment, however, is to be made to the troops of the various overseas dominions, according to proportional strength. This money will be paid to the Canadian military authorities, and will probably amount to between two and two and a half million dollars.

This decision has been made known by Gen. Byng in reply to the request of the British branch of the G.W.V.A. for assistance from the general canteens fund for a clubhouse for demobilized Canadian soldiers in Britain. Gen. Byng, who was former commander of the Canadians, explained the arrangements and wished the war veterans' scheme very success.

A Brave Man to Be Honored.

The Minister of the Interior of Belgium declared in the Chamber of Deputies recently that in concert with the British authorities, it had been judged desirable to keep the Cloth Market, Cathedral, and adjacent houses at Ypres in their present state. The Government had agreed to the request of Canada that the emplacement where Gen. Mercer fell should be allotted. It would be with a view to the erection of a museum on the spot. The ground would be expropriated, failing a friendly arrangement with the owner.

The leek, it is said, is called house leek because it was formerly common in the north of England to plant the house leek on the roofs of cottages as it was supposed that the leeks were protection against thunder and lightning.

A RECORD OF SERVICE.

Splendid Work Done by Gen. Ross In the War.

Brig.-Gen. Arthur E. Ross, of Kingston, is a soldier and a citizen of national reputation. By his eminent services and self-sacrificing devotion he has earned and receives the enthusiastic admiration of practically every Canadian soldier who went overseas. Dr. Ross is a native of Ontario, now in his 49th year. During the South African war he served as a young man, he enlisted and fought as a private, and later on gave noteworthy service as a surgeon. Dr. Ross was the representative of Kingston in the Ontario Legislature when the great war broke out. Recognised as a man clear and strong in his convictions by all his associates, and yet a moderate thinker, he was perhaps keener for action than for debate. His contributions to the deliberations of the House were characterized by sound, practical common sense, by independence of judgment and an accurate knowledge of the subject in hand. From the moment war was declared Dr. Ross realized, as few men did, the importance of medical and surgical attention to the men at the front. Therefore he offered himself to his country, and he was privileged to render such service as seldom falls to the lot of any man.

A few days ago, speaking in Toronto, Sir Arthur Currie declared:—"It was largely due to Gen. Ross that the wastage in the Canadian Corps was lower than in any other unit of the British army." To those who know the man and who have observed his career this was no surprise. Day in and day out, year after year, from almost the beginning of the war until the guns were silenced, Dr. Ross labored with his abounding enthusiasm and his great talent, close up to the firing line, sparing no effort and avoiding no danger, in order that he might save Canadian lives. It is well known that he was several times offered work of a less hazardous and less exacting nature, outside of the danger zone, but he sought neither safety nor comfort while Canadians were in action. Even the flattering offer of an appointment as Director of Medical Services with the Fifth British Army could not induce him to leave his own Canadian countrymen, and even when he suffered the greatest loss that can befall any man in the fulness and death of his life's partner, he remained at his post. He learned from actual experience probably more about the hardships and the suffering of our army than any other man in the service, and he labored as earnestly for the welfare of Canadians as it would be possible for any man to do.

Khaki Settlers In Quebec.

Very encouraging results from soldier settlement work in the Province of Quebec are reported by Col. Bruce Campbell, provincial superintendent of the Soldiers Settlement Board. The board has been brought to a high plane of organization, the province having been divided into three separate areas, all of which report good progress. The headquarters of the three areas are at Montreal, Sherbrooke and Quebec.

The soldier is required to pay down only 10 per cent. of the actual purchase price of the farm. This payment is required mainly to give the soldier-farmer a more vital interest in his venture. In certain cases the payment of this 10 per cent. is waived. The money paid down is to apply solely on the purchase price of the farm itself; thus $5,000 may be paid for the farm, the soldier's 10 per cent. making up the cost with the Government loan of $4,500. This is loaned for 25 years at 5 per cent. In addition the Government will buy live stock and farm equipment up to the sum of $2,000, upon which no interest is due for two years. The third year the soldier-farmer starts paying 5 per cent. on this $2,000. A further loan of $1,000 is made for building repairs, making the grand total of $7,500.

In a visit through St. John's and Huntington counties, Col. Campbell and Major W. R. Stevens came in personal contact with many of the soldier settlers. In almost every case favorable progress was noted.

Spiders and Gold.

One of the many quaint superstitions of the sixteenth century was that "Spiders be true signs of great stores of gold." The saying arose in this way: "When a passage to Cathay (the China of today) was being sought by the Northwest, a man brought home a stone which was pronounced to be gold, and caused such a ferment that several vessels were fitted out for the express purpose of collecting gold. Problem is your demand in one of the islands on which he landed, similar stones, and an enormous number of spiders."

Father of the Typewriter.

Just 100 years ago, Christopher Latham Sholes, the "Father of the Typewriter," was born in Pennsylvania. While serving as collector of customs, he became interested with two other inventors in the problem of making a machine that would write letters and words. A letter written on one of the early machines attracted the attention of a capitalist, who provided funds, and, Mr. Sholes continued improving the model until at last the first practical typewriter was put on the market.

Anyway, He Found It.

It was on October 12 I happened to meet my neighbor's little girl on the street during school hours. I asked her how it happened that she was not at school, and she looked at me with some surprise and answered: "Why, don't you know, it's Columbus day today?" Then, with seeming pity for me in my ignorance, she added: "Columbus discovered America. It was last year, I think."—Chicago Tribune.

Could Drink Water.

If among the innumerable beverages of colonial times a man could find nothing to quench his thirst, he must have been hard to satisfy. The Pilgrim fathers were much distressed because they were reduced to drinking water when they came to the New World. But Higginson, of Salem, proudly told his contemporaries: "I can and oftentimes do drink New England water very well."

Triumphed Over Misfortune.

The famous French artist, Gustave Dore, was born and reared in the shadow of Strasburg cathedral, says Mrs. Betham-Edwards, in "The Heart of the Vosges." Entire Village of Wood.

The Russian village is built principally of wood and roofed with wood, or with straw and stones. For this reason there are so many fires that, according to statistics, one-fifth of all the peasant cottages burn down every year, or putting it in another way, every house burns down after five years. This seems improbable, but it is reliable information.

Gets V. C. After Five Years.

The gallant behaviour which cost the late Lieut. William Archer McCrae Bruce his life nearly five years ago has just been rewarded with the bestowal of the Victoria Cross. Bruce was a young officer of the regular Indian army, 59th Scinde Rifles, which was formerly commanded by his father, and was a nephew of Edward Hay, former general manager of the Imperial Bank of Canada. The young soldier displayed great bravery at Givenchy on the night of December 19, 1914, leading a party against a German trench, and afterwards, though severely wounded, walking up and down encouraging his men to hold out against the overwhelming masses of the enemy. The onrush of the field grey hordes later swept over this little outpost of the "Old Contemptibles," and most of those not among the slain were taken prisoner. Consequently, it was only lately that the story of Lieut. Bruce's gallantry became known.

The "Pretended" Bank.

In 1819 the people of the town of York (now Toronto) asked for the incorporation of the Upper Canada Banking Company, which was granted, but reserved for royal assent, which, however, was not proclaimed until April 5, 1821. But previous to that date a private bank was established in Kingston under the name of the Bank of Upper Canada. The business of this institution was not taken over by the chartered bank, and the Kingston bank has for this reason, been called the "pretended" Bank of Upper Canada. The chartered Bank of Upper Canada failed in 1865.

FIRE MARRED FESTIVITIES

Hallowe'en festivities lead to a fire at the house of Mrs. R. Freidman, 268 Dalhousie street. Some candles that were placed near the window set the window curtains on fire. The damage will probably amount to about $10 which was very slight for the start the fire had.

NOTICE!

If you wish to spend a pleasant evening do not fail to come to L. O. L. No. 321, Downer's Corners, on Wednesday, Nov. 5, 1919. Admission 35c.

SOCIAL & PERSONAL

Postmaster James Edgar was taken seriously ill this morning and removed to Nicholls Hospital.

Mr. Ralph Conley of Toronto spent yesterday with friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Wesley of Toronto motored to the city yesterday.

Miss Constance McCann, Hamilton, has returned home after an extended visit with friends in the city.

Mrs. Thos. Bradburn and Mrs. Robertson of Hamilton are visiting in the city the guests of Mr. W. H. Bradburn, Homewood avenue.

Victoria Hall was the scene of much merriment last evening when a masquerade ball was held there under the auspices of the True Blues. A first-class musical program was furnished by Tucker's orchestra, and the large crowd of dancers enjoyed themselves immensely. A special feature of the evening was the diversity of costumes in evidence. Mr. Harry Dugan captured the gentleman's prize for the best costume. He wore a Charlie Chaplin outfit. Dainty refreshments were served during the evening, the party breaking up about 2 a.m.

Miss Ada Galvin, of Lakefield, is visiting friends in the city.

Miss Walsh, of Toronto, has returned home after visiting friends in the city

At the Dominion Baptist convention held at Ottawa recently Mr. Albert Matthews, of Toronto, was elected 1st vice-president and Mr. Geo. S. Matthews was appointed on the Publication Board. Both these men are brothers of Mr. T. F. Matthews, formerly of this city.

BACHELORS AND BENEDICTS HOLD THEIR ANNUAL AT HOME

The third annual At home of the Bachelors and Benedicts, which was held at the Conservatory Hall last night, was bigger and better than ever, and that is as much as could be said for any "at home".

The hall was suitably decorated with Hallowe'en fixtures around the candles were prominent and gave the place a quaint old-fashioned appearance which was a marked contrast to to the beautiful gowns and costly attires.

The attendance was very large, speaking well for the popularity of the At Homes held by the Bachelor and Benedicts. The large hall was crowded but not so much as to prevent comfortable dancing.

The music provided by A. C. Linton's famous six-piece orchestra has never been excelled by any dance music ever heard in this city. The time was perfect and this group of musicians put such a swing and enthusiasm into their music that it added greatly to the enjoyment of the dancing.

The patronesses were Mrs. Dr. D. K. Carmichael, Mrs. A. E. Coulthard, Mrs. Dr. E. H. Wood, Mrs. W. S. Merrill, Mrs. James Hamilton, Mrs. C. H. Graham, Mrs. F. L. Roy, Mrs G. H. Thompson, and Mrs. C. R. Widdifield.

Among those present were: Weds Richardson, Helen Bulmer, Jessie Cameron, Lenore, Lisle, Elva Jackson, Jean Eastwood, Dora Lafferty, Agnes Eastwood, Esme Aylmer, Edith Delaire, Kathlene Conroy, Bergetta Conroy, Grace Evans, Geraldine Delaire, May Newman, Joan Girard Helen McClarren, Lilian Kelly, Eva Lawless, Lora Soden, Dr. and Mrs D. C. King, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Wood, Mr. and Mrs. C. Perry, Ald Phelan, J. Guise-Bagley, Ald. Hamilton, Herb Rush, Gordon Matthews Archie English, F. Franks, J. Batten W. Tully, H. Snellgrove, Leo Picard, Jack McDonald, Douglas McDonald Clare McDonald, Alex. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fitzgerald, Peter Spratt.

BLADE'S LODGE OFF FOR THE HUNT

SENIOR MEMBERS' 38th CONSECUTIVE SEASON IN THE NORTH COUNTRY.

The hunting season opens on Wednesday and the clubs of this city are making preparations to get off to a good start. Most of them are preparing to leave Minday morning in full force, and in some cases the advance guard is already on the scene of action.

Blade's Lodge.

The members of Blade's Lodge are preparing for the most successful hunt of their career. This is the successor to the Gold Lake Hunt Club of which only three members remain, namely, A. Blade, Sr., who has not missed a hunt in 38 years; Wm Snowden and Jack Stanger.

Mr. Blade, the senior member of the present club, is taking along with him a pair of thoroughbred imported blood hounds to make this a record season.

Blade's Lodge is situated on an island of 87 acres, and is a popular summer resort as well as a lodge for this hunting party. Last summer twenty-three Americans from different places spent their vacation with Mr. Blade on his island, and all promised to return next season.

The club consists of A. Blade, Sr., Percy Blade, T. O. Donaldson, Dr. Pentland, Charles Curtis, Albert Curtis, Jack Stanger and Chas Mills.

MRS. JAMES KENDRY IS PRESIDENT OF NEW WOMEN'S CANADIAN CLUB

Officers Elected Yesterday and Organization Completed Address by President G. O. Cameron of Men's Association—E. A. Lapointe, M. P., Expected to Speak Here

The green room of the Y.W.C.A. was the scene of a large and enthusiastic meeting yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, when the ladies of Peterborough congregated there for the purpose of completing the organization of the Women's Canadian Club in this city. The fine spirit of co-operation with which the ladies entered into the work of forming this club speaks well for the future of the organization. That the spirit of helpfulness and patriotism is very strong amongst the women of Peterborough was evidenced by the numbers present on this occasion as well as their attitude of appreciation of the uplifting motives of the club.

Mrs. James Kendry occupied the chair and the following officers were elected:

President—Mrs. Jas. Kendry.
Vice-President—Miss Archer.
2nd Vice-President—Miss Ross.
Sec.-Treas.—Mrs. B. D. Hall.
Executive: Mrs. Duncol Walker Mrs. J. A. Wood, Mrs. W. R. Morris, Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner, Mrs. J. W. Frazer, Miss Erskine, Miss Faint.

Mr. G. O. Cameron, president of the Canadian Club, by special invitation attended the meeting yesterday, and explained thoroughly the objects of the organization. He promised that the older club would be reday to co-operate with the new organization in every way.

The Women's Canadian Club have by their constitution finally adopted yesterday set the annual fee at $2 a wear, double that of the men's club.

The recent elections interfered with the program planned by the Canadian Club for the season, but the work will now be taken up in earnest. President Cameron and Secretary B. D. Hall have been in communication with some of the best known speakers in Canada. At the first luncheon, to be held soon, it is believed that the speaker will be E. A. Lapointe, just elected member of Parliament in East Quebec, to succeed the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Mr. Lapointe is now universally regarded as one of the broad-minded men in Canada, one who recognizes no creed, race or territorial division, a man whose national spirit is preeminent.

REV. WEBB DID NOT, AS REPORTED, ADVOCATE GREATER FREEDOM OF RELIGIOUS THOUGHT

Some most regretable errors occurred in certain Toronto papers in their reports of the discussion of theological editorials at the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec, held at Ottawa this week.

Rev. J. C. Gilmour, D.D., who has many friends in this city, is by one paper credited with being the author of the articles against which the convention so strongly objected. The fact is that the announcement was clearly made that Dr. Gilmour did not write the offensive editorials and was in no way responsible for any part of them.

The same papers state that Rev. J.R. Webb of Peterboorugh "made a plea for greater freedom of thought." This, as is well known to all the delegates who were present, is quite contrary to the facts, for the pastor of Murray Street Baptist Church not only voted for Dr. Shields' motion, but advocated it from the platform and urged the withdrawal of the amendment, which course was finally agreed upon.

Mr. Webb was elected the first vice-president of the Home Mission Board for Ontario and Quebec. Mr. James Ryrie of Toronto is the president.

DAMSELS IN BREECHES AND COATS, LIKE CAVALIERS, PARADE GEORGE ST.

Street Masquerade Festivities in Celebration of Hallowe'en—Youth of City Make Merry.

Hallowe'en last night was celebrated by the young folk in the old-time customary way of parading the streets in clown and fancy dress, some with blackened and others with masked faces. They went in pairs, groups and even in small battalions, begging for candies at most likely houses, ringing door bells, dancing on verandas and shouting at the tops of their gleesful voices. But their exuberant spirits had not lead to damaging mischief to any extent as often the case in times gone by.

Many grotesque costumes were seen on George street, including one bevy of damsels in their teens, clothed in white from head to foot—a joyous group of white dominos with laughing eyes flashing from behind white masked faces.

But two strapping damsels were quite extravagant in their masquerade, displaying feminine shapes dressed as cavaliers of King Charles' time, colorfully breeched, stockinged coated and beinigged in keeping with the character impersonated. And they did not seem to mind the publicity of George street, nor the brilliant back-ground of the Allen theatre. Some costumes evident were undoubtedly due at a masquerade ball.

Of course, many private parties were the order of the night, together with a bachelors' and benedicts' ball in the Conservatory of Music hall.

It is safe to say, however, that many who engaged in hallowe'en festivities had little idea of what it was all about or what the occasion commemorated.

Hallowe'en is the name popularly given to the eve or virgil of All Hallows, a festival of All Saints, which falling on the first of November, hallowe'en is the evening of the 31st of October. In England it was customary on this occasion to crack nuts, duck for apples in a tub of water, and indulge in other harmless fireside festivities. While the same thing can be said of Scotland, the hallowe'en ceremonies partook more of a superstitious character; taking among pustics the form of a charm to discover who should be his or her partner in life, and the telling of ghost stories in a darkened room.

CHANCE FOR PETERBOROUGH TO GET GERMAN FIELD GUN

Two are Offered for Work in Victory Loan Campaign

The Dominion Publicity Committee have advised the local organization that two captured German Field Guns of large calibre have been secured, through the courtesy of the Archives Department, and are available for competition among Units in the Province of Ontario.

The Ontario Committee have been very anxious to secure these Guns which, owing to the tremendous demand for them from Battalions of the Expeditionary Forces, Municipal Corporations, and other organizations, the claims of some of which are very strong and must be satisfied, has been very difficult to arrange. Every Unit in Ontario will be very anxious to secure one of these Guns, not only for the honor of the award, but also because they will stand as an enduring mark of local effort, public spirit and patriotism at a time when every community was called upon to do a great national service. What about Peterborough?

The following basis of award has been approved by the Ontario Executive Committee:

1. That one Gun be awarded to the Unit attaining the highest percentage of its combined team members and special subscriptions objective.

2. That one gun be awarded to the Unit attaining the highest percentage of its team members objective.

3. That one unit cannot win both Guns; should one unit be first on both bases above mentioned, the unit which attains the second highest percentage of team members objective would be awarded the second Gun.

4. That, if practicable, the Ontario Executive Committee arrange to have [illegible] on which would be engraved a suitable inscription and the names of the Executive Committe of the winning units.

FIX STOMACH RIGHT UP

"Pape's Diapepsin" at once ends Indigestion, Gases, Sourness, Acidity

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

When your meals don't fit and you feel uncomfortable, when you belch gases, acids or raise sour, undigested food. When you feel lumps of indigestion pain, heartburn or headache, from acidity, just eat a tablet of Pape's Diapepsin and the stomach distress is gone.

Millions of people know the magic of Pape's Diapepsin as an antacid. They know that indigestion and disordered stomach are so needless. The relief comes quickly, no disappointment, and they cost so little too.

Five States are Choosing Government Next Tuesday

New York, Nov. 1.—Five States—Massachusetts, New Jersey, Maryland, Kentucky and Mississippi—will elect governors at the "off year" elections, to be held next Tuesday, Nov. 4. The only Congressional election throughout the country will be held in the fifth district of Oklahoma, where a successor will be chosen to the late Rep Jos. B. Thompson.

Prohibition is the chief issue in the Ohio elections, where the voters will be called upon to vote on two amendments and two referendums on the subject. The referendums relate to the legislative ratification of the Federal prohibition amendment and the Prohibition Enforcement [illegible]. The amendment proposes that 2.75 per cent. liquor shall not be defined as intoxicating, and that constitutional State-wide prohibition be repeated. Voters of Kentucky will also vote on the question of State-wide prohibition.

Sensible View of Health.

If a sound mind and rational habits do so much to keep the body sound, and if nature unaided can cure most of our curable ills, life is a fairer deal for all of us than it has sometimes seemed. Of course, it is not so easy as it sounds to put fear and worry, harrowing love affairs and destructive emotions—hatred and envy—out of mind. But if this is done we must do it ourselves. Doctors cannot do it for us, and realization that the matter of health is largely in our own hands must contribute to the wiser ordering of life.—Chicago Daily News.

Golden Moment is Now.

Shake a barrel of apples and the sound ones will come to the top. And in this great industrial shake-up the man of right heart and keen mind will find his chance. He who has not succeeded as well as he would have liked has now less cause or time than ever for the cavil of discontent or resistance to the advance of industrial peace and progress. Now is his golden moment to apply heart and brain and muscle to the best opportunity at hand. —Charles Grant Miller, in the Christian Herald.

Do Authors Enjoy Writing?

In an editorial on the financial rewards of the late Amelia E. Barr the New York World sets forth that sheer love of writing always produces the best results. "We object," says the Sun. "A canvass of writers who achieve the best results, our guess is, would show that nine-tenths of them don't love to write. There is a good deal of bunk about it, and it is hard to get honest answers; many writers are afraid to say they don't enjoy the writing job."

FOR RELIEF OF WAGE EARNER

Government of New South Wales Has Drawn up Novel Scheme

Sydney, Nov. 1.—Owing to the hardships caused by the constantly increasing cost of living the New South Wales Government has introduced a novel scheme for the relief of wage earners with limited incomes.

A bill already passed by the Legislative Assembly provides that the Board of Trade shall ascertain the cost of living for a man and wife as well as for a single child, and for each additional child in the family. Statistics will set the cost of living so that it will form a basis from which all wages will be calculated.

Government Fund.

The maintenance of the children of workers, will be met by payments from a fund administered by the Government.

Employes receiving not more than $1.25 above the declared living wage will be paid the full amount, which will be ascertained by the Board of Trade to be the cost of maintenance of each child or each additional child.

For each $1.25 whereby the wages of the parent exceed the living wage a deduction of one-twelth of the cost of maintenance will be made in respect to each child, payment for which will gradually diminish so that it will eventually vanish in case of workers receiving three pounds sterling or more in excess of a living wage.

From Employers

The fund already mentioned will be secured from employers, each paying in respect to his average daily number of employes an amount per employe ascertained by dividing the total cost of maintenance for the children of his employes covered by the act amongst all the number of his employes. A Government statistician will make the necessary calculations to secure essential data for determining the amounts payable. No payments will be made in respect [illegible]. The bill applies practically to all the employers in the State whose earnings do not exceed four hundred pounds sterling annually with the exception of rural and domestic workers.

THE NERVOUS SCHOOL CHILD

NEEDS RICH, RED BLOOD TO REGAIN HEALTH AND STRENGTH.

Many children start school in excellent health, but after a short time home work, examinations, hurried meals and crowded school rooms cause their blood to become weak and thin, their nerves over wrought and their color and spirits lost. It is a great mistake to let matters drift when boys and girls show symtoms of nervousness or weak blood They are almost sure to fall victims of St Vitus' dance, or drift into debility that leads to other troubles. Regular meals, out-door exercises and plenty of sleep are necessary to combat the nervous wear of school life. But it is still more important that parents should pay strict attention to the school child's blood supply. Keep this rich and red by giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills according to directions and the boy or girl will be sturdy and fit for school. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind is shown by the statement of Mrs. Pearl G. Harrington, Kingsville, Ont., who says:—"I have often felt that I should write you and let you know what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me. At the age of thirteen I was afflicted with St. Vitus' dance. The trouble became so severe that I had to be taken from school. I was given medical treatment but it did not help me, in fact I was steadily growing worse. Then a friend advised my mother to give me Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which she did, with the happiest results, as the pills completely cured me and I was again able to take up my studies and attend school. Again about three years ago I was attacked with nervous prostration and once more took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after using five boxes was fully restored. I cannot praise these pills too highly as I believe they will cure any case of St. Vitus' dance, or restore anyone who is weak, nervous or run down.

You can safely give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to the most delicate child, or take them yourself with equally good results when you need a blood tonic. These pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or will be sent by mail, post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Columdia professor has laid out a week's dietary for a family of five at $11.89. It runs well until the item "four pounds of sugar" is reached and then the reader is likely to cry, half in slang and half in earnest, "Where does he get that stuff?"

Canners on Pacific Coast Are Feeling Alarmed Regarding Situation Because Catch is Lessening and Last Year a Million Fresh Fish Went Across the Line to the United States.

COMMERCIAL fishing on the Pacific Coast is carried on in several ways. Trawling is yet in its infancy as far as British Columbian waters are concerned, last season having witnessed the operation of the first steam trawler which has ever been placed in commission here, but the success of this venture was so immediate that it is certain that this method of fishing will be resorted to far more widely in the near future, since splendid catches of sole, flounder, cod, and other deep sea fishes were made whenever this vessel put out to sea.

Fishing for halibut which is carried on almost exclusively in the more northerly waters of the province, and which has developed to such an extent that to-day it is second only in point of value to the salmon fishery, is done by the use of very long and immensely strong lines, to which are attached at regular intervals, hundreds of hooks baited with small herring. The vessels engaged in the halibut fishery are of necessity of large size, since they are compelled to go considerable distances in search of the fish, and frequently remain at sea for weeks at a time. The crew of a halibut vessel numbers as a rule from ten to fifteen men, and it is nothing exceptional for each of them to receive several hundred dollars as his share of the profits from a single voyage, for profit sharing is the rule among halibut fishermen. Unfortunately, although enormous quantities of this fine fish are landed every year, for some seasons past there has been a gradual but steady falling off in the number of fish taken. This is undoubtedly due to the fact that there has been little effort made to locate new halibut banks, while the fishing which has been going on over the known fishing grounds, has been of so intensive a nature, that it must have had considerable effect upon the supply. In 1915 the total catch was 37 per cent. less than it had been in 1915, while in 1917 the decrease only amounted to 8 per cent. However, the most notable falling off is [illegible] when in spite of every effort on the part of the fishermen to maintain production at as high a level as possible, only 1,902,000 pounds were landed at Vancouver as against 5,162,000 pounds in 1917, while at Steveston only 16,000 pounds in all were landed. Prince Rupert also shows a very large decrease in the amount of halibut landed in 1918, the falling off amounting to no less than 3,801,560 pounds. This decrease is amply sufficient to justify the alarm which has been felt lest the halibut fishery is becoming a thing of the past.

The question of the export of fresh fish to the United States has always been a burning one, and has led to more heated arguments than even perhaps the controversy regarding the respective merits of the various forms of net. If fish are exported to the United States for immediate sale as fresh food, there can be no possible objection to the practice, and indeed there is much that can be said in favor of such exportation. The spring salmon is without any doubt a fish that should be eaten fresh rather than canned, and in this condition is a delicacy which even the most bloated plutocrat may well be proud to see upon his table. The great drawback hitherto to the shipping of these fish in proper condition to points in the east, has been the lack of refrigerator cars, and now that there seems to be every prospect of this difficulty being removed, a very large trade should unquestionably be worked up. But the export of salmon for this class of trade is not the difficulty. More than a million fresh fish were shipped to the United States last year for canning purposes only, the Puget Sound canneries getting the benefit of this trade, while our own Canadian canneries were unable to obtain all the fish that they could have handled.

It has been estimated that in the year 1916 alone no less than 16,000,000 pounds of British Columbia salmon was sold to American canneries, and this, it is claimed, would have meant a net gain to Canada of more than half a million dollars if these fish had been canned in this country instead of being exported for packing across the line. The secretary of the Canners Association is authority for the statement that the cannery machinery installed in the Fraser river canneries, working for eight hours a day, could have put up all the salmon which was packed on the river during the season of 1916 in two and a half days, but as fourteen canneries did not operate at all during that season, the remainder of those actually operating could have put up the total pack in three and a half days of eight hours each. Had the export of this 16,000,000 pounds of fish to the United States canneries been prohibited, it is obvious that our own canneries must have very largely benefitted through being enabled to operate at full capacity through a longer period.

Deep Degradation.

"I haven't seen Pilkington for a week." "No, he hasn't been out of the house since his accident." "Was he seriously injured?" "No, but he feels the disgrace deeply." "Disgrace?" "Yes. After living in the heart of the city all his life he went to the country one day last week and was run over by a milk cart!"

Quite Sure.

Patricia came tumbling down a flight of stairs, and her mother, badly frightened, inquired if she was hurt. When Patricia regained her breath she loudly proclaimed her feelings: "I is killed, mother! I know, I is killed!"

GOT AWAY FROM HUNS.

Thrilling Story of Escape of Major Peter Anderson.

Major Peter Anderson, of Edmonton, has recently been awarded the Distinguished Service Order. He went overseas with the 9th Battalion in 1914, and had some lively adventures as well as some good fighting. In and around his home town, at any rate, "Pete" Anderson is known as the man who got away from the Huns.

The King heard about this escapade of Anderson's, and in the latter part of 1915, some three months after it happened, he summoned him to Buckingham for a private interview. In his ordinary capacity in the Alberta capital, Anderson is a brickmaker, and calling upon royalty is quite out of his line.

In April of 1915, Anderson and his company were fighting at Ypres in advance of the British firing line, and were taken prisoners. The major himself was interned in a concentration camp one hundred miles south of Berlin. After five months there he got tired of it, and began to think of breaking loose.

The more he thought about it the more he liked the idea, and for several days he saved out portions of his food allowances and secreted them in the sand close to an old well. That well had already been sized up as a strategic point. Another was a nearby empty barn just inside the prison-camp enclosure. To complete his arrangements Anderson made a rope ladder; very much on the quiet, of course, and perhaps without any very clear idea of how he should use it.

Then one September evening, as the prisoners were about to be shut up for the night, the liberty-loving major crawled out to this well, lifted its loose wooden cover, crept under it, and drew it after him over the mouth of the well.

A prison guard on his night beat came uncomfortably close to the hiding-place, but after an hour or so Anderson began to push the well-cover back, very gradually, till there was room for him to get out; and then, when the guard was at the farthest point of his beat, he made a sudden spring, lifted the knapsack of food from the sand, and jumped like a cat into the barn.

There were more guards and a wire fence on the other side of the barn, and there was no exit but a high window. He watched his chance, lowered the rope ladder, climbed down on it, and, when the guards were again farthest from him dashed off, across the open — having previously muffled his feet — and was quickly over the fence.

Under cover of the night he made [illegible] was not far away. But for some reason—perhaps because there was Danish blood in him that drew him to Scandinavian territory—he changed his mind and headed for the Baltic coast by way of farm-fields and forests.

On the second day, having meanwhile disguised himself as well as possible, he ventured into a small town and bought a raincoat, a chart of the country, and a newspaper. In the paper was some prison camp news, including the discovery of his own escape, from which he learned that he was supposed to have gone in the direction of the Swiss border, and that the war dogs had set out after him.

Emboldened by this pleasant news, and wishing to see the Kaiser's big city before quitting Germany, he went into Berlin. There he mixed with the crowds, which proved to be a very good way of covering his tracks. He even treated himself to a taxi ride. But he was still, as he quite well knew, on dangerous ground, and to make a better disguise he assumed the role of a bricklayer, with such credentials as a slouch cap, a stubby beard, and a familiar acquaintance with bricks. In that guise he bought a railway ticket in the direction of Denmark.

What happened along the way, through Schleswig-Holstein, was uneventful in comparison with the major's adventures on reaching the border, where the scrutiny of all travelers was much more strict than in the interior. Anderson found it as difficult to get past as it had been to get away from the prison camp. One gendarme in particular was so persistent that he found it necessary to head him into an inn and treat him till he was drunk. Eventually, however, he got into his native Denmark, which meant just then the best kind of Easy street he had ever been on. His chase across Germany had taken a week and a half.

The Violin Bow.

The shape of the present bow dates from the end of the eighteenth century when F. Tourte changed it from the bow shape as its name indicates. It should be from 27 to 30 inches long and contain from 130 to 150 hairs which are drawn tight by the nut. The stick is generally of snakewood, or lancewood.

THE COAL OF THE WORLD.

Canada Stands High But United States Comes First.

The "coal reserve" of the United States—by which is meant the estimated amount of coal underground—is, according to figures presented by the International Geological Congress of 1913, about twenty times as much as that of Great Britain, and practically half that of the entire world. This is the estimate of coal reserves of the principal countries given in metric tons (2,200 pounds):—

United States ...	3,796,361,000,000
Canada	1,234,289,000,000
China	995,587,000,000
Germany (1913)	423,356,000,000
Great Britain ...	189,533,000,000
Siberia	173,879,000,000
Australia	165,572,000,000
India	79,001,000,000
Russia	60,160,000,000
Austria	53,876,000,000
Colombia	27,000,000,000
Indo-China	20,000,000,000
France (1913) ..	17,583,000,000

Following is the estimated available coal supply of the United States (in short tons), as given by the United States Geological Survey:—

North Dakota.....	697,921,200,000
Wyoming	670,545,100,000
Montana	381,63,800,000
Colorado	317,589,600,000
Illinois	199,961,560,000
New Mexico	191,777,900,000
West Virginia	150,363,600,000
Pennsylvania	124,627,000,000
Kentucky	123,015,000,000
Ohio	92,943,900,000
Utah	88,294,000,000
Missouri	83,820,000,000
Alabama	67,200,000,000
[illegible]	63,776,300,000
Oklahoma	54,802,500,000
[illegible]	53,212,500,000

The United States seems likely to become the chief coal exporting country of the world. In the year immediately preceding the war, the United States ranked third in coal exportation. Great Britain being first with 74,000,000 tons, Germany second with 35,000,000, the United States 22,000,000, Belgium 6,000,000, Japan 4,000,000, South Africa a little more than 2,000,000 and Canada and Australia about 2,000,000 each. This showed a grand total of 160,000,000 tons of coal moving in export in the world as a necessity of international trade.

Reports from Great Britain, formerly the world's chief coal exporter, indicate that her exports of coal in the year ending in June are about one-half that of the year preceding the war, while the coal exports of the United States have increased meantime more than 25 per cent, according to a bulletin from the National City Bank of New York. Great Britain fell from 73,400,000 tons in 1913 to 37,000,000 in the twelve months ending in June, 1919, while the coal exports of the United States, which were a little more than 10,000,000 tons in the fiscal year of 1914, were nearly 26,000,000 in the fiscal year 1918. Great Britain will do well to supply her own home consumption this year and have 20,000,000 tons for export.

Germany lost a percentage of her coal area by the peace treaty, and under the peace terms she must supply a large amount of coal to France, and she will have but a small amount, if any, coal for exportation.

With this fall off of more than half in the power of British coal exportation, the elimination of Germany as a coal exporter (except to France), and the extremely small quantity which any other country can this year export it seems clear that the United States will take its place at the head of the list of coal exporting countries. Even through the fall off in the last year in the coal production in the country, due to the return to Europe of so many aliens who were miners, may continue for a brief period, it is believed the United States will retain first place in coal exportation, for the reason that more than one-half of her output is mined with machinery, as against about one-fifth mined by machine methods in Great Britain.

Sense in Superstition.

There is often a common-sense reason underlying what, at first sight, seems merely a superstition. Take, for instance, the old belief amongst colliers, that a mine much frequented by mice is a lucky mine. We know now that mice are peculiarly susceptible to foul gases, and the presence of unusually large numbers of these little animals, therefore, is proof positive of the absence of any danger. Hence the alleged "luck."

Unladylike Behavior.

Bernice was in the habit of calling her father on the telephone. On one particular occasion she had lifted up the receiver and had asked for the number wanted. After waiting about a minute the operator told her to hang up because the line was busy. After she hung up she exclaimed to her mother, standing close by: "Oh, mamma, the lady chased me off the phone."

Send Your Answers Today!

This great contest is absolutely free of expense and is being conducted by the Continental Publishing Co., Limited, one of the largest and best-known publishing houses in Canada. That is your guarantee [illegible] you and every reader of this paper. Our object in offering these prizes is to introduce EVERYWOMAN'S WORLD, Canada's Greatest Magazine. You may enter and win any of the prizes, whether you are a subscriber or to EVERYWOMAN'S WORLD or not, and, moreover, you will neither be asked nor expected to take the magazine or spend a single penny of your money to compete. Here is the idea.

EVERYWOMAN'S WORLD is so popular everywhere that it now has the vast circulation of 100,000 copies a month, but our motto is "Every woman's World is Every Woman's Home." We want more Canadian readers to become acquainted with this famous publication. Therefore, when we acknowledge your entry to this contest, and you know your standing for the prizes, we shall send you a copy of the very latest issue and a review of many of the fine features soon to appear, without any cost to you. We shall also send, free of charge to all qualified contestants, a charming photo of Miss Mary Pickford with reproduction of her autograph in her own handwriting. Then, in order to qualify your entry to be sent on for the judging and awarding of the big prizes, you will be asked to assist us in carrying on this big introduction plan by showing your copy to just four friends or neighbours, who will appreciate this really worth-while Canadian magazine and want it to come to them every month. You will easily fulfill this simple condition in a few minutes of your spare time.

How to Send in Your Solution

[illegible] the names of the five favorite players in the proper right hand order. If you wish to write anything but your answers, use a separate sheet of paper.

Miss Mary Pickford, as Honorary Judge and three independent judges, having no connection whatever with this firm, will award the prizes, and the answer gaining 250 points will take first prize.

You will get 20 points for every name solved correctly, and 40 points will be given for general neatness, punctuation and spelling; 10 points for hand writing, and 100 points for fulfilling the conditions of the contest. Contestants must agree to abide by the decision of the judges. The contest will close at 5 p.m., May 31st, 1920, immediately after which the answers will be judged and prizes awarded.

17000 WORKERS FROM THE WEST

WILL ADD TO ONTARIO'S UNEMPLOYED ON RETURN FROM HARVEST FIELDS

Toronto, Oct. 31.—An employment official in Hamilton estimates that only every seventh returned soldier of that city applies to the Government Bureau for assistance, and in Ontario only every fourth or fifth That does not mean the veterans do not get jobs for themselves. At a queue of applicants lined up to get work in a big Toronto plant 36 service buttons were counted among the 74 applicants. It implies that the Government Bureau is a long way from a perfect piece of machinery, and also that there is a large percentage of war veterans who are sufficiently independent to be their own employment bureau.

A member of the advisory committee on repatriation judges that some of 17,000 harvesters and farmhands, who went west for the summer, will flock back to Ontario towns early in November.

The official spoke of the strike at the Welland Canal, throwing 400 soldiers out of work. He said if the Government threw open the three sections of the canal work and employed ex-soldiers as engineers and firemen some 1,500 men could be employed there. At present nearly all the engineers and "bosses" are civilians, and there is a surplus of foreign labor employed.

Thieves boarded a freight train on a heavy grade near Schenectady, N.Y., opened a car of export whiskey, and rolled out several barrels, which were taken away on a motor truck.

NOTHING TO EQUAL BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Mrs. Alfred Naud, Natagan River, Que., writes: "I do not think there is any other medicine to equal Baby's Own Tablets for little ones. I have used them for my baby and would use nothing else." What Mrs. Naud says thousands of other mothers say. They have found by trial that the Tablets always do just what is claimed for them. Largest and Smallest Engines.

A young jeweler of Hillsboro, N. D., has made a tiny engine, run by compressed air, which is only three-quarters of an inch long and weighs only 2½ grains. The diameter of the cylinder bore is 28-1000 of an inch, the diameter of the flywheel is 9-64 of an inch and its stroke is 36-1000 of an inch. Contrasted with this is a valve used by the Ontario Power company of Niagara Falls, which is 31 feet high, weighs 65 tons, and has a water-opening 9 feet across, so that an automobile full of men can stand in it.

Calculating Feet in Knot.

The British admiralty knot or nautical mile is 6,080 feet and the statute knot 6,082.66 feet and is generally regarded as the standard. The number of feet in a statute knot is arrived at as follows: The circumference of the earth is divided into 360 degrees, each degrees containing 360 knots or (360 by 60) 21,600 knots to the circumference; 21,600 divided into 131,385,456, the number of feet in the earth's circumference, gives 6,082.66 feet, the length of the statute knot.

Foretelling the Weather.

As a weather prophet the crow has no equal. Should rain be imminent, these birds will rise from their nests or resting places, wheel about overhead for a time, and then return to the places whence they arose. Should their stay in the air be short, then the rain will not be long delayed. If they continue flying overhead for a considerable time, then the downpour may not be immediate, but its duration may be prolonged when it does appear. Should the birds, in addition to remaining long on the wing, indulge in a loud clamor, then the disturbance in the weather conditions is likely to be severe.

The peacock is credited with much discernment as regards the weather. His proud, dignified strut vanishes, and he gives vent to shrill, ear-splitting screams when rain is approaching.

Swallows are unerring in their instinct. If they are flying high, then a macintosh is not an immediate necessity. But if, when they are in search of their food, they skim along at a low altitude, it is safe to predict a downfall at no great period. The long-distance flyers, such as gulls and rooks, are well worth attention. They are not only weather-wise, but wise in common sense. They never venture far from home when dirty weather is brewing.

In the English Channel, an east wind is certain to follow the advent of the curlew on dark nights; while the appearance of the seamew presages rain and strong southwest winds. If you observe the sea gulls leaving the coast, making for inland, and settling on the fields, then you may safely bet on a storm from the southeast.—Tit-Bits.

Quick Work.

A man who was wanted by the police had been photographed in six different positions, and the pictures sent to the chief of police of a provincial town, where it was thought likely the fugitive was in hiding. After the lapse of a few days the following reply reached headquarters. "Sir: I duly received the portraits of the six miscreants whose capture is desired. I have arrested five of them, and the sixth is under observation and will be secured shortly."

Coal in the Ice Regions.

Geologists have discovered immense deposits of coal in Spitzbergen, and it is now apparent that, in spite of ice, cold and fog, Spitzbergen is a land fraught with many commercial possibilities. The coal is practically all on the surface, and deep mining is unnecessary.

The Enemy Seal.

In Labrador the fishermen regard seals as their deadly enemies. One authority says that he has known a seal to haunt a net so persistently that to get any fish at all the owner had to watch all the while at one end.

FIVE STATES WILL ELECT GOVERNORS

AMERICAN "OFF YEAR" ELECTIONS TUESDAY NEXT — PROHIBITION THE MAIN ISSUE

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, Oct. 31.—Five States—Massachusetts, New Jersey, Maryland, Kentucky and Mississippi — will elect governors at the "off year" elections to be held next Tuesday, Nov. 4th. New York will elect assemblymen.

Prohibition Issue

Prohibition is the chief issue in the Ohio elections, where the voters will be called upon to vote on two amendments and two referendums on the subject. These referendums relate to legislative ratification of the Federal prohibtion amendment and prohibition enforcement act passed by the last legislature.

The voters of Kentucky will also vote on the question of State-wide prohibition. Massachusetts, New Jersey, Virginia, Kentucky and Maryland will elect new members to the legislative branches.

DRINK HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST

Says you really feel clean, sweet and fresh inside, and are seldom ill.

If you are accustomed to wake up with coated tongue, foul breath or a dull headache; or if your meals sour and ferment, you have a real surprise awaiting you.

To-morrow morning, immediately upon arising, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is intended to first neutralize and then wash out of your stomach, liver, kidneys and thirty feet of intestines all the indigestible waste, poisons, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal.

Those subject to headaches, backaches, bilious attacks, constipation or stomach trouble, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin enjoying this morning inside bath.

Just as hot water and soap cleanse, purify and freshen the skin, so hot water and a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Limestone phosphate is an inexpensive white powder and almost tasteless.

"Ruby" Wheat.

A new wheat named "Ruby" is reported to have been cultivated at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. It is a selection from the result of a cross between Downing Riga and Red Fife. Ruby wheat ripens, as a rule, a week or so earlier than Marquis. The kernels are somewhat similar to those of Red Fife, being hard and of the popular reddish brown color. The straw in most localities is shorter than Marquis and of good strength.

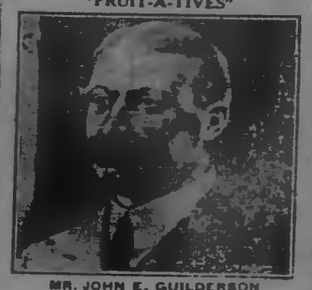
HAD RHEUMATISM FOR FIVE YEARS

No Return of the Trouble Since Taking "FRUIT-A-TIVES"



MR. JOHN E. GUILDERSON

P. O. Box 123, Parrsboro, N. S.

"I suffered with Rheumatism for five years, having it so badly at times I was unable to get up without assistance.

I tried different medicines I saw advertised and was treated by doctors in Amherst, also in my home town, but the Rheumatism came back.

In 1916, I saw in an advertisement that 'Fruit-a-tives' would stop Rheumatism, and took one box and got relief; then I took them right along for about six months and the Rheumatism was all gone and I have never felt it since.

Anyone who would care to write me as regards 'Fruit-a-tives' I would be glad to tell them what 'Fruit-a-tives' did for me."

CONFERENCE OF LEADERS OF BOYS FOR PETERBOROUGH

Delegates From Six Counties Will Probably Be Invited Here

In all probablity there will be a conference for all leaders and men who ought to be leaders of teen-aged boys, in this city on Thursday [illegible] days of December.

A dozen of the leading Sunday School and Y. M. C. A. workers met at the Empress Hotel for luncheon today and decided to invite the conference here.

It will be composed of all the boy leaders from six counties surrounding Peterborough, together with representatives from Peterborough city and county.

The idea of the conference, it was explained today, is to promote cooperation with all its dvantages amongst the churches of diferent denominations of the district.

A committee will be formed immediately toorganize the conference.

PRINTERS STILL OUT

New York Book and Job Compositors Form Relief Association

New York, Oct. 31.—Formation of a book and job men's relief association was announced yesterday at a meeting of the "vacationists" of Typographical Union No. 6, in Webster Hal, No. 109 East Eleventh street. Work to relieve the situations into which the printing strike has thrown many of the members will begin tomorrow, when payments will be commenced. The amount of the allotment to each "vacationist" is $12 a week. The relief association will be directed by a council of six, which has announced that it will immediately commence the collection of a large reserve fund from all parts of the country.

For the second time in the history of the modern publishing industry a magazine was issued yesterday without the aid of compositors. The experiment was made first by the Literary Digest and yesterday Nugent's Weekly, a trade journal, appeared by the new process. The committee from the Printers' League appointed to assist New York publishers in getting their work done out of town began work yesterday by placing one urgent job of large proportions outside the city.

CHILD BRAVES DEATH TO SAVE RAGGED DOLL

SISTERS AND POLICEMEN WOULD NOT ENTER ORPHANAGE AS FIRE RAGED.

New York, Nov. 1.—Sally isn't worth much. She isn't pretty either. Her face is made of some sort of imitation china, there is a big crack in her skull, running from her eyebrows across to the back of her head; one eye is nothing but a shoe button and a very discouraged shoe button at that, and one of her legs has come loose and is tied to her trunk with a piece of string. She has lost one of her hands and on one foot she has no toes whatever. She is virtually a wreck. And besides all that she hasn't any nice clothes, her finest dress having been rather loosely constructed from the remains of an ancient bandanna handkerchief. If Sally was offered for sale in the open market she wouldn't bring 15 cents.

Yet nobody in the world could buy Sally for even a million dollars, perhaps because she is the property of Rosie Treyesi, and because Rosie is only 4 years old and cannot conceive so much money, or any money at all, in fact, although she has been known to be responsive to the lure of a penny. Rosie is one of the girls who lived in the orphanage of the Mission of the Immaculate Virgin in Mount Loretta, Staten Island, and Sally has just about everything in the world that Rosie has, and probably everything that she wants. Naturally, when Rosie goes to bed at night and is tucked in by Sister Mary Charles or one of the other Sisters of the orphanage, she takes Sally with her.

She did that Tuesday night and slept—and it is supposed that Sally slept also—until early Wednesday morning, when fire broke out in the building. There were eighteen children about Rosie's age in the house, and they were in great danger, so much so that Sister Mary Charles almost lost her life getting them into the street. But she did at last and she had just got the last one to safety when Rosie began to cry. Nobody knew what she was crying for, not even Sister Mary Charles and all the big policemen and firemen, who thought she was crying just because she was a little girl and badly frightened.

But in reality Rosie was crying because Sally was all alone in the burning house without her protecting presence, and she was trying to ask somebody to go in and bring Sally out. But, nobody went, so Rosie finally went herself, she was just going through the doorway when a policeman saw her and yelled, and Sister Mary Charles rushed after the little girl, but Rosie was too fast for her and ran upstairs into the dormitory where she had been sleeping and where Sally lay on the bed staring glassily at the burning ceiling from her one eye of porcelain, and staring not at all with her shoe button eye. When Sister Mary Charles go there Rosie who had no idea what the fire was about, was sitting on the edge of the bed licking her fingers and then trying to get some of the black smudge off Sally's face.

Sister Mary Charles picked both Rosie and Sally and carried them into the street, and Rosie immediately sat down in the dirt and continued washing Sally's face.

And she didn't cry any more at all.

Changes Places in Flight.

The daring [illegible] of Lieut. Joseph [illegible] from one machine to another while in full flight was successfully accomplished by a lieutenant of aviation, and is pictured in Popular Mechanics Magazine. Climbing down to the undercarriage of the machine in which he had left the ground as a passenger, he reached the horizontal bar of the landing chassis. Hanging to this, and executing acrobatic evolutions, he awaited the approach of a second ship flying at a lower level. As it came beneath him, he released his hold and dropped onto its top plane, landing at a point near the middle of the right wing. While he had estimated the relative speeds of the two machines correctly and judged his distance without error, it still remained for him to obtain a firm hold, or possibly suffer the inconvenience of falling 5,000 feet.

It All Depends.

The teacher was teaching his class in a mental arithmetic lesson. After "tables" had been repeated he commenced giving a series of mental sums, and presently asked an intelligent little Scot:

"How many marbles would you get if I gave 20 to be divided between you and Johnny McGregor?"

"After a moment's hesitation the youngster answered:

"I canna tell, sir."

"How's that?" queried the teacher.

"Weel, sir," said he, "ye see, it's a' accordin'. If ye gie 'em when we're both here we'd hae ten each; but if ye gie 'em tae Johnny when I wasna present, I'd only get about five; while if ye gie 'em tae me tae share when Johnny wisna here, I dinna ken whether he'd hae ony at a'!"—Columbus (S. ERNEST CHARLES DRURY ACCEPTS TASK OF FORMING NEW PROVINCIAL CABINET

Interviewed Lieut.-Governor Sir John Hendrie Today—To Name Colleagues in Few Days—Go Outside for Minister of Education and Attorney-General—Other Ministers From U. F. O.-Labor Ranks.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Nov. 3.—Responsibility for the formation of a new cabinet, to carry on the government of the Province of Ontario, was accepted today, during a short interview with Lieut.-Governor Sir John Hendrie, by Ernest Charles Drury, leader of the U.F.O.-Labor Coalition in the newly-elected Provincial Legislature. It was a matter of only a few minutes.

Understanding With Hearst.

Mr. Drury was accompanied by J. J. Morrison, secretary of the United Farmers' Organization. They drove up to Government House in an automobile precisely at 11 a.m., and were admitted to the Lieut.-Governor's office immediately. It is understood that in reply to Sir John's questions, Mr. Drury stated that he was ready to form a cabinet that would command the allegiance of the majority of the House, but he would not be ready to name his colleagues for a few days, possibly a week. An understanding has been reached with the out-going Conservative Government of Sir William Hearst to carry on in the meantime.

Just Missed the Prince.

As Mr. Drury left the Government House he narrowly missed an unprecedented experience in Canadian politics of receiving the congratulations and expressions of confidence from the heir to the throne. The Prince of Wales arrived at Government House just a few minutes after the departure of Mr. Drury. On leaving the grounds of the Government House, Mr. Drury was held up by a troop of press reporters and photographers. To the former he related his intention of forming his cabinet entirely from U.F.O. and Labor members. There would be two of the latter in the Cabinet, he said—one as secretary of the Department of Labor and the other yet to be decided on.

Mr. Drury will leave for his farm near Barrie tonight, according to his present program. This afternoon he is holding various conferences and interviews in regard to the selection of his Cabinet. In interviews yesterday Mr. Drury is reported to have stated that he would go outside the Farmer-Labor ranks for a Minister of

PULLED HIS GUN ON DETECTIVE

EXCITING INCIDENT IN LOBBY OF KING EDWARD HOTEL, TORONTO

Toronto, Nov. 2.—Pointing a revolver at Detective Bart Cronin standing in the lobby of the King Edward Hotel Saturday afternoon, Arthur Freeman ran through the revolving doors to King street and after a chase of several blocks, during which time shots were fired by the police, Freeman was captured in a lane in the rear of the post office. Many women standing in the hotel became frightened at the sight of Freeman fleeing from the hotel with a revolver directed in front of him. Making his way past the hysterical women, Cronin ran after his fugitive, but was delayed many seconds by the revolving doors.

Freeman crossed King and went north on Toronto street. Just above the taxi stand he stumbled and fell.

He hurriedly picked himself up and cutting across the east side of the street he turned east to go on Adelaide street. Detectives McConnell, McMahon and Plainclothesmen Sullivan and Knight were talking on the corner when they saw Freeman running along with the revolver in his hand. They cornered him off with their revolvers and forced him to turn north in a lane. Plainclothesmen Sullivan called to Freeman to drop his gun, but Freeman did not do so and Sullivan opened fire, the shot burying in the ground, where Sullivan had directed his shot. Constable Pillinger was in the lane and he took hold of Freeman while the detectives handcuffed him.

Freeman is now locked up in Court street station charged with the theft of two fur-lined overcoats from the Robert Simpson store. He is also charged with "pointing a loaded revolver at the police."

It is alleged that two days ago Freeman, an alleged sneak thief, entered Simpson's store and stole a fur-lined overcoat valued at $200 from one of the racks.

Saturday afternoon it is charged Freeman returned and stole a second coat. He was followed to the hotel, where it was discovered he was registered. Cronin accompanied by two employes of the store went to the hotel to arrest Freeman. As Cronin approached him, he whipped out the gun and after flashing it across the detective's face made a bolt for the front door.

Examined in the police station, Freeman gave his age as 21, and said he was born in Calgary. He had $42 in cash on him and a number of printed cards of a man living in the United States. The Colt revolver was one issued by the United States army. It was fully loaded. The two alleged stolen coats were found in his hotel room.

NEW SCHEME NOW FOR IRISH RULE

HOME RULE PLAN, WITH COUNTIES HAVING OWN GOVERNING PRIVILIGES

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Nov. 3.—The British Government will announce during the present week a new scheme of Irish Government, according to a strongly supported report in Parliamentary circles today.

Two Bodies.

Under the plan said to be in prospect there would be a grant of home rule in Ireland, with power for counties to vote themselves out, and form a governing body for the areas which might be thus excluded from the general scheme. A supreme body, however, presided over by the Lord Lieutenant, would have authority over both the other bodies.

ASKS RUMANIA TO LEAVE BUDAPEST

SUPREME COUNCIL SENDS ANOTHER NOTE—NO TERRITORIAL CONCESSIONS

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, Nov. 3.—The Supreme Council today decided to send another note to Roumania, reiterating the request made of her in the notes delivered on Oct. 17 by the British, French and American Governments, but not delivered by any representative of the Italian Government. The note asks Roumania to evacuate Budapest, states that she will not be given additional territorial concessions, and requests that she name a member of the Inter-Allied Commission, which will pass upon the amount of supplies taken from Hungary by the Roumanians.

GRAND TOTAL FOR LOAN $152,416,000

SOME PROVINCES BEHIND IN REPORTS—ONTARIO'S TOTAL IS $89,446,000.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Nov. 3.—The grand total of Victory Loan subscriptions for the Dominion reported up till noon today, with some provinces far behind with their reports, is $152,416,000, as compared with less than 145 millions for the first week last year.

Ontario's total stands at $89,446,000, reported to date this year.

GIFT TO QUEEN'S

Kingston, Nov. 3.—In connection with the contributory annuities scheme for retiring professors, taken up at Queen's University recently, Mr. G. Y. Chown received word from the Carnegie Corporation stating that they decided to give twenty-five thousand dollars toward the project. The money will be forwarded at once.

A bride, who was once a member of the famous Russian women's "Battalion of Death," arrived in New York with her husband, a U. S. soldier.

IN OTHER PROVINCES

The Victory Loan sales in other provinces, reported to date, are as follows:

British Columbia	$3,314,200
Alberta	2,487,950
Saskatchewan	2,180,700
Manitoba	8,092,700
Ontario	79,850,950
Montreal	31,543,950
Quebec	2,643,900
New Brunswick	1,845,270
Nova Scotia	2,036,500
P. E. I.	118,800
Dominion Total	$135,115,000
Dominion Total, same period last year	$113,404,150

The foregoing represents totals for the four days up to Thursday night with the exception of Ontario and Quebec which have reported up to Friday night.

Toronto now has $31,010,650, but has fallen behind to Montreal, however the Toronto canvassers are not discouraged.

Victoria reports a total of $513,756
Vancouver reports a total of 1,544,900
New Westminster reports a total of 220,900
Edmonton reports a total of 562,200
Calgary reports a total of 1,209,000
Lethbridge reports a total of 118,150
Medicine Hat reports a total of 221,350
Regina reports a total of 420,300
Quebec City reports a total of 201,300

J. P. Morgan & Co. of New York have subscribed $1,000,000 which is believed to be the first subscription to a Victory Loan.

SPEEDING IS VULGAR AND ILLMANNERED

SO DECLARES MAGISTRATE DUMBLE AT POLICE COURT THIS MORNING

At police court this morning Alf. Huffman appeared on a charge of speeding, pleaded not guilty, and the case was dismissed.

The constable swore that Huffman was driving on north George street at a speed greater than twenty miles an hour, but Huffman and his wife, who was also in the car, both swore that they were positive they were not driving at that speed.

Although the magistrate dismissed the case, he gave the accused a severe lecture. He stated that he was of the opinion that the statutes were wrong and that none should be permitted to drive twenty miles an hour anywhere in the city. He called it vulgar and ill-mannered to drive so fast, and declared that no gentleman ever drives his car at anything like the rate of twenty miles an hour. He considered it reckless to drive on any part of George street any faster than ten miles an hour.

This is a very clear warning to all speedy auto drivers.

NO PLANS ARE MADE FOR OPENING IDLE COAL MINES WITH IMPORTED LABOR

Development Today in Strike of 425,000 Soft Coal Miners Expected to Clarify Situation as to Whether Production is to Stop Indefinitley or Not—Some Cheering Reports

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Developments today in the strike of more than 425,000 soft coal miners throughout the country were expected to clarify the situation to the extent of determining whether production was to be stopped indefinitely in a large part of the bituminous zone, or whether any considerable number of workers were willing to return to work.

No Imported Labor.

No plans have been made for opening any of the mines with imported labor, and old men who return to work are to be treated as though they had never laid down their tools, according to Thos. T. Brewster, the chairman of the coal operators' scale committee. No miner will be discriminated against, he said.

Mines in Shape for Work.

Reports from most of the large mining centres indicate that, while a large number of mines would be in shape for the miners to resume work, operators did not expect many union men to re-enter workings today. Union leaders, who were temporarily restrained by the Federal Court at Indianapolis last Friday from further activity in the strike have observed the order, but whether plans have been discussed regarding a modification of the strike order was a matter of conjecture today.

To Preserve Peace.

Federal troops today were in the mining regions of West Virginia, Tennessee, Wyoming and New Mexico, under orders to preserve peace in case disorders arise in connection with the strike. Troops have been ordered to be held in readiness in every department of the army for service whenever State authorities ask for assistance in keeping down disorders.

Trains Discontinued.

New York, Nov. 3.—Sixty-one trains on the various branches of the New York Central Railroad and nine on the West Shore Railroad will be discontinued temporarily to conserve the fuel supply because of the coal miners' strike, it was announced officially here today.

Use Convict Labor.

Acting on orders from the Quartermaster-General of the United States army, officials of the Sangamon County Coal Mining Co. are preparing to continue operations at the O'Gara mine which, when the strike was called was producing coal under government contract.

W. A. Brewington, mine manager, received orders from the office of the Quartermaster to keep the contract, and immediately gave copies of the order to the miners.

At noon today none of the miners had reported for work in the mine. According to a report which could not be verified here, the Government plans working the mine with convict labor if the miners refuse to return.

Reports Are Cheering.

Washington, Nov. 3. — Attorney-General Palmer and his associates were cheered today by confidential reports which were said to show a tendency in some districts to call off the strike. Some locals were asserted to be making efforts to this end. In other places, however, the miners were reported apparently determined to stay out until after their demands were granted.

In a general way the confidential reports were along the same lines as press despatches, showing that the union miners almost to a man had quit, while in the non-union mines work went on without apparent interruption.

FUEL SITUATION IN PETERBOROUGH

MOST OF INDUSTRIES AND PUBLIC BUILDINGS HAVE BEEN SUPPLIED

The following letter was received recently by Mayor Duncan from H. A. Harrington, deputy fuel administrator for the province of Ontario:

"The serious condition into which the coal situation, anthracite and bituminous, threatens to develop, necessitate prompt action on our part, if our industries are to be protected.

I would therefore, ask you immediately cause to be made a full survey of the situation in your municipality, taking note of present supplies of coal, all grades, and actual requirements, and forward all information to me as speedily as possible.

Your co-operation in this important matter is essential to the success of our efforts in your behalf."

Upon investigation it is found that the coal situation in this city is not as serious as might be. Nearly all of the industries, churches, schools and other public buildings have secured their winter supply of fuel.

The supplying of homes is the most serious matter now confronting this city. Coal dealers are doing their utmost to secure as much coal as possible, and are serving their customers as it arrives. More homes have secured a winter supply now than had at this time during the past two seasons.

It is hoped that all those without sufficient coal will be supplied before any suffering or anxiety is caused, but no assurances can be had from the coal companies. The situation is still doubtful in this regard, but more hopeful than in the past.

But citizens must do their part and practice economy.

HISTORY OF OLD ST. JOHN'S FROM LOG BUILDING TO STONE EDIFICE

Present Structure Built in 1835, But Several Times Altered' One of 57 Rectories Created by Sir John Colborne

All services at St. Johns Anglican Church yesterday were largely attended, the occasion being the sacred edifice's dedication festival, in reminder of which, the flag of St. George was flying from the ancient tower from morning to night.

At night the service was choral and of a thanksgiving nature, the psalms being sung instead of read as ordinarily, the creed intoned and the responses chanted.

The large choir of adults and chorister boys were heard to good advantage, under the direction of Mr. R. J. Devey, in numbers specially prepared for the occasion.

In a richly-stored treasure house the Anglican Church finds magnificent music for the Festival of All Saints, and the choral eucharist and evensong, morning and evening, respectively, were both sung finely by the choir, the hymns especially being heartily sung by congregation. The anthems used were "Who Are These" and "God Shall Wipe Away All

MAJOR (CANON) DAVIDSON
Rector of St. John's Church.

Tears," both were rendered splendidly, showing careful training, and surely the hearts of the choisters were in all their work yesterday.

The evening service ended with the processional hymn, "For All the Saints" and the "Alleluia" of the long white robed procession had scarcely finished when from the organ came the music of "Hallelujah" chorus, admirably played by Mr. R. J. Devey.

The day being All Saints Sunday, the rector, Canon Davidson, confined his discourse to a definition of the term "Saints" in its scriptural sense, and an exhortation to apply the principle of saintship to present day life that is to say to live in communion with God and in kindly fellowship with each other.

74 Years Old.

The history of St. John's Church and of Peterborough, go hand in hand for 74 years; but the history of the parish itself may be said to date back to those early pioneer days when the village from which this city developed by nestling at the foot of its seven forest clad hills, for in this, the city of the Otonabee resembles the city of the Tiber.

Reverend Samuel Armour was the first Anglican minister in Peterborough and he taught school and conducted service in an old log building. In 1835, St. John's Church was built by the late Joseph Scobell, at a cost of $6,500, but subsequent alterations brought up the cost to $10,750. In 1882 the church was completely restored at an expenditure of over $15,000; and the present beautiful grounds were planned and laid out a year later by the late John E. Belcher, architect of the church and John Hammond; Mr. A.P. Pousette, now resident in London, England, was the warden.

The first warden of St. John's was Capt. Rubidge, a retired British naval officer, the latest wardens are Dr. Cameron and J. A. Aylmer..

Rev. Samuel Armour, the first rector, was succeeded by Rev. Richard D'Olier, B. A., of Trinity College, Dublin, and he by Rev. Charles Wade M.A., next followed in turn, Rev. Robert J.C. Taylor, Rev. Mark Burnham, (father of the late John Burnham,, reeve of Ashburnham and member of the House of Commons, and of the late Dr. George Burnham.) and Reverend John Walton Romeyn Beck. The latter gentleman was sincerely loved by his own congregation and highly esteemed by other denominations. He passed away on December 7th, 1881, and was succeeded by the present rector, Major (Canon) J.C. Davidson.

Partially Endowed

Peterborough was one of the fifty-rectories created by Sir John Colborne in 1835. Its present lands enjoyed by St. John's under that creation are four acres comprising lots No. 1 to 4, South of Brock Street and east of Water streets. The eastern and western portion of this land is used for building purposes under lease for a term of years, at the expiration of which time the lease to be renewed or the holder to be fully compensated for improvements under his occupancy.

GUARANTEE FROM GERMANY

Must Give Evidence of Good Faith On Ratification of Treaty

Paris, Nov. 3. — The Supreme Council of the Peace Conference held both morning and afternoon sessions on Saturday in an effort to dispose of two questions affecting Germany. The first was the reply to her regarding her refusal to take part in the blockade of Soviet Russia. The second as to the protocol which Germany will be asked to sign upon the formal ratification of the Versailles peace treaty, guaranteeing that she will fulfil the armistice terms.

The definite date for the formal ratification of the treaty was discussed by the council, but it is understood no decision was reached.

WILL RUN IN CENTRE SIMCOE.

Leader Drury Will Probably Be Given a Walkover.

Barrie, Nov. 3.—The Ontario Premier-elect E. C. Drury says that he has decided to accept the offer of the seat in the Legislature made to him by H. G. Murdoch, member for Centre Simcoe. Mr. Murdoch has a majority of 1,400 at the recent election and it is officially stated here that for more reasons that one Mr. Drury will not be opposed.

BOLSHEVIK BATTERIES IN AND AROUND KRONSTADT SILENCED

Subjected to Heavy Bombardment From Allied Warships General Denekine Reports Capture of Bobrov—Enemy Division Surrounded and Prisoners Taken.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Copenhagen, Nov. 3.—Reports that Bolshevik batteries in and around Kronstadt and Krasnaia Gorka, on the Gulf of Finland, have been silenced by a bombardment from allied warships lasting several days, are contained in despatches today. Heavy explosions are said to have occurred in both places named, presumably being due to ammunition dumps blowing up.

Win for Denikens.

London, Nov. 3.— General Denikin's current communication, received by wireless claims the capture of Bobrov, southeast of Voronezh, towards the right flank of line. He concedes the abandonment of Kromy, in the Orel region. In the Archadinsky district General Denikens troops, he reports, surrounded the Bolshevik division and took numerous prisoners.

Starving in Petrograd

Stockholm, Nov. 3.—A despatch to the Tidende from Helsingfors says the famine in Petrograd is assuming terrible proportions. Forty thousand persons have died from starvation within a month, it is declared.

Petrograd has been without bread for the last two weeks, thousands of persons dying daily, according to information brought to Helsingfors yesterday by a Finn who escaped from a prison camp at Moscow on October 12th.

THE PASSING OF PREMIER HEARST.

SIR WILLIAM HEARST has sent in his resignation and that of the members of his Cabinet, and will, it is announced, retire to private life. It is just possible that he may be followed from the public arena by the jibes and catcalls of petty politicians and small calibre newspapers. The despatches, however, tell us that Sir William was met by a number of friends and admirers who, without regard to politics, expressed regret that the Province was to be deprived of his services.

These expressions were something more than mere empty formalities. They may well be joined in by the better classes of the people of Ontario, who have every reason to grieve at the passing of Sir William Hearst from the scene. Heaven knows that there are all too few such men in the public service in Canada that the loss of his inestimable services can be regarded as a mere political incident. It is hard enough to lose such a man through circumstances over which humanity has no control, such as death or old age, but it is infinitely worse when his loss is due to the ingratitude of the majority.

Few men there be who tread the path of ambition without occasionally falling victims to its distempers and availing themselves of questionable tactics to hasten their own progress. From the very beginning, from the farm in Huron County to the highest office in the Province, the record of Sir William Hearst will stand the [illegible] inspiration in all things. He reached the Premiership not by accident but by the stepping-stones of years of honest work. He goes into exile now with personal and official honor that shows no stain.

Sir William Hearst succeeded as Premier a man noted and revered for his rugged honesty. The mantle of the late Sir James Whitney fell upon worthy shoulders, upon those of a man who never trailed it in the mire. Every chapter that Sir William has written in the political history of the Province fails to show a single blot. And his, too, is a record of progress. If Sir James Whitney was handicapped to an extent by over-caution, as much cannot be said for his successor. Had he been a politician, instead of a statesman with high ideals, he might today be still in the place the duties of which he filled with the courage of a man convinced that he was right and with whom that conviction was all sufficient.

Sir William Hearst was big enough to do what none of his predecessors, no leader in Federal or Provincial field, ever dared to undertake. That work remains today as his monument, a work approved by thousands of the people of Ontario, who seem to have lost all sense of gratitude for the man who accomplished it. Sir William could in 1916 have sidestepped the issue, have evaded the responsibility, had he been a mere time server instead of a man with the courage of his convictions. He overcame hostility in his Cabinet and among his following, the very numerical strength of the latter making his task all the harder.

There is scarcely a public man of note who has passed from the stage in Canada but who had some incident in his career which his contemporaries were forced to leave to the charity of the historian, to be dealt with when everything like the personal element had been removed by the passage of time. Men who write histories must be experts in the making of explanations and apologies. But neither explanation or apology is required to extenuate anything that Sir William Hearst did as a member of the Bar, as a representative in the Legislature or as Premier of Onario. His defeat, if it reflects on any one, does so upon an ungrateful electorate, not upon himself.

Sir William Hearst all through his public life showed himself a man who loved righteousness and hated iniquity. Therefore he passes into official exile. Plenty of reformers in the history of the world have met the same fate for the same reason, but in the political history of Canada such incidents are unfortunately rare unfortunately because that stamp of man is generally lacking as a subject, a victim of popular misconception and want of appreciation.

THE PERMANENCY OF PROHIBITION.

WHEN THE UNITED STATES Constitution was adopted by Congress at the end of the Revolutionary War, it contained ten articles, every one of which still exists in its original form. There has not been a single article repealed in all that time, although machinery for repeal has been provided. From time to time the different clauses have been interpreted by the Supreme Court, but the Constitution as a whole has stood as firmly as a law of the Medes and Persians, in which no change was permitted.

Eight new articles have been adopted since the original draft, the most important being the one granting the franchise to the negro, adopted in 1870, more, it must be said, by way of punishment for the recently vanquished South than for the general welfare or that of the former slaves; the amendment providing for the election of the United States senators by popular vote instead of by the various State legislatures, and, most recent of all, the eighteenth amendment, which places the country under Federal prohibition.

The Federal authority in the United States jealously guards its powers. Drastic legislation has been provided by Congress for the enforcement of prohibition when it goes into effect next January, and this legislation has been carried in spite of the veto of President Wilson, who indulged in some splitting of constitutional hairs. The prohibition law will be enforced in the United States. Let no one worry on that score. Federal officials never sleep. A congressional enactment is held in higher regard than a State statute or a municipal bylaw. The Constitution is held as sacred.

Not only will the law be enforced, but it will be permanent. No article in the American Constitution has ever been repealed. The one which makes the country dry will stand, just as have the others. The politicians can no longer make capital of fighting the cause of temperance. The man who in the future attempts to do so will be regarded as a constitutional enemy of his country.

The verdict in favor of prohibition in Ontario and in other provinces of the Dominion has been emphatic. The only cause for regret is that this sumptuary legislation lacks the permanency guaranteed that in the United States. At succeeding Legislative and Dominion elections the question is likely to crop up again and to find covert defenders, just as it did in the recent Ontario election, friends of the liquor interests camouflaged as temperance advocates. They did not succeed, it is true, but the very fact that the Liberty League is to be perpetuated proves that the anti-prohibitionists have not abandoned hope. Their specious pleadings will be heard again. Their underground campaign methods will be continued. It does not suffice to say that their efforts will avail little. The speck will remain in the ointment. The heel-fly that annoys but does not kill the livestock of the country will continue to be a source of national irritation. There is still work for the temperance forces, to fight all dangers, all menaces, open or concealed.

A HALF TURN OF THE WHEEL.

THE BOARD OF COMMERCE have set the price for bacon and other forms of pork, the order having been issued some time ago, and the wholesalers given until Saturday to prepare for the change. The packers will now take the inevitable course and reduce the price paid to the farmer for his hogs. But the wheel set in motion by the Board of Commerce has not yet made a complete revolution. The price of feed which the farmer is obliged to buy to fatten his hogs has not yet been reduced. When it is, the price of the raw material is bound to go down with it. No matter which way the wheel turns or to what extent, the farmer is sure to get the worst of it.

It is hard to see how the consumers will benefit by the new order, if the demand for bacon remains active in Europe and the price high. It avails little to have prices within reason if the supply is limited. The only relief that could be furnished the consumer would be to put an embargo on exports, and such an order is not likely to be issued. The Government, through different [illegible] the Board of Commerce, has for years been attempting to regulate the cost of living, but the law of supply and demand remain as immutable as ever. It is impossible to set the price of one article without making the circle complete and regulating the cost of everything that enters into its production.

In the meantime the farmers will be driven into closer political unity than ever for their own self-protection. Talking of class legislation, no other name can be found for governmental orders that directly cut into the profits of the farmer. If the U. F. O. movement is class legislation, it is simply one evil that has been bred by another, self-preservation being the object of those behind it. Why single out the farmer as a profiteer, why profess to punish the dealers higher up by penalizing the farmers while the men who traffic in boots, shoes, clothing and the like are not molested?

WHEN THE LIBERALS CALL THE ROLL.

THERE IS NOTHING in the change of Government at Toronto to cheer the drooping spirits of the remnant of the Liberals who survive. Sadly they huddle together in the corner into which they have been crowded, and as they call the roll and count noses, realize that they have come through the fray with ranks somewhat decimated and not a single trophy of victory.

Still, Hartley Dewart and his handful of followers will serve a useful purpose in the future legislative proceedings as well as in the political life of the Province generally. They can always be referred to as the terrible examples, each man an object lesson by way of illustrating what may in future be expected by the party that refuses to play the game fairly, that would sacrifice the substance of principle and grasp wildly at the shadow of political expediency, not to say chicanery. All might have been different if the party had not abandoned anything in the way of a moral issue that it ever did cherish to any extent, and load itself up with a man who was the champion of a threatened interest and who from the moment of his election three years ago was flagrantly paraded as the future leader of the Liberals.

All might have been different, too, if the Liberals had not held a convention last summer in which the reactionaries, the politicians with their backs encrusted with ancient partisan moss, were in the majority, men who were ready to pass by righteousness for the sake of power. There were enough of hand-picked delegates in that convention to carry the issue at stake and to scurry off with the leadership. The result is now to the Liberal party a matter of painful history. The anti-prohibition Conservatives would have none of them. The better element of their own party refused to be tricked longer. Both these factions threw their support to the new party and this accounts for the present peculiar situation at Queen's Park.

It is nothing unusual for a government to be swept away, nothing discreditable, either, in some cases, as subsequent events are likely to prove. It is, however, nothing short of humiliating for the majority that has connived at that Government's defeat, to be themselves weakened in the fray and supplanted by a party in whom the voters preferred to take a chance.

TAFT CALLS COAL STRIKE A CONSPIRACY

William H. Taft speaking in Malden, Mass., at a political rally, said the bituminous coal miners in calling a strike were engaged in an unlawful conspiracy" and that Congress had full power "to condemn such a cruel conspiracy as an offence."

"In an ordinary strike," said the former President, "incidental annoyance to the public which is negligible, does not render the strike illegal. But when enormous combinations of working men deliberately enter upon a country wide plan to take the country by the throat and compel the employers in that particular field of industry to yield to the demands of the men, they are engaged in an unlawful conspiracy. The sacredness of their individual right to labor on such terms as they choose and to leave their employment when they will does not protect or justify them in such a conspiracy.

"That is the kind of conspiracy the bituminous coal miners propose to begin on the first day of November. The extent of the suffering that they plan to impose upon the public cannot be measured. The suffering will be entailed on those who are so poor that they cannot buy their coal in advance. It will fall upon the poor wage earner whose employer will have to shut down for lack of coal. Congress has full power, if it has not already done so, in the Interstate Commerce Law to condemn such a cruel conspiracy as an offence.

"The locomotive firemen are threatening a similar strike. If they enter upon this plan it will constitute conspiracy to starve the people of the United States into some kind of action to compel the authorities to pay the wages they demand. Congressmen condemn this as an unlawful conspiracy too."

Mr. Taft asserted that "Bolshevism has taken strong hold in many of our congested centres and is the backing of a good many of the strikes."

"The radical agitators," he continued "encourage laflessness, stimulate resistance to lawful authority and the abuse of the power of organization. The question whether the Governor of a State shall temporize with organized lawlessness and yield to it by humiliating compromise thus becomes at this time of the greatest importance."

WHAT HAT WILL LADY ASTOR WEAR?

(New York Herald)

At the present moment political and constitutional experts in England are excited over just one question:—What will the American born Lady Astor wear on her head when she sits in the House of Commons as Member of Parliament for Plymouth in succession to her husband? She is to have a walkover at the polls apparently!

A feminine picture hat would be quite out of place in that assemblage, though it would make a nice spot of color in the pervading gloom. But some sort of headgear is absolutely necessary, seeing that a certain sort of motion can be made only by a member "sitting and covered." So, should Lady Astor leave her hat [illegible] and [illegible] the eye of Mr. Speaker, under special circumstances, she would have to borrow a "lid" from one of her neighbors for the purpose.

Ordinarily M.P.'s wear their hats in the House, generally tilted over their noses so that they can slumber without being suspected of any discourtesy to the Chair. By their hats we shall know them! When the first Reform Parliament met the great Duke of Wellington, looking at the Commons from the gallery, declared: —I have never seen so many shocking bad hats in my life."

In Great Britain there is no such thing as a constitution in the American sense of the word. Yet public men and private citizens are always talking about the British constitution. What they mean is a body of customs, most of them many hundreds of years of age, which are venerated just because they are so old. The House of Commons has gone so far at times as to abolish temporarily trial by jury and the writ of habeas carpus. But certain political, legal and social habits have survived two great revolutions and are as strong as ever. They are the things that really count.

Joseph H. Choate once said that the English did things usually because their ancestors had been doing them for a thousand years rather than from any logic attaching them. So a judge on the Bench sports the clerical clothes of the Middle Ages which were born when the administration of churchmen. The ways of the House of Commons are based on similar traditions.

So it is not at all surprising that a problem which was decided in Congress without difficulty when Miss Jeannette Rankin sat in the House of Representatives at Washington should occupy the serious attention of the British to the exclusion of such comparative trifles as the reorganization of the Cabinet, the settlement of the Irish question, demobilization or the problems of peace.

Lady Astor might wear her coronet or a riding hat in the House and so solve the great problem. But whatever she apears in will be sure to suit her curiously interesting style of beauty.

THE REAL BENEFIT

Persuasion should not be necessary in order to secure subscribers to the Victory Loan 1919. It would be difficult to imagine a more inviting investment. The rate of interest is almost double the rate paid by the savings banks, but in addition to this there is the fact that the prosperity which makes the possession of savings possible is contingent upon the success of the Loan. People in every walk of life are affected by that important feature.

If Canada is to remain prosperous she must have capital to work on. The proceeds of this Victory Loan will provide that very necessary capital. The money will all be spent in Canada, and its circulation will secure continuance of the good markets at present enjoyed by the farmer. It will enable the manufacturers to find ample employment for the factory workers, whose wages will mean continued "good times" for the tradesman.

Canada is enjoying prosperity at present and cannot afford to have it otherwise. The people must help to retain it by investing their savings in Victory Bonds. Their money is as safe with that form of investment as anywhere, and no other place for it offers such manifold advantages.

KINGSTON MILK PRICES.

Kingston, Nov. 3.—At a meeting of the milk producers of this district it was decided to raise the price from $3.50 to $4 per hundred lbs. No decision was reached as to the price to be charged consumers, but it is likely to be 16 or 17 cents per quart. It is now selling at 14 cents.

ENGLISH SERVANTS FOR THE COLONIES

TOO MUCH SNOBBERY IN OLD LAND NOW FOR DOMESTICS

London, Nov. 3.—England's demobilized "flappers" are already turning their thoughts towards the colonies and scores of Whitehall girls have been making inquiries at the dominions' emigration offices to know what prospects there are abroad.

An official woman superintendent of women's emigration had been interviewing all classes of English to go abroad. "I have had to explain to all these girls that the only positions vacant were for farm work and domestic service, but they are not only willing to go out as domestic servants, but possess all the qualifications. One young person who interviewed me yesterday produced ten years' references as domestic experience."

Asked why girls would go as servants to the colonies when so many were needed here she replied, "To be frank it is just English snobbery which has caused domestic work in this country to be stigmatized. Take a typical case of a suburban mother with two daughters. One becomes a clerk and is an expense to the family; the other a domestic servant, who gets a good living and can help support her mother. But she has to withstand the criticism of the other sister, and eventually seeks a situation abroad, where the spirit of household service is very different."

EDITOR'S MAIL

REPLY TO MR. BURNHAM.

Editor Review: An Irishman has the privilege of speaking twice, and so I crave your valuable space for another word with Mr. Burnham. He has failed utterly to reply to my contention, which was that the Creator never intended the excreta of the yeast germ, or of any other germ, for man's consumption. I know that all living things, even those which are microscopic, live and move and have their being in God. What I intended saying in my recent letter was not that God didn't create these microscopic forms of life, but that He is not responsible for the mischief they work when they get into grains or grapes, any more than He is responsible for the mischief which the germ which causes blood poisoning works when it gets into man's body. God made man. He did not make sin; that is a product of the wrong use of man's powers. God made the yeast germ. He did not make alcohol, which is the waste product, the excreta, of this germ, and He did not intend for man's consumption a poison so deadly. A writer in Saturday's Globe puts the matter in the same way. He says: "Just as ptomaine is the product of germs in the decay of animal matter, so alcohol, one of the poisons of the decay of vegetable matter, is inimical to life. Neither of these poisons was made to be injected into the human system, even though the Creator made the germs which produced them."

DEATH OF MME. BOUTROUX

Founder of French Red Cross Hospital Passes Away.

Paris, Nov. 3.—The death is announced of Madame Emile Boutroux, widely known for her relief work during the war. Madame Boutroux was 63 years of age. It is believed her efforts in founding a Red Cross hospital at Thiers, France, were responsible for the illness which resulted in her death.

What to Do.

Mother was very keen on correct deportment and never lost a chance of instilling it into Mabel.

"There's one important thing my dear," she said, "You must never point at anything."

"But mamma," objected the girl, "suppose I am shopping, and don't know the name of a thing?"

"Then let the assistant show you everything in stock until he comes to the article you desire."

Mrs. Phillips, to Tony, who has just come home after his first day at a kindegarten school:

"Well dear, and how do you like going to school? I suppose you are the youngest of all the little boys, aren't you?"

Tony (indignantly): "I'm not, mother! Two of our fellows come in perambulators!"

A Courteous Hint.

After talking for a good twenty minutes without stopping, an awful bore finished by saying:

"I can speak English, French, Italian and Spanish, but I prefer to speak English"—a fact which all his hearers had noticed.

"And in which language," said one of them, with a most amiable smile, "do you prefer to hold your tongue?"

Perspiring Customers Buy 1,000 Overcoats

Selling 1000 winter overcoats to Palm Beached and straw-hatted men in early September might sound like trying to "rush" the frigid season a little, but the Hub, of Baltimore, Md., scored such a success with the idea that the entire 1000 coats were disposed of within three days—and all through newspaper advertisements, almost as unusual as the preseason sale itself.

"The sale really wasn't planned at all," says Joseph Katz, advertising manager of the Hub. "To be perfectly frank with you, when we brought these 1000 overcoats last February our original idea was to hold them till the winter of 1919. At that time the market skies were darkening and every live retailer was looking to his oars. Which reminds me that is might not be amiss to get away from the subject a moment, in these days of indiscriminate accusations of profiteering and remind the dear public that if it wasn't for this far-sightedness on the part of many retailers many things would be selling for much more than they are now.

"But to get back to the overcoat sale, our second thought was "What a stunt it would be to pull off an overcoat sale in hot weather!" We had some faith in the outcome—but we may as well admit we were not as cocksure about it as we would have been about a sale of women's fur coats. The latter gaze had been tried before; it was an institution, and then, too, women had the bargain instinct more keenly developed than men.

"We went ahead. The first advertisement was run a day ahead of the big one giving the details. It simply carried the words:

WOULD YOU BUY YOUR OVERCOAT NOW IF WE SAVED YOU MONEY?—THE HUB

"That's all; no price, no argument.

"The next day the page ad appeared. It occurred to me it would be effective to compare the keen bargain instinct of women with man's indifference to ways of saving money by spending it, and so the ad began:

A woman will buy a fur coat in August because she can save money. Is man made of the same stuff?

"Then the advertisement continued:

1000 WINTER COATS

Bought in February and Put Away as an Investment. Will Go on Sale at $33.50

Anybody is entitled to change his mind. Last February we bought a thousand overcoats with the idea of putting them away; clothes were going up; looked like extra money for us. They did go up—but we've changed our mind about holding them. There was a chance to pull off a big stunt to make a thousand new friends for the store. So here we are with a January sale of overcoats in September; a sale of winter overcoats of known worth—a sale that will save the men of this town a lot of money. When we tell you that:

WE'D PAY AS MUCH AT WHOLESALE TO-DAY

you know there's a good reason why you should get your winter overcoat several months ahead of time.

"The 1000 overcoats were gone in three days. We don't know how many more we could have sold if we had had them. There were many calls for days after the sale ended.

Enters New Business at 40 Lays it at 54

Starting in the retail milk business fourteen years ago at the age of forty, after spending twenty-five years in butcher shops as a meat cutter, Edward D. Snyder, of Hazleton, Pa., has attained such a degree of success that has been given the title of the "Milk King" throughout the Lehigh field, and men go there from all over the state to study his methods.

His recipe is brief and to the point: "Keep your wagons, cans, bottles and help spotlessly clean; pasteurize all milk sold, and don't keep your light under a bushel basket, but tell the public the precautions you take for their safety and health."

While the above is Mr. Snyder's idea of what has been the vehicle which bore him from a mediocre salary to comparative affluence, his friends and associates add a few more contributing causes to explain how their model dairyman, who took out 130 quarts of milk and sold only eighty his first day in business, can now handle from 3500 to 4000 quarts a day, as well as other dairy products.

Chief among them, class his methods of publicity. The Snyder wagons and trucks all have the name, "E. D. Snyder," on them, and a wooden milk bottle enamelled to resemble a bottle filled with the lacteal product as their sole sign. Covering the whole Lehigh field, no one can see a milk bottle but that instantly the name "Snyder" is associated with it.

Mr. Snyder follows up this publicity plan with newspaper advertising. He says he can't write advertisements, and he has "readers" composed at the newspaper offices running ten to twenty to thirty lines a day every day the newspapers 'sauce in the year. These "readers" discuss all kinds of topics connected with the dairy business such as the presence of tuberculosis and typhoid germs, as well as measles, scarlet fever and infantile paralysis germs in impure milk; the use of the pasteurized product; the importance of getting certified milk for the feeding of babies; the comfort that the careful housewife enjoys in getting the product from a place which she can expect to be clean all the time because it is sanitary and hygienic whenever she pays it a surprise visit; and other details all of which take up the good milk situation, which Mr. Snyder dairy business meets.

Lemonade from "Well"

A Wichita, Kan., druggist recently doubled his sales on lemonade by having a stonecutter make a top of sandstone which he placed on a section of his counter. Beneath this he placed a stone jug in a box lined with ice. A sign reading "Ice-cold lemonade direct from the old stone well," completed the arrangement. Each person who secured a chest drew his own dipper of ice cold lemonade from the stone well, which after a few days' advertising was thronged all day long.

NOTED CIVIL ENGINEER

The local Engineers' Club will become a branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada and this event will be celebrated with a banquet at the Empress Hotel Thursday night, at which covers will be laid for upwards of 1,000 guests. Some of the most noted engineers of the Dominion will be present and make addresses. Among these will be no less a personage than Lieut.-Col. Reichen Welsh Leonard, of St. Catharines who has been elected president of the Institute for the year 1919.

Lieut.-Col. Leonard was born on February 21st, 1860, in Brantford Ont. He was educated at the Brantford Collegiate Institute and at the Royal Military College, Kingston. He served in the North West Rebellion as staff officer of transport and in other capacities in the year 1885. Col. Leonard had previously gained two years' experience with the engineering staff of the C.P.R. on surveys and construction work in the Lake Superior district, and after the rebellion he again joined the C.P.R. to do similar work in Manitoba, Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia. He was thus engaged for a number of years, sometimes as chief engineer and manager of construction of important branches. In 1887 he became chief engineer of the Cumberland Railway and Coal Co., Nova Scotia, resigning in 1890 to accept the positions of chief engineer and manager of construction of the St. Lawrence and Adirondack Railway and consulting engineer for the Rutland Canadian Railway. From 1897 to 1901 he was chief engineer of the Cape Briton Railway. At various times since 1892 he constructed hydro-electric power plants, at Niagara Falls for the Park and River Railway Co., at St. Catharines for the Hamilton-Cataract Power Co. and near Fort William for the Kaministiquia Power Co. In 1904 he promoted the Coniagas Mines Ltd. and became president of that company and also of the Coniagas Reduction Co., which he organized in 1908. Col. Leonard is a governor of the University of Toronto; of the School of Mines, Queen's University, Kingston; of Wycliffe College, Toronto and of Bishop Ridley College, St. Catharines. He is chairman of the St. Catharines Consumptive Hospital; ex-vice-president of the Canadian Mining Institute; member of the Council of the Institute of Mining Metallurgy, London, England; member of the American Institute of Mining Engineers and ex-president of the Royal Military College. From 1911 to 1913 he was chairman of the National Transcontinental Railway Commission. Among his many other activities Col. Leonard is commanding officer of the Corps of Guides, Second Division. He is also a director of a number of industrial and manufacturing concerns.

FROM AMERICAN EXCHANGES

Not Always Thus.
(New York Herald.)

Contrary to the accepted theory a jury of women in a case at Cleveland wanted to be very lenient to the member of their own sex who was involved but showed no mercy to the man. Eve is coming into her own in a world which used to be arranged to excuse the weaknesses of Adam in future the male of the species is to be regarded as more deadly than the female.

Arms and Army All Right.
(Daily Oklahoman.)

An American soldier in St. Louis whose right arm was disabled in overseas fighting used his left fist in knocking down an I. W. W. and breaking his jaw. The I. W. W. had denounced the army as "no good," but the disabled soldier showed him that even a one-armed army man can strike a blow which will re-make a map.

Need of Home Hygiene.
(Louisville Courier-Journal.)

Regardless of epidemics and of cases of illness so serious as to call for a trained nurse, every family should have an elementary knowledge of the proper care of the sick room. It is to supply this knowledge that the Red Cross is establishing throughout the country teaching centres for the inculcation of the principles of home hygiene and care of the sick.

GOOD'S "SONG OF THE SHIRT."

Turned Down Three Times and Finally Accepted by Punch.

Few poet-lovers but are familiar with Thomas Hood's song to the toiler, "The Song of the Shirt," which has been translated into more foreign languages than any other poem written by Hood. This poem was first printed in the London Punch on December 16, 1843, and created a sensation in London, and it was soon reprinted throughout the British Empire and shortly thereafter it was reproduced practically throughout the world.

There is quite a story connected with Hood's composition of the "Song of the Shirt." On October 25 it was brought to the attention of the poet that a wretched woman named Biddell was charged at the Lambeth police station with having pawned articles belonging to her employer. It was shown that she made trousers for sevenpence a pair, and the utmost she could make was seven shillings a week, which her employer looked upon as "a good living for a woman who had herself and two infant children to support."

This case attracted a great deal of attention at the time, and two days later the London Times had a powerful editorial on the incident. Punch quoted from this "leader" with stinging additions — probably by Douglas Jerrold—the following week. Hood, whose sympathies were stirred by suffering, penned his "Song of the Shirt" and sent it to Punch, his wife saying as the package was done up: "Now mind, Hood, mark my words, this will tell wonderfully! It is one of the best things you ever did!"

Mark Lemon, who was at the time the editor of Punch, recalling the receipt of the manuscript in later years, said that the author accompanied it with a note, saying that the lines had already been rejected by three papers; that he feared it was not suited to Punch, and leaving it to Lemon's discretion whether to put it in the paper or in the waste basket.

The confidence of Hood's wife in "The Song of the Shirt" was justified. The poem in Punch created a sensation. It was copied in the Times and other journals, and as M. H. Spielmann has put it, in sympathetic appreciation of Hood as a contributor to Punch, it "went through the land like wildfire."

The historian of Punch claims that the publication of "The Song of the Shirt" trebled the circulation of that journal. It may be said also to have trebled Hood's fame and popularity at the time.

SUCH IS DECLARATION OF WOMAN ALDERMAN OF PRAGUE CITY

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Nov. 1.—A resolution favoring an eight-hour day for employed women of the world, was before the International Congress of Working Women at today's session. In the opening discussion of the 8-hour day, Madame Marie Majerova, an alderman of the city of Prague, declared there must be no shackles on the modern Eve. She must be a thoroughly healthy, spiritual mother of a freed and just generation of human beings.

Look on the Best Side.

What an absurd thing it is to pass over all the valuable parts of a man and fix our attention on his infirmities!—Legal Jokes.

John o'London, that welcome newcomer among the weeklies, provides its readers with some specimens of judicial humor, though Lord Loreburn did once remark that it "proverbially occupies a low place in the classification of wit. There is that story about Mr. Justice Wightman, who, when a witness described a man as "an independent gent," inquired, "Do you mean a gentleman?" "A gent, my lud," repeated the witness. "Ah," said Mr. Justice Wightman. "I see. That's something short of a gentleman, isn't it?"

A long-winded counsel having explained his arguments at prodigious length to a weary Kentish jury, the same judge at one point interposed: "I think you have told us that before Mr. ——." "Have I, my lord?" said the barrister. "I am very sorry. I had forgotten it." "Oh, please don't apologize, Mr. ——," was the smiling answer. "It is quite intelligible—it was such a long time ago."

Prince Man of Affairs.

From all accounts, the King's heir has a strenuous time in front of him. Not only is he setting up housekeeping on his own account, but he is taking a very practical hand in the management of his own estates, says the Toronto World. These include some rather neglected house property in London, and even oyster fisheries at the mouth of the Hel, in Cornwall. His Royal Highness is now breeding half-wild ponies on Dartmoor, and developing mines of tin and wolfram in the duchy which gives him one of his most famous titles.

He bids fair to equal his grandfather as a man of affairs.

There have been various references lately to the Prince of Wales' fondness for a "favorite briar," but his Royal Highness is not so wedded to his pipe as to neglect the mellow charms of a cigar. And, what is more, he is a good judge of a cigar, as was his grandfather before him.

HISTORY OF OLD ST.

The Old Clock.

When St. John's was first built a large clocks was installed in its tower, but its regulation entailed so much trouble and expense that it suffered neglect and was finally removed. The building itself has undergone many alterations, the earliest of these being in 1863 at a cost of over $2,000; its latest and more complete restoration was, as stated before, in 1882.

Beautiful In Design.

This old building is now one of the most beautiful and most tastefully decorated Anglican churches in the country, the style being "third pointed, the broad flat arches and elaborate tracery of the Tudor Gothic. It is somewhat of an anomaly, that while this is the style of the main part of the edifice, the chancel should be built in "first pointed" Gothic, the lancet sharp pointed arches of the Plantagenet age. All the windows are of stained glass, four being memorial windows. Of these latter a handsome window over the door between the tower and the body of the church, bears the following inscription relative to the loss of the late Rev. Mr. Beck's son on board the Atlanta at the age of twenty-six: "This window was erected A.D. 1882 by the ladies of St. John's congregation in memory of Arthur Romeyn Beck, lieutenant R. N., who was lost with the crew of H.M.S. Atlanta, February 1880." Over the altar is a beautiful triplet window; in the centre light is a representation of the church's patron saint, on the other two a "Vesica Piscai" (a figure resembling a fish, which is symbolic of a Christian in the net of the church), with the chalice and the font. Two handsome seven-light electric candelabra stand just within the santuary rail and an antique silver mosque hanging lamp, made in Jerusalem, (the gift of Miss Maude Perry), swings from the chancel ceiling.

The organ of St. John's, contains one thousand pipes; it cost $2,750 quite a few years ago.

A Military Touch

Over the vestry door in St. John's are hung the colors of the 57th Regiment Peterborough Rangers, presented by the ladies of Peterborough in 1868 and deposited in the church in 1904.

A Beauty Spot

The beautiful grounds of St. John's have for years been one of the beauty spots of Peterborough. Well kept lawns and oval, circular white pebbled carriage drive, majestic trees, flowering shrubs and evergreens, dominated on the crest of a hill by the lordly vine-clad church-like church, always offer in summer months, irresistible attraction to visitors. The late Mr. F. R. Yokome took pardonable pride in these grounds, so much to that a stately elm, a red cedar and one other tree were planted by his own hands.

The Vestry.

The two-story vestry is the most modern part of St. Johns Church, having been built as late as 1907. It was designed by the late John E. Belcher, to whose memory a stained glass window in the upper flat faces the east. Both architectural and stone work, however, are so complete and match to the remainder of the sacred edifice that no hint of its later-date contruction is to be discerned. This annex, for years was a want long-anticipated by the choir. It was built by day labor under supervision of the architect and wardens, and cost a trifle over $3,000.

The Peoples Chimes.

The chimes in St. John's, consisting of 13 bells, are not the exclusive property of the congregation. They were subscribed to by citizens generally of all creeds, and were dedicated in June 22nd., 1911, the present King's coronation day, as the "People's Chimes." There is no fee for ringing these bells exceptingon wedding occasions. They are held in trust for all people alike, and are under agreement of that trust, to be played on all national and civic occasions of public interest. The chimes master is Mr. R. J. Devey.

THE BOOK OF REVELATIONS

(By E. W. Brown.)

Tonight, Mr. E. W. Brown, will continue his addresses on the "Revelation" dealing with the last of the "Gentile World Powers."

Last night he preached the gospel in the Gospel Hall from the old familiar text John 3:16. He showed that justice is a presupposition of love. No person believes in the professed love of another if that person has not dealt justly and honestly with him. All protestations of love are useless; no person does or can believe in the love of an unjust person. Debt and credit are terms entirely understood by all, but when people begin to reason on matters relating to God they use an entirely different kind of reasoning, the devil's reasoning. The Bible begins with the creation of the world by God. This includes man's own being. But on this new species of reasoning, man does not consider that he is the debtor and God the creditor. We are debtors to God for everything we have, even the powers we possess for "in Him we live and move and have our being." How thankful we should always be if we did not use this other species of reasoning.

But on top of all this kindness of God and unthankfulness of men, come the facts that we have sinned. We do not need to look any further away than our own hearts to find that out. Our own somcienre reaffirms this and "God so loved the world that he gave His only Begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him shodld not perish but have everlasting life." God hath set forth Christ Jesus to be a probitiation to declare His righteousness that He might be just and the Jhstifier (of him that believeth in Jesus) of the ungodly, and now a poor guilty sinner may come to Jesus in an easy way. He may receive a bit of scoffing on the part of a few of his old time friends. He might be ostracized for a little time, but if he neglects his salvation during this age of grace, he will find it a thousand times more difficult and dangerous. During the time of the "Great Tribulation" the Gentiles who are saved will be persecuted alike by the political (atheistir) government and by a religion that is not true to God. For all that dwell upon the earth shall worship the beast whose names are not written in the Book.

And the second Beast had power to cause that: "as many as would not worship the image of the first Beast should be killed. And John saw the scarlet woman (the false religion), drunken with blood of the saints and with the blood of the martyrs of Jesus." On the other hand: "if any man worship the Beast and his image and receive his mark in his forehead or on his hand, the same shall drink of the wine of the wrath of God . . . and the smoke of their torment ascendeth forever and ever and they have no rest day or night . . .' Similar terms are usedof Babylon, the false religion. How much easier now to be saved than in those awful times.

"Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy ladened and I will give you rest." Be saved now my dear unsaved hearer.

IF YOU SELL A VICTORY BOND, GET YOUR ACCRUED INTEREST

Should you be forced to part with your Victory Bonds, remember that you are entitled to the market value of the Bonds, which can be obtained from glancing at the stock market quotations on the financial page of Toronto daily newspapers, plus interest from the date of your last interest payment to the date of selling. If you haven't a newspaper handy, your bank would be glad to give you the information.

Any one who parted with his bonds at less than he paid, simply did not get the market price at the time of selling. Have your banker recommend a reliable broker.

Daughters of Canada

The mother, the nurse, the women with the needle, the ambulance driver, the canteen worker, the "farmerette" and the daughters of industry in factory, office and store—all—inspired the manhood and ennobled the womanhood of Canada by their labours of love and sacrifice in the days of the nation's anguish—now happily past.

And their response, to give and to lend of their money time and time again—was beyond all praise.

And—Canada—being mindful of their past example—and conscious of their all-pervading influence again asks her Countrywomen to buy Victory Bonds. Yes, she asks them to buy them, even at the sacrifice of some cherished longed-for purchase.

It is self denial to do without something that will lend background to ones charm, but the time is not long and the debts of honour must be paid.

There is another thought, too, that wives and mothers will appreciate. The success of the Victory Loan makes for Prosperity. Steady employment is dependent upon prosperity. Without prosperity uncertainty will follow.

Hence Canada sounds a clarion call to her daughters for their aid in making an abundant success of the Victory Loan 1919.

BANK EMPLOYES MAY FORM UNION

(Toronto Saturday Night.)

Quite a number of letters are reaching this journal from bank men as the result of an original communication from "Toronto Bank Clerk" in which he forecasted the formation of an association to improve the financial position of these workers. Specimens are published below. It is hoped that, if any more write, they will endeavor to be brief, as these communications are taking up space, and many of them are largely duplicates of another. The letters are being used in ese columns as they appear to be a matter of public interest. However, mere letter-writing does not produce much in the way of action, and it would be preferable for bank men to follow out their theories, if these are sound, rather than to merely state and restate their position through the medium of public journals.

Peterboro, Ont.

Financial Editor:

Dear Sir,—I read with approval the articles in your issue of the 4th and 18th inst. concerning the organization of bank employes. I am sure that many other bank clerks in this city agree with your correspondents. Doubtless employees of Canadian banks are not properly treated by their employers and never have been. It seems that the only way our grievances will be redressed is by the organization of all bank employes into an active association. It know of more than one instance of bank-men, who have returned from overseas to be offered their old positions back, on a salary of $1,000 and less. There are very few clerks in our banks who marry before they are thirty, for the simple reason that they cannot afford to.

Let us follow the career of a boy entering the service of one of our chartered banks. He enters at the age of seventeen, on a salary of $300 with $100 or $150 living allowance, making a total of $400 or $450 a year. Board at seven dollars a week would be $364 a year, and board at that price is cheap. With the remainder of his pay he is expected to dress himself and pay for sundries, and the bank rules require that an officer must be well-dressed while in the office. Very few clerks get more than an increase of $100 yearly, only those with influence get better consideration. In ten years at that rate our banker will be receiving a salary of $1,300 plus any allowance then granted. He will be twenty-seven years old. How could a man marrry on such an income? —and it is every man's duty to marry. Surely ten years' experience is worth more than $1,300.

Banks undoubtedly are rich. Perhaps it would not be well to investigate into their profits. Where do they get the money to build such large buildings? Look at the high dividends they declare. Don't you think it would be fair if these high dividends were cut down a little and the employees given more consideration? After all is said and done, it is the clerks who make it possible for the bank to earn its profits.

Another thing that bank clerks should have is over-time pay. I have seen staffs cut down so, that they must work at night, ten and twenty nights in a month, and they do not get an extra cent for doing so.

These are a few more facts that that the public should know. Surely there will soon be something done in the way of adjusting these grievances that we are always hearing of, from bank clerks.

Yours truly,
PETERBORO BANK CLERK.

DRAGGED BY ENGINE

Caught Beneath Wheels of Mogul He Was Oiling.

Toronto, Nov. 3.—Caught beneath the wheels of a C. P. R. engine at the Union stock yards shortly after noon on Saturday, Engineer Frank Bignell, 31 Glendenan avenue, was injured about the body and head. He was rushed to the Western Hospital. His condition is reported serious.

Bignell was underneath his engine oiling up when the engine in a mysterious manner started to move slowly, and as it travelled gathered momentum. A yard hand standing close by noticed the man's danger and, leaping on to the moving engine, brought it to a stop, but not before Bignell had been dragged for a few hundred feet.

HOUSING SCHEME SEEMS FAILURE

ONLY 14 TURNED OVER IN TORONTO—PRICES OF HOUSES RAISED

Toronto, Nov. 3.—To date only 145 persons have bought houses that are being erected by the housing commission and paid down the required deposit. Of the 420 applications for homes received by the commission, 101 cancelled their applications, and the others, besides the 145, have not made good their applications with a deposit. Up to the present only fourteen houses have been completed and turned over to the purchasers. The present program calls for 236 houses for this year.

In reply to the complaint by purchasers that the prices of houses have been raised since they signed the contract, W. Swaine, manager of the housing commission, points out that the carpenters' wages have been boosted twice since the commission began operations last May, and the plumbing supplies and lumber have also advanced. Owing to the uncertainty for the future, Mr. Swaine says it is impossible to quote prospective purchasers a definite figure; perhaps not within $200 of what the final price will be.

Mexican Review estimates total British investments in Mexico at $1,000,000,000 Mexican gold or $500,000,000 American gold.

Instead of obeying a highwayman, who ordered her to hold up her hands, a Toledo woman struck him on the nose, and he fled.

REV. DR. GANDIER EXPLAINS THE NEED OF GREAT FORWARD MOVEMENT

Morning Service at St. Paul's Educational and Inspirational

Rev. Dr. Grandin, principal of Knox College, Toronto, delivered an illuminating sermon at St. Paul's Church, yesterday morning, in connection with the Great Forward Movement of the Protestant churches of the dominion.

He chose for his text part of the 11th and 12th verses of the 21st. chapter of Isaih: "He calls to me out of Seir, watchman what of the night? watchman what of the night? the watchman said: 'The morning cometh and also the night.'"

Europe all down through the ages has stood as the great Christian unit of the world. But what a spectacle this great Christian continent now presents to the world! The three great churches, the Greek and Roman Catholics and the great Protestant Church have been locked in a deadly struggle for the past four years. Millions of men whom we believe to have been created in the image of God have been ruthlessly slaughtered. And now as a result of the terrible carnage millions of women and children are actually starving to death. Without a doubt we have just passed through the darkest hour of Christiandom.

Morning Cometh

"If I were the watchman and was asked, what of the night! I would answer as he of the old testament answered that the morning cometh, declared Dr. Grandin. The great day of the Lord is dawning. The oppressed shall be freed and a day of truth, freedom and righteousness shall reign on the earth. The morning light is breaking as the dark night is passing.

A new day of opportunity for the church of God is at hand. But, every day is followed by night, so a supernatural day. Now that the English speaking people, the people with a missionary spirit and the foundation of the living church, have taken their place as the leaders of the world, a great opportunity has unfolded itself for them. But, if we raif an even darked night will fall.

Jesus the Light.

In John's vision of the New Jerusalem there was no night because "the lamb is the light thereof." Even so, Jesus is the light of the world, and always was, but this light is seen more clearly now than ever.

Germany was the greatest educational and thinking nation of the world, but when their leaders refused to sit at the feet of Jesus Christ, the people were gradually and unconsciously drawn away from spiritual influences and finally plunged the world into the great darkness through which we have just passed. There is no hope for the world in such education and kultur. The hope of the world is Jesus.

President Wilson and Lloyd George, the leaders of the great English nations, have both appealed to the churches to hold the peope in a high spiritual condition. In no other way can this world enjoy peace, prosperity and joy. We must have regeneration and Jesus alone can do it.

Duty of the Church.

We must change the attitude of men toward Christ. He is the Prince of Peace and the one rightful King of men. Through Christ alone do we gain victory over sin. And the church of God has professed it as her duty to give Jesus to all the people of the world.

But Jesus is not a thing, something that can be sent by parcel post or express. He is a living spirit and can be taken only through men and women with loving hearts and living voices by means of which the Lord Jesus can be medicated to the hearts of men If we dont have people to carry such messages the forward movement will amount to nothing. We need ministers and missionaries greatly but the great call is to the people who will live Christ where they are.

Call For Young People.

Young people throughout the whole land must give up their lives to the service of Jesus Christ. The Presbyterian Church of Canada is called on to supply 500 young men for the ministry, 200 young women for various kinds of service and 300 young men and women for foreign missionary work. This is a special call to the young men who could not enlist but were forced to remain at home and see their comrades suffer and die for them. Surely this is a cause in which to enlist to pay off the debt to those brave soldiers of the Empire. And this is the great way. This is the real struggle that will end war for all time.

And how pitifully small is the army of the Church. And no nation has treated its soldiers as the Church of God has. They are often even short of food and are never supplied with sufficient equipment.

More Generous Spirit.

The average giving of the people is scandalously small as when the Presbyterian Church is called on to double its contributions and give its four million dollars next February, he felt confident that this war-enriched country will do its part to give the church an opportunity to fulfill its duty.

ACTOR SPEAKS FOR THE VICTORY LOAN

HARRY STEVENS OF THE "MUTT AND JEFF" SHOW APPEALS TO THE PEOPLE.

During the interval between the second and third acts of the show at the Grand, Saturday night, Harry Stevens, who played one of the main parts, made a strong appeal for the people to buy Victory Bonds and help their country.

He praised the people of Canada for their services during the war and especially praised the Canadian army for its valiant service on the field of battle. "The world is proud of you," he declared. Then he called attention to the duties still resting upon the people. The boys who have suffered so much and risked everything for the cause of humanity have returned home, shaken and restless. It is difficult for them to settle down into civilian life and the people should do everything in their power to assist them in it. They should subscribe to the Victory Loan and lend their money to the Government to help in this work of re-establishment.

He then pointed out the wonderful chance of investment. The greatest security in the world, and 5 1-2 per cent interest. It is the greatest investment presented to any people today. No other country borrows money with such advantages to the lender. But Canada is a rich country and guarantees greater things than other investments. And when the great crisis of 1914 arrived, he addressed himself to the gigantic task, the full proportions of which he, perhaps, alone amongst Englishmen, fully recognized, with undimmed faith and complete devotion.

During these twelve days, from the first patient appeal to Austria in behalf of Serbia for more time, on July 24, to that calm presentation of his country's case in the House of Commons on August 3, Sir Edward Grey never wavered in his purpose. He did not stand on ceremony. The British Foreign Minister had always shown himself ready to make a diplomatic precedent if the general welfare seemed to demand it. And so he is found, on July 25, appealing to the German Ambassador for a conference of the four powers, Germany, France, Italy, and Great Britain, insisting that they should join in asking Austria and Russia not to cross the frontier "till we have time to try and arrange matters." And then, when the German Foreign Minister refuses this offer; the British statesman comes back on the 29th, undaunted, with that simple request, so stupendous in its utter reasonableness, "If Germany will suggest any method to which she does not object—since mine is unacceptable—France, Italy and Great Britain are ready to follow her."

And yet if he labored for peace, the British Foreign Minister never deviated for one moment from the path of honor. Here, to him, there were no complexities. So when, on the night of July 29, the German Chancellor asks if Great Britain will stand aside while France is beaten if Germany agrees not to annex French colonies or the neutrality of Belgium, Sir Edward Grey indignantly refuses. He again refused when Germany offered to increase the "blood money." Great Britain would abide by her treaties.

And it was a treaty, of course, that finally settled it. On August 4 Sir Edward Grey, even then ready "beyond the last moment" as it was, to consider any honorable offer, despatches the last great request to Berlin. Great Britain repeats her requests, made the week before and again that morning, about the neutrality of Belgium and expects "a satisfaction answer by 12 o'clock tonight. Otherwise, His Majesty's Government feel bound to take all steps in their power to uphold the neutrality of Belgium and the observance of a treaty to which Germany is as much a party as ourselves." The satisfactory answer never came, and, at midnight, Great Britain laid aside the pen and took the sword. Sir Edward Grey had failed. But the world is coming to see that it was the righteousness behind this failure that won the war.

The Sam Browne Belt.

The Sam Browne officers' belt is a distinctive article of British military equipment. It takes its name from Gen. Sir Samuel Browne, V.C., G.C.B., a British cavalry officer who fought in India, where he lost his left arm. The shoulder strap of the belt carries the weight of the sword or sabre and is supposed to add to the natty appearance of the uniform. All British commissioned officers are entitled to wear this belt and it has seen practical service in four wars. Gen. Pershing ordered its use by his officers in France, as the restrictions of the Washington authorities on its use did not extend overseas. It was, of course, worn by Canadians.

The imperial canal of China has a length of more than 1,000 miles.

Falling asleep in a chair while smoking, a Coldwater, Mich., man set fire to himself and his home. He escaped serious injury, but the house was burned.

PACKERS HAVE HOPE

Will Appeal to Cabinet on Reduction of Prices

Ottawa, Nov. 3. — Packers are coming to Ottawa this week, probably Tuesday, if they can get an appointment, to show cause before the Cabinet why the order of the Board of Commerce respecting reduction in the price of meats should not be effective.

The order, nevertheless, is in effect today.

At the Board of Commerce it was stated that, while notice had been received of this intended appeal, there has been no suspension of the order pending the further hearing that is sought.

A PRINCELY FRACAS.

One of the Incidents of the Last Coronation.

It is natural enough to think of the children of royalty as, in some indefinable way, different from those of other people. Could anything be more genuinely true to average boy or girl nature, however, than the amusing actions of King George's children during the drive to the coronation at Westminster Abbey as described by William Armstrong in the Woman's Home Companion?

In spite of the doubting premonitions of Queen Alexandra it was decided that Princess Mary and the four elder princes should go in a state carriage unattended.

Before riding very far, it appears, the attention of the three youngsters on the front seat was drawn to the gorgeously arrayed figures of their older brother and sister, the same boyish and girlish brother and sister with whom they were accustomed to romp about the grounds of Marlborough House. Certain nudges and grimaces ensued, which began to distract the eyes of the two latter.

Soon on the front seat, there was something going on resembling an old-fashioned free-for-all tussle. The Princess Mary, with all the authority of an older sister admonished her brothers, sharply remonstrated. Her words flew as chaff above those bobbing heads and moving arms. It seems as if any moment the little princes might tumble in an inglorious heap.

Quickly reaching forward, Princess Mary tried physical means, moral ones having failed. She shook her small brothers apart, cuffed them slightly and set them upright again. In the process she lost her crown, but calmly put it on again when the Prince of Wales picked it up from the floor of the carriage, where it had fallen. Then, the fracas settled, they passed on in decorous state again, "as lovable a quintet as you could find from John o'Groat's to Land's End."

What Makes One Old?

According to a Roumanian scientist, old age is due solely to a decrease in the amount of water in the human system.

Viscount Grey Labored To Prevent the Great War And He Justified England

"WE worked for peace up to the last moment and beyond the last moment. How hard, how persistently, and how earnestly we strove for peace last week the douse will see from the papers that are before it. But that is over so far as the peace of Europe is concerned. We are now face to face with a situation and all the consequences which it may yet have to unfold." Thus did Sir Edward Grey, as he then was, draw to a conclusion his great speech in the British House of Commons on that memorable "Bank Holiday Monday" in 1914. It was the last of the famous twelve days which lay between the Austrian ultimatum to Serbia and the onset of the great war. In those times, events followed so thick and fast upon one another that few peope realized the significance of the great deeds that were being performed and the stupendous decisions that were being made all around them. It was not, in many cases, until long afterward that there could, in the nature of things, be any just appraisement of the part played by anyone. Telegrams, statements, ultimatums, all of which have since become historic, were matters of almost hourly occurrence, and hardly had they been read before they were swept out of the ambit of public concern by another series more momentous, more utterly cataclysmic still. Few people had a settled policy in those days. Opportunism, a desperate desire to stem the tide somewhere and in some way, was the order of every hour. There were, however, certain brilliant examples of clear vision and firm steadfast purpose, and, of these, the British Foreign Minister was a notable instance. He labored for peace. The peace of Europe, how best to secure it and how best to maintain it, had been the end all and be all of his foreign policy through the eight long and troublous years which preceded the war. During the Morocco crisis of 1911, and, again, during the anxious days of 1912-13, when the Balkans were ablaze, he worked continuously and powerfully for peace.

And when the great crisis of 1914 arrived, he addressed himself to the gigantic task, the full proportions of which he, perhaps, alone amongst Englishmen, fully recognized, with undimmed faith and complete devotion.

During these twelve days, from the first patient appeal to Austria in behalf of Serbia for more time, on July 24, to that calm presentation of his country's case in the House of Commons on August 3, Sir Edward Grey never wavered in his purpose. PRACTICAL USE OF X-RAY IN DENTISTRY

By J. J. CRAIG, D. D. S., PETERBOROUGH

Radography has become one of the most important branches of dentistry. The X-ray is to the dentist what the periscope is to the submarine, only the periscope reveals to the undersea craft what is occurring on the surface, while the X-ray enables the dentist to see conditions as they are below the superficial tissues, i.e., it reveals what he can see by clinical examination.

Systemic Disturbances Due to Infected Teeth.

I do not believe many will dispute the statement that pain is not a reliable symptome of disease as we find cases every day where there are very large areas of infection and absolutely no local pain, yet were it not for the aid of the X-ray, those hidden foci of infection would pass unnoticed and go on indefinitely producing bacteria, which, having no other means of escape, gain entrance to the blood streams and are carried to other parts of the body, setting up a disturbance.

To Determine if the Teeth Are the Cause of Reflex Irritations.

Patients are asking repeatedly if their headaches or neuralgia are caused by their teeth. Where they are endeavoring to locate the cause of a reflex disturbance, it is not enough in every case to simply make an ocular examination, and give a positive statement that there is no trouble, for without the aid of an X-ray, it is impossible to determine whether or not there is a focus of infection in a case where there are deutralized teeth.

Also in numerous cases trouble of a reflex nature is the result of hidden dental cavities, impacted or unerrupted teeth, or pulp modules encroaching on the nerves of a tooth, or an unsuspected pyorrhea pocket, any of which the most thorough clinical examination will not reveal.

To Determine the Condition of Teeth When Contemplating a Restoration.

The first question that interests the construction engineer is the nature of the ground upon which he is going to erect his bridge. No effort is spared to ascertain fully the character of the foundation and to provide by every available means its stability, thereby insuring the durability and safety of the structure. It is on the same principles that the successful crown and bridge worker, calls to his assistance the X-ray for ascertaining the conditions of the tissues, both hard and soft, before laying out a detailed plan for the construction of the prosthetic appliance, to be inserted in each case. This precaution not only spares the operator the humiliation of failure loss of time, and valuable material, but safe-guards the public's faith in the efficiency of crown and bridge work.

Since Dr William Hunter, of London, and after him scores of others have arraigned the dental profession, for causing oral sepsis by their disregard of the physiologic and anatomic basis of their work, the responsibilities involved in any intervention in the human mouth are being more fully realized then ever before. The spectre of "septic dentistry" has alarmed the practitioners and patients alike, especially since the findings of such investigators as Billings, Rosenoev, Mayo, Grieves, Hartzell and others have substantiated Hunter's timely warnings.

As an Aid in Extraction of Impacted Teeth.

In the case of an impacted tooth the use of the X-ray is a humanitarian aid, to a speedy diagnosis. Before the development of the radiograph, operations on impacted teeth were [illegible] with the feeling of uncertainty as to the possible delivery of the tooth from its socket and any such feeling of uncertainty has a tendency to militate against the success of the operation.

In short, dental radiography more than any other branch of dentistry, has, despite the remarkably short period of time in which it has evolved from an experiment into a science, availed itself of every innovation in the fields of technic and science in its arduous strife toward perfection. It, therefore, behooves the dental surgeon who is called upon to make the most skilful restorations, delicate operations and difficult diagnosis, to avail himself to the fullest extent of Rontgen's discovery.

HELP GREAT BRITAIN

U. S. Steel Trust Takes $10,000,000 Bite of British Loan.

New York, Nov. 3. — E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel Corporation, announces that the corporation has agreed to purchase $10,000,000 worth of notes of the $250,000,000 loan being raised for Great Britain by J. P Morgan & Co.

"We think it decidedly to the interest of the United States as well as Great Britain," he said, "that purchases of this character should be made by Americans at this time.

"This should have a marked effect toward the restoration of the normal rates of exchange and the bettering of the financial and commercial relations between the two countries."

In raids at New York on nine saloons for violating the prohibition law twenty arrests were made. Two men were shot.

Illinois farmers went on record as opposed to strikes and shorter hours, that reduce productions and increase cost of living.

Mistaking each other for robbers, two railway employes engaged in a revolver duel at Connelsville, Pa., Both were fatally shot.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Said:

"After all what a man does with his money is to invest, and there is no better way to in it than in Life Insurance.
As an ESTATE BUILDER there is nothing to equal Life Insurance.

TAKE THE FOLLOWING ACTUAL RESULT

A young man sixteen years of age took out a 15 years Endowment (No. 210380) in the Sun Life of Canada, which matured on the first of April. This young man paid annually $66.30 for fifteen years and he now has, through that investment, an immediate estate of $3495.00 in case of death.

DO YOU KNOW THAT THIS AMOUNTS TO ALMOST 15 PER CENT COMPOUND INTEREST ON EVERY DOLLAR PAID?

No wonder Sir Wilfrid said—and he might have added (no better place than the Sun Life of Canada)—"there is no better way to invest it than in LIFE INSURANCE."

THRILLS AND BIG DRAMATIC SCENES ABOUND IN "THE USURPER"

Gripping scenes, of adventure, thrills and of tremendous dramatic power abound in "The Usurper," the Earle Williams picture which will be seen in the Empire Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The opening scenes are on a ranch in Western U. S. A., and Mr. Williams, in cowboy outfit, rescues a girl falling over the side of a precipice, by hard riding and a clever throw with a lariat.

Later, in England, in a haunted castle room at night, he again saves the girl in a hand-to-hand battle with an armed murderer. It was such scenes as these that made "The Usurper" one of the late Nat Goodwin's most notable stage successes, and none of the punch of the picture has been lost in its screening.

James Young directed the picture on the California coast and has caught most effectively the Western ranch atmosphere, as well as the English country atmosphere. Louise Lovely plays opposite Mr. Williams, and others in the strong supporting cast are Bob Russell, Frank Leigh, Billie Elmer, Jay Morley, Audrey Chapman, Bessie Eyton, and Lillian Langdon.

NEW MUTT AND JEFF PLAY AT THE GRAND

ONE OF THE BRIGHTEST AND [illegible] OF ITS KIND EVER PRESENTED HERE.

Brighter and funnier than ever was the program of "Mutt and Jeff's Dream" at the Grand Opera House on Saturday.

The two halves of the dream, A. Mutt and J. Jeffries, smoked a pipe in a Chinese opium den and as it took effect upon their imagination and sent them through many adventures together, the audience was shown their escapades ad the many peculiar positions they found themselves in.

From the appearance of the pair in the opium den until the final curtain fell it was one peal of laughter following another. The story in itself was very funny and their jokes have seldom been equalled in any show of its kind, and never excelled.

Harry Kay, acting the part of A. Mutt, was exceedingly ridiculous and performed with Jeff such peculiar stunts that the show was kept lively every moment. J. Jeffries, acted by George Beach, was extraordinarily funny. He is a short, rather stout, little fellow and took off the part of Jeff to perfection. His acting is seldom equalled by the best of the comedians on the stage today.

His fits of anger when he would appear to "boil ones" with rage brought forth hearty laughter every time they broke out. His utter ignorance and amazing innocence in places were acted to perfection. These two, the chief actors of the show, alone made it a success.

But they were not alone. The other principal actors played their parts with enthusiasm and ability that added considerably to the fun caused by the two main actors.

And all were supported by a good chorus that kept the show bright and cheerful ad supplied some excellent music.

On the whole we are safe in saying "Mutt and Jeff's Dream" was the best and funniest show in which these famous characters have ever performed.

Bigamy Is Increasing Rapidly In Great Britain.

Increase in bigamous marriages throughout the United Kingdom, much more pronounced since the end [illegible] and there is a growing disposition to treat bigamy as a venial offence.

Sir Bernard Mallet, the registrar general, is credited with the statement that English marriage laws afford less security against bigamy than the laws of almost any other civilised state. His department has prepared proposals for their amendment, but nothing has been done to carry them into effect. A new act of Parliament is necessary, and Sir Bernard suggests as a preliminary that some plan be outlined by which accurate information concerning the principals in a proposed marriage may be obtained by the competent authorities before the ceremony can be performed.

For marriage by license in England it is required that both parties make solemn declaration that they know of no impediment to this union, that they have resided for fifteen days in the district and, if they are minors, the consent of guardian or parents has been obtained. But no solemn declaration is required for such material particulars as name, condition as to marriage, age, rank and residence.

Outwitting a Yank.

A good story of how he outwitted a Yankee tourist on the summit of Snowdon, is told by Mr. A. Alexander, the well-known British athlete, in his book, "A Wayfarer's Log."

Having been beaten by Mr. Alexander in a race to the summit, the American, remarking that he would at all events place his feet higher than any of the rest of them, clambered on top of the lofty cairn that marks the extreme summit of the mountain.

He stood up with some little trepidation, says Mr. Alexander, for it was blowing a stiff breeze.

When he had finished I likewise ascended the cairn and, throwing my feet in the air, performed what is technically known as a hands-balance.

"Je-rusalem!" he shouted, "what are you doing?"

"Placing my feet higher than anybody else," I answered.

Crown Prince of Italy, Who Is Going to England, Idolized by His Countrymen

PRINCE HUMBERT, or Umberto as they say in Italy, who is going to England to learn English, is absolutely idolized by the Italians. Though he is not yet fifteen, he has won a place in the affections of his future subjects which is almost as great as that of the king himself.

The soldiers have a special toast for the prince, "The boy who wants to fight," as they affectionately call him. As soon, in fact, as Italy entered the war he asked to be allowed to go to the front, though only twelve years old.

"I want to fight for my father and my country," he told his tutor, and it was only when he showed how disappointed he was at not getting his wish that his father promised him, as a birthday present, he should be allowed to visit the Italian front There the soldiers cheered him to the echo.

Dressed in a spotlessly white sailor suit, with white shoes and stockings, and a white sailor hat, he looked very different from the uniformed Boy Scout whose photograph was to be seen all over Italy. But the thing which made him so glum was that he had a number of Boy Scouts as his escort, and he could not keep from them the disgust at his own attire.

He was given a big basket of photographs of himself to sell for the Red Cross, and he complained bitterly to his mother that he wanted to be a boy and be treated like other boys, and not like a girl. Nothing in fact would satisfy him till he was allowed to [illegible] Boy Scouts' uniform.

1,050 CABLES SERVE WORLD.

Nearly the Whole Belong to British Capitalists.

When we reflect that the world is served by no less than 1,050 distinct telegraph cables, sunk beneath the waters, costing £120,000,000, and that nearly the whole were made in London and belong to British capitalists, it may be worth while to consider for a moment the operations involved, says Answers.

First, the route of the proposed cable must be determined. In most cases this can easily be done by reference to the existing charts. If, however, no reliable charts of the region exist, a special surveying expedition is sent out to determine a path for the cable.

The object is to secure, at the least possible depth below the surface, a fairly level platform, free from ridges, which might chafe and cut the cable; and from hollows or ravines, across which the cable might not be able to support its own weight. At the same time, it is of the utmost importance to have the cable route as short as possible, for every extra mile means an expense in round numbers of $1,000.

Then the cable has to be made.

This is a very long business. First there are the copper wires — forming the conductor of electricity — which are covered with four distinct coatings of gutta percha. Over this are wound two layers of tape—sometimes metallic tape is used where attacks from insects are feared. Then come two layers of Russian hemp. After this comes a covering of steel wire. And over all there are two coatings of very strong canvas ribbon, coated with a mixture of pitch and gutta percha. The average rate of cable making is three miles a day from each set of machines, or, say twenty miles a day from the whole factory. The cable near the shore is protected by additional thicknesses of steel wire to prevent injury from anchors, etc.

As fast as the cable is made it is coiled down in immense tanks of water and tested continually to see if its electrical condition is perfect. When complete, the cable is coiled away on board the ship that is to lay it in its ocean bed.

Cable ships are twin-screw steamers of very great size, with their holds occupied by immense circular tanks. A very large number of men are carried—fishermen and the like—at low rates of pay, for the rough, heavy work; while for the electrical and navigating work a large staff of highly-paid officers are carried.

All being ready, the cable ship proceeds to the point where the laying of the cable is to begin. The shore end is landed, spliced on to the deep sea portion, and connected up to a set of instruments in a hut on the shore. Part of the electrical staff is left in this hut, and a series of signals is passed to and fro between the ship and the hut all the time that the cable is being paid out. As the cable often is two thousand miles long; it may be imagined what unremitting attention is necessary on the part of the electricians.

Meanwhile the ship is steadily proceeding onward to her destination at the rate of five miles an hour. It is not possible to go faster, or else it would endanger the lives of the men in the cable tanks, who are handling the cable and seeing that it runs out freely. The work, of course, proceeds night and day. Meanwhile the electricians take their turns at testing the electrical qualities of the cable, and exchanging signals with those on the shore.

At last the farther shore is reached, and the second shore-end spliced on and landed.

Landing these shore-ends is very disagreeable work. It may be that one has to strip and wade up to one's neck in water infested with sharks while carrying or dragging the heavy cables ashore.

SIR THOS. LIPTON ARRIVES AT N. Y.

FAMOUS YACHTSMAN MADE BOISTEROUS PASSAGE IN THE "CARMANIA"

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Halifax, Nov. 3.—The Carmania docked this morning, after a somewhat boisterous passage of eight days from Liverpool. After landing her 813 passengers for this port she will coal here before proceeding to New York. Among the passengers arriving on the Carmania was Sir Thomas Lipton, the famous yachtsman, who is proceeding to New York.

LONGSHOREMAN RETURN TO WORK

FULL FORCE OF CHELSEA PIERS MEN GIVE UP THE FIGHT

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, Nov. 3.—The backbone of the longshoremen's strike is believed to have been broken this morning when the full force of men employed on the Chelsea piers, between West Fourteenth and West Twenty-three streets, returned to work. When the stevedore's whistles sounded this morning gangs of men filed through the gates and were immediately put to work.

FIRE IN BASEMENT OF LINDSAY SCHOOL

NINETY TONS OF COAL SMOULDER FOR TWO DAYS AND ONE NIGHT.

Lindsay, Nov. 3.—All day and night Thursday and all day Friday Chief Beadle, of the Fire Department watched carefully the smouldering of fire in ninety tons of coal at the Central School.

Shovel by shovel the coal is being moved until the firemen get at the seat of the trouble. Very few scholars knew that there was a fire smouldering in the basement.

TORONTO BOUTS NEXT THURSDAY

ROCKY KANSAS AND YOUNG ERNE PAIRED IN BOXING BILL

Toronto, Nov. 3.—Fists should ply in earnest at the Grand Army's next boxing show at Massey Hall on Thursday night, when Toronto fistic followers will see some of the boys they have often read about, in action for the first time locally, thanks to Match-maker Charlie Hallett's enterprise. He has been busy for some weeks lining up his talent, and it was only after much trouble that he managed to secure Rocky Kansas and Young Erne for his card. These boys are top-notchers, and the ante had to be raised considerably before they would sign to box Eddy Dorsey and Frankie Bull, respectively. Dorsey is rated as the toughest and cleverest colored light-weight in the game and Kansas was loth to risk his pugilistic prestige by meeting him over the ten-round route. He finally came to time when an offer was made him that he could not very well afford to turn down. "Rocky's" calibre can be ganged from the fact that he has popular decisions over Johnny Kilbane, Johnny Dundee, and only three weeks ago knocked out O'Leary of St. Paul in three rounds. There is no harder hitter in the game than the same Kansas. The Young Erne-Frankie Bull affair should be a real battle. They met once at Hamilton, and the shiftily buffalonian got a newspaper decision over the Toronto champion. Erne is one of the fastest and cleverest lightweights in the business, and his record shows a ten-round no-decision bout with champion Benny Leonard.

There are two other good bouts carded: a six-rounder between Red Gallagher and Chip Davis at 128 lbs., and another over the same route between Ted Joyce of Toronto and Joe Thomas of Buffalo at 116 lbs. Both boys are sturdy battlers. There is also an added attraction in the shape of a wrestling bout for a side bet between Artie Edmonds and Jack Forbes.

FULTON OUT FOR ENGLISH BOUT

WOULD CLEAN UP ALL CHAMPIONSHIPS, AND THEN FIGHT DEMPSEY

New York, Nov. 2.—Although Joe Beckett, the English heavyweight champion, and Georges Carpentier have persistently sidestepped Fred Fulton, the elongated plasterer and his manager, Tom O'Rourke, who are now in England, are determined to fight their way to a place where the Englishman and the Frenchman will have to fight or admit they are afraid of the American. Fulton has had one fight on the other side and won it with a couple of punches, and now he is matched for another. This time his opponent will be Joe Goddard, who fought Beckett twice, and from whom the latter won the English championship after a hard battle. If Fulton can stow Goddard away in sensational style, the English fight fans should demand that Beckett meet him.

Fulton went to Europe with the idea of cleaning up all the so called champions over there and coming back with the foreign title hanging from his belt and requesting a return engagement with Jack Dempsey. The foreigners so far haven't fallen in with this plan.

10,000 FANS SEE OTTAWAS' DEFEAT

M. A. A. A VICTORS IN SATURDAY AFTERNOON'S GAME SCORE 15 TO 6.

Montreal, Nov. 2.—Ten thousand football fans turned out to witness the all-important Montreal-Ottawa interprovincial clash here Saturday afternoon. The game was started on a heavy field with the local fourteen as strong favorities after the solid victory over Argos in Toronto, thought the strengthened Ottawas were conceded a good chance of victory. One last moment change was made in the M.A.A.A. line-up, Davidson replacing the Reverend H. S. Lewis in the scrimmage.

Martin Kilt and Ingram showed up on the visiting line, while Walter Gilhooley was once more in action at centre half. The teams:

Montreal—Flying wing, Herscovitch; halves, Brophy, Jacques, Barwick; quarter, McGill; scrimmage, Rowlands, Roberts, Davidson; inside, Jones, Novitch; middle, Potticary, Findlay; outside, Sharp, Dawson.

Officials — Robbins, Hamilton, Smirlie Lawson, Toronto.

Montreal Won by 15 to Ottawa's 6.

When Gilhooley kicked to Jacques, the Montreal halfback was hurt in a tackle, and Tommy Thompson relieved. Whitmore took Davies place for Ottawa. The game ended without further incident. Montreal 15, Ottawas 6

Nat Gould.

Known to innumerable readers in England, the name of Mr. Nat Gould was practically unknown in Canada, and, to those who hear of him, the thought of any one man writing so many books in the English language as he wrote and creating so acquaintance outside of England seems astonishing. It is probably safe to say that no author in England or America ever wrote a longer list of "best selling" novels, although, says the Manchester Guardian, "no man—nay, no woman—of our time massacred English with so perfect a lack of self-consciousness." He committed, continues the Guardian, every fault possible to a writer, turned out formless sentences, and produced whole pages that would have driven a grammarian to distraction. Nevertheless, he gained an immense public; and this because he carefully regarded the conventions. "In Nat Gould's books virtue always triumphed, vice met its vile deserts, and if people were made to talk as no people ever talked anywhere, they acted as their reader expected them to act." Mr. Gould seems to have been one of those rare and unsung persons among authors who write, naturally and continuously, just the kind of stories that thousands of their fellow men and women enjoy reading.

Poultry Farm In London.

One hundred feet above one of London's busiest streets, and within 200 yards of Big Ben on the roof of the Institute of Civil Engineers, there is one of the best kept and most prosperous poultry farms in the metropolis.

It comprises 36 hens, housed in three spacious coops, but during the greater part of the day the hens are allowed to roam about the roof at will. Although the cooping is not more than eighteen inches high the hens never attempt to reach the ground, contenting themselves with mounting the top and there announcing their satisfaction after an egg has been added to the record they have been making.

English Dialects.

Americans who are coming to the British Isles in great numbers are supposed to speak the English language, says Tit-Bits, but we sometimes find it a little difficult to understand them. But it must be much more difficult for them to understand the different dialects that are spoken in England. Lancashire furnishes a good example. What would an American make of "Tint ooan ee!" or "Wheer ta buan?" or "I'se lippin on yo'?" three phrases that are commonly heard in that country. Translated in modern English, they mean, "Shut one eye!" "Where are you going?" "I shall depend upon you," or "shall expect you."

SWALLOWING THINGS.

From Babyhood to Death We Are All Doing It.

Every living creature from Jonah's whale down, or up, has been prone to swallow many things not intended for the nourishment or refreshment of the body, says an exchange. In early days, pennies, buttons, pins and marbles find their way into childish stomachs with generally harmless results. What panics, however, have been created in anxious mother's breast: "Why, where's that safety-pin? Baby had in his hand a minute ago. Do you suppose he's swallowed it?"

Frantic search on the bed and among the interstices of baby's clothing generally reveals the lost pin, and sighs of relief are drawn. Again some children, in a too-realistic game of mud-pies, have eaten some of the delicacy, with disastrous results.

Cousin Jane tells how her little great-aunt swallowed an open-headed thimble, which stuck in the oesophagus; but which, being open, permitted liquid food to pass down. The poor little victim lived for a while, but did not grow up. In these days probably an operation could have removed it. An open button hook, corroded, was found in the anatomy of a man, who had suffered intestinal indigestion for years. He seemed to have no recollection of the button hook episode. But the strangest case was that of grandpa, who during an illness had the clinical thermometer put into his mouth. The nurse turned away for a moment; when she returned to remove the thermometer it was gone! They shook the bedcloth, the rugs and probably the cat, but the article was not found. Finally, the children admitted "nothing," and dig in ever prone to it "without a chuckle.

"They think I swallowed the thermometer."

Many a story could be told of people taken with indigestion in the night, who groped their way to the medicine closet in order to get a dose of harmless pepsin, only to find, in a panic of fear, that it was the wrong bottle, and that carbolic acid or something of its kind was on its way to do its deadly work. So many fatal mistakes have been made in this way that all sorts of methods are suggested to prevent such accidents. A good, old-fashioned precaution is that of sticking two or three pins through the cork of the deadly drug bottle. A narrow escape recently was that of a doctor who, not feeling up to the mark, went into a drug store and asked the clerk, whom he knew, to give him a dose of Jamaica ginger. He swallowed it hastily, and hurried home for some forgotten instrument, before going to a critical operation. Luckily he was caught on the telephone by the panic-stricken man, who announced that he had given the doctor a dose of hellebore by mistake! The victim received the news cooly, took the proper antidote, and survived the experience.

So it is well to be cautious; when our dressmaker kneels on the floor hanging our skirt with her mouth full of pins it seems as though one or two must find their way down her throat, we implore her to be careful, to remove them at once, or at all events not to talk or laugh. This injunction she disregards entirely, giggles, in what might be appropriately called a pointed manner, while we watch her in spasms of apprehension.

"Land sakes! I've had most a whole paper of pins in my mouth, and never swallowed one. I'm careful, you see." And she adds: "The worst thing I've had to swallow in my life, believe me, are some of my customers' stories."

Leave His Boose on the Bar.

"My husband always leaves his business at the office."

"Mine does, too. If he'd only do one other thing he'd be perfect."

"What is that?"

"Leave his golf on the links."

Universities in Russia

Destroyed by Bolshevism

Education Is Paralyzed

THE name of Prof. P. N. Milyukoff, the eminent Russian historian, was familiar before the war to all the world of scholarship as that of one of the most distinguished teachers in the University of Moscow. Though the troubled events of the last four years have made us more familiar with his work as a member of the Duma, a powerful minister of the Russian republic, and a leader in the fight again Bolshevism, he has not forgotten the sphere of learning, and when approached by an academic correspondent in London he readily consented to speak of the effects of the revolution upon the Russian universities.

Like all the seats of learning in the belligerent countries, the universities of Russia threw themselves whole-heartedly into the conflict against the Prussian enemy and applied the technical skill of their professors and students without stint to the service of the armies. The numbers of Russians engaged in their universities and professional schools in quieter times were always very large and many more were desirous of availing themselves of the resources of the institutions that carried on the teaching work of the universities than it was possible for them to accommodate.

One of the earliest measures of the progressive regime that followed upon the downfall of the Tzardom was, therefore, the establishment of provincial universities in many of the great centres of population in order to relieve the pressure upon the great universities of Moscow and Petrograd, but even this and the drain of students away to the armies left the halls of the universities crammed with pupils anxious to get learning, though all had to be capable of fulfilling the requirements in the way of high school certificates that were necessary to secure admission to an academic course, and these in Russia have been very exacting.

The old autocratic government did its best to secure a rigid uniformity in the teaching and examination of university students, but there was no supreme authority in each university such as exists in England and America. Every one of the schools observed the professorial that went to make up the university had its own governing body, and it was thus possible to secure a considerable diversity of methods and outlook and some measure of liberty. With the overthrow of autocracy and the advent to power of liberal reformers a large diversity of educational experiment was encouraged, many hampering restrictions were removed and endeavors were made to bring university education within the reach of all who were capable of profiting by it. Prof. Milyukoff feels that these enlightened measures were meeting a real demand on the part of the best elements in Russia, and that the desire for real progress was being directed into the right channels when the universities, like all the other constructive agencies in Russia, were overwhelmed by the hideous tide of anarchy and Bolshevist tyranny which is more autocratic and terrorist in its methods than the worst government of all the discredited tzars.

The whole organization of the universities was brought down in ruin and their doors were thrown open to all, regardless of attainments or capacity for serious effort.

Society fell apart into fragments, the purchasing power of money was destroyed, the price of commodities soared to ludicrous heights, and it became the sole preoccupation of every one but the direct agents of the Bolshevist tyranny to secure food for himself and his dependents until it was possible to escape from the wreck. Even by some of the men of international reputation in the world of learning who were the pride of the [illegible] have succeeded [illegible] protest.

Prof. [illegible] himself, after struggling against the tyranny at Kiev and Moscow, journeyed south to Constantinople and thence through Italy to England, there to continue the constructive work of organization on which the life of a new Russia must be built.

A Butterfly Farm.

An [illegible] has been started near [illegible] Mt. Andre, a French [illegible]. Mr. Andre raises [illegible] and silkworms, and so the vegetation in his farm consists of mulberry, oak, ash, cypress, lilac, pine, plum, hawthorn, and other trees and shrubs on which the caterpillars that become butterflies live. In infancy the butterflies are protected by being inclosed in tulle bags which are fastened to the twig or branch on which the young caterpillars are to feed. As the caterpillars get bigger the tulle bags are taken away, and the caterpillars left free to spin their cocoons, which are collected from the trees and look very much like some strange kind of fruit and placed in little wire cages until the perfect insects emerge. On this side the work of the butterfly farm is considered, but no less important is the ornamental work of the farm with silkworms, by which sooner or later the butterfly farm hopes to provide the world with silkworms that will produce a fine kind of silk in a northerly climate.

The Porridge Bombshell.

Bitter complaints come from beyond the Tweed at the rise in the price of oatmeal, says the London Chronicle.

It is curious to reflect that porridge, always chiefly, and for centuries solely a Scottish dish, has not a Scottish name. Porridge is really an English word misapplied. It is derived from the Latin porrum, a leek, and when Sir Hugh Evans alludes somewhat contemptuously to a mess of porridge he means a cheap sort of stew or soup which in Shakespeare's day was flavored with that vegetable. It was somewhat later that it came to signify the "chief o' Scotia's food."

ANOTHER AUTO ACCIDENT

TWO CARS BADLY DAMAGED AS RESULT OF COLLISION.

Two automobiles were seriously damaged as the result of a collision at the corner of Charlotte and Rubidge streets yesterday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock.

Henry Wills, 147 Park street, was driving east on Charlotte street, and failed to give the right-of-way to Vincent Weatherup of Lindsay, who was driving north on Rubidge street. Weatherup's car rammed that of Wills, smashing the running board, fender, radius rods and door. The other car's axle was badly bent and the fender broken.

Wills stated that he did not see the other car until it was too late to avoid the accident.

Weatherup's car was towed to a garage for repairs, but the other was driven home under its own power.

Flowers were in evidence on the pulpit of Knox Church, during the services yesterday in memory of a former member of the church, Mr. Frank Montgrommery, who died one year ago of the influenza.

Next Sunday is the occasion of the unveiling of the memorial window in honor of those of the congregation who gave up their lives while serving the Empire.

An invitation was extended to the G.W.V.A. to attend this service in a body, and they gladly accepted.

BISHOP O'BRIEN DISCUSSES LABOR

TAKES STRONG STAND ON SIDE OF EMPLOYMENT FOR WORKING PEOPLE

His Lordship Bishop O'Brien addressed the congregation at the High Mass in St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning. After discoursing for some length upon matetrs of immediate interest to the parishioners in general, the speaker launched into a subject the solution of which is taxing the most eminent intellects of the world today, namely, the labor unrest problem. His Lordship during the course of his remarks threw a new light on this question, a light which afforded a somewhat broader and saner viewpoint from which to draw conclusions. Quoting from an article by Rev. Fr. Ryan in a recent issue of the Catholic Record, the speaker pointed out that the ordinary workman, as a human being endowed with intelligence and natural aspirations, should not be content to remain "the tool of industry"; that he should not be satisfied to live out his life at the foot of the industrial ladder; that he as an individual, not merely a cog, in the machine of commercialism, should strive to cultivate his latent capabilities to the fullest possible degree of efficiency. It was simply a decree of natural evolution that the employe should aspire to the position of employer; that he should constantly endeavor to perfect his knowledge of the particular line of work in which he is engaged or which he purposes to follow, with the result that there would be more employers and fewer employes. In a word, each individual is to a large extent, unless hampered by circumstances over which he has no control, the moulder of his own destiny. The unceasing clamor was for higher wages and shorter hours. Well and good, but should this vast majority of workers, among whom could be found many brilliant intellects, be satisfied with this—is it the limit of their aspirations that they remain wage-earners always? Concluding, His Lordship pointed out that what the world needed today when evidences of industrial unrest were prevalent on all sides, was more producers—more men and women fraught with a desire to attain to that degree of competency which is necessary to start out in business on their own scale.

LIFT-LOCK TRIALS.

Peterborough's lift-lock has had many trials and triulations the past week. First of all it posed serenely on the corner of the Custom House, but the heavy storm proved too much for it and Hallowe'en Day found it anchored in front of the V. L. office. Many times the pontoons went over the top.

Apparently the change was a happy one as Friday and Saturday results showed and the Board is now resting serenely where everyone can see, and if it could only talk, oh boy! that Prince of Wales' Flag would be ours.

LIFE MEMBERSHIP FOR MRS. J. SCOTT

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY OF ST. LUKE'S CHURCH CELEBRATE SILVER ANNIVERSARY

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the Womans Auxiliary of St. Luke's Church was held at the residence of Mrs. John Scott, Maria street, Ashburnham, on Thursday last. After the usual business of the society had been disposed of, a very happy event took place, when Mrs. Scott, a faithful member for so many years was presented with an address and made a life member of the organization. Then followed another presentation to Mrs. W. H. Gibbs of a life membership from her mother, Mrs. Phillips.

It is interesting to remember that in July 1894, a meeting was held in St. Luke's schoolroom, to discuss forming a branch of the Women's Auxiliary. The members present on that occasion were Mesdames Scott, Marshall, Gibbs, Phillips, Bennett and on November 30th of that year the branch was formed, and it was a very great pleasure to meet again at Mrs. Scott's house those of the Women's Auxiliary who had started the good work 25 years ago. All regretted that Mrs. E. A. Peck, Mrs. W. McGregor and a few others were prevented from being present on Thursday. When the meeting was over all were invited into the dining room where high tea was laid down to the first table; after which a very pleasant social evening was spent. Those present were Mesdames Scott, Phillips, Tivey, Heap, White, Curtis, J. Butcher, C. Butcher, H. Butcher, J. Turner, E. Turner, Hunter, Jennison, McKee, Gibbs, E. Scott, Long, Meniece, H. Adams, Hickey, Moore, Thompson, Whitehouse Lawrence, Wickerden, also the Misses Graham, Peck, Gaskins and Scott.

NOTABLE TRIBUTE TO SOLDIER DEAD

FRANCE SPENDS FIRST ALL SAINTS' DAY SINCE PEACE IN CEMETERIES

Paris, Nov. 1.—The first All Saints' Day after the war was the occasion today of notable tributes to the memory of those who had died for France in the great struggle. Despite the weather, which was cold, misty and generally dismal, the cemeteries about the city were crowded with people who were covering with flowers the stones that had been raised in honor of the dead. President Poincare, Mme. Poincare and the members of the municipal council paid visits to the cemeteries at Bagneux, Ivry and Pantin, where they placed wreaths on various monuments. In addition thousands of travelers crowded the trains on the northern and eastern line yesterday for visits to the graves of relatives or friends buried in the cemeteries at the front.

In Paris there was a touching ceremony in honor of the orphaned wards of the nation, held at the Sorbonne in the presence of a large assemblage and presided over by President Poincare. One hundred of the little ones were grouped in the front rows on seats, typifying the great army of war orphans for which the nation is caring. Numerous speeches were delivered by Marshal Foch, former Premier Viviani and others. The final speaker was President Poincare, whose impressive words stirred the audience deeply. Addressing the orphans, he said: "If your fathers died it was that France might live, and that you might live, free to be worthy of your sires, and to preserve the life of your country."

LIGHTS NOT BURNING ON SMITH STREET BRIDGE ALL SUMMER

Railway Tracks at This Spot Constitute a Menace to Public Safety on Dark Nights—Near-Midnight Session of City Fathers—General Business

J. E. L. Goodwill, for the Wm Hamilton Co., Limited, wrote the City Council last night requesting that this company's fixed assessment be extended another ten years. (The present fixed assessment expires with the first of January next year.' Mr. Goodwill pointed out that this is one of the oldest industries in Peterborough, and not withstanding a poor business season last year the salaries paid out approximated $200,000. He also explained that 106 skilled employees are on the pay-roll together with 45 unskilled help, and that a large percentage of the men are ratepayers. Outside office help, no females are employed. The matter went to the Finance Committee.

A communication from the Aerial Club of Toronto notified Council that Peterborough is on one of the flight routes of the club, and asking if the city would be willing to establish an aerodrome. This was referred to the committee of the whole, and Council will write for further information.

The Alert Bible Class of St. James' Church wrote for permission to lay out an open air skating rink in King Eward Park, and asked for the flooding of same. Referred to the Property Committee.

A. C. Woolridge, of Auburn, in a communication, complained that no lights had been burning on Smith street bridge all summer, and quite correctly contended that such lack of illumination at a point crossed by a railway track constitutes a menace to citizens. The lamps have been broken by boys, it seems, and the complainant suggested that new lamps protected by wire be placed at once. The Fire, Water and Light Committee were empowered to attend to this matter.

The Board of Health sent in a resolution that the road east side of Aylmer street, north of London, is in an unsanitary condition. This was sent to the Board of Works.

Henry Hope and Sons wrote that the exhibition directors would appreciate the privilege of removing the old house on the east end of this company's property deeded them by the city to the exhibition grounds. Council saw no objection to this.

G. N. Gordon notified Council that on Oct. 16th a horse shied at some corporation material covered with white canvas left on Otonabee street. The animal ran away, sustained injuries and damaged the rig in which were seated Mrs. Mathew Hiscock and Mrs. Priscilla Sallitt. Legal Committee

T Blodget wrote that some braces of the retaining walls of the Downie street creek had fallen away, and should be attended to before frost came. The Board of Works will attend to this.

The Public Utilities of Kingston suggested that Peterborough units with other municipalities in agitating that Hydro-electric power be pooled to give eastern municipalities equal advantage of Niagara power with those in the west. This went to the Power Co., although Council seemed of one mind that a full development of power close at hand is Peterborough's need.

Dr. McPherson, M.O.H., in a communication, stated that his remuneration was not fair and equitable. Prior to the war he had considered his salary not sufficient, and since then the cost of living has increased enormously. Finance Committee.

H. J. Humphries, superintendent of the C.P.R., complained of the clause in his company's agreement with the city for use of a plot of land on the river bank, north the C.P.R. bridge, for a turntable site, at a nominal rental, which provides for vacation at anytime on six months' notice. The agrement is for 10 years, and he urged that no vacation call be left possible until after that period.

Ald. McIntyre and Gainey were strong for the agreement standing as it is.

Ald. Hamilton thought it advantageous to manufacturers and everybody to have that turntable installed, and he suggested compliance with Mr. Humphries' request.

His Worship pointed out that this turntable is being installed at considerable expense.

The matter was referred to the Manufacturers' Committee.

The De Laval Co. asked that a hydrant be installed at the corner of Park and Lansdowne streets in protection of their premises. Fire, Water and Light Committee to act.

Bethune Street Nuisance.

G.T.R. Station Agent MacNab, in a letter, explained that the one car of hogs complained of by residents opposite the local station on Bethune street, as a nuisance had been left on the track at 5.15 p.m and departed at 11.20 (daylight time), so he could not see that the hogs disturbed any one's sleep very much. His orders are that all stock be left on outside tracks and not in the yard. One or two offenders had been severely repremanded and he did not expect any further breach of his instructions in this regard.

CITY WILL NOT ASK LEGISLATION TO ABOLISH PROPERTY QUALIFICATION

Council Stands by Law That Candidates for Municipal Office Must Own Property

Ald. McIntyre moved in the City Council session last evening that application be made for legislation to eliminate property qualifications candidates for municipal office. He could not see why such qualification should be need for Mayor and aldermen any more than for members of the legislature.

Ald. Gainey seconded this resolution.

Ald. Hamilton opposed the motion on the ground that ratepayers who pay the municipality's taxes should be the men to make the city's laws. The Trades and Labor Council, he said, has plenty of good men, property owners, and he could not see that it would be in Labor's interests to abolish the property qualification law. Property owners make better city legislators than men with no interests at stake.

Ald. Gainey: "When neither Provincial nor Dominion elections call for property qualifications for office in legislative bodies where millions are at stake, why should such qualifications be demanded for the City Council?"

Ald Hamilton: "Its not the same thing. The City Council raises its money by direct taxation, whereas the Provincial Government taxes the whole people in many indirect ways.

The Mayor: "Eliminate property qualification and anyone could float into town, secure a seat on the Council board and get out in six months, say, after having been a means for undesirable municipal legislation in which he had no personal interests at stake."

Ald. Phelan: "Yes, and an alderman not owning property could not vote on a money bylaw.

The motion was lost on the following division:

Yeas—Ald Gainey, Morrison, Crowe and McIntyre.

Nays—Ald. Hamilton, Edgar, Phelan, Garside and the Mayor.

STRIKE LEADERS AND GOVT. OFFICIALS AWAIT RESULT OF RESTRAINING ORDER

Developments in Soft Coal, Miners Walk-OutTo-day May Determine Duration of Strike—Spirit of Hopefulness That End of Trouble is Near Prevalent in Washington.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Nov. 4.—Developments today were looked forward to here as likely to afford an index to the duration of the coal strike, and a spirit of hopefulness that the end of the strike was near was prevalent.

Awaiting Developments.

Indianapolis, Nov. 4.—With officials of the United Mine Workers of America maintaining an attitude of nothing to say as a result of the Federal Court restraining order issued here last week, both Union leaders and Government officials apparently are awaiting the outcome of the hearing in the Federal Court on Saturday as the next development in the coal strike situation here.

Many Defections.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Confidential reports to the Department of Justice from its agents in the coal fields were said to show many defections from the ranks of the strikers. Some of the miners had declared they wanted to return to work, but were afraid.

In this connection officials reiterated that adequate protection would be given. There was no specific statement as to how this would be provided, but it was explained that troops would be available at the call of any Governor who believed it necessary to preserve or protect workers.

Scattered reports from the fields, reaching into 28 states, showed the first breaks in the ranks of organized labor in West Virginia and Colorado. Advices to Washington headquarters of the operators said that all non-union mines were working to full capacity and turning out considerably more coal than on Saturday. Some of the operators' reports said that union men had gone to work in non-union mines, and that there was growing sentiment that the men themselves should have had the right to vote on the strike before it was ordered.

This information, to a large extent, was in line with that received by the Government, especially as to defections. Officials said the strikers realized public sentiment was against them, and some labor leaders also were taking this view.

Attorney-General Palmer, handling the main end of the Government's case, went to Pennsylvania to-night, feeling, it was said, that the crisis might be over before Saturday, the day on which the temporary injunction restraining officials of the union and coal companies from activity, was made returnable.

Asked what the Government would do that day, an official said:

"We will not cross that bridge until we get to it."

The fact that disorder was not reported anywhere by the Department of Justice agents, was taken as a good sign that conditions were hopeful and that the miners realized it was a time for sober judgment and action. Several miners' meetings were scheduled for to-night in the coal fields and it was thought here that these might have an important bearing on the general situation.

REPORT OF ROYAL COMMISSION EXONERATES CABINET MINISTERS

Findings in the Guelph Novitiate Inquiry Tabled in Commons Raid on That Institution by Recruiting Officers Was Not Justified—Is of Exclusively Religious Character.

Ottawa, Nov. 4.—Hon. Martin Burrell, Secretary of State, in the Commons, tabled the report of the Royal Commission, which enquired into the Guelph Novitiate charges. The report is signed by Mr. Justice W. R. Meredith, of Toronto, and Mr. Justice J. A. Chisholm, of Nova Scotia, the two commissioners. As anticipated, the report exonerates Hon. C. J. Doherty, the Minister of Justice, and Major-Gen. Mewburn, Minister of Militia, and declares that, "Upon the evidence before us we think that the conduct of this raid (the raid on the Guelph Novitiate conducted by Capt. MacAulay) was open to all the adverse criticism found in the memorandum of the Adjutant-General."

"We are further of opinion," says the report, "that the Minister of Militia acted with entire propriety in apologizing for the incidents which took plce, by reason of a series of bungles on the part of a subordinate official."

Dealing with the specific charges referred to the Commission, the report continues:

"1. The Department of Justice at Ottawa interfered with the Military Board at Guelph in their efforts to obtain information as to the status of the inmates of the Guelph Novitiate."

There is absolutely no foundation for this charge. The Minister of Justice, the responsible legal head of the Dominion Government, was charged under the statute with the deputy of seeing that the administration of public affairs was in accordance with the law. It having come to his knowledge that MacAulay was acting illegally, he adopted the entirely proper course of warning him of the illegality of his conduct, and of communicating with the Minister or the acting head of the Department having charge of the matter and advising that instructions be sent to MacAulay to desist until a full investigation could be made. In no other way is it suggested that the Minister of Justice or Department of Justice interfered.

Special Privileges.

"2. That in doing so the Department extended special privileges to an institution which should have been treated like any other institution."

There is no foundation for this charge. The only institution against which a raid was directed was this shown that any privilege was ever extended to it.

"3. That the Honourable C. J. Doherty interfered with Capt. MacAulay on the night of June 7th., while he, Capt. MacAulay, was carrying out the instructions of his superior officers."

This is covered by what has already been said.

"4. That the Department of Justice, through its Minister, prevented placing of military service of young men of military age, residing in the institution."

There is no foundation for this charge. When applied to by the Hon Mr. Guthrie, the Minister of Justice gave his opinion as to the true construction of the Military Service Act. Later the opinion of the Department of Justice as to the position of the inmates of this Novitiate under the provisions of the Military Service Act was asked by the dopartment of Militia and Defence. The question was carefully considered by the Deputy Minister of Justice, who gave his opinion to the effect that the residents of the institute, who were bona Efforts For Settlement.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Efforts to reach a basis for possible settlement of the strike of bituminous coal miners were made today at a conference here between Federal Fuel Administrator Garfield and J. D. A. Morrow, President of National Coal Association, an organization of the leading coal operators of the country. What proposals the Fuel Administrator had to make were not disclosed in advance of the conference.

Special Commission.

A special presidential commission to attempt arbitration of the coal strike was proposed in a resolution introduced today by Chairman Kenyon of the Labor Committee. Without discussion the measure was referred to that committee.

THE PRINCE AT MASSEY HALL

FACES BIGGEST AUDIENCE HE HAS YET ADDRESSED IN CANADA.

HIS VISIT AN INFORMAL ONE

ACCEPTS OVATION AS GIVEN TO KING'S REPRESENTATIVE IN CANADA.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Nov. 4.—Facing the biggest audience which he has yet addressed in Canada, the Prince of Wales today spoke of Canada and his impressions of Canadian people, of the empire, and lastly of himself, before a huge gathering of business and public men in the Massey Hall here today.

Building Packed.

The great building was packed with members of the Canadian and Empire clubs; which combined today to invite the Prince to meet and address them on this occasion of his informal second visit to Toronto. Shorn of all formalities, the meeting of the Prince with Toronto men today was the signal for such an expression of Toronto's affections and loyalty to their visitor as rivals any reception that has been given in the long chapter of ovations which has marked the Prince's progress through Canada.

Unbounded Enthusiasm.

From the time His Royal Highness reached Massey Hall until he left again two hours later, the enthusiasm of his audience knew no bounds, breaking out again and again at intervals during the speeches which the Prince delivered in his simple, vigorous manner.

After referring with obvious emotion to the reception which Canadians have given him everywhere, he said: "I am not conceited enough to accept these welcomes as personal to myself, and realise that they have been given to me as King's representative coming to Canada as the heir to the throne. My first visit to Canada," he continued, "has made me realize more fully than ever what a great privilege and responsibility that confers upon me and I value these welcomes all the more highly because they have come from the Canadian nation as a whole, from all sections of the community, whatever their race, whatever their party, whatever their situation."

$171,940,400 FOR ALL CANADA

VETERANS BELIEVE GOVERNMENT SHOULD NOW GO TO COUNTRY

Only Way is to Get Sentiment of the People with Regard to Soldiers' Gratuity Question—Officers Nominated for Year—Past-President Morrison Presented with Jewel

"That a resolution of confidence in the G.W.V.A. Dominion command be passed approving of their demands of the country in its entirety and that this command request the Union Government to go to the people on this question."

Such was the resolution passed at last night's meeting of the local branch of the G.W.V. when the gratuities question was brought up for discussion. This resolution was introduced and unanimously passed without very much discussion. The feeling of the meeting appeared to be that the Dominion G.W.V.A. officials were doing all in their power to further the interests of the membership at large with the Government.

Mercy for Condemned Man.

Acting upon a most pathetic letter addressed to the secretary of the Ontario command by Sam Zalusky, one of the five men condemned to death for murder and now awaiting his fate in the County Jail here, a resolution was passed recommending that the mercy of the crown be extended to this unfortunate man.

A copy of a resolution from the Montreal branch protesting against the action of the Government in placing men suffering from shell-shock in lunatic asylums was strongly endorsed by the meeting.

A letter was read from the secretary of the Edmonton branch regarding the alleged practice of a certain life insurance company charging a war risk on policies held by soldiers but in effect before the war of $150 per $1,000, was considered by some of the members to be too libellous to take any action upon. It was therefore recommended that this letter be sent to the Ontario command to be censored.

A letter was read from Mr G. N. Gordon offering to make a donation of $50 towards the usual Christmas spread if the Association decided to go ahead with it. The offer of Mr. Gordon was accepted.

"At Home" November 12th.

Maj.-General Victor Williams will be present at an "at home" of Peterborough branch to be held at their rooms on Wednesday, Nov 12th. The general will also review the members of the association and it is hoped that all will turn out for this occasion. While here, Gen. Williams will also present the Board of Trade memorial certificates to the next of kin of all the local men who fell during the war.

Gift to Comrade Morrison.

A very pleasing item on last night's program was the presentation to Comrade Morrison of a past-president's jewel for his faithful service as president of the branch. In reply Capt. Morrison made a happy little speech, thanking the members for this token and declaring that he appreciated this more than words could express.

Officers Nominated.

The nomination of officers was proceeded with and the following were nominated:

For the Presidency for 1920 — Comrades Ackerman, Cooper, Muir and Stanton.

For 1st Vice-president—Comrades Clancy, Muir, Oxley and Williams.

For 2nd Vice-president—Comrades Allan, Widdifield and White.

For Treasurer—Comrades Whatley and Coleman.

For members of the Executive Committee—Comrades Williams, W. Perks, LeBarr, Davis, Graham, Laurie, Bradburn and Dr. McPherson.

For Sergeant-at-arms—Comrade Cole (elected by acclamation).

For Chaplain—Rev. Canon Davidson (elected by acclamation).

Comrades Laurie and Perks were appointed auditors for the ensuing [illegible]

Elections will be held the first Monday in December and all members are requested to be on hand. Comrades Board, Morley, Stanley and Dalliday were appointed to act as scrutineers and returning officer at the election.

Rap for Union Government.

Comrade Clancy gave the Union Government a rap when he declared that they had outlived their usefulness. They were elected by the soldiers to help win the war but now that the war was over they should go to the country. They were about to spend a large sum of money in the purchase of the Grand Trunk Railway but could not see their way clear to help in the re-establishment of the returned soldier. Comrade Clancy said that in all probability there would be an active soldiers' political party in the field soon which would not be affiliated with any of the now existing political organizations but be purely a returned soldiers' party and non-partisan.

Comrade Clancy's speech appeared to meet with the approval of the meeting as he was enthusiastically applauded upon resuming his seat.

The meeting dispersed after the singing of God Save the King.

STEEL OR CONCRETE BRIDGE ARCH ONCE MORE TAKES UP CITY COUNCIL'S TIME

The Boards of Works recommended the Council last night that the entire span of the new bridge be all concrete, but Ald. Gainey and McIntyre moved that plans of and price or a steel span be secured. Ald. McIntyre understood such could be secured from the Dominion Bridge Co. free of cost.

Ald Crowe fell in line with this suggestion, which at least, he said, would stimulate contractors to keep down the cost of the concrete structure.

Ald Morrison could see no reason in the suggestion. Engineer Rubber had priced plans for a steel arch at $7 000 and one bridge company said they would charge nothing for same were it and their tender accepted. Otherwise the city would have to pay for such plans.

The Mayor could not understand Labor aldermen moving for steel, which would be constructed out of town.

Ald Gainey: "I'm not moving in favor of either steel or concrete but seeking information."

Both Mayor Duncan and Ald. Phelan pointed out that they had both stood out for a steel arch, but were overridden by Council.

"And now," added the Mayor, "you want to open the whole question again: I see no sense in that."

"Neither do I," echoed Ald. Morrison.

Ald. Gainey: "I don't want to open up the question again, but would like plans for a steel arch if we can get them free."

Ald. Hamilton: "The Dominion Bridge Co. could give plans for a cheaper bridge in steel, but it would not be as good as concrete."

Ald. Phelan was confident that this company would not furnish plans free unless accepted, and a contract for a steel arch awarded [illegible]

Ald. Gainey: "Then I am satisfied if such is the case."

The matter was here dropped.

WHO PAYS THE TAXES?

ONLY THE MAN with certain property qualification can become a member of the City Council or hold the office of Mayor. For a place in the Dominion Parliament or in the Legislature no such conditions are imposed.

The argument is used that as the City Council sets the tax rate for the year the members should themselves be men who pay taxes. This is the old idea that it is the property owner who helps out in the raising of the city taxes. That was the plea put forward by Alderman Hamilton last night when the question of abolishing the property qualification was before Council.

Any time Alderman Hamilton and his colleagues authorize any additional expenditure, any time they vote an honorarium to the members of a public body already on the payroll, when they perform a little extra service; every time they grant a tax exemption to some industry as an inducement to locate here, the property owners see an increased tax rate in prospect and at once set out to reimburse themselves by raising the rents on their tenants. Any student of economics knows that it is really the non-property owners who pay the city taxes. When the Patriotic Fund was two years ago raised in one levy, thus adding five mills to the tax rate, making it the highest in the history of Peterborough, rents were immediately boosted as high as twenty-five per cent. in some cases. The five mills impost has been removed but the rents remain as high as ever.

The tenant cannot vote on a money bylaw, but the tenant, in his rent, can pay the additional civic charge that the adoption of that bylaw entails. High taxes invariably mean excessive rents and other hardships. The tenant is forced to accept conditions in the making of which he has no voice.

The tenant, as well as the property owner, is interested in keeping down the tax rate. This interest would inspire his every action, even if he were permitted a place on the Council or a vote on money bylaws. The abolition of property qualifications for civic office may or may not be the correct idea of civic government However that may be, one thing is certain, some argument other than the one used against it last night must be employed. The tenant is just as interested in civic prosperity as is the landlord. As it is now, he must take living conditions as they are prepared for him by others.

NO UNCERTAINTY NOW.

IN ALL PREVIOUS flotations of Victory Loans there was an element of uncertainty. The outcome of the war was problematic. There was always the chance that the Germans would win, and in this event the bonds purchased by the citizens of Canada would be practically worthless. But the people had faith in the armies of the Allies, and in their country. They were good sports and they invested in the loans, many of them to the limit of their resources.

The Loan of 1919 is submitted to the public under different conditions. The war has been won and peace declared, peace so safeguarded by Allied action that there is every hope that it will remain on earth for all time. There is no factor of uncertainty in the purchase of Victory Bonds this year, no gambler's chance in the investment. It is a clean-cut, attractive business proposition, a chance to invest money with security assured and at a generous rate of interest. The money is in the country. It is being invested in large and small amounts everywhere, and yet there is room. It is still a long way to the objective. Don't wait until the last minute. Buy Bonds now. Every dollar you invest encourages some one else to go and do likewise.

"ICH DIEN."

FOLLOWING the decorations in the city of Montreal in preparation for the visit of the Prince of Wales, the Imperial Order of the Sons of Empire, we read, took offence to and made a protest against the words "Ich Dien," which, as the motto of the Prince of Wales, we have been accustomed to see beneath the three feathers which constitute the device of the Heir Apparent to the British throne.

The objection to the words arose from their commonly accepted German origin. In order to get an authoritative ruling on this, Mayor Martin of Montreal obtained the following from Admiral Halsey, Chief of the Prince's staff:

> "His Worship the Mayor of Montreal: Your letter dated the 18th. The idea that the Prince of Wales' motto, 'Ich Dien,' is not English is totally unfounded. Since, however, it has been misunderstood in Montreal, you have his Royal Highness' permission, if you wish, to substitute the words 'I serve' in your decorations. Please publish this telegram."

The origin of the motto of the Prince of Wales is veiled in more or less obscurity, the London Heige Herald explains. It dates back so far away as the reign of Edward the First of England, and has remained so long in association with the eldest sons of the Royal house that it is somewhat late in the day to quarrel with it. The present objection comes as a result of the war. It would be stretching a point to take it that the language which is presumed to denote the motto can be actually claimed to belong to them by the present Germans. It is also a matter of conjecture as to whether the Bohemians of the fourteenth century were of the same race as the present inhabitants of the territory which was comprised in the German empire that has passed away as the result of the war. This, in connection with the tradition that the banner which bore the motto was that of the blind king, John of Bohemia, slain by the Black Prince on the field of Crecy and assumed by him as its interpretation "I serve," out of modesty, in that he was serving under the king, his father.

In contradiction to the story of Crecy, another origin is given to the words "Ich Dien." They are said to be a corruption of the Welsh words "Eich Dynn," meaning "Behold the man." These are the words attributed to Edward the First, when, at the Castle of Caernarvon, he presented the first Prince of Wales, then an infant in arms, to the Welsh people, in the promise to give them a Prince who could not speak a word of English. Whether the scribe of the time was not sufficiently acquainted with Welsh spelling and wrote the words as they appear in "Ich Dien" is something for surmise. If he did, our sympathies go with him when we view present geographical Welsh names with a pronunciation which by no means fits in with the spelling.

For all practical purposes, the Prince of Wales' motto of "Ich Dien" may be left where it is. With its hazy origin it would be a policy of splitting hairs to find fault with it. At any rate it has been long enough in the English language to be incorporated into it.

SIR ADAM NOT WANTED.

(London Advertiser.)

IN THEIR SELECTION of a leader the U. F. O. have apparently brushed aside in indifferent silence the unsolicited advice of Beckite organs and all the news propaganda in the interest of the hydro magnate. It does not seem likely that official Labor was any more interested than Agriculture to promote the local Mordecai into Haman's place. The people's own men having in their hands the disposal of power delight to honor not the silk tile but the safe and sure democrat.

It grows more and more evident that London Labor made no mistake in its distrust of Sir Adam Beck. Labor is not to be deceived by a band of Toronto claquers chanting a mechanical chorus into supposing the local knight a democrat or a suitable head for a people's government. Despotism, however benevolent, is out of date in this country. Independent farmers and unassuming town people do not propose to eat out of a ruler's hand.

Not only Sir Adam's autocratic character, but his failure to measure up anywhere near to a prohibition standard makes him simply impossible as the leader of a progressive party in power. The farmers and laborites are beginning to show signs that they really mean to carry out their promises, to enforce prohibition as it [illegible] legislation as may secure the equal rights of all and put privileges at last into the discard.

Bonds as a Social Boon

It was Ralph Emerson who said: "A man must bring his wants within the margin of his income if he is going to be contented." There is probably no contentment like that of being able to pay your debts and think no more about them; which involves living within your income and laying by something against a rainy day. It is this desirable end that the Victory Loans of the past end of this year stimulate. The have established a simple, convenient and remunerative form of thrift from which Canada is already beginning to reap vast and permanent benefits. No financial reform since the gradual abolition of retail credits and the introduction of the cash system, has worked such benefits for the community.

The Victory Loans of the past, have provided tens of thousands of Canadians, who never thought of saving in the past, with accumulated assets in the shape of bonds. The 1919 Victory Loan will continue to progress. There is therefore this very vital economic consideration in connection with Victory Bonds, apart from the great national necessity involved. In considering his own interest the Canadian must consider the national interest as well. The success of this Loan is a paramount necessity if Canada is to carry out her pledges to the returned soldiers and make them a vast earning power; and if she is to seize the present opportunity for vast and permanent European trade. The man who buys Victory Bonds saves for himself and invests for his country.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS COMING TO INAUGURATION BANQUET OF ENGINEERS

Among the distinguished engineers who will be in the city next Thursday for the inauguration banquet of the Peterboro Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada, will be R. A. Ross, and Fraser S. Keith, of Montreal, and J. B. Challies of Ottawa.

R. A. Ross is well known in Peterborough, and was born in Woodstock, Ont. on August 29th, 1865, and graduated from the University of Toronto, in Electrical Engineering, in May 1896. He was connected with much of the earlier electrical work in Canada, [illegible] being one of the outstanding electrical engineers in this country, being Consulting Engineer to the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario.

He is chairman of the Lignite Utilization Board of the Dominion Government now engaged in solving the fuel problem of the prairie provinces.

He is a member of the Honorary Advisory Council for Scientific Research. He is one of the five Civic Commissioners of Montreal, where his ability and practical knowledge are being given for the benefit of the citizens of that City.

Fraser S. Keith is the General Secretary of the Engineering Institute of Canada, having succeeded the late Professor C. H. McLeod, on March 1st, 1917. He was born at Smith's Falls, Ont., June 8th, 1878, and graduated in 1903 from McGill University with honors in Electrical Engineering. After spending a year as senior demonstrator in Electrical Engineering at McGill, he became editor of the "Canadian Manufacturer." He went to Vancouver in 1908, where for several years he was engaged in the manufacture of concrete materials and concrete construction.

n 1915 he returned to Montreal to become manager and editor of "Construction, which position he left to become General Secretary of the Institute.

During Mr. Keith's regime as Secretary nine branches of the Institute [illegible] for his energy and devotion to its interests.

J. B. Challies, of Ottawa, holds one of the most important positions in the Dominion Government Service, being Superintendent of the Water Powers Branch of the Department of the Interior. He is a member of the Dominion Power Board, Honorary Secretary of the Honorary Advisory Council for Scientific and Industrial Research, Chairman of the Ontario Provincial Division of the Engineering Institute of Canada, and one of its most active workers.

Mr. Challies was born at Winchester, Ont., on April 23rd, 1882, and was graduated from the University of Toronto in 1903.

The Government is fortunate in having a man of Mr. Challies at the head of this department which is such an important one in its relation to the development of this country.

METHODISTS HAVE NO INTENTIONS OF MAKING WAR ON TOBACCO

Church Leaders in Toronto When Interviewed Set all Rumors at Rest—Refer to Mr. Burnham's Amendment to Prohibition Bill as Sarcasm

There is not the slightest indication anywhere according to Methodist leaders that the Methodist Church intends to launch a campaign against cigarettes, dancing, and so forth as is sometimes alleged by its critics. When seen and asked for an expression of opinion last week several of the leaders of Canadian Methodism were most emphatic in their denial of such charges.

Rev. Wesley Dean, who is finance minister for the Methodist Church in Canada said:

"There is not the least sign anywhere that our people would want to have the church committed to anything so foolish as a campaign against such things as you mention. I think that you would find that most of our people regard cigaret smoking as very injurious and not in the least interests of growing lads who want to build up a strong, healthy body. Still the matter is left to the people themselves and undoubtedly thousands of church members and splendid workers use tobacco regularly."

When interviewed, Rev. R. G. D. Simpson, ex-president of the Toronto Conference said:

"This talk about the prohibition of tobacco and amusements generally is simply part of a propaganda intended to discredit the church in general. There is not now, nor has there ever been, any serious thought in our church of passing such stupid motions. If you want an illustration of what I mean take what happened at the general conference at Hamilton last year, when a few of the extremists managed to pass a motion against the use of tobacco. In less than two hours the whole subject was brought up again and the motion rescinded by an overwhelming vote. That indicates the feeling of our church everywhere. A few years ago the famous foot-not against dancing was removed simply because we felt that we did not wish to have people guided by a lot of rules. Religion is a matter of principle, not a set of hard and fast rules, and a great deal must be left for people to settle themselves."

Mr. Simpson strongly resented the ground taken by those who insinuate that the church is acting as a kill-joy.

"The church stands for the fullest development of life," he said, "physical, mental and spiritual, and there is a decided tendency in all our Methodist churches to foster the recreational side of life. Practically every one of sixty Methodist churches in Toronto has at least one and sometimes half a dozen clubs of different kinds where recreational and social life is carried on to the fullest extent. We want our young people to have every legitimate form of amusement under heaven. So far from being a kill-joy the church is exceedingly anxious to put all the genuine gladness into life that she can."

Criticise Mr. Burnham.

Both the men already quoted took pains to point out that during the war hundreds of Methodist churches put cigarets n their overseas parcels. Some, of course left them out, but in most cases they were included. Also they drew attention to the fact that such men as Mr. Burnham, M. P. for Peterboro, who recently suggested the abolition of amusements in the federal house, do so out of irony. Mr. Burnham, whom most people regard to be asort of religious fanatic, turned out to be an anti-prohibitionist, who is so angered at the temperance victory that out of sheer sarcasm he makes his prohibitive suggestions at Ottawa. Most people, however, regard Mr. Burnham as being serious, where as only his sympathies are with the wets.

CUT DOWN FEE FOR THE JUDGE

PAID NO MORE THAN OTHER COMMISSIONERS FOR POLICE INVESTIGATION

The City's Finance Committee's report to Council last night recommended that Judge Huycke, chairman Police Commissioners, be paid $100, the police magistrate and the Mayor, the other commissioners, $50 each for conducting the recent police investigation.

Ald. Edgar took exception to any distinction being made between Judge Huycke and the other commissioners, as His Honor is paid $200 a year as chairman of the Commission, while his colleagues get no remuneration whatever.

He moved, seconded by Ald. Crowe that this clause be struck out of the finance report, and that each of the commissioners be paid $50.

This motion carried.

His Worship explained that the investigation was necessary because of certain implications, rumors and allegations against the police.

During debate Ald. Garside said that had the commissioners made a case against the police he would not begrudge them their fee for investigation.

"Fruit-a-tives" Conquered Nervous Prostration

R. R. No. 4, GILBERT PLAINS, MAN.

"In the year 1910, I had Nervous Prostration in its worst form; dropping from 170 to 115 pounds.

The doctors had no hope of my recovery, and every medicine I tried proved useless until a friend induced me to take "Fruit-a-tives".

I began to mend almost at once, and never had such good health as I have enjoyed the past eight years. I am never without "Fruit-a-tives" in the house". JAS. S. DELGATY.

on paper, and the following is his communication:

"No matter what some folks may say, good men were never so sane and so human as they are to-day, and the good causes of the church and of social uplift and betterment were never before so shot thru with a spirit of kindness and brotherhood. The whining, kill-joy, hypocritical reformer, if he ever was a feature of the landscape, is certainly so no more. Men are seeking to make the world better because they know that its improvement will add to the sum total of joy and satisfaction and well-being; not because they have a meddlesome disposition or any desire to busy themselves withother folks' affairs."

VICTORY BONDS

Buy till you have to borrow.

Help the lift lock left it over.

It means the Prince of Wales banner for Peterborough.

We'll be a long time dead, so let's show we're live ones while we're here.

Study the story about the "Big Ones," and you must decide to be one too.

Look out for a biff, bang, biff, from the Canadian General when the totals are given out.

Your's not to reason why, your's but to buy and buy.

Save up for next summer's vacation. The safe way is to buy Victory Bonds.

The saddest words, of tongue, I trow. The saddest are these—the U.F.O.

Some team-work in Smith and Douro.

Have you noticed the steam from V. J. McElderry's team.

All the world loves a lover, but the girls are showing a partiality for the kind with Victory Bonds.

There was a young fellow named Fry,
He's boosting the Loan to the sky;
"Buy some bonds," once he said,
But the man turned and fled;
The Doc has him now, it's his head.

Buy Victory Bonds today. Tomorrow may never come.

What are the wild winds saying?
Perhaps already you've guessed.
They say that of all the bonanzas:
The Victory Loan Bonds are the best.

A slogan for the campaign teams: "If you cannot win, make the team ahead of you break the record."

There was a man in our town.
He couldn't pay his rent;
He dabbled deep in oil and things
And thus his money went.
At last a wise man tipped him off
To Bonds—he bought a few.
He now not only takes the rent,
He owns the building too.

"The Bridge from War to Peace" —The Prince of Wales.

THE MINISTER OF FINANCE OF THE DOMINION OF CANADA offers for Public Subscription the Victory Loan 1919

300,000,000. 5½% Gold Bonds

Bearing interest from November 1st, 1919, and offered in two maturities, the choice of which is optional with the subscriber as follows:

5 year Bonds due November 1st, 1924
15 year Bonds due November 1st, 1934

Principal payable without charge at the Office of the Minister of Finance and Receiver General at Ottawa, or at the Office of the Assistant Receiver General at Halifax, St. John, Charlottetown, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and Victoria.

Bonds may be registered as to principal or as to principal and interest, as hereinafter provided, at any of the above-mentioned offices.

Interest payable, without charge, half-yearly, May 1st and November 1st, at any branch in Canada of any Chartered Bank.

Principal and Interest payable in Gold

Denominations: $50, $100, $500 and $1,000

Issue Price: 100 and Accrued Interest;

Income Return 5½% per Annum

The proceeds of the Loan will be used to pay indebtedness incurred, and to meet expenditures to be made in connection with demobilization (including the authorized war service gratuity to our soldiers, land settlement loans, and other purposes connected with their re-establishment into civil life), for capital outlay upon shipbuilding, and other national undertakings forming part of Canada's industrial reconstruction programme, and for the establishment of any necessary credits for the purchase of grain, foodstuffs, timber and other products, and will be spent wholly in Canada.

Payment to be made as follows:

10% on application; 20% January 9th, 1920;
20% December 9th, 1919; 20% February 10th, 1920;
31.21% March 9th, 1920.

The last payment of 31.21% covers 30% balance of principal and 1.21% representing accrued interest at 5½% from November 1st to due dates of the respective instalments.

A full half-year's interest will be paid on May 1st, 1920, making the cost of the bonds 100 and interest.

Subscriptions may be paid in full at the time of application at 100 without interest, or on any instalment due date thereafter together with accrued interest at the rate of 5½% per annum.

This Loan is authorized under Act of the Parliament of Canada, and both principal and interest are a charge upon the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

The amount of this issue is $300,000,000, exclusive of the amount (if any) paid for by the surrender of bonds of previous issues. The Minister of Finance, however, reserves the right to allot the whole or any part of the amount subscribed in excess of $300,000,000.

Payments

All cheques, drafts, etc., covering instalments are to be made payable to the Credit of the Minister of Finance. Failure to pay any instalment when due will render previous payments liable to forfeiture, and the allotment to cancellation. Subscriptions other than those paid in full on application must be accompanied by a deposit of 10% of the amount subscribed. Official Canvassers will forward subscriptions or any branch in Canada of any Chartered Bank will accept subscriptions and issue receipts.

Subscriptions may be paid in full at time of application at 100 without interest, or on any instalment due date thereafter, together with accrued interest to time of making payment in full. Under this provision, payment of subscriptions may be made as follows:

If paid in full on or before November 15th, 1919, par without interest or 100%.
If remaining instalments paid on Dec. 9th, 1919, balance of 90% and interest ($90.52 per $100).
If remaining instalments paid on Jan. 9th, 1920, balance of 70% and interest ($70.84 per $100).
If remaining instalments paid on Feb. 10th, 1920, balance of 50% and interest ($51.08 per $100).
If remaining instalment paid on Mar. 9th, 1920, balance of 30% and interest ($31.21 per $100).

Payment of instalments or payment in full after November 15th, 1919, can be made only on an instalment due date.

Denomination and Registration

Bearer bonds, with coupons, will be issued in denominations of $50, $100, $500, and $1,000, and may be registered as to principal. The first coupon attached to these bonds will be due on May 1st, 1920.

Fully registered bonds, the interest on which is paid direct to the owner by Government cheque, will be issued in denominations of $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $25,000, $50,000, $100,000, or any multiple of $100,000.

Payment of Interest

A full half-year's interest at the rate of 5½% per annum will be paid May 1st, 1920.

Form of Bond and Delivery

Subscribers must indicate on their applications the form of bond and the denominations required, and the securities so indicated will be delivered by the bank upon payment of subscriptions in full.

Bearer bonds of this issue will be available for delivery at the time of application to subscribers desirous of making payment in full. Bonds registered as to principal only, or fully registered as to principal and interest, will be delivered to subscribers making payment in full, as soon as the required registration can be made.

Payment of all instalments must be made at the bank originally named by the subscriber.

Non-negotiable receipts will be furnished to all subscribers who desire to pay by instalments. These receipts will be exchangeable at subscriber's bank for bonds on any instalment date when subscription is paid in full. All receipts must be exchanged before 1st June, 1920.

Form of Bonds Interchangeable

Subject to the payment of 25 cents for each new bond issued, holders of fully registered bonds without coupons, will have the right to convert into bonds with coupons, and holders of bonds with coupons will have the right to convert into fully registered bonds without coupons, at any time, on application to the Minister of Finance or any Assistant Receiver General.

Forms of application may be obtained from any Official Canvasser, from any Victory Loan Committee, or member thereof, or from any branch in Canada of any Chartered Bank.

Subscription List will close on or before November 15th, 1919

TO INVESTIGATE LABOR COMPLAINTS

MEN SAY THEY ARE NOT USED FAIRLY BY BRIDGE FOREMEN

As forecasted in Saturday's Review the Council's file last night carried a communication from James Grisdale, secretary of the local Laborers' Union, complaining that men working on the new bridge are dismissed without any intimation of the cause, and men from outside the city limits put on their jobs, the letter asked for investigation by the Council.

Mayor Duncan explained that complaints in this regard reach him nearly every day, and Ald. Phelan and he have done their level best to straighten things out. Where a large body of men are employed, he contended, trouble will crop up once in a while; some men won't work faithfully, and quite naturally foremen will let them out. The Mayor only knew of one case where an outsider had been employed. Any good men in the city, willing to work, and who are not agitators should be able to secure employment on the bridge. There have been. His Worship concluded, complaints about Hickey and the other foreman, but on investigation, we found that the foremen are not far out in their action.

Ald. Edgar wanted to know if farmer's teaming for bridge work were paying a license. He did not think so, and such was not fair to city teamsters, perhaps idle, who are carrying a teamster's license.

A resolution was passed some time ago, Ald. Edgar concluded, asking the Police Commissioners to pass a law enforcing a license fee of $10 from all outside teamsters. He wondered had that been done?

His Worship replied that the commissioners had called for a consultation of city teamsters to discuss this proposition, but only Mr. Lytle showed up.

Ald. Edgar thought it a matter for consultation with city teamsters.

Ald. Gainey moved, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that this matter be referred to the Special Bridge Committee to hear the complaints in question from a deputation from the Laborers' Union, and also to enquire if outside teamsters working on the bridge have paid a license. Carried.

MORE SALARY FOR INSPECTOR

A bylaw to authorize an increase in the plumbing inspector's salary to $80 a month aroused debate in the City Council last night. Ald Edgar contended that this increase from $750 a year should not pass until Editor Newsome's allegations of faulty plumbing is enquired into. "Should his report be substantiated by an independent inspector, I feel," said the alderman, "that our inspector has not been doing his duty, and should be released."

Ald. Edgar moved that the bylaw be left in abeyance pending an independent inspection of plumbing arranged for.

Ald. Hamilton contended that Mr Thompson had not been getting sufficient salary, and the matter of dismissal or retention is another question.

Ald Crowe pointed out that Inspector Thompson had only been paid pre-war salary the past four years, not enough to live on, and should get the increase.

Ald. Crowe and Hamilton moved for the readings of the bylaw, which carried and the bylaw passed Council.

Ald. Edgar secured no seconder to his resolution

AFTER 20 YEARS

Remarkable Experience of Mrs. Ripley

Mrs. Millanor P. Ripley, of Williamsdale, East, has good news for all who suffer from aches and derangements caused by Kidney Trouble. Read her letter:—

"Before taking Gin Pills I had suffered dreadfully with my back and headaches, and had suffered for 20 years. I tried almost everything but got no relief until I got Gin Pills. I have taken 6 boxes and now I have not a sign of a pain or an ache. I am now 48 and feel as well as ever I did in my life."

In Gin Pills, all the valuable diuretic Juniper element in the Gin has been utilized, and the alcohol eliminated. Combined with other highly efficient diuretics and antiseptics, Gin Pills present the most scientific and effective remedy for Kidney and Bladder trouble that can be secured. They give sure, quick and safe relief. If you have backache, headache, highly-coloured urine, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, dizziness, lassitude, floating specks before the eyes, unaccountable uneasiness of mind and general debility, lose no time. Treat yourself with Gin Pills before it is too late. At all druggists and dealers, 50c. Money refunded if not relieved. Free sample on request.

NURSE MAKES FACTS PUBLIC

WAS TOLD OPERATION WAS HER ONLY HOPE—"TANLAC IS WONDERFUL," SHE SAYS.

"Speaking from personal experience," said Mrs. D. L. Travis, a well known nurse, residing at 721 Seventh avenue, Peoria, Ill., in a conversation, recently, "I know Tanlac to be a most valuable medicine and I feel it my duty to give the facts to the world."

Mrs. Travis is only one of a great many in her profession who have endorsed Tanlac. She has been nursing the sick for eighteen years and her statement, coming as it does, from one of such wide experience, will be read with interest everywhere.

"It is my honest belief," continued Mrs. Travis, "that there are millions of people who, if they only knew Tanlac as I do since using it myself, would lose no time in relieving themselves of their misery as I have done.

"The way I happened to know of Tanlac was through a noted physician. At this time I was suffering from what was said to be chronic appendicitis, which had troubled me for seven or eight years. I would become so nauseated—almost deadly sick—after eating that it was a common thing for me not to be able to retain my food. I am speaking now of the last stage of my suffering, after reaching the condition where an operation seemed unavoidable. But, previous to this time and for several years my health had been very poor and it was an effort for me to stay on my feet and practice my profession. I did it under the strain of suffering and when I came off from a case I was always so completely tired out, exhausted, and nervous that I thought each case would be the last.

"Finally, a few months ago, I gave up completely, took to my bed, and arrangements were being made for an operation, as it was thought I would never recover without it. At this point my physician and friend advised me to try Tanlac for a few days. Knowing he would not advise me wrong I ordered a bottle at once and two days later my suffering was getting up. Those terrible pains began to leave, the swelling and bloating commenced to go down and in a day or two more I changed from liquid diet to some more nourishing and substantial food. From that time on I recovered in a way that [illegible] who attended me. In all I have taken about seven bottles of this medicine and today I am as well as one can be. My lost strength has returned, my nerves are perfectly calm and no one could get more restful sleep than I do. My appetite is fine. I enjoy all my meals and I never suffer in the slightest degree with my stomach or in any other way. Nothing would keep me from praising this wonderful medicine."

MOVE FOR NEW PUBLIC PARK

CITY MAY PURCHASE RIVERSIDE PARK AND ADJOINING PROPERTIES

Ald. Gainey enquired in Council last night had anything been done toward expropriating Riverside Park and adjoining properties for park purposes as suggested in Council. He contended that grounds for public recreation are needed and though their acquisition by the city now would go a long way toward fastening the formation of a baseball syndicate this winter in preparation for next season.

Ald. Edgar was quite in accord with this view and contended that as the city would be up against damages to the properties in question by reason of the new bridge they might as well be purchased for public utility.

Ald. Edgar moved that a committee interview the owners of Riverside Park, Rapid Tool building and the Bettis estate with a view to getting a three months' option on these properties, contemplating subsequent purchase by the city for public park purposes. And that a vote of ratepayers on a bylaf for this purpose be taken at the municipal elections.

This carried and the committee named are the Mayor, Aldermen Edgar, Gainey and Hamilton.

HOUSING SCHEME FOR THIS CITY

G. W. V. A. WOULD CO-OPERATE —PUBLIC MEETING TO DISCUSS PLAN SHORTLY

Comrade Lancaster of the local G.W.V.A. had a little chat with the City Council last night on the Government Housing Scheme. Seven months ago, he said, a committee of the G.W.V.A. took this matter up, and have on their list some forty requisitions from returned men for houses under this plan. There names are at the service of Council and the G.W.V.A., he declared, would like the opportunity to have representation on a housing committee appointed by the city. Comrade Lancaster pointed to Oshawa where, he said, the scheme had proved popular and a success. In that town as much as $500 had been saved in the construction of $3,000 houses.

Which are you going to have $45 or $82.50

IF you have $100 in the Savings Bank it will pay you 3 per cent. interest, or in fifteen years, $45.00.

IF you take that money out of the Savings Bank and invest it in Victory Bonds, Canada will pay you 5½ per cent. interest on it, or in the same time, $82.50.

BACON IS SELLING IN FRANCE AT 18 CENTS

Paris, Nov. 4.—The French Government's sale of military stocks purchased from the United States will be opened to the public here today in the fight against the high cost of living. Similar sales in a dozen other centres of France will be started soon. Two thousand items were isted at the outset, but the stocks have been depleted by sales to hospitals, charitable and co-operative organizations and to retail merchants.

The prices for the various commodities have been fixed at a maximum of half the current retail prices, with many articles which are not much used by the French workers offered at a fraction of their original cost.

At the present rate of exchange with the dollar quoted at between eight and nine francs, the American equivalent of some of the prices placed on the goods are as follows:—

Cocoa, 33 cents a pound; bacon 18 cents a pound; canned peas, 10 cents a pound; dried navy beans, 4 1-2 cents a pound, tapioca, 8 1-2 cents; American cheese, 20 cents, sweet chocolate 25 cents, dried apples, 27 cents; Malaga raisins, 17 cents, and rice flour, 4 1-2 cents.

No sugar or wheat flour is on sale here, but it is expected sugar will be sold in some districts at prices fixed locally. Clothing also is offered, principally from the used stocks of enlisted men's garments, suitable for workingmen. No shoes are available in Paris, but elsewhere army shoes are to be sold at $2.80 and repaired shoes at $1.10. Used overcoats are priced at from $1.35 to $1.75; olive drab trousers, $3.40; khaki trousers, 68 cents; sheepskin lined canvas overcoats, $10.20; wool drawers, 68 cents wool socks, 45 cents, cotton drawers, 25 cents ad wool lined leather vests $4.50.

WHY ARE THE "BIG FELLOWS" BIG? THEY BUY GOVERNMENT BONDS

Yesterday I heard two men talking about Victory Bonds and one of them made a remark somewhat to this effect: "My brother has bought a $500 Bond. That is enough for us! Let the "Big Fellows" buy the bonds. They have made all the money! That remark was overheard in actual conversation and it displays about as great a lack of knowledge of the Victory Loan situation as could possibly exist in Peterborough.

Why are the "Big Fellows" big? One of the main reasons is that they buy Government bonds. They keep their surplus capital in these securities and when they need that capital they borrow on the bonds and when the capital comes again, they pay off their loan. It is the good judgment of the people who have bought and invest in Victory Bonds that enables them to become "big"

The statement that the "big man" has made all the money is not correct. Had it not been for Victory Bonds and the money that the sale of those bonds placed at the disposal of the Government, not only would the "big man" have lost his money, but the small man would have been out of employment and we in Canada would have experienced a period of depression and financial stringency that would have ruined everybody.

All Get Benefit.

There is nobody, no matter how small, who has not benefited directly by Victory Bonds. The working men of Canada have bought bonds in large quantities and thus made certain that their employers would have business and that the factories would have work that would give everybody employment.

The man of moderate means who bought Victory Bonds in 1917 and paid for them out of savings, and bought more bonds in 1918, and paid for them out of savings, is now facing this campaign with a substantial amount accumulated, invested in the best security in the world (and just as good as cash) and bearing him 5 1-2 per cent interest. Is there any wonder that this man is glad to buy more bonds this year and pay for them out or his earnings? He never saved before and is now starting, by the gradual accumulation of Government Bonds, to reach a position in a few years where he will be one of the "big ones". The foundations of the largest fortunes that have been accumulated were laid in the small savings properly invested.

The man who refuses to buy Victory Bonds and says that should be left for the "big ones" is showing the poorest possible judgment. The small man needs to take advantage of these bargains much more than the "big man" and the "big men" buys Victory Bonds because he knows they are bargains.

Some people have the idea that they are making a contribution, that they are doing the Government a favor when they suscribe for Victory Bonds. This is the most erroneous. The man who buys Victory Bonds is taking advantage of a splendid opportunity and he is doing a tremendous service to himself as well as to the community at large.

The "wise ones" always buy Government Bonds when they are cheap. Let everybody be a "wise one" for Government Bonds were never cheaper than the Victory 5 1-2 per cent bonds at par.

Therefore let everybody invest his savings and buy in anticipation of his savings, thus laying the foundation for becoming "one of the big ones."

OPEN NOSTRILS! END A COLD OR CATARRH

How To Get Relief When Head and Nose are Stuffed Up.

Count fifty! Your cold in head or catarrh disappears. Your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more snuffling, hawking, mucous discharge, dryness or headaches; no struggling for breath at night.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the swollen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. Relief is sure.

ONLY A LITTLE SHORT OF A MILLION

Have a look over the report of Monday's doings in the Victory Loan campaign. Isn't it a dandy. Who cares for blue Monday. Let it rain. Peterborough is nearly the million mark, the grand total to date being $933,350. After a sensational spurt by V. J. McElderry's team, along came Herb. McCannan's crowd and yesterday saw the leader high man for the city and his team with first honors. W. Sherin was high man in the County.

Of the special subscriptions objective of $300,000, the splendid sum of $267,000 has been subscribed. The summary:

IS THERE NATURAL GAS IN EAST CITY? CLAIMED WATER IS TAINTED WITH IT

Forty years ago Jonathan Stevenson, of Ashburnham, made one of three partners who bored for natural gas on the lot at the south-west corner of Burnham and Hunter streets, now owned by the City of Peterborough. They started drilling on bare rock and penetrated 200 feet of limestone, on downward through a bed of salt, and thence 200 feet deeper through sandstone until they struck a bed of shale. A lighted match, struck carelessly, ignited gas, and flames ascended to the height of the derrick, 50 feet. The drill either broke or could not be extracted, and is still in the ground. A year or two ago a party in the interest of a monopoly sought the services of Mr. Stevenson as to location of natural gas here, but the latter declined co-operation.

The late Commadore Calcutt twenty-five years ago bored a well on his property a little higher up on Burnham street, but could not use the water on account of its bearing a strong flavor of gas. Mr. Conroy, on the same street had the same experience. Then when digging for the Trent Canal ignited gas exuded from a fissure and burned for days.

This is the story told the City Council last night by Jonathan Stevenson himself, still resident in Ashburnham. He is firmly convinced that plenty of natural gas is somewhere in the vicinity mentioned, and his object in waiting on the City Fathers was to ask them to keep on guard against any possible private monopoly of a natural fuel which should be held for the people.

REPORT OF ROYAL

side members of the order were not liable for service. This opinion was concurred in by the Judge Advocate-General. It was followed by correspondence with the rector of the Novitiate who was asked to give, and gave very full information concerning the case of each inmate. Each case was thoroughly investigated and it was found that no one claimed as a member of the order was liable for service. It may here be said that there was no foundation whatever for the charge freely made in the letters and documents appearing in the file, that young men were being harbored by this institution so as to enable them to evade military service. At the time of admission of each member to the order, his case was carefully investigated by the rector, and in no case where admission followed was there found to be any improper motive.

Press Censorship.

"5. That the press censorship instituted by a Minister of the Crown intensified the feeling that special protection was being given to the institution at Guelph."

There is no foundation for this charge. The press censor and the Minister of Justice desired that the incident should not be given publicity. This was not with any desire of promoting the interests of the Jesuits but entirely by the reason of the fear that publication of the full details of the harsh and unjustifiable conduct of the military towards the members of this religious order, might arouse in other parts of the Dominion, the feeling that members of the Catholic Church were not being treated fairly under the law.

Under the terms of the order-in-Council we were instructed to investigate these charges with the view of ascertaining whether any of the acts alleged were wrongfully done or improper in themselves.

In our opinion, the Minister of Justice, the Minister of Militia and the Adjutant-General and the Provost Marshal acted with great propriety, and with no other idea than to see that the law was fairly, firmly and uniformly enforced, and the rights and immunities granted by the Act were duly recognized. There is no foundation for the suggestion of any wrong doing or impropriety in their conduct.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARGARET BEAMISH

Port Hope's oldest native-born citizen, Mrs. Margaret Beamish, has passed away at her residence here. She was a daughter of the late James Robertson, and was born here on March 24, 1824. Her father settled in Port Hope in 1818, when the town was known as Smith's Creek, and had but six or seven houses. She maintained all her faculties and read the newspapers daily. Two daughters, Mrs. Walter Burn, Staten Island, New York, and Mrs. David Henderson, Port Hope, survive.

FREED AFTER SERVING 10 YEARS PUNISHMENT

MAN CONVICTED OF MURDER EMANCIPATED AFTER NEW TRIAL.

A case which deserves much thoughtful consideration is that of Wm. H. Barron, 103 Morgan Street, Bennington. For ten years Mr. Barron suffered the agonies caused by Rheumatism. At times he was bound hand and foot by the grip of Rheumatic pains. On the advice of a friend he stood for a new trial and used T.R.C.'s.

Read what he has to say:—

"I have been a sufferer from Rheumatism for ten years. Have been so bad at times I could not move hand or foot for months. A friend advised me to try Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules, and I have been thankful ever since. They worked wonders for me, and I have never felt any return of the disease."

It's practically impossible to obtain evidence stronger than this testimonial and word to the wise is always sufficient. If you suffer, have a new trial—use T.R.C.'s.

Ask your Druggist or write us for our new booklet. It is interesting and costs you nothing. The T. Templeton Co., 142 King West, Toronto.

NAZIMONA FEATURES IN "THE RED LANTERN"

AN EXCELLENT PRODUCTION OF A STORY DURING THE BOXER INSURRECTION

Nazimova playing the leading part in "The Red Lantern" at the Grand Opera House offers one of the great feature plays of the modern screen. She is called the "Living Masterpiece of Dramatic Art," and in the picture showing at the Grand, she does credit to those who have attributed such high praise to her name. And she is not alone in this play. The story is interesting, educational and morale, and is inclined so efficiently that the audience is carried away to the scenes of the story as they seldom are in a screen production.

Nazimova played the part of a Chinese Girl, Mahlee, during the latter part of the nineteenth century. She was picked up and taken to a mission home, where she unfortunately fell in love with the missionary's son who was also engaged in missionary work.

The son was up north when the Boxer persecution of foreigners commenced, and was wounded in the head. He managed to escape and Mahlee volunteered to nurse him, which she did, growing fonder of him day by day. She was the daughter of an American father and a Chinese mother.

The Chinese doctor who had been educated by Americans, but who hated them because of the way he was shunned out of society in America, continually warned her that the white people would never accept her as socially her lover's equal.

This turned out to be true. The young American's mother told Mahlee that even if her son wished it she would never consent to allow him to marry one of another race, no matter how well educated she happened to be..

Then the spirit of revenge commenced to work and Mahlee joined the Boxer cause. Beautifully attired in a flowing gown and plumes she played the part of the Queen of the Red Lantern and stirred the citizens and Queen at Pekin to fury against the terrible foreigners.

But the cause was lost. The allied troops arrived and relieved the besieged Whites. The doctor was killed and the Boxer cause ended in tragedy and she proved a false goddss.

Then she remembered the words of an old Chinese sooth-sayer: "Be cheerful for some day thou shalt be a great lady—then darkness."

Millions of ducks are killed annually in China to supply the feather industry. In 1917 exports of feathers amounted to 7,083,333 pounds.

PEGGY HYLAND CAST ON DESERT ISLAND

Peggy Hyland made a big hit yesterday at the Empire Theatre, where her picture "Miss Adventure" was shown for the first time. The picture is a very attractive one throughout, and has many exciting incidents. It is a fine story of the sea, and has some remarkable photography and exquisite settings.

In Jane, the orphan girl, Miss Hyland has a sprightly role, and she enacts it with her usual pep and vivacity. The scenes of the story are laid in the Pacific Ocean, on the Pacific shore and on a desert island to which Peggy is taken by a smuggler who hopes to get a reward for her. The smuggler is drowned and Peggy is left alone on the island for [illegible]. Her plight is noticed by those on a palatial yacht, and she is rescued to find that her rescuer was a cabin boy on the ship on which her father had been killed many years before by a mutinous crew and she herself given in charge of this very cabin boy. The boy, now grown up and wealthy, is trying to carry out the father's wishes, because there is a big fortune coming to Peggy.

The up-shot of it all is that Peggy falls in love with the former cabin boy; and naturally they decide to wed.

SMALLPOX EPIDEMIC IN TORONTO

Thirteen Houses Are Quarantined, But Disease is of Mild Type.

Toronto, Nov. 4.—An outbreak of smallpox in the city that has almost assumed the proportions of an epidemic, was reported by Dr. Hastings, M.O.M., yesterday.

The cases so far under observation however, are of a mild type. Thirteen houses are quarantined and in one house there are three patients. In nearly every case, the M.O.H. stated, there have been previous cases that were diagnosed as chickenpox. "It seems to be a cross between chickenpox and smallpox," he said. "Toronto is not alone affected. There are cases all over the province."

While the cases in the city are all of only a mild type, Dr. Hastings said the epidemic would develop into a more virulent type if allowed to spread. For that reason he has called a special meeting of the Board of Health for the afternoon at which the City Council will be asked for a requisition requiring every person in the city to be vaccinated.

This is the first epidemic of smallpox in Toronto in many years.

CONDUCT DECIDES FORTUNE

Every Year Marrigeable Girl to Get Interest on $10,000.

New York, Nov. 4.—Wanted—a young lady, twenty years old, marriageable, and a daughter of the common people, whose conduct and family virtues make her deserving of the annual interest of $10,000.

This, virtually, is one of the provisions of an unusual will offered for probate to-day. The only other provision is that the exemplary young lady shall reside in Providence, R.I. The question of beauty is not involved.

The will that is that of Count Paul Bajnotti, of Turin, Italy, who died several times a millionaire, last March, in the course of his diplomatic career in this country he met and married Miss Carrie M. Brown, daughter of Nicholas Brown, of Providence, whose family founded Brown University.

Upon the Mayor of Providence, according to the will, shall rest the duty of the judges who annually are to decide what young lady in that community best deserves the bequest.

ELITE LUMBERJACKS WANT REFINEMENTS

ODL-TIME EMPLOYER CLOSED DOWN CAMP RATHER THAN GIVE IN.

Prince Rupert, B.C. Nov. 4.— Gone are the days of the old-fashioned lumberjack. W. H. Higgins, one of the oldest logging operators in British Columbia, has closed down his camp at Thompson Sound because of the new-fangled ideas that have turned ancient traditions topsy-turvy among his workmen.

"What do you suppose those lumberjacks of mine wanted?" he said. "They had as good grub and bunkhouse as there are in British Columbia, but that wasn't enough. They sent a delegation to wait upon me."

"The men are dissatisfied," said the spokesman. 'You see this is the new era for the workingman. We ain't got no kick on the grub, but [illegible]."

"What do you want changed" says I.

"'Well,' says he 'we think we ought to have shower and plunge baths, brass bedsteads, box-springs and hair mattresses to sleep on.'"

"Anything else?" I asks.

"'Yes,' says he, 'there's one other thing. We fell that in this new era we ought to have a change of bed sheets every day.'"

"That settled it," concluded Mr. Higgins. "I might have stood for the shower baths and the brass bedsteads but the fresh sheets every day were the last straw. I closed down my camp on th spot and it'll stay closed down till the lumberjacks came back to horse sense."

But Mr. Higgins is an exception. All the other lumber camps in the province are busier than ever before in their history. Axes are ringing in the big woods along the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway from Yellowhead Pass to the Skeena River. The lumber business of British Columbia is entering on a period of bonanza development. This is due chiefly to the opening of the Panama Canal and the reconstuction situation in Europe. The Panama Canal has changed British Columbia from the back door of Canada into one of the front doors, and the lumber needs of devastated Europe have opened a vast market for British Columbia timber. England alone recently placed an order in British Columbia for $50,000,000 worth of lumber.

WINNIPEG WELCOMES IVENS

He Tells Labor Men Toronto Raising $50,000 for Defence

Winnipeg, Nov. 4.—There was an enthusiastic "welcome home" to Rev. William Ivens here by Labor men at a big meeting in the Board of Trade Building.

The speaker dealt with his tour of collecting funds for the defence of himself and seven others at their coming trial for sedition. He said that Toronto had guaranteed to raise $50,000 and one section was selling one dollar "victory bonds" to the number of 50,000 for that purpose Ivens said he would repeat his actions under the same circumstances again though he knew he was facing jail.

"But we have had all the jail we want, and if you can prevent further jail sentences then I know you want to do it." He said labor in the east was coming to see that the A.F. of L. was to be distrused.

STILL IN A CHURCH

Calgary, Nov. 3.— The discovery of a raisin whiskey still in full operation in the janitor's quarters in a local church was made here, when the home of Joseph Faline was raided by the city police. Faline is now in the police cells facing charges under the Internal Revenue Act.

More Garbage Area.

E. F. Read and others petitioned that the garbage area be extended as follows. On both sides of Gilchrist street from London to Dublin, both sides Dublin street from Gilchrist to Park, and east of Park from Dublin to London.

On motion of Ald. Hamilton and Edgar this was granted, and Bonacord street and Park, both sides, to London added.

Sewer Needed.

On motion of Aldermen Crowe and Garside notice will be given of the city's intention to construct a sewer on Park street, from Cedar to the creek.

To Purchase Property.

On motion of Ald. Crowe Council will recommend the City Trust to purchase the house and lot at the old West Ward School, and hold same in case of need by Mr. Palmer for extension of the Albion Knitting factory. This house and lot is owned by the Board of Education, and was formerly included in the West Ward School property.

Ald. Morrison asked authority to purchase whatever clothing is necessary for the Fire Department.

On motion of Ald. Gainey and Crowe this authority was granted.

More Lights.

Ald. McIntyre asked for adequate illumination of the roadway and walk at the new bridge under construction. He moved in this direction, seconded by Ald. Phelan, and the motion carried.

On motion of Ald. Morrison and Gainey the Utilities Commission will be requested to place the following lights: Four on Romaine street, between Park and Monaghan Road; one on Brock, half way between Park and Donegal streets; two on Hilliard street, on the hill; re-arrange two on Rogers street at the Church of Immaculate Conception; one at the corne of Erskine and Woodbine avenues.

New Spur Line.

Superintendent of the C.P.R. N. [illegible] wrote enclosing plans for a spur line into the Hydro-electric property on Simcoe street—that gas—works—and asked permission to cross Simcoe street.

Ald Hamilton moved, seconded by Ald. Phelan, that the company be permitted to run a crossing over Simcoe street into the Hydro-electric Commission's property, and should it ever be necessary to maintain a watchman at this point, the company do so at their own expense. Carried.

Change of Plan.

Ald. Edgar and Crowe moved that notice be given of the city's intention to close Crescent street south of Rink street to the centre of the block, to permit of the Alfred McDonald estate erecting a new box factory, and making other improvements.

The motion carried, and Ald. Edgar then moved, seconded by Ald. Crowe, that the McDonald estate agree to pay the city the valuation of this property as set by an independent valuator, or otherwise pay the expense of advertising this notice. Carried.

Election Bylaw.

The municipal election bylaw was amended, according to statute, to permit of, should nomination day, December 23, fall on a Sunday or Saturday, nominations for municipal office being held on the preceding Friday.

Who Were in Their Seats.

There were present Mayor Duncan, Aldermen Morrison, Garside, Crowe, Hamilton, Edgar, Phelan and Gainey.

CARDINAL BOUGHT BONDS

Outstanding announcements of the Victory Loan dinner at the Windsor Hotel in Montreal last night were that Cardinal Mercier had subscribed $100 to the Victory Loan and that the Sun Life Assurence Company had repeated their last year's subscription of $1,000,000.

CORNER KING AND GEORGE STREETS

MOVING PICTURE CREATOR IN THE WAR

David Wark Griffith, who has made more moving picture battle scenes than any other man in the world, and who is the creator of "Hearts of the World," and "The Birth of a Nation," has just returned from a protracted visit to Europe, where he was given every opportunity of seeing conditions just as they are, both in the trenches and in the field. No other civilian has returned to America possessed of such intimate, personal knowledge of the war. One of Mr. Griffith's stories is as follows:

A very spiffy pair of new boots upon the pedal extremities of a very dapper young English officer nearly cost me my life on the British west front in Flanders.

Civilians had never been permitted to go to the front, but through the influence of a gentleman high in the British government a permit was issued to me. Upon my arrival at the war front a young officer was detailed to accompany me to the trenches. His enthusiasm for the job, could not be described as very terrific. He had a brand new pair of boots just brought over from London and he didn't care much about ruining them the first day anyhow. He showed me around behind the lines and in the reserve trenches. I kept insisting upon going on ahead. As long as I had come all the way from America and through several miles of red tape in England, I was determined to see the whole show.

The young Englishman at last reluctantly consented to take me into the front line trenches. You must understand that the British front line trenches at that time, were old German trenches. Haig's line had swept over No Man's Land and into miles of the German trenches. The British in the sector in which I was sight-seeing were living in an old Hindenburg trench—a very badly shot-up trench, I may add. We walked through what seemed to me miles of approach trenches. It got muddier and muddier. The muck and filth were simply beyond description. The British soldiers were standing passage up to their knees in goo—sometimes almost up to their waists.

The anxiety of my neatly-booted young English lieutenant grew with every step. At last he stepped out of the trench. "I'm going to walk along here on top," he said. And so he started the promenade in full sight of the German army. They were some distance away, to be sure, but we were a poor life insurance risk as we stalked along on the top of the earth works.

The young officer was carrying a map case which must have caught the gleam of the sunshine. At any rate we presently heard the peculiar snarling whine of a German shell.

"Look out!" yelled the British lieutenant. Of course it was too late to look out but I ducked anyhow. The next sound I heard was a sickish squashy thud, followed by a shower of mud. "It was a dud" explained the young officer, coolly rubbing the mud off his new boots. A "dud" is a shell that fails to do its duty and does not explode. Had this one exploded I never would have been here writing this account. The "dud" hit within ten feet of where we stood. We would have been blown to flinders.

The young officer was carrying a map case which must have caught the gleam of the sunshine.

At any rate we presently heard the peculiar snarling whine of a German shell.

"Look out!" yelled the British lieutenant.

Of course it was too late to look out but I ducked anyhow. The next thud, followed by a shower of mud.

"It was a dud," explained the young officer, coolly rubbing the mud off his new boots. A "dud' is a shell that fails to do its duty and does not explode. Had this one exploded I never would have been here writing this account. The "dud" hit within ten feet of where we stood. We would have been blown to flinders.

Unconsciously I edged away from the "dud." But even as I moved that terrible whining howl came again. This time the shell was strictly on the job. It exploded with a terrific roar and shower of mud. I don't know just how close it came; it seemed very close.

"Come on," welled the lieutenant. With that he jumped into the trenches, new boots and all.

Need I say that I followed. I do not know the name of the college athlete who holds the record for the running broad jump, but I am sure that I shaved several feet off his mark in my haste to get into the trench.

It was a dreadful place—all mud and muck and outrageous smells. But we entered it. Our movement was accelerated just as we struck the top edge of the trench. A shell exploded about ten yards away, and the concussion threw us into the bottom of the trench.

I don't know what became of the lieutenant. I didn't wait for any formalities. I made my way as fast as I could into a sap where I found some slight protection against a big cement pillar that had been a part of the old Hindenburg trench. You must understand that the trench had been much torn up and was very jagged and uneven. You had to find shelter wherever you could.

Crouching down there in the mud I was honored by the ardent attentions of two or three German batteries. The Kaiser wasted several million dollars on me that afternoon.

The British officers said afterward that it was one of the liveliest bombardments they had seen in that sector. It seemed to be as though the world was coming to an end.

The noise was indescribably awful. The air seemed alive with a barbaric tellish symphony of howling shells. You could hear the distant tight sounding "tonk" of the guns; then the whine and yell of the shells; lastly the crash of the exploding shell and the shower of scattered mud.

For a time they were exploding all around us. It seemed as though earth and sky had gone mad. The din was beyond all human description. The effect was something beyond common fear. The impact of the exploding shells stunned my senses. It is easy to understand shell shock. The sound seems to penetrate your brain. It is as though every explosion struck a physical blow under your brain.

Directly behind the place here I was crouching was a small what-had-been machine gun aperture that led into an abandoned German dugout. At the height of the firing a British officer appeared at the entrance.

The sensation was apparently not a pleasant one for him.

He looked me over coldly and houted, between explosions, with some trace of irritation, "I say, what are you doing here?"

"I am dodging cannon balls," I houted back with what I thought was a light touch of levity.

"I shall have to arrest you," he said frowning his displeasure.

"Please do," I said warmly, arrest meaning shelter somewhere from those awful shells.

Evidently this changed his mind. He disappeared from the opening. I was not much afraid of his arresting me because to get to me he would have had to come out on the other side from an underground entrance leading into the emplacement. He would have to come through quite a distance of open space to get to me—and the concert was going too strong. It was not likely that any one would be foolish enough to take a chance and venture in the open.

"I say, can't I come in there?" I asked anxiously.

"Certainly not," he said.

With that he disappeared and the storm began again.

To cut a long story short, I stayed there until the fight of day faded and the artillery fire ceased. Then I found my English lieutenant and we made our way in the darkness back to a place of safety.

But his new boots were ruined. He took it rather hard.

A gold-handled penknife, so small it could pass through the eye of an ordinary darning needle, is on display in the window of its maker, a Wellesley, Mass., jeweller.

FRED HICKEY KILLED IN MOTOR ACCIDET

HURLED FROM MOTOR CYCLE AND DIED FROM RESULT OF INJURIES.

Mr. Fred Hickey, formerly of Peterborough, died in the Western Hospital, Toronto, yesterday afternoon as a result of a motor accident on Indian Road.

Mr. Hickey was riding in the side car of a motorcycle on Indian Road, Sunday night, when Edgar Ree, of Brantford crashed into it with an automobile, driving at an excessive rate of speed. Mr. Hickey was hurled out and injured about the head and was removed to the Western Hospital, where he passed away yesterday. Edgar Ree was arrested on a charge of manslaughter.

Deceased was formerly engaged in the boat building business here with his father Mr. George Hickey. He was also formerly employed on Government dredges in this vicinity. He was very well-known in this city as proprietor of Hickey's boathouse and pavillion at the end of the street railway line.

He leaves a wife and five small children, all girls.

The funeral will be held in Peterborough with further notice later.

STUDENT'S "AT HOME" AT MURRAY STREET CH.

NOVEL PROGRAM IS ENJOYED BY MEMBERS OF THE NORMAL SCHOOL.

The students of the Normal School spent a delightful hour or two the guests of the young people of Murray Street Baptist Church last night. The time was very informal and in the nature of a Hallowe'en party. Those who received the strangers were dressed as ghosts, as were the ushers, whose duty it was to guide the visitors to the place of entertainment and to introduce those who were strangers to each other.

Booths were arranged along the sides of the room, where any who so wished could have their fortunes told. It took all six booths to cater to the demand for an insight into the future. In one booth were placed twenty-six apples, each one lettered. The inquirer would grasp an apple in each hand, and the letters on the apples would represent the initials of the future husband or wife. Great fun and merriment was derived from these fortune-telling devices.

Then all participated in games, and enjoyed themselves immensely.

Refreshments were served in cafeteria style, which added another novelty to the otherwise remarkable program.

A large number of students accepted the invitation, and returned to their homes with a kindly feeling toward the sociability of the young people of Murray Street Church.

ENTIRE REPUBLICAN N. Y. STATE TICKET ELECTED BY BIG MARGINS YESTERDAY

Smashing Victory for Calvin Coolidge With Largest Plurality Ever Recorded for a State Governor—Kentucky Swept Into the Republican Fold—Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt Elected.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, Nov. 5.—More complete returns today on the off-year election yesterday in several States did not change the outcome in any important respect. The smashing victory of Calvin Coolidge, Republican, in Massachusetts, re-elected to succeed himself as governor by the largest vote ever polled by a candidate for governor in that State, shared honors with an almost equally decisive "dry" victory in Ohio, as the most striking results of Tuesday's voting.

Drifting Sentiment.

As a possible indication of the drifting population's sentiment preparatory to the national elections next year, yesterday's results were being closely scrutinized by party leaders. Kentucky was swept into the Republican fold in the governorship fight, but today's returns made it certain that New Jersey had reverted to the Democratic column. Maryland, the only other State in which there was a serious contest for the governorship, was still in doubt, with the Democratic candidate in the lead.

Republican Gains.

Indications early today were that the Republicans had gained several seats in New York. In this State the entire Republican State ticket was elected by large margins. Although the Democrats gained four seats in the House of Representatives, the Republicans gained three in the Senate, and will have their usual large majority in both branches. The House will have 176 Republicans, 62 Democrats and two Independents, and the Senate 32 Republicans and seven Democrats.

Roosevelt Elected.

The Republican representation has been increased by five, with no reports available on ten doubtful districts in King's County, Brooklyn. One of the interesting characters at the next session will be Lieut.-Col. Theodore Roosevelt, who was elected from the Oyster Bay District by a large majority. He will begin his political career exactly as did his father.

The Republicans were successful in most of the up-state municipal elections, the only second-class cities which elected Democratic mayors being Schenectady, where George R. Lunn was returned to the office he had held as a Socialist on two previous occasions, and Troy, where J. W. Fleming, former State conservation commissioner, was successful.

Both women who served last session were defeated by when for re-election.

Huge Plurality.

Boston, Nov. 5.—Governor Calvin Coolidge, Republican, who made the support of law and order the sole issue of his campaign, was re-elected yesterday by a plurality of 124,173 over Richard H. Long, Democrat. Coolidge's majority was the largest ever given a governor of a state assembly, as the result of the election yesterday.

Results in Ohio.

Mayor Harry L. Davis, Republican, was re-elected in Cleveland; Mayor Cornel Schreiber, Independent, was re-elected in Toledo, and Mayor Geo Karb, Democrat, was defeated for re-election in Columbus by J. J. Tromas, Republican.

The Goldie & McCullough Co., of Galt, have shiped two marine engines the largest ever manufactured in an inland Canadian city.

Priests of Roman Catholic churches of Kent and Essex counties meeting in Windsor endorse the 8-hour day.

IRELAND MAY HAVE TWO PARLIAMENTS

ONE PROPOSED FOR ULSTER AND ONE FOR REST OF COUNTRY.

London, Nov. 5.—The Cabinet committee in Ireland yesterday accepted the proposals of its sub-committee providing for the creation of two separate Irish Parliaments—one in the Protestant Counties of Ulster and the other for the remainder of Ireland—with some form of supreme authority representative of both to embody the idea of a united Ireland, says the Daily Mail to-day.

"The function of the Supreme Council has not yet been decided," the newspaper adds, "but it is proposed that it shall be elected and that the two Parliaments shall have general direction of all Irish affairs.

"The committee also recommends the immediate introduction of a bill further suspending the operation of the Home Rule Act, but they realize that Parliament will not agree to this unless it is accompanied by a definite proposal from the Government. Frequent meetings of the committee will be held to expedite the work, and the Government may be able to make a statement in the House next week."

RETURNED MAN DONE TO DEATH

VETERAN OF GREAT WAR HORRIBLY MURDERED BY A FOREIGNER

VICTIM STABBED TEN TIMES

ATTACKED FROM THE REAR AT LEASIDE, NEAR TORONTO, THIS MORNING

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Nov. 5.—J. G. Rowland, aged 35, a returned soldier and taxi driver, was brutally assaulted and stabbed in the back at Leaside, one of the northeastern suburbs of this city, shortly after midnight, and died in Daviaville Military Hospital after having dragged himself one hundred yards from the scene of the assault to a neighboring residence to obtain assistance.

Foreigner Did It.

Rowland was unable to complete his story before death ensued, but declared that a foreigner, apparently a Russian, hired him at the Union Station to drive him to Leaside. There his story stopped.

Gashed in Throat.

There were nine different slashes on the victim's face and a great gash in his throat. It was evident that he had been attacked from behind. The police are working on various clues. Rowland served with the 2nd Machine Gun Battalion overseas, and was wounded and gassed. He was a quiet, retiring man of exemplary character.

G. T. R. PURCHASE BILL HAS PASSED COMMONS

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Nov. 5. The third reading of the Grand Trunk Railway acquisition bill was carried at 2:30 this morning by 84 to 53, being a Government majority of 31, after a six months' hoist motion of Jas. A. Robb, chief Liberal whip, had been defeated on the same division. The revised bill now goes to the Senate, and should be ready to receive the Royal assent by the end of this week or early next week.

Session of Divisions.

It was a day and night of divisions, the members being called in no fewer than six times to record their votes. The Senate is expected to return the Grand Trunk bill to the House of Commons with an amendment asking that guaranteed shares also be submitted to arbitration, if the bill gets through at all. In such case it is believed the Government will accept the amendment.

TO BUSINESS MEN OF PETERBORO

Ask yourself a fair and honest question, and give yourself a fair and honest reply.

Ask yourself: "Why am I prosperous, why does my business prosper, why does Peterborough prosper, why does Canada prosper?"

You know what your answer will be!

Something like this, wouldn't it?

I am prosperous; Peterborough is prosperous; Canada is prosperous, because by the million men have suffered, men have bled and men have died to save civilization, to save the Allies to save Britain, and to save Canada, and I have been protected, and enabled to carry on my business in security.

The enormous expenditure of the war has put billions of dollars into circulation, and I have received my share, and then some, of this money.

Yes, I realize that unless there is a continuance of this prosperity that my business will suffer. I realize that unless the 1919 Victory Loan is over-subscribed that the money necessary to insure prosperity will be lacking. Being honest with myself, I admit that I realize my responsibility to subscribe to what should be my share of the loan. I am sufficient of a business man to know that my bank—that ANY bank in Canada—will finance and enable me to purchase 1919 Victory Bonds—all it is necessary for me to do is to make the request.

As a successful business man I know that when I am determined to do a thing, I am capable of doing it. I may be able to invest money to an immediate greater advantage, but as a Canadian, as a broad-vision business man, I must admit to myself, that subscribing to Victory Loan is subscribing, in the broadest sense, to my best interest, and subscribing to that which will give me the greatest profit. Apart from that, as a Canadian, as one who loves his country, I owe it to her on patriotic grounds, to subscribe to the fullest extent of my ability, and in doing so, I will be only doing that which is my duty to myself, to my family, to the community in which I dwell, and in which I carry on my business, and my country.

Honestly, isn't that the real answer? You know it is!

THREE PETERBOROUGH SCHOOL CHILDREN DOWN WITH SMALLPOX

Inspector Mowat Taking Precautions Against Fire in Soft Coal in School Cellars—Regular Monthly Session of the School Board

The Board of Education met in regular monthly session last evening.

The Board extended a cordial welcome to Mr. Vincent Eastwood on his assuming the seat vacated by Mr. G. N. Gordon.

Mr. J. M. Gould, Miss McKenzie and Miss Mason all tendered their resignations from the teaching staff to take effect at the end of the present term. These resignations were accepted.

Sixteen Truants.

Truant Officer Miller reported 16 cases of truancy due and to any cases of truancy due not to any fault of the children, but owing to their parents, who had kept them home for one cause of another. Some children had no shoes.

Small-pox Cases.

School Nurse Miss Jory reported exclusions from school for the following reason: Scabies 12, uncleanliness 15, diphtheria 2, scarlet fever 2, small-pox 3.

Precaution Against Fire.

Inspector Mowat reported that taking warning from the fires in soft coal in the cellars of a school in Toronto and one in Lindsay, he had instructed the school janitors here to take extra precautions against a similar occurrence, and to level down coal in cellars to a minimum depth. He was inclined to think the fires instanced had originated from too much wetting of the coal when laid in.

Mr. J. W. Worth said that from a scientific view soft coal should not be piled higher than eight feet.

Mr. E. G. Patterson thought the plans for the new school should be changed to provide fire-proof floors above the cellars.

Fire Inspection.

Mr. G. O. Cameron reported that Fire Chief Grange would like an early date fixed for fire inspection and drill in the schools. A date will be decided on when as many of the members of the Board as possible can be present.

Col. Gillespie reported the result of his inspection of cadets as follows: Collegiate Institute, efficient, well trained and disciplined; Central School, South Central and King Edward, efficient; Queen Mary School, although organized but a short time, in a fair state of efficiency.

Moved by E. G. Patterson, seconded by J. M. Greene that the treasurer be authorized to make payments to the various contractors in connection with the memorial school on the certificate of the architec and the order of the chairman of the Building Committee. This carried.

Physical Exercise.

On motion of Dr. Neal and Mr. G. O. Cameron, present arrangements with the Y.M.C.A. for use of gymnasium and for services of a physical director will be renewed for another term. The fee is $700 for a five-month term.

School Attendance.

	On Roll.	Average.
Central	506	463
Queen Alexandra	343	316
King Edward	543	493
Queen Mary	503	457
King George	325	299
South Central	420	375
Collegiate Institute	393	380

To Mr. J. W. Worth Inspector Mowat replied that the low average in attendance was due in a large measure to sickness.

Payments Confirmed.

Moved by E. G. Patterson, seconded by J. W. Worth, that the payment of the following accounts be confirmed:

W. J. Johnston, account per order	$39 17
Peterborough Utilities Com., water rates	12 18
Thos. Hopkins, account per order	3 15
Jordan Bros., account per order	2 00
W. H. Hubel, account per order	2 00
E. J. Ferguson, account per order	44 70

Carried.

Monies Received.

Report of Building Committee.

Gentlemen:—Your Building Committee recommend that a further payment of $100.00 be made to Mr. Walter R. L. Blackwell, architect, on account his fees re memorial school.

Respectfully submitted,
E. G. PATTERSON,
Chairman.

HEARTY WELCOME EXTENDED TO THE RETURNED MEN OF ST. ANDREWS CHURCH

Large Banquet, Enjoyable Singing, and Many Addresses of Welcome—Rev. Canon Davidson Chief Speaker of the Evening—Says Returned Soldiers are Not Dissatisfied

A splendid supper, joyous singing and good speeches were greatly enjoyed by over 500 people at the banquet in honour of St. Andrew's returned soldiers held in the schoolroom of their church last evening.

The room was artistically decorated with flags and drapings and the heavily laden tables were decorated with candles.

The congregation was greatly disappointed when the announcement was made that Rev. (Capt.) J. B. Paulin's health would not allow him to come to the city to address the gathering. Canon Davidson, however, stepped into the breech and supplied the main speech of the evening.

Canon Davidson.

The Canon spoke in glowing terms of Capt. Rollins, pastor of St. Andrew's church and congratulated the congregation on having a man so solid to stand with them and behind them.

Refering to the discontent of the returned soldiers concerning their treatment at home, he believed it was overestimated. "I can't believe that the men who served so nobly overseas can adequately be measured in dollars and cents," he declared. "I think this county wishes to do well for the returned soldiers. The heart of this country rings true."

He thought that it was the civilians, who, in many cases, forced to remain at home, but who perhaps were not receiving their dire reward. It was the feeling that the soldier had that he was receiving wonderful support from home that gave him the enthusiasm and courage by which he carried on.

The question is often asked: "Who won the war?" Canon Davidson believes the people who remained at home did their part in winning the war. They did everything imaginable to win victory over the foe and the victory is to a considerable extent due to their efforts in co-operation with the soldiers. We were altogether on the job."

Look Toward Future.

But that job is over and we must look ahead. We Canadians, must be united in one strong body for our country. We must not have so many divisions of the people, and although we all cling with certain feelings of love to our native country, we must realize that our main duty is to Canada.

He referred to the wonderful spirit of the Prince of Wales during his visit to Canada. He wished to be a Canadian while he was in Canada and much more so should those who live in Canada, are real insiders in Canada.

A United Church

And the churches are coming together in the right way. Each church is standing up for its own, but yet all are uniting in one body of Christians. This is a beloved country that unites us and as we stand together it will become greater and greater.

Greater Co-operation

In introducing Canon Davidson, Mr. W. S. Campbell appealed to the people to band themselves together in the one great cause. Real strength comes from co-operation and the golden rule should be adopted in Canada now as never before. "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

Soldiers Welcomed.

The returned men were welcomed

DEFEAT OF CASHIN GOV'T.

FINNISH VOLUNTEERS TO HELP YUDENITCH

TWENTY-THOUSAND ORGANIZE FOR ATTACK ON PETROGRAD

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Helsingfors, Nov. 5. — A Helsingfors newspaper says it understands that twenty thousand volunteers have secretly enlisted in Finland to join in the attack on Petrograd. The newspaper says the men will be supplied with arms and equipment either by the Allies or General Yudenitch, and urges the government to take preventive steps.

STATE OF OHIO VOTES TO REMAIN DRY IN UNUSUALLY HEAVY POLL

Seventy-Five Thousand Majority on all Four Prohibition Proposals—No State Officials in Question Here Yesterday.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Columbus, O., Nov. 5.—Ohio yesterday voted to remain in the dry column by a majority which may reach three times the size of that by which it voted prohibition a year ago, according to incomplete and unofficial returns received early today. Partial returns from half the counties in the State indicated a dry majority on all four prohibition proposals of approximately 75,000.

In addition to defeating the proposed repeal of State-wide prohibition, Ohio yesterday apparently voted by big majorities to uphold the action of the Legislature in ratifying the Federal prohibition amendment, to kill a proposal for the manufacture and sale of beer containing as high as 2.75 per cent. alcohol, and to put into effect the Crabbe prohibition enforcement bill passed by the Legislature last spring. All of the prohibition proposals were initiated by the wets. Yesterday's vote was unusually heavy in view of the fact that no state officials were to be elected. Warmly contested municipal elections brought out a large vote.

MR. BURNHAM EXPLAINS HIS POSITION

Mr. Burnham wires The Review as follows:

"Your readers will, no doubt, like to know why I voted against the Government on the Campbell amendment to the Grand Trunk Bill last night. The clause it dealt with reads as follows: 'The present guaranteed stock and the new guaranteed stock or any part thereof may be called in or redeemed by the Government at par at anytime after five years from the date of the appointment of the said committee of management on six months' notice by adjournment to the holders thereof.'

"This stock is very strangely exempted from all conditions and limitations. It was forty-five on the London market a few days ago and, no doubt, London sharks and their accomplices got options on it. Our Government, as you see, agrees to buy it at par and to pay four per cent., meanwhile the stock amounts to $62,000,000 and no one now knows what was paid for it originally or who bought it. At 45 it was worth a few days ago $27,000,000. This Government, therefore, agrees to pay $35,000,000 more than the market price and then people wonder how fortunes are made.

"All the other clauses of the bill were provided for in the usual business way as by arbitration and etc., but this clause is like a frightful business, and when in desperation I demanded an explanation of the Government, my suspicions were only confirmed. Mr. Meighen could not stand the gaff and hurriedly left the chamber. Such is life!"

The amendments for which Mr. Burnham voted, thus going on record against the Government was offered by J. A. Campbell, of Nelson, Man., to the effect that all the stock issues of the Grand Trunk Railway Co. be submitted for valuation to the Board of Arbitrators. That is to say, he proposed that the guaranteed four per cent. stock be subjected to appraisal with the preferred and common stock issues, instead of being treated as an obligation, guaranteed as to interest and redeemable at par after five years. Mr. Campbell argued that the liabilities to be assumed by the country might exceed the assets of the Grand Trunk system by reason of depreciation of road and rolling stock. Therefore, he thought the value of the guaranteed stock might be considerably less than that being conceded by the Government. He was not willing to enter into a bargain to acquire the railway system at an excessive cost to the country.

THE TENANT PAYS THE TAXES.

THE QUALIFICATIONS required for membership on the Board of Education are that a man or woman who aspires to that position shall be a British subject and a ratepayer. These conditions have not tended to an inferior membership of this most important of all civic bodies, as compared with that of the City Council, where none but property holders of a certain standard are allowed to sit. The membership of the Board of Education today, as well as at any time in its history, will compare favorably with that of the Council. The fact that conditions for membership are easier has not tended to fill the Board with impecunious and irresponsible citizens.

The Board of Education, too, is one of the great spending departments of the city. In a building year their outlay may run into the hundreds of thousands. Yet in all these years the city has not been plunged into bankruptcy. The school rate has been held well within reason. The Board sets the expenditure, and the City Council has no alternative but to raise the money that is asked for.

Tax exemption extended to privileged industries is one of the burdens carried by Ontario municipalities. The system is wrong in theory and unjust in its practical workings. If tenants were permitted to vote on money bylaws, there would be fewer of these carried by snap verdicts of the people, for that is what the adoption of [illegible] No one knows better than the tenant who really pays the city taxes. No one knows better than the tenant, either, what this extravagant plan of tax exemption invariably leads to in the way of higher rents.

The tenants of the city are in the majority and they have no representation on the City Council. Here is another case where the minority rules. In civic affairs there would appear to be an excellent opportunity to try out proportional representation, in order to give both classes in the community a fair show.

But the idea held by the alderman of means, to the effect that the non-property holder in office would be extravagant, is a delusion. The very reverse would more likely be the case. The property owner has a relief against a high tax rate in the power he possesses to recoup himself by raising the rent on his tenant. The latter has no recourse but to submit to conditions which he has no power to control.

If mere tenants are to be denied membership in the City Council, why not carry further this idea and likewise bar any man who, as an individual or a member of a firm, has enjoyed tax exemption to any extent or who is likely to apply for anything of the kind in the future?

PROHIBITION SCORES AGAIN.

THE LEGISLATURES of Ohio and Kentucky one year ago adopted the amendment to the Federal Constitution putting the entire United States under prohibition. Their procedure was in accordance with constitutional custom There were, naturally, objectors who held that the question should first be submitted to a vote of the people.

State elections were held in Ohio and Kentucky yesterday, and the action of the Legislatures on the prohibition question was an issue in each. In both, the course of the representatives of the people was sustained. Prohibition was endorsed by the majority. The verdict of Kentucky, the State in which liquor drinking was once regarded as a virtue rather than as a vice simply shows that the tendency of the times is altogether in the direction of national sobriety.

REJUVENATION OF REPUBLICAN PARTY.

BACK IN 1912, when in the Presidential election of that year the Republican party in the United States was all but swept away, prophets of gloom ventured the assertion that the organization once all-powerful was doomed to utter extinction. It was to be succeeded by some new political party. The illegitimate offspring born of temporary unrest and discontent was to fall heir to the heritage.

At every election since 1912 the Republican party has shown signs of reviving strength. It made substantial gains in 1914, and two years later missed Presidential success by a narrow margin. Conditions in 1916, the cry, "He kept us out of war," was all that saved President Wilson from defeat.

Last year the Republican party showed additional signs of healthy revival and secured a substantial majority in both branches of Congress. In nearly every State in which elections were held yesterday it made gains. All of which goes to show that the political party that is founded on sound economic principles, the party of progress, so long as all advancement is in the direction of righteousness, is sure to survive. It may meet with reverses, but these will eventually be overcome. The people are to be trusted. They may be lured to worship false gods for a time, but in the end they will turn from deaf idols of clay to their old and tried forms of political worship.

The Republican party in the United States and the Conservative party in Canada are founded on the same principles. Their aims and aspirations are the same. These are the kind of principles that will survive. They may meet with temporary reverses, but will come to the front again, chastened, perhaps, but stronger than ever.

PAY OF WOMEN TEACHERS.

A LETTER in another column from one of the lady teachers in the Public schools certainly voices a complaint that appears justified. Such a teacher can spend twenty years in the public service and at the end of that time find herself in receipt of $850 a year, housemaid's wages, according to the present day scale of compensation.

The value of the work of women in the Public schools cannot be overestimated. They deal with the younger children whose characters are in the formative period They are the connecting link between the home training which thechild receives and the higher branches of education. Theirs is the most important role of all in the training of the young. Theirs is the greater influence in shaping the futures of the rising generation.

Does it never occur to the modern day director of educational affairs that the services of a woman are entitled to the same recognition and the same compensation as that which is given the men teachers? Equal pay for equal work is now the slogan with all labor reformers. There may be a difference in the scholastic attainments required of men and women teachers, but there is no such difference as justifies the wide range between the salaries of the two classes.

We take it that the letter of "Teacher" is not an individual complaint, but that what she says is backed up by every woman who is a member of the teaching profession in Peterborough.

An increase of $48.75 a year granted the women teachers can hardly be regarded as a move that will tend to spoil them by suddenly thrusting prosperity upon them. The city that has money to reward anything in the way of a trifling extra service rendered by its male officials should surely be able to do something better for the women who hold the most sacred trust and whose work is of more moment to the community than that of any man either in public or private service.

DR. CODY DECIDES WISELY.

(Farmers' Sun.)

THE MINISTER of Education and St. Paul's has acted wisely in declaring that he would not accept the office of Minister of Education in the new Government, even if that post were offered him. The decision is a wise one, from a personal standpoint, because no such offer as that spoken of is likely to be made. Dr. Cody has shown wisdom from a public standpoint because it is not in the interest of the people that he should continue to serve as Minister of Education.

In the first place, Dr. Cody has the city and university point of view in educational matters. What Ontario requires at the head of the Education Department is a man who has a clear knowledge of the needs of rural as well as urban people, and whose chief interest will be in the ninety per cent. odd of our lads and girls who never reach the university, rather than of the few who do pass on to the highest seat of learning.

In the second place, Dr. Cody's purpose, more or less openly avowed, was to make the public schools of Ontario a means of Imperialistic propaganda. These schools should be Canadian schools for the development of the Canadian idea. Imperialism, as a Calgary paper recently well said, means war. Canadianism means peace and the well-being of humanity.

It is well for Ontario that a change is being made before a militant cleric has had opportunity of repeating in Ontario as a whole the work that former Chief Inspector Hughes carried out in this city in the making of a lot of jingoes out of the young men and women whose early education was largely directed by him.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

A PECULIAR CASE.

(Hamilton Herald.)

The case of Fred Ryckman is a peculiar one. Recently discharged from the penitentiary, where he served a five-year sentence for forgery, he pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Gauld to the charge of forging a number of checks for small amounts, and was sent back to prison for seven more years. It looks as if this unfortunate man is the victim of a mania for forging, and, if that is so, prison is not the place for him. He should be in an asylum for the insane or a refuge for mental defectives.

HOW PRICES GO HIGHER AND HIGHER

When Virgil Bascom, the drug store man, got a nice new soda sign to tack up back of the fountain he sent his errand boy, Denny, over to Judson's hardware store to buy a paper of tacks.

"Tacks is up, Mr. Bascom," said Denny on his return. "Six cents a package Judson soaked me for 'em."

"Everything's up, confound it," said Bascom gloomily. "I don't know how the devil they expect a fellow to exist in this man's country."

And he turned away to wait for Jake Cartwright of the Elite garage. Jake had a bad cut and wanted half an ounce of iodine.

"Sixty cents," said Bascom as he wrapped up the bottle.

"What do you mean, 60 cents?" inquired Jake. "When my kid skinned his knee-cap last month I bought the same stuff off of you for 40."

"I know, I know," said Bascom soothingly, "but all costs are up. I had to pay 58 cents for this amount of iodine to the wholesaler just last week."

So Jake took the iodine, paid the 60 cents and returned to the garage, where he found Hermie Katz, who drives for the new laundry, in quest of spark plugs for his delivery car.

Hermie wanted two plugs. Jake got them out of the box in the back of the accessory room. "A dollar and a quarter times two is two-fifty," said Jake, who was quick at figures. "Two-fifty, Hermie, and the plugs are yours."

"What do you wanta be a dam thief for?" said Hermie bitterly. "You know the regular price is a dollar."

"Was, Hermie—was!" said Jake. "Everything has gone up. I give you my word as an honest man that I paid a dollar-twenty for those plugs only yesterday. By the time I pay postage and storage and overhead and everything I'm out good money selling them, but you hafta stand a loss now and then when you're in this business."

"I guess I'll have to stand a loss every little while," said Hermie, who had been a great reader of American history in his youth. "If the boss hadda stand that kind o' losses he wouldn't be runnin' no laundry; he'd be livin' down to Newport."

With this scathing witticism he departed to break the news to the laundryman.

"I wonder what we're coming to," said John Ryder, the laundryman, on receiving the sad tidings. "Katie, give me those bills again. Um, I thought so. Tear 'em up and mark up collars to 7 cents apiece and shirts to 36. We simply got to keep our heads above water, no matter what it costs the customers."

That night Elbert Benson, who conducts the New Fish, Poultry and Game market, announced to his wife that, the morrow being the sabbath, he proposed to celebrate it fittingly by adorning his person with a clean shirt.

"I don't blame you, Elbert," said Mrs. Benson. "The fish business does sort o' make weekday shirts unfit to wear to service, but I warn you that the washin' bills has risen an' we got to be a little careful. Thirty-six cents that there shirt costs for washing."

"It does beat me how they can do it," said Elbert. "You and me is headed for the poorhouse, ma, and that ain't no lie. But, just the same, I guess I'll wear the shirt, for what you say about the aroma o' fish bangin' around a fellow is right."

Bright and early Monday morning came Schiffer, the delicatessen man, to the New Fish, Poultry and Game market for fowls to cook and resell.

"I've got to charge you a little more, Schiffer," said Benson gently. "Sixty-eight cents a pound fowls are this week."

"It's a outrache," cried Schiffer. "I won't pay it."

"All right, then; pay up your bill, and go somewhere else."

"But I can't pay no bill this month; you know how business has gone flooey, mit feelings against us Chermans."

"Then I guess you've got to pay my price. Honest to golly, Schiffer, I wouldn't skin you. The wholesaler sticks me for fowls something fierce."

Schiffer put the fowls in his basket and departed.

That evening Mrs. Judson, wife of the hardware man, discovered a shortage in the icebox, and little Edith Judson was sent down to Schiffer's for a roast chicken. She was given $1.50 to make the purchase. She returned with the chicken and a grievance.

"Schiffer he says I could have the chicken all right, but you still owe him 50 cents on it," she said. "He let me take it on account of your being a leading citizen with credit good. Chickens, Schiffer says, has gone up."

This information Mrs. Judson duly imparted to her lord and master at dinner time, and the comments thereon practically ruined the evening eal.

In the meantime Virgil Bascom, having received another invoice of tasteful soda signs, had run out of carpet tacks. In the morning he sent the boy, Denny, over to Judson's hardware store to renew the supply. Denny returned aghast.

"You know them tacks had went up to 6 cents last week?" he shouted as he ran into the store. "Well, old Judson says there's been another advance, and we gotta pay 10 cents for 'em to-day." Whereupon —but the first lap of the series of vicious circles is now complete and we leave the reader to make his own moral.

GENERALS AND GIANT CANNON LOCATED FAR AWAY WIN VICTORY BY TELEPHONE

Speakng generally, in a modern battle, the nearer you go the less you see.

The men who saw Gettysburg and Waterloo were thrilled with the spectacle of troops of cavalry thundering across the line of fire at a full gallop; of charging infantry mowed down by shell fire on the open plain, and generals on foam-covered horses waving their swords and rallying their troops. Battle flags were captured and re-captured.

There is no such thrill in a modern battle as the advance of the Old Guard at Waterloo or anything like Pickett's charge at Gettysburg.

From the front line trenches in a modern battle you look out across an open field of desolation. There is no enemy in sight—nothing but ragged tangles of barbed wire, shell holes, tumbled and torn ground with an occasional pitiful heap of storm-stained clothing which shows where some poor fellow lies unburied in No Man's Land.

The infantry seldom see whom they are shooting at.

The artillerymen never see their targets. They sight the guns by mathematics at the behest of air men who give signals as they go waving figure eights through the air.

The general on the foaming charger is replaced by the crisp dry sputter of the wireless or by a desk telephone.

Most of the generals do not ride horseback at all. When they are fighting a battle, they sit in an office with an oil-cloth map upon which two draftsmen are at work with water color paints laying in the changing positions of the troops.

There is a new and terrible mystery to it. Shells come from nowhere and snuff out your life.

Without the slightest warning comes the queer and awful howl of a shell coming from you know not where. All you know about it is this frightful howling, unmembered voice snarling from empty air above you; then, a crash. Some unseen battery has spoken.

One can sympathise with the attitude of some of the ignorant Cossack troops who on one occasion, refused to fight.

"We are willing to fight any number of men, however terrible, who may be thrown against us," they said, "but we are not willing to fight things that come out of the sky and kill us."

There is no experience I can think of so absolutely nerve shattering as to be shot at with guns you cannot see and whose location you cannot find out. It has the terrorizing effect of a thunderstorm. It is demoralizing in the sense that mystery is always demoralizing.

I met many officers and men in the British army who had been severely wounded and sent back home to drag out the rest of their lives as semi-invalids, who had never seen a German soldier. I met battery captains whose mighty guns had won great victories and who were, in fact, the mainstay of the army, but they had never seen what they were shooting at and had never seen their own victorious shell strike. All they knew about it was a voice that came to them over the telephone repeating certain mathematical formulae by which they adjusted the range of their guns. They began shooting when they were ordered and they stopped when they were told to.

The whole west front is like a terrible factory of death.

As I have said, the actual front line trenches are less interesting, although more dangerous than the portion of the line, four or five miles back.

As you go back from the front line trenches, especially during a battle the scene becomes more active.

You are then with the guns. The work of these guns is a terrific spectacle. I was permitted to use one of the batteries as a setting for one of the scenes in "Hearts of the World."

There have been pictures whose promoters boasted that the settings had cost a million dollars. The settings for this picture would be cheap at a billion.

In the artillery attack that I spoke of we saw thirty-six guns standing wheel to wheel roaring out shrapnel and explosive shells.

No war ever fought has seen anything to approach the intensity of artillery fire seen on the west front in Flanders.

[illegible] the artillery fire is controlled from the reports of the air men. The aeroplane scouts have a signal that corresponds to the S.O.S. signal at sea. It means that every gun in that particular sector is to concentrate its fire upon a given point. As showing the intensity of the fire and the stupendous concentration of heavy fire, I was told the following instance:

A small deserted Belgian farm house was selected by the general staff. Without previous warning, one of the airmen was directed to signal for an attack by the artillery upon this little building. The S.O.S. signal was given and within a few seconds the fire of 1200 guns was pouring down upon this little farm house. Of course it was reduced to the consistency of a talcum powder.

Back by the guns you get into the real sphere of interesting action. Ambulances are tearing along the highways filled with wounded men often screaming in their agony. Prisoners are being marched by to the rear. Ammunition wagons and ammunition mules are hurrying to the front.

Motorcycle messengers are whirling by like wind. Wagon trains sometimes camouflaged with rows of saplings fastened to their sides, are plodding their way along, looking like a moving forest of young trees.

Back there it looks like a real battle. This effect is heightened by the fact that the German batteries usually devote their attention by day to an attempt to locate and destroy the concealed British batteries. The infantry goes over the top at night time. During the day, the infantry men are making a vain attempt to sleep in trenches swimming in mud and suffocating with terrible smells.

But of course these conditions do not continue. After a short tour in the trenches the troops are sent back to the reserve stations. Conditions are not harsh back there. In fact, the boys in this zone seemed to be having a very good time.

I met a young professional man who had left an office in London to become a surgeon winth the army. He told me he hadn't had so much time in years for outdoor recreation. Like the troops, he had occasional periods of intensive work; then came periods of sport and living in conditions by no means unpleasant, with plenty of good food, good clothing and pleasant companionship.

SALARIES OF WOMEN TEACHERS

Editor, Review:

May I through your columns, correct an impression which seems rather general among our citizens, regarding the salaries which the city pays the women teachers of its Public Schools? At present, the highest salary paid, even after over twenty years' service, is $860. The majority however, range between that amount and $700

A peculiar idea, also prevailing, is that our increase granted last June, are of quite generous sums. These were not given according to standing or length of service, and they vary somewhat. The new salary schedule increases the wealth of no woman teacher beyond $48.75. This was the increase of the more recent members of the staff. The majority of us come considerably below that amount. Indeed, more than one-third our number re just devising means of disposing of our liberal increase of $14,62½. We shall not really come into our own until February1; as the Board of Education do not [illegible] among the women teachers.

I believe that an enterprising typo of one of our city papers, who likes dabbling in the higher mathematics, has figured out that we of the $14,-62½ class, are receiving an increase of ⅜c. an hour. And at that he did not count in our "over time."

REPLY TO MR. POGUE.

Editor Review: Rev. Mr. Pogue writes another letter to correct the mistakes of his last one and to assert that the Creator never intended some of the materials which He made whether we term them poisons, excreta, etc., or not) to be used. In reply I have only to say that all matter is the same. The name or where it comes from makes no difference. It is matter. It is chemical elements in different combination, that is all. That its use is good or bad depends upon the use to which it is put. Poisons when taken in quantity may be most beneficial when taken properly. There is nothing wrong or bad in itself in anything God has made, and He created all matter. It is the use to which it is put. It cannot be condemned in itself. Its appropriate and therefore proper use cannot be condemned. Its misuse alone is open to condemnation. Total prohibition of materials is, therefore, absurd.

This is the last letter I will write on the subject, and I thank Mr. Pogue for his courtesy.

Teach the Children to Save

Habits are acquired early in life. Children, who are taught the value of money and the habit of saving, grow up into good business men and capable women.

The easiest way to teach children to save, is to start a Savings Account for each child ($1.00 each is sufficient). After a child has saved another dollar to make an additional deposit, he or she will have a better appreciation of just what a dollar stands for, and how much work and self-denial it represents.

Canadian Pacific Railway Company Gives Hearty Support to Victory Loan

President E. W. Beatty makes Statement Regarding Big Subscription Just Announced by Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, Showing that the Company Will Stick by Canada on the Loan.

DESPITE the fact that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company is opposed to the nationalization of the Grand Trunk Railway, it has been announced through Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, chairman of the board of directors, that it will support the Victory Loan to the extent of a subscription for $20,000,000 as against $17,000,000 last year.

E. W. BEATTY
President Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

The attitude of the C. P. R. on the Victory Loan is clearly stated by Mr. E. W. Beatty, the president. He quotes the statement of the minister of finance regarding the uses to which the money derived from the loan will be put, which gives assurance that it is for the purpose of repaying money which is owed, paying just debts to the soldiers, supporting Canada's credits and furthering the trade and commercial expansion of the dominion. The still further assurance that none of the money from the Victory Loan will be used for the acquisition of the G. T. R. or the payment of any indebtedness incurred thereby adds to Mr. Beatty's reasons for believing that the Victory Loan should be heartily supported.

He states as follows:—

I have embraced, with a great deal of pleasure, the opportunity of speaking on this Loan, especially in view of the fact that elements have entered into it which render a frank discussion advisable even though my own position in it may be regarded as somewhat delicate and even invidious.

I have read the comprehensive statement made by the Minister of Finance as to the objects of the Loan, and the reasons why it should receive the support of all Canadians who have the welfare of the Country at heart and regard the sustaining of its credit as of vital consequence.

The Minister of Finance and myself are not entire strangers. I knew him first as Corporation Counsel for the City of Toronto and I admired him as an adroit Counsel and a sound lawyer. I knew him again as Chairman of the Railway Board, and I marvelled at times at his utter disregard of legal principles. I know him now as Minister of Finance whose first work is the successful prosecution of this Loan, but who has, I thank a very sincere appreciation of the necessity for national economy and prudence in official expenditure for the next few years if Canada is to reach the high plane of prosperity to which it is entitled. I have also known the Minister in roles which did not secure my unqualified commendation—he was a fine lawyer, an able judge, and will be, I feel sure a national asset, as Finance Minister, but his literary efforts are not all that I could wish. Some time ago when he was a little younger, and therefore more prone to make mistakes—he wrote a book: he wrote the book as Chairman of the Royal Commission, appointed to enquire into the Railway situation in Canada, and the book was called, and will go down into history as "The Drayton-Acworth Report." I read it with a great deal of interest and some of it with a great deal of appreciation. In it he said some very true things about the C.P.R. It was there he suggested that the Government of Canada might own all the other railways and operate them under a system which he outlined. I have always wondered how a man could be so right and so wrong in the same book. In consequence of this—what the Minister no doubt regarded as his magnum opus—railways were acquired and still others are designed to be acquired and the support of those advocating these acquisitions has already been found in this Transportation Epistle known as "the Drayton-Acworth Report."

The Minister has appealed to us all to give our whole-hearted support to this Loan, and the purpose of this statement is to frankly explain to you what the position of the Company I have the honor to represent will be.

The Government have recently advised Parliament and the people of their intention to acquire the Grand Trunk and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railways. Their proposals have come before the people at the same time that the support of the people to the Victory Loan is being strongly urged. There exists in Canada a strong sentiment among a great many people that the proposed action is unnecessary and unwise and will impose upon the people a burden which could be avoided.

In this connection and as one of the grounds on which Parliament is urged to support the proposals, it is said that if they are not confirmed and the roads are not acquired by the Government they will—to use the expressive phraseology of the Minister of Railways—be "gobbled up by the C. P. R." While I can imagine several things worse than that, it is only right that I should point out to you that there exist certain objections to this course which render the possibility of it ever taking place almost ridiculously remote. In the first place I may be pardoned for calling your attention to the fact that there exists by Statute an absolute prohibition against any arrangement by way of amalgamation or joining of earnings between the Canadian Pacific and the Grand Trunk or any branch lines of the Grand Trunk or leased by it or under its control. In the second place the Grand Trunk duplicates, in many respects, the existing facilities of the Canadian Pacific, which would render its acquisition both unnecessary and unwise. In the third place, the Grand Trunk cannot be divorced from the Grand Trunk Pacific with its enormous liabilities—liabilities which I imagine no Corporation in Canada would think of assuming even though they were able to do so. And, lastly, the acquisition of the Grand Trunk or any portion of it has never been suggested to the Canadian Pacific or by the Canadian Pacific and has never been considered or contemplated in any way or by any means direct or indirect. The suggestion is the old familiar bogey which has been raised on previous occasions and which is only raised in fulfilment of the time-honored practice in the purchase of property, namely, that of securing an imaginary second purchaser in order to make the purchase more attractive to those who have some doubt as to whether or not they want to effect a purchase. The position of the Canadian Pacific is the position of every other taxpayer in Canada, the position of looking with grave apprehension upon the assumption of these enormous obligations under a system of administration which we do not believe to be effective. From a purely competitive transportation standpoint the Company has not yet reached the stage when it can contemplate with serious apprehension the assumption of enormous liabilities by its competitors.

It is perhaps not necessary for me to explain my own views on the sub, of Government ownership and operation of Railways but it is I think desirable that I should explain to you why I can hold one view on this subject and still an independent view on the subject of the Victory Loan. You are familiar with the objects of the Loan—they are stated officially to be "To pay indebtedness incurred and to meet expenditures to be made in connection with demobilization including the authorized War Service Gratuity to our soldiers land settlement, loans and other purposes connected with their re-establishment into civil life, for the Capital outlay for ship-building and other national undertaking and for the establishment of any necessary credits for the purchase of grain, foodstuffs, timber and other products and will be spent wholly in Canada." This official statement is further supplemented by the Minister's own statement that no portion of these moneys will be diverted to the acquisition of the Grand Trunk or the payment of such obligations as will be incurred by such acquisition—in other words, this Loan is in its essence a Loan to support Canada's credit, to repay the moneys which it owes, (largely to its own people) to pay its just debts to its soldiers and to further its trade and commercial expansion. Any one or all of these reasons is sufficient to warrant the support of the Loan. This is not a Loan to any Government of Canada, but a Loan for Canada initiated by the Government of the day. There is a distinction in my mind between the support of Government and the support of our own country, and if this money is required for the latter purpose—and it is irrefutable that this is the case—then no support which would otherwise be given to it should I think be withheld because of a difference of opinion in respect of proposed railway politics.

The Canadian Pacific is a Canadian enterprise, its prosperity depends upon the prosperity of Canada. At no time before the War or since the War has it I think been suggested that the Company did not realize and fulfil to the best of its ability the obligations which it owed this country, and so I am at liberty to say to you that, notwithstanding my inability to support a railway policy which I consider unjustified and unwarranted (and I think I am perhaps in a position to appreciate some of the objections to such a policy) the support to this Loan by the Canadian Pacific Company and the amount of subscription of the Company to the Loan will be exactly the same as it would have been had not this question of the future of other railways been interjected into the campaign at this time.

GIVES TEN MILLION TO MEDICAL RESEARCH

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER MAKES AN ADDITION TO HIS PUBLIC BENEFACTIONS

New York, Nov. 4.—John D. Rockefeller had added $10,000,000 to his previous endowment of $6,000,000 for the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, according to an announcement made yesterday.

By this increase in the endowment new lines of research will be sustained in biology, chemistry and physics, upon which medical science so largely rests, as well as in medicine itself, as will the study of many practical problems directly relating to diseases in men and animals, which are already under way.

During the war the Institute equipped its several laboratories with men and materials to enable it to supplement the various research and other laboratories at the command of the Government. All these resources were placed at the disposal of the Surgeon General and other Governmental agencies and were freely used by them during the war. The activities were divided into three classes, first, the establishment of teaching courses in the surgical treatment of wounds, in bacteriology, specific treatment of pneumonia, cardiography, clinical chemistry and the technical side of bacteriology and histology; second special research work in various aspects of bacteriology, immunology, biochemistry of anticeptics, chemotherapy, effects of poison gas, acetone formation and the methods of preparing certain drugs of German origin employed as therapeutic agents third, the production of serum on a large scale for the treatment of meningitis, pneumonia and dysentery.

Under the support of the Rockfeller Foundation, Dr. Alexis Carrel, in conjunction with Dr. H. D. Dakin, had perfected at Compeigne, France, in the early part of the war a method of treating infected surgical wounds, which had come to have wide applicability in practice.

Among other activities carried forward by memebrs of the institute were important contributions to the methods of preparing a protective and curative serum for gaseous gangrene whose control became so serious a problem early in the war, the making of aceton in aircraft production, by a new process, involving bacterial action; studies on the synthesis of drugs leading in contributions on the manufacture of certain drugs having important uses in the medical service; studies on poison gases. When hostilities ceased Dr. Carrell and his assistants brought to a close in France studies in hemorrhage and shock, well under way in his temporary hospital at St. Cloud, to which they were driven by the German aggressions at Compeigne.

The scientific staff of the institute numbers sixty-five persons, most of them highly trained and of large experience in the subjects to which they are exclusively devoted. The institute further employs about three hundred and ten persons in its technical and general service. It is to the perpetual maintenance of such a group of men and women, with adequate facilities and suitable conditions for their successful work for the general welfare, that the gifts of Mr. Rockfeller to the institute are devoted.

BUY MILK.

BUY MILCH GOATS FOR DISABLED VETERANS

VANCOUVER MAN SHIPS ANIMALS FROM TEXAS FOR SOLDIERS' FARMS

Seattle, Nov. 4.—Milch goats for disabled Canadian soldiers, 257 of them, arrived in Seattle on their way from Texas and Arizona to Vancouver, B.C., recently. They were chaperoned by A.B. Gibson, A Vancouver resident, who has taken great interest in seeing that the wounded soldiers who have taken to the land are properly started in their careers as farmers.

With a modest start of ten milch goats on each disabled soldier's farm, Mr. Gibson believes that the foundation for an independant livelihood will be laid. The ewes will be distributed among the soldiers within the next few days.

The possibilties as a profit maker of the milch goat for the soldier's farm was impressed on the Canadian Government by Mr. Gibson some time ago, but he could not prevail on the Government to ship the goats in. Mr. Gibson then took the matter into his own hands, and starting overland six weeks ago in an automobile he drove to El Paso, Texas, and Tuscon, Ariz. Before purchasing Mr. Gibson inspected nearly all of the large herds of milch goats in the Southwest. He purchased 275 animals.

The milch goat costs practically nothing to keep in a country like that to be found around British Columbia, Mr. Gleason says. Each milch goat will produce from two to three quarts of milk a day with a net value of twenty-five cents a quart. The demand for goat milk is far in excess of the supply. Ten ewes, Mr. Gibson says, will give each soldier a fine source of income and will encourage the breeding of milch goats eventually.

NEW YORK WOMEN TO OPEN NEW SALOONS

NO BOOZE SOLD, BUT AMUSEMENTS WILL BE PROVIDED PATRONS

New York, Nov. 4. — The Church Women's League, a newly organized body of Episcopal women, has undertaken to supply a substitute for the corner saloon. It will have everything the saloon had except hard drinks and "hard" language.

The women have decided that although John Barleycorn may be dead there is a real need for a substitute for the saloon. So they have decided to reinstate the "Poor Man's Club." The prices they have decreed, will be even "softer" than the drinks, and there will be no doleful after effects. Such is the assurance given in the nation wide campaign of the Episcopal Church by the league.

The church women's "saloon" will be a combination canteen and club for men who want to eat, drink, play games, read or rest during the day or night. Service will be absolutely free and food and drinks will be sold at cost.

Pool tables, card tables, games and reading matter will be supplied. The attendants will be volunteer women workers from the league membership. Vacated saloons will be used.

It is hoped by the league that eventually the twentieth century saloon will develop into a community center, with interests for every member of a man's family as well as for himself.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify, and freshen the entire alimentary tract before eating more food.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless. Drink phosphated hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

NEW YORK FIRM BUYS FARM FOR EMPLOYES

TO BE USED AS REST CAMP AND WORKED BY CITY MEN

New York, Nov. 4.—A farm of one hundred acres at Burlingham, Sullivan county, N.Y., has been purchased by R. H. Macy & Co. to be used as a rest and recreation centre by its employees. It became known yesterday that the firm had taken over the Todd Lake firm owned by Benjamin F. Todd, which has attained a reputation as a summer resort.

So far as possible the farm is to be run by the employees themselves, with R. H. Macy & Co., providing the money. It is the intention not only to use the place as a vacation resort for the employees in the summer but to keep it open throughout the winter for the accommodation of such employees as may need quiet to restore their health.

The property, with its large natural lake fed by springs, offers exceptional advantages as a summer playground. At present it is equipped with one main building and three cottages, with facilities for fifty persons but extensive improvements and additions, including sleeping porches are being made under the supervision of Robert D. Kohn, architect.

The purchase of Todd Lake Farm comes as a development of Macy's welfare activities for its employees. For years the firm has rented places to be used as vacation camps by the employees. Now it is proposed to establish a permanent resort where improvements can be made as needed. It was explained yesterday that in no way is the venture intended as a form of charity. A small fee to cover the cost of operation will be charged, but these rates, of course, will be decidedly lower than those charged at any resort operated for a profit. The matter of spending a vacation at the Macy farm or going elsewhere will be left entirely to the choice of each employee.

NOT NAMED AS PARTY LEADER

But Hon. Howard Ferguson is Chairman of Convention Committee

Toronto, Nov. 2.—"I was not selected as leader, or even temporary leader, at the caucus on Friday," says Hon. Howard Ferguson. "The question of choosing a leader was left in abeyance. It was decided to call a provincial convention, and the manner and time of calling that convention was left in the hands of a committee, of which I am chairman. The other members of the committee are: Brig-Gen. Hon. A. E. Ross, Lieut.-Col. W. H. Price, Capt. Jos. E. Thompson, Capt. Buckland, Charles McCrea, Dr. Forbes Godfrey, W. C. Chambers, W. D. Black, Wm. Wollatt, John Joynt, and Peter Gardiner.

"Some provision will undoubtedly be made for a temporary leader, but the question of selecting a permanent leader will have to be decided by a convention of the Liberal-Conservative party of Ontario, along with all other matters of policy."

MAKING CORN SILAGE

Fill the Silo So as to Avoid Silage Fermentation.

Much Depends Upon the Stage of Growth—The First Two Weeks in the Silo Largely Decides the Matter of Fermentation—The Use of Lactic Acid Recommended.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

THE quality and preservation of silage is largely dependent upon the character of the fermentation which takes place mostly during the first ten days or two weeks after the corn is filled into the silo. In order to control the character of the fermentation so as to get the best results several factors have to be taken into consideration.

1st. The silo should be well constructed and have no air leaks. Wherever air penetrates it will cause rot in the silage.

2nd. The corn should be well developed with the cobs at least in the dough stage. If the corn is immature the resultant silage is liable to be too high in moisture, poor in consistency and sour. Its feeding value will be much less than that of mature corn.

3rd. In filling the silo the corn should be well scattered around and evenly packed. If steps are not taken to ensure this the heavier parts of the corn, such as the cobs and stalks, will be liable to settle in one place and the lighter leaves be blown around to the outer edges, thus causing the development of a hard core where the heavier pieces settle, and a soft, spongy, air-infiltrated area where the lighter pieces fall. Such a condition will ruin the fermentation and induce rot.

The fermentation commences practically as soon as the silage is in the silo, and will be good or bad according to the prevailing conditions as described above.

The fermentation is induced by plant enzymes, which are within the plant tissues, and various species of bacteria and yeasts which are present on the corn when it is filled in.

These bacteria, yeasts and plant enzymes act on some of the starch and sugar that is present in the corn changing the starch first to sugar and then to acids, alcohol and carbon di-oxide, and various other products of fermentation of somewhat minor importance.

The acids more particularly the lactic acid, thus produced, constitute the preservative substance ensuring good silage. It is desirable to get the maximum amount of lactic acid produced quickly with the minimum amount of alcohol and carbon di-oxide as these two latter pass off as gas and thus mean loss of the sugar content as they, as well as the lactic acid, are made from the sugar.

Lactic acid bacteria are responsible for the production of the lactic acid and yeasts are mostly responsible for the production of the alcohol and much of the carbon di-oxide. Lactic acid bacteria and yeasts as some undesirable kinds of bacteria and molds are usually present in most enable numbers on the corn at the time it is filled into the silo. The problem is to induce the lactic acid bacteria to get ahead of the other kinds of bacteria and yeasts that are present, as when sufficient lactic acid is produced it prevents the other kinds of bacteria and yeasts from developing, otherwise they would cause loss through undesirable type of fermentation.

The lactic acid bacteria which cause the desirable fermentation in silage are the same as those which cause the souring of milk. Consequently if freshly well-soured milk which will have millions of the lactic acid bacteria present, is scattered evenly over the cut corn from time to time as the silo as it is being filled this will ensure the presence of an abundance of lactic acid bacteria ready to act right at once so that the requisite lactic acid will be rapidly produced.

During the fermentation the silage gradually settles and the air that was present in the mass gradually gets used up in the fermentation processes. If more air penetrates into the mass through defective silo walls it will enable various molds to grow and these use up the lactic acid and develop, thus causing the silage to rot.—Prof. D. H. Jones, O. A. C., Guelph.

When to Cut Corn for the Silo.

Corn cut when the grains have reached the glazed stage contain almost twice as much digestible matter as corn cut at tasseling time; corn cut at glazing time, therefore is best for silage.

These statements, says Andrew Boss, vice-director of the Minnesota Experimental Station, are based on analyses made by chemists of the Dominion of Canada at Ottawa, which show that the corn from an average acre cut at the glazing period contains 7,308 pounds of digestible matter as against 4,220 pounds when the corn is cut at tasseling time.

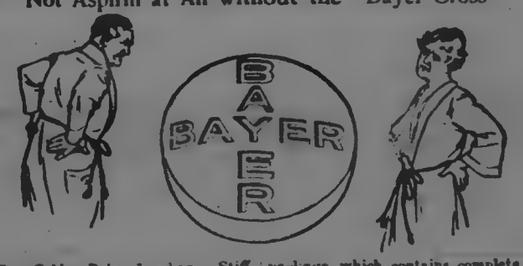
"Samples of corn were analyzed, says Mr Boss, "that had been taken at all stages from tasseling to silking, early milk and late milk, and glazing. These analyses show strongly in favor of allowing the corn to reach that stage of maturity when the kernels are well dented or glazed before it is cut. At that time the lower leaves are usually beginning to turn yellow. The figures show that while there is a larger amount of green corn on the acre when the corn is in the tasseling stage, the total amount of dry matter is not nearly so great then as when the corn has glazed.

"The dry matter per ton amounts to 245 pounds at the tasseling stage, 323 at the silking stage, 389 in the early milk, 444 at the late milk, and 523 pounds at the glazing stage."

Too many men who have good ideas are unable to make good.

ONLY TABLETS MARKED "BAYER" ARE ASPIRIN

Not Aspirin at All without the "Bayer Cross"



For Colds, Pain, Lumbago, Stiffness, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuritis, and for Headache, Neuralgia, Toothache, Earache, take Aspirin marked with the name "Bayer" or you are not taking Aspirin at all.

Accept only "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" in an unbroken "Bayer" package which contains complete directions. Then you are getting real Aspirin—the genuine Aspirin prescribed by physicians for over nineteen years. Now made in Canada. Handy tin boxes containing 12 tablets cost but a few cents. Druggists also sell larger "Bayer" packages.

There is only one Aspirin—"Bayer"—You must say "Bayer"

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

WILL ENFORCE PROHIBITION

Premier Drury Says Law Will be More Drastic Than Ever.

Toronto, Nov. 4.—The "Yes" voters are not going to get any sympathy from the Drury Government. The leader made that clear. "There will be strict enforcement of prohibition by officials who are sympathetic to it," he said.

"What about the vote on the fourth question?

"It will have to be investigated. Any amendments we pass will be to make the law more effective. There will be no slackening of the present law. If we find that it needs amendments we will amend it. Steps will be taken to check dishonest prescriptions."

As to co-operation with the old parties he said there would be no such thing. Assistance from like minded men, however, would be welcome to the Government. There was some talk of soon calling an election, thought, inside the Labor and U.F.O. parties, but it might be necessary to go outside the ranks to fill one or two positions.

LIMIT OF ENDURANCE

A Four-Year-Old Child's Severe Test in a Far North Winter.

Fleeing before an epidemic an Indian family in the Peace River country in the Canadian northwest overlooked and left behind one of its numerous children. It was autumn, and when the loss was discovered the parents were so far away they assumed that the wolves already had the child and did not even go back to look.

The lost child was an infant of 4 years, a boy, clad only in a ragged cotton shirt and drawers. But such was his will to live, his initiative, his endurance, that he went through the sub-arctic winter and was fat and hearty when his parents came back next summer. Through the long months the only human help he received was when a passing Indian gave him a piece of an old blanket. The child picked up scraps of food and birch twigs fought with Indian dogs for fragments of fish and slept throughout the winter in shelters of his own contriving.

How or where he obtained all the food necessary to keep him in good condition no one knows. What wind-falls he may have had he was too young to tell. All that is known is that he fed somehow and that no one helped him. He helped himself, though only 4 years old.

No Government Head to Settle Strike of O.A.C. Waitresses

Guelph, Nov. 4. — Another strike materialized at the O.A.C. Monday, when the waitresses in the students' dining hall refused to serve the meals unless their demands for an increase in salary were met. The result is that a number of the freshmen had to be called upon to perform the duties of waiters. President Creelman was powerless, in view of the fact that the Hearst Government has resigned and the department is at present without an authoritative head.

NEW BUILDING READY FOR NEXT SESSION

HOME OF PARLIAMENT COST [illegible] TO DATE

Ottawa, Nov. 4.—The Government expects the new Parliament Buildings to be made 'temporarily habitable" for the next session of Parliament, according to an answer given by the Minister of Public Works, Hon. A. L. Sifton, to Mr. Middlebro.

Up to Oct. 31, 1919, the total expenditure was $6,101,947.67. According to the agreement of the Government with the architects, Mr. J. A. Pearson, who has the direction and control of the work, and Mr. J. O. Marchand, his associate, the architects employ and pay their own staff and other assistants, and they are paid a commission of 5½ per cent. on an estimated cost limited to five million dollars. Therefore they must already have been paid $275,000.

Changes in Committee

The Parliamentary committee at present supervising and directing the reconstruction of the Parliamentary Buildings is Hon. A. L. Sifton, Hon. J. D. Reid, Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Hon. J. A. Calder, Sir James Lougheed, Hon. G. D. Robertson and Hon R. Watson. Nothing shows better the quality of lightning which has been playing around Ministerial heads than the composition of the committee.

In the beginning, Hon. Robert Rogers was its chairman, and he had with him Hon. J. D. Hazen, Hon. William Pugsley, Hon. R. Lemieux and Hon. Charles Murphy. Hazen and Pugsley have flitted, Messrs. Lemieux and Murphy withdrew, and only Hon. Messrs. Reid, Lougheed and Watson remain of the original company. The work is being done "by force contract."

Unofficial advices are that, though Parliament may meet in the new buildings next session, contrary to Sir Robert Borden's expressed intentions some months ago, the workmen will not be out of the building during 1920, and there will probably be still some interior work to look after in 1921. Artisans and artists are busily engaged on stone scroll work inside now. The House of Commons is nearly ready, but the hall of fame is not ready for guests.

SMALLPOX AT WOODSTOCK

Health Officer is Likely to Order General Vaccination.

Woodstock, Nov. 4.—As a result of a fresh outbreak of smallpox here, Dr. A. Mackay, medical health officer, may order general compulsory vaccination. It was thought that the outbreak of small pox and diphtheria reported two weeks ago had entirely disappeared. However, the M.H.O. reported six new cases over the week-end. In two of the cases the victims had been suffering for a week without reporting the disease. These two patients are now in a serious condition. The outbreak has so far been confined to one section of the city.

MOUSE SCARES HORSE: SEVEN LIVES LOST

HORSE PLUNGES TO SIDE OF FERRY BOAT AND CAPSIZES, THROWS OVER PASSENGERS AND TURNS BOAT OVER, TOPPLES OVER

Hamburg, Ark., Nov. 4. — Seven persons lost their lives when a horse, frightened by a mouse, plunged to one side of a ferry boat on Bayou Bartlomew, Ward's Ferry, 25 miles south of here, and turned the boat over, throwing the passengers into the water.

The dead: Mrs. Robert Roberts, Mrs. N. N. Buchanan, Mrs. Ada Sims, two small children of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Stanley and two unidentified negroes.

Mrs. Stanley was thrown into the water, and saved by her husband, who swam with her to the shore. After the passengers had been thrown into the swollen waters the boat turned turtle. Three men were saved by Stanley, as his wife, clinging to a plank, urged him to rescue the perishing first. The accident occurred just after dark, making rescue extremely difficult.

GUELPH IS GROWING

The month of October was an excellent one as regards the taking outof building permits in the city. In fact it was rather exceptional for so late in the year. The total amount for the month was $93,542. Included in the list were several residences. This brings the total for the year up to $88,719, which is far in excess of the permits for several years past.

VETERANS LIKELY TO ENTER POLITICS

ONTARIO PROVINCIAL COMMAND SENT IN PROTEST TO OTTAWA RE QUALIFICATIONS

Toronto, Nov. 5.—In addition to the protest and indignation expressed by individual branches of the G.W.V.A. to the Parliamentary Committee on Soldiers' Re-establishment, Chairman J. A. Calder is to receive a telegram from the Ontario Provincial Command, who passed a resolution of protest yesterday. It states that the executive feels great dissatisfaction with the committee's published report in that no recommendation to increase pensions to widows, orphans, dependents and disabled men has been made, and no suggestions advanced as to further gratuity according to the ideas of the scheme outlined by the G.W.V.A. The motion addressed to Mr. Calder states in conclusion:

"We further emphatically protest against the policy outlined whereby widows and fallen comrades and needy returned soldiers shall be compelled to seek relief from the Patriotic Fund or any other similar body."

Give Politics a Trial.

Should the Dominion Command of the Great War Veterans Association follow the advice of the Ontario membership steps will be taken immediately to throw open the door of politics to the whole association. A special meeting of the Ontario Command in session yesterday passed resolutions urging that the governing body call a convention that this revision of the constitution might be instituted. The two motions affecting the issue reads:

All Who Served.

"That the Dominion Command be requested to hold a Dominion convention at the earliest possible date to deal especially with the problems of re-establishment, and to consider the advisability of amending the constitution, extending opportunities for membership to all persons who have served in the sea, land and air forces of Great Britain and her allies, and the deletion of clauses which at present prohibit the G.W.V.A. from taking political action."

"That a ballot be taken among members of the G.W.V.A. in Ontario with a view to ascertaining their desire with regard to the advisability of deleting the words 'non-sectarian' and 'non-partisan' from the G.W.V.A. constitution.

PREDICTS FUEL FAMINE IN ONTARIO AND WARNS CONSUMERS OF DANGER

Deputy Fuel Administrator H. A. Harrington Gives Facts and Figures

A fuel famine in the winter is forecast in Ontario. Deputy Fuel Administrator H. A. Harrington issued a warning.

With the war ended it is difficult to realize that the province is about to experience a coal famine, but the available anthracite supply is away short of the public want. Some of the larger centres have a sufficient supply, but the smaller municipalities and corporations are seriously handicapped.

Mr. Harrington declares that furnace consumers, in particular, must use a proportion of 20 per cent. pea size as a part of their egg or stove size requirements. He also says that the fault does not lie with the dealer. "To the consumer must be attributed the scarcity," he reiterates. "Heretofore the Ontario consumer got what he asked for. To-day the consumer must take what the dealer can get. Unless the required tonnage of pea size is taken there is no assurance of delivery of larger sizes."

Mr. Harrington says that last year the United States fuel administration found it expedient to curtail the anthracite supplies to 36 states, thus conserving three million tons. These restrictions have been removed, and these three million tons must go to supply the other states. As there is no possibility of increased production, owing to the limited area of the anthracite fields, thte operators have found it necessary to distribute their tonnages equitably.

In Ontario up to the end of September only one-half of the necessary coal supply was received. Approximately 3,280,000 tons of anthracite is required for the province, while only 1,600,000 has arrived.

With the end of the war came a relaxation of restrictions on United States exports of coal.

Early during the season it became evident to the mine operators that sufficient egg, stove and nut sizes of anthracite could not be produced to supply the domestic demand. It was then determined that the shipments of the year 1916 must form the basis for those of the present coal year and that the tonnage of pea size should be added if domestic consumers expect to get their usual anthracite tonnage.

The outlook regarding the distant future is also gloomy. The time is approaching when the United States will be obliged to restrict shipments of coal to its own borders. That nation has a population of one hundred milion and this population is rapidly growing. The yearly increase of new homes makes a decrease in the supply of anthracite and this fact is bound to effect Canada.

Complex in the extreme is the bituminous situation. A general strike of all bituminous miners has been called for Nov. 1. The struggle between the operators and the miners it is predicted, will be long and severe.

The bituminous resources of the United States now under operation aggregate, approximately, 3,500,000,000,000 tons and last year the total output was 585,883,000 tons. Fort William and Port Arthur are short seven hundred thousand tons and the remainder of Ontario requires 158,000 tons.

Canada's opportunity to develop her coal fields is pointed out by the deputy fuel administrator who states that the splendid coal deposits in the east and northwest are lacking in interest by reason of limited demand.

The increased price of coal will more than offset the cost of transportation from Nova Scotia to Ontario or from the northwest to Fort William, thus assuring an increase of approximately 12,000,000 tons with its attendant benefits of labor, increase of interprovincial traffic and general business stimulus. Larger production of Canadian coal would bring a happy solution to the labor problem for it would provide employment for 100,000 men, including 15,000 additional miners and gangs for the construction and maintenance of docks, waterways, harbor development and increased industrial production.

In the meantime men of science have evolved a substitute for coal. A limited supply is already procurable.

NEW PREMIER WARNS HIS FELLOW FARMERS

TELLS THEM THAT THE PRICE OF WHEAT IS SURE TO FALL

Barrie, Nov. 4. — E. C. Drury, Premier-elect of Ontario, made his first public appearance since his appointment to office when at the Opera House here last night he delivered an address in support of the Victory Loan. His remarks, which extended over a period of fifteen minutes only, were confined entirely to the loan campaign, no reference in any particular being made to the political situation or to the policy which will be pursued by his party during the coming session of the Legislature. When he appeared on the platform after the meeting had commenced, he having just arrived on the eight o'clock train from Toronto, he was given a magnificent reception by the large audience, which filled the large auditorium, and when he rose to speak so great was the ovation which he received that it was several moments before he was able to commence his address. When he did start to speak he at once launched himself into a full hearted support of the loan, eliminating the patriotic side of the case and confining himself to the economic phase, urging his audience to buy bonds from a business standpoint and as a means of warding off the period of financial deflation and business depression which he predicted, through no fault of any Government, the country is about to go through. In this connection he prophesied not only a depreciation of the value of money, but as a farmer and leader of the farmers' party a fall in the price of wheat and a lowering of the standard of wages.

At the conclusion of the meeting a vote of confidence in him as new leader of the Government was unanimously passed, the audience showing its approval by prolonged cheering, followed by the singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Replying Mr. Drury expressed his appreciation of the warmth of the greeting, and promised to do his best to serve the province, irrespective of party.

PRESBYTERY ALLOTS NEXT YEAR'S BUDGET

SUM OF $200,000 TO BE RAISED BY TORONTO CHURCHES

Toronto, Nov. 5— At a meeting in St. James' Square Presbyterian Church, the Presbytery considers the sums to be requested from the different congregations in order to raise $200,500 for the 1920 budget. The amounts decided upon range all the way, from $25 which some of the smaller missions pay, to $20,000 for Bloor Street Church. This is the largest sum paid by any one church in the Toronto Presbytery.

A call from Hornby and Omagh to Rev. Jas. Malcolm at present in the London Presbytery was sustained. The London Presbytery will consider the call and decide today. Fairbanks have extended a call to J. H. Clugston, who has been in missionary work there. The Presbytery also sustained this call. A special meeting of the Presbytery will be held in Knox College for the induction of Rev. Wm. Manson, professor of the New Testament there. Rev. R. W. Dickie, of Montreal, will preach the induction sermon.

LURE AWAY CITY INDUSTRY

Smaller Municipalities Offer Bonuses to Toronto Firms.

Toronto, Nov. 5.—Mr. E. L. Cousins, general manager and chief engineer of the Toronto Harbor, and head of the City's Industrial Department, has written to the Mayor, in reference to Toronto manufacturing firms asking for loans in other municipalities as an inducement to locate there. Three Toronto firms are now asking for loans in Guelph. Mr. Cousins says that he is not surprised as many of the smaller municipalities in the Province are offering all kinds of inducements for industries to locate in their particular town or city as he case may be.

THREE FAMOUS DIAMOND STARS TO BE OUT OF BASEBALL IN 1920

Hal Chase, Larry Doyle and Zimmerman Have Grown to Slow for the Major Leagues—Manager Moran Will Hold Present Players

New York, Nov. 4.—While it looks as if Moran could stand pat on his Cincinnati Club for next season, a thorough process of renovoation confronts Manager McGraw of the Giants. His greatest problem will be in building an entirely new infield. Because of the falling off in the playing of Zimmerman, Doyle and Chase during the past season, will have to find younger players for these positions.

Fletcher is still able to do his part at shortstop, but of the veterans he will probably be the only player sure of a berth next season. Chase's case is doubtful. He was slow in getting started last season, then when he struck his stride he continued to retain his fast gait for about thirty days, when he fell off again. Frank Frisch, the Fordham player, who finished the season in Zimmerman's place at third, will probably be the regular second baseman next season. He will be more valuable at second because he is a phenomal ground coverer. The third base gap will be a difficult one to fill.

McGraw still believes that George Kelly will not be able to play first, although he has not yet been able to show the battling strength showed in the International League. During the last Western trip, McGraw did a lot of experimenting with his young players and some of them showed up well. Arnold Statz, the former Holy Cross player, showed encouroging ability as an outfielder, and will be retained next season. He has had no minor league experience but, like Frisch, he doesn't need any. He is a fine fielder and a good hitter. McGraw expects that Bill Ryan, the former Holy Cross pitcher, will be able to take his place with the regular pitching staff next summer. Earl Smith the catcher, had little to do last season, but he will probably be one of the regular catchers next year.

McGraw is unusually well off for catchers, and may use some of them in trades during the coming winter. McCarty, Snyder and Gonzales are all high class men, but McGraw will probably cut this department down in order to strengthen other departments.

It would not be at all surprising to see Roger Hornsby, the star infielder of the St. Louis Cardinals with the Giants next season. It is believed he is the man McGraw has his eye on for third base. The Hornsby transfer was discussed several times last season, but the sale was never made. The coming winter promises to be a lively trading season for the baseball managers, and the New York Club is in a position both inplayers and money, to make a proposition to St. Louis which will be so attractive that Manager Rickey will be persuaded to trade his star infielder.

In thte outfield the Giants are well fortified with Burns, Kauff, and Young, for it is expected that Kauff and Young will improve in their hitting against left-handed pitchers next season. It was their inability to hit southpaws which caused the Giants' batting slump at the critical stages last season. Manager McGraw figures that he will have the strongest pitching staff in the league with Toney, the two Barnes, Nehf, Benton, Douglas, Winters and several youngsters who will be given a trial on the southern training trip.

Manager McGraw has had no plans for spring training. The Florida climate, however, seems to be the best for early season training, and the training camp will probably be in the state.

Just after the final game of the world's series in Chicago, Pat Moran, manager of the champion Reds, was inclined to be modest about the outlook for next season. "I am not claiming a pennant for 1920," said Moran. "I didn't claim any for the season just ended, and it might be bad luck to speak too soon. We'll get together in the spring and see what we can do.

"One thing," continued Moran, "makes it hard to make any prediction, the change in the relations between the major and the minor leagues. Formerly, with the draft lists all in, you could judge pretty well what sort of material you had for the coming season, and what sort of timber the other fellows had purchased. Now nobody knows what's going on, what young players have been addded to the different clubs or what may or may not be added to your own ball team during the off season.

"I like my club the way it stands," said the fled leader, "and I'm not forgetting one important thing, we carried all season extra material. That will surely be valuable next spring. If we hadn't had four or five pitchers always reliable and ready I'd have used Gerner, but he will get his chance next season. Pressler, too, would have been used regularly as a pitcher, after his outfielding work, if we hadn't had the set rotation of winners in progress day after day. Luque will be better next season and I don't think Mitchell is through. There isn't any club better fixed for infield subs than we are, and where does the outfield need any bracing?"

The House of Eddy

A Factor in Canadian Life

IT is probable that not a day goes by in which the House of Eddy does not make life more comfortable and convenient for you. Eddy Products—Eddy Conveniences—are woven into the very fabric of Canadian life. You light the kitchen fire, or the gas-grate of a morning—or perhaps your pipe, and the comfortable glow springs from the end of an Eddy match-stick.

Eddy's Products

are Products of Convenience

Eddy's Indurated Fibreware Pails, Washtubs and Washboards are widely used on the farm and in the cities. Your butter was shipped in an Eddy Butter Tub, which kept it free from taint or odor. Eddy Milk Pails play their part in keeping your supply clean and sweet. Your purchases from the store are sent home in Eddy Paper Bags. ELECTED FOR U. S. GOVERNORS TODAY

WET AND DRY REFERENDUMS ALSO BEFORE ELECTORATE IN SOME STATES.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, Nov. 4.—Electors in five states went to the polls today to ballot for Governors, while the election of lesser officials and decisions on constitutional questions faced the voters of several other states.

Governors are being elected in Kentucky, Marland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, and New Jersey. Elections in Ohio are being watched with interest by "wet" and "dry" advocates, and there, for first time in any state, a popular vote is being taken on the 18th amendment to the constitution. This is being accomplished by a referendum on legislature's action in ratifying this amendment.

Referendum on Prohibition.

Ohio also is taking a referendum vote on the prohibition enforcement act adopted by legislature, and is voting on two proposed constitutional amendments touching on prohibition. Kentucky, Massachusetts, Maryland, New Jersey, Virginia and New York are electing legislators. Constitutional questions confront voters in Illinois, Nebraska and Texas.

DEBATE ON THE EIGHT-HOUR DAY

(Canadian Press Despatch)

APSLEY

A very sad death one which cast a gloom over the whole community took place in the village on Thursday morning, October 30th, when Isabella McKee, beloved wife of William Scott, our popular young blacksmith passed away at the early age of 23 years, despite medical skill and careful nursing. The physicians in attendance were Dr. Shepherd of the village and, Dr. Smith of Lakefield. Nurse Kilborn of Brockville and Mrs. A. Smith of Chandos were the attending nurses. The deceased was a native of Saintfield, County Down, Ireland, and was married to her now sorrowing husband on August 27 1918, he having enlisted for active servict at the outbreak of the war. The young couple arrived from overseas last Janury and took up residence in the village.

During her short sojourn here by her cheerful disposition and many admirable qualities the late Mrs. Scott made many friends. She leaves to mourn her loss besides her sorrowing husband and infant daughter, (Isabella McKee) a father, mother, two sisters and two brothers in her native land who have the deepest sympathy of a large circle of friends in the village and district. The funeral, which took place from her late home on Saturday afternoon, November 1st. A short service was held at the house by Rev. J. H. Beck, Methodist minister. The funeral procession proceeded to the Anglican Church where service was conducted by Rev. C. Spence. A very impressive sermon was preached from the following text: "The living know that they shall die." Ecclesiastes, Chapter IX, verse 5. The hymns chosen for the occasion were "Peace Perfect Peace" and "Nearer my God to Thee.55 A solo "There's a beautiful Land on High," was rendred in excellent voice by Miss Marjorie Spence.

After the service the remains were conveyed to the Union Cemetery for interment. Rev. C. Spence officiated at the grave, assisted by Rev. J. H. Beck. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Robert Scott, Stanley Windsor, Chas. Smith, John Coons, Herbert Tucker, and Archie Wilson. z z z

The relatives from a distance who attended the funeral were Mrs. West and Miss May Kilborn of Toronto. Floral tributes were contributed by the following friends: Mr. and Mrs. N. James, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. C. Smith, Cross; Mr. and Mrs. W. Len, Cross; Mr. and Mrs. W. Staples, bouquet; Mr. and Mrs.B. Coones, bouquet, Miss O. Sanborn, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. J. Kilorn, bouquet; Mr. and Mrs. W. Hales, bouquet, Mr. and Mrs. D. Brown, bouquet, Mrs. A. Booth, bouquet; Mr. and Mrs. W. Ernshaw, bouquet; Rev. and Mrs. Spence, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson, bouquet.

Since thy Father's arm sustains thee
Peaceful be,
When a chast'ning hand restrains thee
Know He love in full completeness,
Is the measure of thy weakness,
If He wound thee sparingly sore,
Trust Him more.

Fairest sometime that thy Father
Has forgot;
When the clouds around thee gather
Doubt Him not.
Always hath the daylight broken.
Always He hath comfort spoken.
Better hath He been for years,
Than thy fears.

To His own thy Saviour giveth
Daily strength,
To each troubled soul that liveth
Peace at length.
Weakest limbs have largest sharing
Of this tender Shepherds caring,
Ask Him not then, where, or how
Only bow.

Silence may be golden, but gossip gains currency.

DRY LAW SHUTS WORKHOUSE

New Jersey Institution Loses All Its Drunkard Population.

Camden, N.J., Nov. 5.—Camden's municipal workhouse is closed by prohibition. Known as "the paper dereliets, the workhouse since 1912 pickery" and famous as an institution for the utilization of human dereliets, the workhouse, since 1912 has been operated by habitual drunkards committed here by police magistrates. Waste paper has been baled by the inmates and the city has been reaping a yearly profit of $4,000. In addition all the brooms for street sweeping were made at nominal cost.

Only three workmen have been at the pickery for the last week. Their sentences were up some time ago, but they preferred to remain because they had no other place to go. "This industry can't operate without help," said Street Commissioner Sayre, as the last of the baled paper was carted away.

WHALE'S WORTH IS $15,000

Bone in Mammal's Mouth Now Sells at $7.50 a Pound.

A full grown gowhead whale is today worth $15,000 merely for the whalebone it carries in its mouth, an exchange states.

This is the species that furnishes the bulk of the commercial supply of whalebone, which is now worth $7.50 a pound. It is a denizen of arctic [illegible] like other whalebone whales, has no teeth. Instead its jaws are furnished with a series of long, tapering slabs of a horny substance fringed with hair. Of those slabs, which are the whalebone of commerce there may be as many as 600.

The biggest of them are ten or twelve feet long and they are inserted in the gum of the upper jaw, from which they hang. They serve as a sieve to strain out the whale's food. Swimming along, it takes huge mouthfuls of squids and other pelagic small fry. Then the huge trap is closed and, the slabs entering and fitting into grooves in the lower jaw, the water is expelled.

Would Not Have Wondered.

She was really very garrulous, even for a woman, and not inappropriately her name was Mrs. Gabb.

"What do you think, Sam?" she exclaimed to her long-suffering husband one evening. "I wasn't feeling very well this morning, so I sent for the doctor and when he came he asked me to put my tongue out.

"Yes?" queried Sam.

"Well," she continued, "I did, and he quite hurt me—"

"What," interposed Sam, "did he tread on it?"

Two men were drowned, two others probably so, a boy was fatally shot while hunting, and a child burned to death over the week-end in Timiskaming district.

ONTARIO'S NEW PREMIER AND HIS SUNDAY LIFE AT CROWN HILL FARM

Mr. Drury is a Sunday School Teacher and Says His New Position Will Not Make Any Difference in His Private Arrangements.

Barrie, Ont., Nov. 4.—Away from the scenes of political activities, E. C. Drury, leader of the Farmer-Labor Coalition Government, spent his first Sunday as Premier-elect in the rural quiet that envelops his home, six miles out from Barrie. The call that came on Saturday for a conference with the Lieutenant-Governor, at which he will be asked to form a Government, did not disturb the customary Sabbath observance of the new Premier of the province of Ontario. Nor did responsibilities of office and Cabinet formation sweep aside his farm duties. Early in the morning he put on old clothes and helped his two hired men with the chores, feeding and watering the stock and doing other odd jobs. Then he came into breakfast, and at 9.45, when several reporters arrived, he was still in what he called "desbabille."

Talked With Reporters.

The next hour or so, after donning more formal attire, he spent in conversation with the newspaper men, who had been waiting in the drawing-room of his spacious Crown Hill farm residence. On their departure he accompanied them to the door, and the reporters had the unique honor of having the Prime Minister of the province crank their "tin Lizzie" for them. The engine stalled just as the car began to move. "I'll start it, Frank," he called from the doorway to the chauffeur, and in a few moments the cylinders were hitting regularly again.

Sunday School Teacher.

Besides being a farmer, Mr. Drury is a Sunday School teacher, and being Premier, he says, isn't going to make any difference so far as his Sunday school class is concerned. A half dozen little farm boys got their Sunday school lesson yesterday afternoon from the Premier-elect of the province, and they will continue to have the same high personage as instructor every Sunday, for he doesn't intend to give up the work. From 1.30 to 3.40 he sat with his pupils in one corner of the basement of the Crown Hill Methodist church and gave them religious instruction, advising them to be guided by conscience and urging them to cultivate moral courage.

Attended Furnace.

After Sunday school he proceeded upstairs and sat down with a neighbor near the front of the church, facing his wife, who sang in the choir of their rural house of worship. The congregation is composed of farmers who reside nearby and their families. Only about 75 people were present on this occasion, over half the pews being empty. During the service Premier Drury tiptoed out and down to the basement, where he attended to the furnace, for it was a cold day, then tiptoed back to his seat for the remainder of Rev. W. S. Irvin's sermon. The fact that one of their members was to be Premier created no apparent stir among the little congregation. In his closing prayer, however, the pastor asked Divine guidance and blessing for him, and offered thanks "for the honor that has come to us as a church and as a township in the promotion of one who is dear to us."

Shake Hands With Him.

After the service many of the members, men and women came up to shake the Premier's hand and offer their congratulations. Outside at the gate a few farmers gathered round him and talked for a few minutes. Then, with Mrs. Drury and their children, he walked up the country road to his home, where, he said, he intended resting for the remainder of the day, and then retiring early. This morning he left home at four o'clock for Toronto, there to confer with U. F. O. leaders and answer the call of the Lieutenant-Governor. Political matters, no matter how important were not allowed to intrude on his Sunday. He made no telephone calls, and received few, and he left instructions at the telegraph office that messages which came for him during Sunday were to be forwarded to him at Toronto on Monday. He did not wish to know their contents on the Sabbath.

CONSCIENCE MONEY.

A well-known mercantile firm of Cobourg received through the postoffice an envelope with their name pasted upon it, the address being cut from a newspaper. In the envelope was $25 rolled up in a piece of newspaper. There was no address or correspondence to indicate who the sender was, and it is thought to be conscience money sent by some person who thought they owed that amount.

BACON AND HAM DROP.

Bacon and ham took a big drop in Brantford yesterday consequent upon the action of the Canadian Board of Commerce. Ham dropped from 35c per pound to 27½c, while the price of breakfast bacon receded from three to four cents wholesale. Retailers had not announced their reductions, but intimated that the consumers would benefit to a considerable degree.

J. D. Reid, Minister of Railways and Canals, the problem now facing Canada with respect to the Grand Trunk and the reasons for the Government's decision that the lines should be taken over.

LADY ASTOR AGREES TO RUN FOR OFFICE

THE INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE WITHDRAWS LEAVING HER A CLEAR FIELD.

Plymouth, Nov. 4. The Independent Unionist Candidate, Lionel Jacobs, who had the support of a number of Unionists opposing Lady Astor on the ground of sex, withdrew his candidacy.

Lady Astor in her speech last night on her adoption as Unionist candidate for Plymouth, said that it was because she had "the mirth of the British Tommy who could laugh while going over the top," she was able to face the tremendous responsibility of attempting to become the first women member of the House of Commons. "I realze that it depends on how I behave myself there," she added, "whether other women will get in."

A moment later she said:

"It took the spirit of Drake and the faith of the Pilgrim Fathers to get me here tonight."

Viscount Astor came forward to present his wife, saying: "I have been asked to introduce to you my successor, your future representative," this was greeted with loud cheers and laughter, and Lord Astor went on, "I have been asked presumably because I know more about her than anyone else. Although she is light of heart, nevertheless she is mindfull of the responsibilities."

He concluded by expressing regret at the necessity of stepping aside owing to his elevation to the peerage.

WINDSOR SECURES FACTORY

Burroughs Adding Machine Company To Locate in That City.

Windsor, Nov. 4.— Another new industry that will employ at least ,000 hands has designated its intention of locating in Windsor, the Burroughs Adding Machine Company, the parent plant of which is located in Detroit.

A site 600 by 200 feet has already been secured at McDougall and Ann Streets and excavating will begin immediately, to be followed by the first construction work about the first of the new year.

The Canadian plant of the Burroughs will, it is expected supply the entire Canadian and European market. For some time the firm has maintained a small branch office here, but has long since outgrown this.

On Christmas Morning

MUST PRESERVE THE SANCTITY OF SUNDAY

DYSON HAGUE SAYS DAY OF REST IS MENACED TODAY

In a letter to the Toronto Mail and Empire, Dyson Hague of that city says: — That great Englishman Disraeli, in a moment of serious thinking, once declared that in his opinion the cornerstone of civilization was the Sunday. About the same time a great American thinker, a man who had no fondness for Puritanism, Ralph W. Emerson, declared that our Sunday is the core of civilization. Of course, they both meant through the House of God and the Word of God, became, as it were, foundation stones upon which were builded the principles of personal and national righteousness. We believe the duty of every Canadian today, who truly loves his country, is to safeguard as a national bulwark the day that God made and God blessed. God set it apart as a sacred day. Christ honored it, ennobled it, and declared that it was made for man.

Never perhaps in Canada was the Sunday so menaced as to-day. The mutterings and grievances of an imported citizenship are loosely caught up by myriads of Canadians who forget that a Sundayless community is a community on the down grade. In these days of anarchy and restlessness, there is a stirring call to the thoughtful man and woman, to safeguard every institution that will make for the permanent uplift of the people. Theodore Roosevelt said that Church work and Church attendance means the cultivation of the habit of feeling responsibility for others, and that the man who in Church listens to beautiful passages from the Bible, and takes part in the singing of good hymns, will come away feeling a little more charitable toward the world.

It is because the world is so worldly, and life is so crowded that men need the rest of the Lord's Day, and the stimulus of the uplift of the Lord's house. In the day spent in sport, or selfish pleasure, men do not get the stimulus or self-sacrifice and self-conquest. The Lincolns, the Gladstones, the Gordons, the Roosevelts, the Shaftesburys found in the rest of the Sabbath, and the worship of the Lord's Day, not only the support and source of their philanthropic impulses, but the strength and support of their crowded lives. The men and women who should try hardest to attend the House of God to-day are the busy men, and the busier women. If they don't, the churchless and religionless weekend will soon crowd God out of their lives. Roger Babson, in his great barometer letter of Sept. 2nd, said that the need of the hour is not more legislation, but more religion. Yet the heart of the religious problem is the day that reminds us of God, and only by a new spirit of self-sacrifice, a new policy of domestic arrangement, a new resolve based upon faith and the Gospel, can we keep it and utilise it. God help us Canadians to wake up to the value and need of the Lord's Own Day. God made it for our benefit. May we use it for His Glory.

PACKERS SEEKING.

New Pork Prices Again Echoed in Ottawa.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 4.—It is understood here that the packers are still hoping to get their case against the new pork prices heard by some one in Ottawa, although how they will do it is not publicly announced. There are two possible courses open: To have the case reviewed before the Board of Commerce itself, or to make an appeal direct to the Cabinet. There seems to be little expectation here that the order of the board will be changed.

BIFF!

Stop jolting Liver and Bowels with violent drugs, but take "Cascarets."

"Dynamiting" bile out of your system with calomel and other sickening purgatives is all wrong. Salts, Oil, and Cathartic Waters act by flooding the bowels with the digestive juices which are vital to the stomach. Cascarets are different. They act as a tonic to the bowel muscles, which is the only sensible way to relieve a bilious attack, a sour, acid stomach, or constipated bowels. There is no griping or inconvenience. You naturally return to regularity and cheerfulness. Cascarets cost very little and they work while you sleep.

POSTAL WORKERS' WAGES IN THE U. S

There is no need of any prolonged inquiry, or any period of delay, as to the question of more pay for the United States postal employees. The plain facts at least so far as the great army of letter carriers is concerned, convince the average citizen that the wages of these men ought to be increased, not alone for the decent support of themselves and their dependents, but for the self-respect of the Nation.

In approaching the subject of the legislation to provide some degree of tardy relief for these poorly paid workers which is before Congress, let it be remembered that the maximum salary of letter carriers in the United States is $1500 a year; that $300 of this is counted as temporary additional compensation during the war time; and that there has been no permanent increase in pay since 1907. There is, however, now under consideration a bill to raise the maximum to $1650; also one for a temporary increase of $5 per cent. This latter is known as the Moses bill, and is before Congress at the request of the National Association of Letter Carriers. Graduated increases in pay for postal employees, instead of a flat advance of $150 a year, an arrangement approved by the House of Representatives, are provided in a substitute bill favored by the Senate Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, and agreed to by Senate and House conferees. Under the Senate committee's plan letter carriers, clerks, rally mail employes, and third-class postmasters would receive advances ranging from $200 to $240; rural carriers from $75 to $200, and fourth class postmasters a flat increase of 10 per cent. Substitute clerks and carriers would gain a flat rate of sixty cents an hour.

Such increases would, of course, be a little better than none, yet for the great majority which would benefit in less degree than that indicated by the maximum figures, the additional compensation promised by any of these measures seems very small. The men can hardly be expected to be satisfied, or even much pleased, with such action. The views of a large proportion of the carriers on the subject are, no doubt, much nearly represented by the recommendations recently made to the congressional commission, which has been investigating the condition of postal employees throughout the country, by the letter carriers in Massachusetts. These men proposed that the salaries should be of three grades: $1800, $2100, and $1400. It is naturally expected that the report of this commission will have a strong, if not a determining influence on the action of Congress, and it is said that the salaries will be fixed at new rates within six months. But why delay for any such period as six months? These men have been living under difficulties already for two years, at the very least calculation. Spokesmen among the Boston carriers go so far as to say that if Congress does not soon afford relief, at least 200 of their number in this city will be forced to resign. They add that hundreds of them would have resigned before now if their association leaders had not influenced them to remain by encouragement that Congress would soon provide for them. An investigating committee of twenty-five carriers in the city mentioned recently ascertained that many of their fellow workers had become involved in debts varying in amount from $100 to $800, as a direct result of insufficient income, and that such indebtedness was increasing. That letter carriers find it difficult, if not impossible, to live within their income is certainly not surprising when their wages are compared with those of motormen who, in Boston, for instance, have a maximum of $1800; if policemen who receive $1600, with a pension of $800 to look forward to; and of express wagon drivers whose maximum is $1980.

It is quite safe for members of Congress to assume that the public has no desire to be niggardly toward the postal employees. The United States is, truly enough, under large expense, and should not waste money, but it is not poor and it should be just to all those working faithfully in its service. Moreover the thousands of letter carriers come into fairly intimate relationship with millions of people throughout the country. Is it not worth more to the Nation than the mere dollars and cents involved to have those men feel that the government is treating them justly?

One Good Thing at Least

THE MERCHANTS' COLUMN

In this column, which appears every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, will appear news and short articles of special interest to merchants, their salespeople and business men and women in general.

"Complete Satisfaction." ... . Built a $150,000 Grocery

An annual business of $150,000 is one which many a grocery store, located in a large city would be glad to claim for its own; but to accomplish it in a town of 7000 automatically stamps the organization as being distinctly above the average.

Maryville, Mo., is the town in question and Schumacher's is the store. Moreover, the $150,000 was attained last year without price-cutting of any kind—simply through rigid adherence to the principle of giving value received.

"We have made it our business to study the sources of supply and to get good values—even if we have to pay a higher price, and charge our customers accordingly," states Edward Schumacher. "By doing this we have built our customers' exact what to expect and we can guarantee satisfaction. Of course, we have low-priced lines, but that portion of our business is gradually giving way to the beter class, for we tell our patrons plainly that they get just what they pay for."

"We never make a special price. We watch our stock closely and if any goods are found to be damaged we return them. If the damage is due to a fault of our own, we simply haul the questionable goods out to the dumb here, figuring that we cannot afford to take the slightest chance even though we gave the customer a discount.

"If a customer has any fault to find with goods purchased from us, we take them back without argument. It is always safe—for business purposes—to assume that the customer is right and, living up to this principle we naturally do our buying from houses that make the same sweeping guarantee.

"It is a mistake to suppose that the ordinary trade does not appreciate the ultimate economy of high quality. A farmer's wife came in the other day and asked for the highest priced sardines, adding that she found them cheaper than the twenty-cent ones. We used to throw some of the cheap ones away, she explained, 'but these forty cent ones are so good that we eat every morsel even down to the last drop of oil.'"

Thus, never stressing prices but always assuring complete satisfaction, the Schumachers have gradually drawn to their store the allegiance of families who trust them implicitly! Sales put on by the grocers in Maryville do not tempt this trade away, for they have learned by experience that Schumacher's gives them what they pay for—value for every penny they srend. Which is the reason for the $150,000 business in a town of 7000 people—or more than $20 a year per person.

To Reduce Number of Checks Offered.

The person who intends to present a check to the Coulter Dry Goods Company, Los Angeles, Calif., reads this sign at one side of the cashier's office:

We investigate all checks before cashing them. If not agreeable, do not present them.

As about the only person who could seriously object is he or she who should not present a check, the sign does more good than harm.

The Roberts Hotel, Provo, Utah, has another plan that might well be adopted by retailers who have been "stung" through cashing worthless checks. Along the front of the cigar case is a row of checks that have come back with notations such as cause cold chills to run down the back of the man who loses the money on them. As these are in plain view of patrons they are an eloquent argument against promiscuous cashing of checks.

Church Uses Advertising to Find a New Pastor

In the old days when a congregation lost its pastor they gathered together and prayerfully besought the guiding hand of another, possibly adding a letter or two suggesting to clergymen outside the community that the opening existed.

But times have changed—at least in Pheonix, Ariz.

The Rev. John Logon Marquis recently announced that he had accepted a call to another pastorate, and that he would leave the First Presbyterian Church on November 1. Not content to await his actual departure, the church authorities immediately sanctioned the publication of and payment for a series of advertisements, designed to call attention to the opening and secure the services of a successor.

The church does not, however work on the assumption that it can secure a minister merely by publishing the fact that a vacancy exists. It makes every effort to sell the advantages of the position by calling attention to the desirability of Pheonix as a place of residence and stating that "our church has had but four pastors during the last twenty-seven years."

"Our church building is not modern," admits the announcement, "but the erection of a new structure is on of the things on our program for the near future for the near future, when conditions are favorable. We want a pastor filled with the spirit of the Lord and with energy for His work. Pheonix is a fine field for men, and a pastor should be equipped with special ability to attract and organize them."

Already the replies received indicate that the church will have but little difficulty in securing the pastor it wants, thus scoring another point for advertising in an unusual field.

Rich Setting Provided for Rug Collection

The Fraser-Patterson Company, of Seattle, Wash., has opened an Oriental rug department on the fourth floor of the store, which has been transformed into a picturesque Turkish rug market, with the slender arches and swinging lamps of a moorish temple as background for the rich fabrics. Panels in the temple walls are decorated with pictures of the tribes of the desert.

On the occasion of the opening of the department big newspaper advertisements carrying a sketch of the temple with its display of rugs appeared in the Seattle papers and crowds flocked to the section for days.

C. W. Dolan, head of the department, has spent years getting the collection together and it is said to be one of the very best in the country. Mr. Dolan has specialized on Persian, Turkish, Turkoman, Caucasian and Chinese rugs. Prices range from $12 to $4800.

"What Did You See Here"

Tepper Brothers, of Elmira, N.Y., have just finished an interesting essay contest which brought much business. They offered prizes to women who would write 100 words as to what they saw at Teppers that interested them the most.

Corsets, service, clothes, undergarments, furniture, food, clerks' equipment, delivery—all were touched upon. Two of the essays are being published in a box each day in the Tepper Brothers' Space, and tell the public in unusual terms and language some of the merits that the Tepper shopper saw in the establishment.

EDITOR'S MAIL

TRUE STORY OF THE BEAR

Editor Review.—The person, or persons, who read the statements printed about a week ago about the Kitney and the brown bear, who strayed form his home at, or near the Oval, the previous night, try to make as far as they are concerned a laughing stock of Mr. Kitney in the public eyes. However, the next time such a thing occurs, I hope they will get the statements a little more correct.

There wasn't one of the statements correct. In the first place they were an hour out of their time because the employees do not leave until 6 p. m. in the morning. Secondly, the bear never bit Mr. Kitney, nor did he retreat from the animal, because Mr. Kitney had the bear up the tree before the hunting party arrived on the scene. Of course, you couldn't expect any thing else from our brave and brilliant police force. They are always awake at the wrong time. In fact, "I have heard since from one who knows, that one of the brave constables drew his revolver, and threatened to shoot the bear if it moved. It was then already dead. I think for my part a brave man like that should have been awarded the V. C. for such a deed.

Canadian Principles

The Canadian people shall not be ruled by any irresponsible monopoly.

They shall not submit to methods of fraud or corruption.

There shall be no perpetual franchises.

Our heritage of natural resources affecting municipalities must not be sold, but leased, if not publicly operated.

One generation cannot legislate away the rights of another.

Municipalities must control their streets.

Each Canadian shall have a fair deal from all who are granted corporate or other public privileges.

Some court or council must always exist free and equipped to enforce the fair deal.

The life of the poorest citizen must be made worth living, through his share of the best civic conditions and services.

ELEVEN HOURS REST AT NIGHT

LABOR CONGRESS LAYS DOWN PLANS TO PROTECT YOUNG PEOPLE

Washington, Nov. 4.—Draft international conventions, covering practically every item of the agenda paper, have been prepared by the organizing committee of the International Labor Conference. Brief reference has been made to conventions on the 48-hour week. It is now possible to refer to them more fully

One draft convention proposes that young persons under 18 years of age shall not be employed at night in an industrial establishment, other than an undertaking in which only the members of the family are employed. The period of rest during the night is to comprise at least eleven consecutive hours, which must include the period between 10 a.m. and 5 a.m. The prohibition, however, may be suspended in the event of certain specified emergencies. July 1, 1921, is proposed as the latest date for the coming into force of the convention.

Other Conventions.

Other draft conventions which will be submitted to the conference provide that:

1. Children under the age of fourteen years shall not be employed or work in any industrial undertaking other than an undertaking in which only the members of the family are employed.

Proposed date for coming into force: January 1, 1922.

2. Prohibition to the employment of women in factories and workshops for a period of at least four weeks after childbirth. Adequate maternity benefit for such women to secure proper maintenance and care of both mother and child during the period of her necessary absence from work before and after child birth. The organizing committee suggests that this period should be calculated at not less than six weeks.

WHO SAID DYSPEPSIA?

A Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet After a Hearty Meal Makes You Feel At Ease—Avoid Gas, Belching, Sour Risings or Other Such Troubles From Indigestion.

Food prices are high, but if the stomach is weak with dyspepsia,

"Cleaned Up a Square Meal and It's a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet for All-round Stomach Comfort."

the burden is doubled. The point is to enjoy the meal without distress—not pay for food only to suffer. The best plan is to eat what you like best and follow with a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet. Thus you satisfy your appetite, taste and stomach—you get nourishment fro what you may have thought was indigestible, without sour risings, belching of wind or logy, lazy feeling.

To thus be a free lance in eating palatable food, to make all the good things of the table your favorites is getting away from a sort of bondage that holds a host of men and women in the grasp of dyspeptic fear.

Get a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets from any druggist in the United States or Canada and have no fear of food, fried or otherwise.

They had just been introduced to each other at the reception. Presently the younger girl, glancing at a man who had recently entered, remarked:

"I wonder what's the matter with that tall dark man over there. Just before you came he was staring hard at me, and looked as though he wanted to be introduced. Now he's turned his back on me. I wonder why?"

"Perhaps," said the other, "it's because he saw me come in. I'm his wife!"

DIFFERENCE OF MILLIONS

Result of Engineer's Appraisal of Winnipeg Electric

Winnipeg, Nov. 5.—That the appraisal of the Winnipeg Electric, just completed by the engineer for the Public Utilities Commissioner, is several millions below that made by the company's engineer, was the gist of a statement at the city hall yesterday. The company's figure is said to be $26,000,000, while the commission's figures are reported to be in the neighborhood of the $20,000,000 mark.

This latter figure however, does not take in a considerable quantity of realty held by the company, it is reported.

PALESTINE FOR JEWISH RACE

BRITAIN'S POLICY FOR RE-ESTABLISHING OF JEWS IN HOLY LAND

New York, Nov. 5.—Lord Curzon, British Secretary for Foreign Affairs, delcared that the government of Great Britain remained unchanged in its policy for the establishment of a Jewish national homeland in Palestine, according to cable advices to the Zionist organization in America, made public yesterday.

"I have the great pleasure to assure you," said the Foreign Secretary, in a statement read at a mass meeting, "if such assurance is necessary, and I cannot believe that it should be necessary, that no change has taken place in the policy of the British Government in reference to the establishment of a Jewish national homeland in Palestine."

Get On a Train And See Your Security

If You were to board a train at Halifax or Vancouver and ride for 3,500 miles across this broad country—you would see something of the security behind the Victory Bonds. You would ride for a week—but even then you would only see a narrow strip of hundreds of millions of acres—a country nearly twice as large as all Europe.

You would see—

the farm and forests
the prairie and plains
the mines and the mills
the docks and the elevators the steamers and the railroads
the cities
the towns—

All this is the security behind your Victory Bonds.

This is the security that makes Victory Bonds one of the world's premier investments. Victory Bonds are the safest securities. Victory Bonds pay a good rate of interest—nearly twice as much as Savings Banks.

And you know how vital it is to Canadian Prosperity—and your own welfare—that the Victory Loan shall be successful.

It means that Canada's prosperity and your own prosperity will continue.

So don't buy just enough Victory Bonds to "square your conscience".

Buy to the limit of your ability.

Do your part in making the Victory Loan a huge success.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While gray faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

HASTINGS

Hastings, Nov. 5.—The week of missions in the Roman Catholic Church closed on Sunday. All the services were well attended and interesting addresses given.

Hallowe'en passed off rather quietly with the exception of the army of small folks, who paraded the town, playing practical jokes.

Several parties left on Monday to spend a couple of weeks in the far north, hunting for deer.

A little daughter has come to gladden the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Franks.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered in the Methodist Church on Sunday morning. Rev. Mr. Walsh officiated. The quarterly official board met Monday afternoon to look over the business of the past quarter.

Mr. and Mrs. Mac Foley of Havelock spent the week-end with the latter's mother, Mrs. Geo. Lynch.

Mr. E. Laing, lately returned from overseas, has been appointed teller accountant in the local branch of the Bank of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Fife entertained a number of friends Friday evening, it being the occasion of Mr. Fife's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Coyle of Colborne spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Erle Laing.

Father J. McCarthy of Norwood was in town on Sunday.

Monument to the Fallen.

A very large and representative gathering assembled Sunday afternoon in the Roman Catholic Church to witness the unveiling of the monument which has been erected to the memory of the boys of the congregation who were called upon to make the supreme sacrifice for King and country during the late war. The names of five heroes are inscribed thereon, and the monument is certainly a fitting tribute to their memory. The bronze statue, indicative of the herald of peace, is mounted on a large square block which contains the names of the boys and is surrounded by war tokens, rifles and shells. The town band was in attendance, and just as the hymn "Nearer, My God, to Thee" was struck up, Rev. Father Bretherton removed the large flag which enveloped the monument, and opened it to the public gaze. Addresses were then given by the parish priest and some visiting clergy, all of whom paid high tribute to the noble boys who in Flanders fighting fell.

After the band had played "Onward, Christian Soldiers" the "Last Post" was sounded by one of the members of the band, and the large gathering dispersed. Altogether great credit is due to the committee who had the work in charge and reflects great credit on their ability and taste.

Hallowe'en Social

The Hallowe'en social given in the Methodist Church Monday evening, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid, was a great success, both financially and otherwise. A sumptuous supper was served from 6:30 to 8 and a large number availed themselves of the treat. After ample justice had been done to the repast, a miscellaneous program was rendered consisting of recitations, vocal and instrumental music, and an excellent address by Rev. Mr. Kenny, of Campbellford, who is always welcome before a Hastings audience. The decorations were suggestive of the occasion, consisting of Jack-o'-lanterns, etc. Altogether the committee in charge have every reason to be pleased with the evening.

Miss Hoard of Hoard's Station is the guest of Miss Carrie Doxsee.

MINISTER OF RAILWAYS EXPLAINS WHY GOVERNMENT MUST PURCHASE G. T.

Hon. J. D. Reid's Speech to Toronto Board of Trade Convinces That Body That State Control of Roads is Only Course Left.

Hon. J. D. Reid, minister of Railways and Canals, addressing the Toronto Board of Trade, in the proposed purchase of the Grand Trunk Railway, said that Dr. Reid spoke for an hour on the situation. Without saying anything very new, he covered the ground with great force and clarity. He was particularly insistent on the certainty that if the government does not get the Grand Trunk the Canadian Pacific will.

A questioner asked whether any United Sttes capitalists had made an offe: for the Grand Trunk, and the minister said he believed they had, tho not to him, and that the C. P. R. was the power behind. He also said he had received a letter from a Montreal shipping firm offering to lease all the Canadian National lines and services. He enquired in the usual quarters as to the standing of this firm, and was told that it consisted of two estimable gentlemen who paid their bills, and were rated at somewhat between thirty and forty thousand dollars. He did not answer the letter, he added, as the audience laughed.

Billion in Government Roads.

Dr. Reid stressed the magnitude of the capital commitments of the railways the government has already been compelled to take over and the impossibility of making them pay without the Grand Trunk. He contended that, with the Grand Trunk the national lines would be able to make good, and eventually reduce rates to the lowest in the world. The alternative to this was a C. P. R. monopoly that would not only control commerce on land, but would determine ocean rates.

The broad financial situation as sketched by Dr. Reid, is that: The Canadian Northern lines cost $400,000,000; the Transcontinental $250,000,000; the Intercolonial, $125,000,000—a total government responsibility already assumed of $775,000,000. The government has also become receiver of the Grand Trunk Pacific, whose securities it had largely guaranteed. Its cost was $260,000,000; so that, as the Grand Trunk refused to fulfill its contract to take over the Transcontinental east of Winnipeg and cannot meet its obligations to the Grand Trunk Pacific; the people of Canada must now carry over a billion dollars' worth of railways which being practically without eastern feeders, cannot possibly pay their way.

Public Will Own Fifty Ships

The war compelled the government to go into the shipping business. To date, about fifteen steamers are in use, and the first one is about to sail between Vancouver and Australia. Others are trading, not only to Britain, but to the West Indies and South America. Ships under construction will bring the national mercantile fleet to over fifty vessels, for which cargoes must be found. Without adequate railway bases for their business, their disadvantage, as against the C.P.R. fleet of 62 vessels, is obvious.

The Grand Trunk in Ontario and Quebec has a network of lines equal, if not superior to the C. P. R. In the west the Canadian Northern lines are in an almost equally favorable position, but the key to ultimate success is in control of freight gathering lines in the east. One advantage that will follow absorption of the Grand Trunk will come from the routing thru Canada of traffic to the Pacific coast, which the Grand Trunk at present sends via Chicago and American roads in order to get the longest possible haul over its present lines. This is one of several factors which will aid in transferring the Canadian National Railways from losing to paying concerns.

Toronto Loses Montreal.

As the old Grand Trunk, without its Grand Trunk Pacific obligations, can make both ends both meet, its addition to the National Railways will be an asset, and not a burden; and in taking it on terms subject to arbitration, the country would do the fair thing by its 180,000 British shareholders. To throw the road into bankruptcy would all but destroy the confidence of British investors in Canada, and discount the inflow of capital and immigration, which are necessary to our future prosperity.

Except for a couple of questions the only speaking which discussed the situation generally was by Mr. Hugh Blain, in moving the resolution. To support the contention that Toronto is the greatest distributing centre in Canada, he said that Grand Trunk figures supplied him showed that the Montreal tonnage in September, 1907, was 96,000, against a Toronto total of 105,000; while in January 1908, when there was no navigation the figures were: Montreal, 58,091, and Toronto, 103,743. This Toronto preponderance had been gained in spite of the railway's discrimination against Toronto, under which it cost more to send goods from Toronto to points west, than from Montreal, whence the haul was 330 miles longer.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat, also take glass of Salts before eating breakfast.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

In a new shipyard at Belfast all vessels will be built on the electric welding principle instead of by riveting and calking.

GERMANY IS PUSHING SALE OF GOODS IN THE BRITISH MARKET REPORT SAYS

Agents Conceal Origin of Articles and Sell Cheaper Grades That Bear British Stamp But Made Beyond the Rhine.

London, Nov. 5.—Aided by a few British shopkeepers who labor under a constant dread that they will be found and accordingly ruined by the German hating public, German manufacturers and their London agents are seeking to recreate in England a market for German made goods.

Thus far the German industrial invasion has not attained to disconcerting dimensions. This is not due to any inclination on the part of Germany or her agents to build strongly but slowly. Neither the German manufacturer nor his agent here in London favors diplomatically combatting the prejudice that so strongly prevails: London and New York are not flooded with the cheaper grades of German made cutlery, toys, textiles, technical instruments, glass jewelry, pottery and leather goods, simply because shortage of coal and raw materials and labor troubles are limiting German manufactories to 5 and 10 per cent. of their possible output.

But those articles that Germany has managed to get into the stocks of British shopkeepers clearly indicate the trend of the German plan of industrial rehabilitation. A correspondent went out among the shopkeepers of London in quest of German made goods. He encountered no small difficulty in purchasing articles admittedly made on the other side of the Rhine.

Without exception these shopkeepers pleaded that publicity would ruin him; that the British public, still nursing its earned hatred of Germany and all the latter's works, would storm and wreck shops that offered cheap German goods in competition with British manufacturers that cannot commence competing with the Prussian prices.

Then, too, was the fear of public vengeance if it became known that British merchants so much as entertained the overtures of German agents. The correspondent has received several letters from three different agents in London offering to quote prices on German goods if he could name a buyer in New York.

German Toys Cheaper.

Comes one agent with quoted prices on toys that are so much lower than the prices asked by British toy makers that the latter manufacturers would be driven to the wall were the competition to be waged in earnest. A second agent promises—given two weeks notice—to produce almost any amount of hardware such as knives and cast iron products of a vast variety of description. The third agent, claiming to be a Belgian has on hand a stock of German leather goods valued at $15,000,000. He claims he became possessed of this enormous stock as payment for machinery taken from two Belgian factories and set up in southern Germany.

At last one British dealer has investigated the Belgian's story and found it to be true only in part. The agent is a Belgian. He was interned in Germany during the war and accepted the post of representative of a large German manufacturer of leather goods. The prices he quotes are 50 per cent. below those demanded for British goods of similar character and quality.

Virtually every German article prepared for the British market either lacks trade stamps, indications of origin and the name of the manufacturer or bears the deceptive legend "Made in Britain." This latter trick frequently is resorted to by German manufacturers for reasons that are obvious.

BRINGING UP FATHER IS A SIDE-SPLITTER

DON'T MISS IT AT THE GRAND THEATRE SATURDAY NEXT

The latest play founded on the popular comic of "Bringing Up Father," the world renowned cartoons created by George McManus, will be the next offering at the Grand, Saturday, matinee and evening. It bears the infectious title of "Bringing Up Father in Society." As might be inferred the theme of the attraction revolves around the efforts of "Jiggs" Mahoney, "Mother," "Dinny," and the rest of the Mahoney clan to break into the charmed circle. In justice to "Jiggs," who is better known as "Father," it may be chronicled right here and now that he is forced to enter "society" against his will. How he fares, how he meets and opposes the best laid plans of his wife, "Mother," how he arouses laughter, mirth and paves the way to gaiety, joy, happiness and gladness unconfined, is entertainingly described in three rollicking and side-splitting acts, each wedded to catchy and original music. The cast is a large and competent one in which a chorus of pretty and vivacious young women predominate.

FARNUM'S LATEST "THE RAINBOW TRAIL"

PHOTOGRAPHED IN THE WILDS OF ARIZONA—AT GRAND TOMORROW.

William Farnum, the famous William Fox star, is to be the headline attraction at the Grand Theatre Thursday and Friday. Mr. Farnum's latest photoplay is called "The Rainbow Trail," and is based on a novel by Zane Grey. The production was adapted and directed by Frank Lloyd.

"The Rainbow Trail" was photographed in the wilds of the Arizona desert and is a typical William Farnum production. It abounds in thrilling events and episodes. Mr. Farnum is supported by his famous cowboys, who do some marvelous riding and shooting.

The scenic effects are beautiful, among those shown being the painted desert, the Grand Canyon of Arizona, and the homes of the ancient Aztec cliff dwellers. There also are numerous glimpses of the Navajo reservation and its inhabitants.

LIKE HARD RIDING?

SEE HARRY CAREY'S FAMOUS FLYING WEDGE OF COW-BOYS IN "THE ACE OF THE SADDLE."

Stealing cattle from the extensive ranch of Cheyenne Harry Hendersos became a nightly occurrence. In vain Cheyenne appealed to the sheriff of his county to stop the depredations. In vain Cheyenne's men pleaded with him to let them take the law into their own hands. Their pleadings were without avail, for the sheriff of Yucca County was crooked, and Cheyenne Harry was a law-abiding citizen—so far as the law of the land of those days went.

Matters became worse and worse, cattle rustling from Cheyenne's ranch became more frequent. Cheyenne appealed to the sheriff of the neighboring county but was told that his authority ended at the county line. But Cheyenne and Pinkerton County made a decided hit with each other. In fact Cheyenne's visits to the Pinkerton sheriff became a pretty regular occurrence, and so did those of the crooked Yucca sheriff. The cause of the growing complications was—a girl—the Pinkerton sheriff's daughter.

Then love demanded a sacrifice that well night ruined Cheyenne Harry. Madeline Faulkner, daughter of the Pinkerton sheriff, asked her lover to quit wearing his six-shooter—right at a time when a six-shooter was what he needed above all things in the world. But Cheyenne consented and it looked as though nothing could ever change his promise to leave the trusty gun at home in the top dresser drawer.

But something did happen that caused Cheyenne to throw his hat in the air with a yell of rage and tell the world that he was "sure bustin' loose from peace." The story will be told in "The Ace of the Saddle," Harry Carey's latest Universal made western, which is to be shown at the Empire Theatre commencing Thursday.

PROHIBITION TO PROVE MENACE?

GOMPER'S CONTENDS BOLSHEVISM IN RUSSIA STARTED WITH ENFORCED TEMPERANCE

New York, Nov. 4 — Foisting of prohibition on the U. S. was a blunder charged with danger and loaded with disastrous probabilities, declared Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in discussing last night its probable relation to unrest among working men in some parts of the country.

"By adopting prohibition," he said, "we have chanced the wrecking of the social and economic fabric of the nation. We have invaded the habits of the working man and this is what has happened.

Upset Man's Habits.

"We have upset that man: unsettled him. Uprooting one habit uproots others."

Gompers asserted the man who formerly was satisfied to go home at night to converse and read, has become discontented and restive. He now goes into the streets to meet other men restless and unsettled like himself, he declared.

"They rub together their mutual grievances and there are sparks and sometimes fire. I believe Bolshevism in Russian began in prohibition."

LIVING CHEAP IN COLOGNE

AT LOW VALUE OF THE MARK ENGLISH MONEY GOES FAR

Soldiers returning from Cologne tell a good story of certain British officers who, wishing to improve their financial position before the recent increase in pay, indulged in a safe and honest method of "wising" [illegible]

By changing a cheque at the bank (they say) they received 92 marks to the £. Then, going to the army post office, they bought a £1 postal order for only 77 marks. Result, a clear profit of 15 marks. The explanation is that the army authorities fix the price of the mark at the beginning of the month for that month, while its commercial value had fallen a few days after the month had commenced. The authorities, however, stopped the little speculation.

At the present low value of the mark, English money goes a long way in Cologne. Hotel bills are low a bed and breakfast being obtainable for an English equivalent of 2s. (50 cents.

CONDITIONS ON ONTARIO FARMS

The following is a summary of reports made by agricultural representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

The new winter wheat and rye are looking well topped and vigorous, although considerable rye has been pastured this Fall.

Rot lifting is general. Lambton reports that the average run of sugar beets will be nearly fifteen tons to the acre.

Hay is hard to procure, as owners do not seem to want to part with it. It sells at from $24 to $30 a ton. Farmers are also keeping most of their grain to feed to their stock.

Pastures have been in good condition for the time of year, and the milk supply has been fully normal. Brant reports that good grade dairy cows continue high in price, ranging from $120 to $170, even at auction sales.

While there are some complaints that many unfinished cattle are being marketed on account of the comparative scarcity of feed, the Lambton representative states that large numbers of prime steers have been shipped from that county to Buffalo during the past two or three weeks, and also that buyers from as far as Easton have been picking up some choice cattle. On the other hand, he adds that one firm in Petrolia has brought in seven carloads of young stock from the northwest, most of them very promising animals.

Co-operative shippers in Dufferin recently sent out five carloads of live stock from Orangeville, in addition to shipments from that paint by regular drovers.

Peel reports that at present there is a good demand in that county for heavy horses.

While hogs are being freely marketed on account of the scarcity of coarse grains, farmers recently seem more inclined to hold on to their brood sows. Little pigs in Brant are now selling at $14 a pair, but are quoted in Grey as low as $4 each.

Waterloo reports that live stock is going rather low in price at local sales, and ches good breeding ewes as selling at from $10 to $12 each.

A good supply of well cobbed ensilage is reported to be on hand, and more silos than usual have been put up in the western part of the province.

Fall plowing is well forward, as the ground has been working easily with timely rains and comparatively mild weather.

Underdraining has been pushed in the Lambton district this season, and it is said that local tile yards cannot keep up with the demand.

Hastings reports a number of farms changing hands in that county at stiff prices."

SPEAKER SAYS BIBLE IS NOT INFALLIBLE

BOOK OF GENESIS IS AN ALLEGORY OF THE SOUL'S EVOLUTION

Toronto, Nov. 5.—L. W. Rogers discussed the literal and the allegorical theories of the interpretation of the Bible last night in Foresters' Hall this being the last but two of his lectures. He described the dilemma of a band of boys [illegible] when, [illegible] Methodist, on the United States, asked them if they believed the Bible literally. Thinking they should say so to a minister they answered yes.

"Do you know," asked the minister, "that the Bible says that the mustard seed is the smallest in the world?" They said they did.

"Is it?" he asked. The idea of an infallible record was not reasonable. The Bible was the record of the religious experience of those who wrote it. The Book of Genesis was an allegory of the evolution of the soul and had the names in the narrative, said Mr. Rogers, been translated this would have been evident. Cain meant "the root," and indicated the downward tendencies of the soul. Abel meant "vapor," and indicated his soaring tendency. Seth meant "compensation." Enoch, Cain's son, meant "experience," and Irad, his son, meant "watchful." Irad's son is Mahujael and signifies "the disciplined one." From him comes Methusael, meaning "the man of God," and his son is Lamech, which means "power." Lamech has two wives. Adah, which means "harmony," and her children, the issue of power and harmony, were musicians, while Zillah's children, her name meaning "imagination," were artificers or manufacturers. These are all the stages through which the soul passes, and the allegorical form was given, said Mr. Rogers, to impress the ideas on primitive minds

ENTIRE WORLD RENEW LABORS

THIS IS SOLUTION FOR THE MANY TROUBLES FACING HUMANITY

Strasbourg, Nov. 5. — The solution of many problems the world is now facing may be summarized in the single word "work," Premier Clemenceau declared in his keynote speech for the Government party in the parliamentary elections campaign, delivered here today.

The speech also was the farewell message of the aged Prime Minister on the eve of the retirement from political life which he contemplates.

The Premier's address, he declared, was not a message meant for France alone but was an appeal to the entire world to renew its labors as they have been performed before the war, and produce for the world's needs.

Government town of Nitro, W. Va., built for ammunition purposes at a cost of $70,000,000, was sold to Charleston Development Co. for $8,551,000.

HOUSING SCHEME FOR PETERBORO

PERMANENT COMMISSION MAY SOON BE NAMED—MANY CITIZENS INTERESTED

The special housing committee of the City Council will probably meet early next week, when the whole housing question will be thoroughly discussed and a policy recommended to Council. Undoubtedly it will recommend the forming of a commission to carry on this work.

From reports, it appears that a considerable number of people are anxious to take advantage of this scheme. In some cases, however, a clear conception of its advantages it not understood.

Some people think it may be an opportunity for speculation by some person. But this is practically impossible, because a person must pay a deposit before he takes possession of the house. Then if he decides to vacate the premises, the commission have the right to demand immediate payment of cash or of even selling the house themselves without the individual receiving anything from the sale. The idea is to help the working people, not the speculator, and ample authority is given the commission by law to protect this principle.

Another misconception that some people interested in this scheme in this city appear to have is in the grant to the war veterans. A war veteran may occupy the house built under the housing scheme without a deposit, but he must have some one to give security for payment of the debt incurred and to bear all liability. The Government felt it their duty to protect the people's money in this way.

And many other precautionary measures have been taken that give protection to both householders and the Government. This is not a charitable institution, but rather a method of giving the people of this province homes that they can call their own, and to lend them the capital necessary to that end at the low rate of 5 per cent. interest.

FIUME SETTLEMENT

INT. COMMITTEE FOR BOXING WILL RADICALLY REVISE RULES

Uniformity is Aimed at—Will Fix Weights—Willard is Anxious to Box

Dr. Joseph E. Raycroft, chairman of the commitee on rules and weights of the International Sporting Club, has called a meeting of the members for next Friday afternoon to devise a new and equitable set of regulations for the government of the sport in America and to fix a scale of weights to be enforced infuture contests in this country.

A vilations of nearly all existant rules of boxing characterize a majority of bouts and as the so-called scale of weights is chiefly honored in the breach it readily can be seen that the committee has an important task on hand and that its action is apt to have a powerful influence for good on the future of boxing in America.

It is not unlikely that the deliberations of this committee may result in the establishment of uniform boxing rules and weights in all countries where the sport flourishes, as it is conceded by all interested in the pastime that uniformity would have a very beneficial effect.

The French Federation of Boxing recently announced that an international conference to arrange uniform laws for the sport would be held in Paris, December 5, and Major Biddle, president of the International Sporting Club, received an invitation to attend. Major Biddle said he would be unable to accept, and declared the better plan would be for European boxing officials to come here and attend a conference on the opening of the International Sporting Club next February.

U. S. Has the Champions.

Beadle's attitude is based on the fact that America boasts five of the six world's champions, titles being held by Herman, bantam; Leonard, lightweight; Britton, welter; O'Dowd, middleweight, and Dempsey, heavyweight.

Wilde holds the flyweight championship of the world and the world's title in the featherweight and lightheavyweight classes are in abeyance.

In view of these important facts the opinion is held that England and France should come to America to talk about international rules.

In the meantime the rules committee of the International Sporting Club will proceed to clarify and amend the present incomplete and confusing regulations and to fix a scale of weights that can be enforced.

There is excellent reason for the belief that the code when complete will meet with the approval of foreign boxing organizations and be adopted by them.

In addition to Dr. Raycroft as chairman, the committee includes in its membership Walter Camp, Major Biddle, Warren Barbour, George Dwyer, Charles Thorley, William A. Brady and Tex Rickard.

Willard Would Box

Ray Archer, business manager of Jess Willard, on a recent visit to this city declared that the former champion is so intent on getting another match with Dempsey that he has started training in anticipation of a bout with the new title holder before the winter closes. Willard is said to realize that he made a serious blunder in his method of preparation for the Toledo combat and is of the opinion that with different training methods he would be able to give a much better account of himself.

In order to receive public indorsment for a return to the ring Willard would be compelled to do more than change his system of training. He would be required to get into the ring withsome of the men beaten by Dempsey and prove that he was in condition to fight. Knockout Brennan would be an excellent chap for Willard to practice on, and if the Kansan beat Brennan in quick time, the former circus man might be accepted as an opponent of the present champion in another contest.

TIGERS TO PUT UP STRONG FIGHT

IT IS EITHER TIGERS OR MONTREAL FOR CHAMPIONSHIP SATURDAY

It is either Tigers or Montreal for the championship, and next Saturday's game here will decide it. And if "dope" counts for anything, that Montreal outfit is going to offer stronger opposition than any team the Tigers have encountered this year. Tigers claim that they should have won the game at Montreal, pointing out that it was mistakes and fumbles that lost for them, but the showing of the Montreal team since shows that it must be given the most serious kind of consideration. The Montreal team scored just as many points against Ottawa on Saturday as the Tigers did, a week before a week previous, but Ottawa managed to score more points against the easterners than they did against Tigers. Montreal, however, registered a victory over Argos at Toronto, something Tigers were unable to do this year, and defeated the Oarsmen worse on Toronto grounds than Tigers defeated them here. The Montreal team is a much stronger aggregation than when Tigers played in Montreal, but, of course, Tigers have also gained in strength by about 200 per cent. Win or lose, Tigers are going to have the game of their lives next Saturday, and some of the older enthusiasts will remember how the Montreal team spoiled Hamilton's chances in 1907, the first year of the Interprovincial, by defeating the Bengals at the H.A.A.A. lot, by a score of 12 to 5, when it was thought at that time that Tigers were invincible. Tigers won the return game in Montreal that year, but by the closest of margins. Argonauts were mighty hard to beat, but on form Montreal will be even harder.

BOXING FEATURES

Star Card Prepared For Grand Army Glove Show

Toronto, Nov. 5.—It is a star card that Matchmaker Hallett has lined up for his Grand Army boxing show at Massey Hall Thursday night. There will be two feature ten-round bouts and as many six-round contests, with a wrestling match between Artie Edmunds and Jack Forbes winding up the entertainment. General Gunn's belt, emblematic of the Canadian championship, is at stake in the Frankie Bill-Young Erne set-to. The latter recently fought a six-round draw with Willie Jackson at Philadelphia. Bull is training hard and is confident. The Rocky Kansas-Eddy Dorsey bout will introduce two new boxers to the Toronto public. Both are ringsters of note. Kansas has a record as a knocker-out and the colored boxer is not deficient either in skill or punching ability himself.

Frank Hoppe in Billiards Set Mark at 14.1 Style of Play

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 4. — Frank Hoppe, of Cornwall, N.Y., brother of Willie Hoppe, the world's champion billiardist, set a new world's record here last night, running 113 balls at 14.1 style of pocket billiards is an exhibition match. The run was stopped when Hoppe had reached his 125 points, and it was unfinished. He defeated his opponent, Harry W. Irst, of Grand Raids, 125 to 16. The record was formerly held by Morton Phillips, of Chicago, with a ran of 74, which was made in 1913.

THE CENTRALS WON FROM BUSY BUNCH

BOWLING AT THE Y. M. C. A. —SPLENDID WORK BY C. LACHEUR

The Centrals scored again in the "Y" Bowling League on Monday night taking 3 games from the Busy Bunch, where the absence of Hardill was a great handicap. The scores were good and the Busy Bunch fought hard for the games and for a place on the top line. George and Jack Green bowled well for the winners, the former making the highest score for the night. No one player deserves the blame of losing for the Busy Bunch. C. Lacheur set the pace by chalking up a good score each game. Scores:

Plymouth, Nov. 5.—Lady Astor made her first official speeches in the campaign which is to determine whether she will be the first woman to sit in the House of Commons. In today's speeches she invited questions and the invitation was complied with in considerable volume. One question related to her attitude on prohibition and she answered this by saying: "No one can make me say that drink ever did anyone any good. You can't make me smother my real opinions. But I tell you frankly that I do not intend to take away what you want. I believe in giving you the opportunity to vote however you please in such matters."

NO WEDDING GIFTS.

Railroad President Issues a Peculiar Request to Guests.

Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—An unusual phrase marks the invitations to the wedding of Miss Ruth Rea, daughter of Mr. Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The cards bear the request:

"Please send no gifts."

Miss Rea will be married to Lieut. Commander Geo. B. Junkin, U.S.N., at her father's country home at Bryn Mawr on Nov. 15.

Certain friends of Mr. Rea say his desire himself to furnish his daughter with everything that she may wish was the cause of the unusual request. Others believe it was prompted by his wish to avoid seeming to take advantage of his position as president of the Pennsylvania railroad lest employes should feel on that account that they should send gifts.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM GAS

Belleville Chief of Police and Family Almost Asphyxiated.

Belleville, Nov. 5.—Police Officer J. Truiach of this city, his wife and six children last night had a narrow escape from asphyxiation from coal gas, which emanate from a coal stove. The officer was awakened by one of the children crying. He was so overcome by the gas he could scarcely reach the child. It was only by the prompt arrival of physicians that the lives of some members of the family were saved.

LABOR LEADERS ESTIMATE COAL MINES WILL BE CLOSED A MONTH

Fuel Administrator Garfield Prepared to Fix Prices on Anthracite at First Sign of Selling Advance.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Nov. 5.—Labor leaders who had taken a hopeful view of the coal strike situation after hearing of Samuel Gompers' suggestion for a settlement, were plainly disturbed by news that the Department of Justice would let the injunction stand. All agreed that this would keep the strike going for some time. This also was the view of the operators.

Confidential reports today to the Department of Justice said that fifty per cent more men worked in the coal mines in Colorado yesterday than the day before. A number of mines were said to be running full force.

Close a Month.

Labor leaders, a bit more specific than operators, estimated that all union mines would remain closed at least four weeks. Other estimates cut that time in half, but officials, although without word of direct efforts to bring the two sides together, still held firmly to the view that the strike would not run that long.

Ready to Fix Price

Returning here from a trip to the West, Fuel Administrator Garfield took active control of the situation and made ready to fix a maximum price on anthracite at the first evidence of attempts to advance the selling price. Dr. Garfield took part in a number of conferences during the day, but it was stated officially that he had not discussed settlement of the strike with operators.

FATHER PUNISHES VERY SMALL CHILD

LET OFF ON SUSPENDED SENTENCE BY MAGISTRATE DUMBLE

A Cameron street resident appeared before Magistrate Dumble in Police Court this morning charged with cruelly treating his child aged 15 months.

Several neighbors were summoned as witnesses, and swore they had either seen or heard the accused slapping the child very severely. It is much too young and small to receive such punishment, they said.

Mr. George Powell, secretary of the Children's Aid Society, stated that he had been shown bruised places on the child's back a couple of days after the whipping took place.

The child is much too small for [illegible] in their opinion that it was on account of cruel treatment that it is not as developed as children of its age usually are.

One witness stated that she had helped take care of the little one when its father was overseas, and that it was then a good child, not deserving of any punishment, even should a child of that age should be punished at all.

The magistrate allowed defendant free on suspended sentence, with a severe warning that the law would not allow cruelty by a father toward his own child.

The Children's Aid Society prosecuted, with Mr. Wearing as their solicitor

TEST OF FOAMITE FIRE EXTINGUISHER HERE

WILL DEMONSTRATE ITS POWERS TO MOTHER DANGEROUS FIRES

The Foamite fireproof fire extinguisher, which is being so widely advertised throughout the country, will be demonstrated here, probably at the exhibition grounds, in a few days.

This is a hand extinguisher that is guaranteed to smother the fiercest blaze. Incidents are told of where huge gasoline tanks have accidentally exploded, and before the building in which they were situated, or any of adjacent premises could catch fire, this Foamite extinguisher was applied with such effect as to extinguish the blaze and prevent costly damage.

For the test to be held here Foamite's demonstrators will saturate the ground over quite a large area with gasoline, oil and other highly combustable material. These will be ignited, allowed to burn for a short time, and then the extinguisher will be applied to test its efficiency.

These extinguishers are especially recommended for factories where there is any danger of explosions With one of them near by in the building, provided it lives up to its test, there is every reason for believing it would prevent dangerous fires from spreading.

The test here in the near future will be watched with considerable interest.

TAX EXEMPTION IS ISSUE IN TORONTO

PEOPLE TO BE GIVEN OPPORTUNITY TO VOTE ON THIS PROBLEM

Toronto, Nov. 5.—The city council is holding a special meeting today to consider the report of the special committee on assessment reform and recommendations contained therein, that the city solicitor be instructed to prepare a bylaw for submission to the people on New Year's Day to ascertain if they are in favor of taking advantage of the amendments to the Assessment Act providing for a graduated scale of exemptions from taxes, except for school purposes, on dwellings not exceeding $4000 assessed value.

The council will also consider the advisability of seeking legislation for further amendments of the Assessment Act to enable the city to assess realty improvements on a lower percentage than land. The first matter should have been reported upon by the board of control, but, although the recommendations were sent to that body in September, action has been deferred from time to time.

SOCIAL & PERSONAL

CLYDSDALE—CROWE

At St. John's Church at 9:30 o'clock this morning, Miss Lilian Olive Crowe second daughter of Ald. Jos. Crowe, was united in marriage to Arthur W. Clydesdale.

The bride wore a neat travelling suit of brown velour, and a Russian squirrel fur, the gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of red and gold chrysanthemums and was given away by her father.

Mr. R. J. Devey played the wedding march and Rev. Canon Davidson conducted the service.

The happy couple left for a short motor trip after which they will reside in the Steven's Apartments, George street.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Edmunds of Detroit has moved to Peterborough and now resides at 191 Sherbrooke st.

Rev. Canon Davidson was called to Toronto this afternoon on church and private business.

Mrs. F. Grey and Mrs. Johnston of Toronto are spending the week at their sister's Mrs. H. Wells, Harvey street.

Mrs. M. S. Nell, of Woodstock, is visiting in the city the guest of her brother, Mr. W. H. Croft, Reid street, city.

Mr. W. Leggott of Lakefield was in the city on Monday.

Mrs. A. J. Kidd and Miss Elsie Kidd of Lakefield spent a few days last week visiting friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Watson, of Toronto, were in the city yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Stanton, of Hamilton, were visiting friends in the city yesterday.

Miss Elva McIntyre, of Toronto, spent the week-end in the city, the guest of Miss Primeau.

Mr. Gordon Lamb, of the T. Eaton Co., Toronto, spent the week-end in Peterborough.

Miss Mabel Pennington, Oshawa, is visiting friends in the city.

A very pleasant social evening was spent yesterday in the form of a euchre party held in the Immaculate Conception Hall, East City, under the auspices of the rural parishioners. The guests numbering about 200 played a very interesting game and everybody enjoyed themselves greatly. During the course of the evening refreshments were served. Mrs. Steven Corkery won the ladies' prize and Mr. Joseph Galvin was the lucky gentleman.

Mr. Vernon Palmer of Hamilton was in the city today attending the wedding of Miss Lillian Crowe.

EX-MEMBERS OF EIGHTH CANADIAN MOUNTED RIFLES WILL ORGANIZE

Preliminary Arrangements at Meeting Last Night--Election of Officers Monday, Nov. 10th

The ex-members of the Peterborough Squadron of this regiment held a meeting in Major Medd's office last evening for the purpose of arranging for the organization of a social association. As more members attended than was anticipated Major Medd arranged for the holding of the meeting in the Board room of the Board of Trade. After discussion it was decided to go ahead at once with the preliminary arrangements. C. M. Drummond was appointed chairman and W. H. Field, secretary, and the business of the evening proceeded with. It was found that, of the 350 men who at one time or another had belonged to the squadron that nearly 100 have returned to their former occupations. The list of killed, wounded and died of disease is a large one and no less than three military crosses and several military medals are held by members of "D" squadron of the 8th Canadian Mounted Rifles, C. E. F.

Foster Social Life.

As the social life of the squadron has been necessarily curtailed during the war, the feeling was that less time should be made up for and as there was ample material for the different branches of athletics, arrangements will be made to take part in them, and as the feeling of goodfellowship and mutual support which characterized the unit from its formation and throughout the war, is still strong and distinctly evident in the meeting last night, there is no question of the support that will be given to whatever undertakings are decided upon.

Election of Officers

The formal organization of the association, including the selection and election of officers and installing them will take place on Monday, the 10th inst., at 8 p.m. in the lecture room at the armouries, accommodation there having been placed at the disposal of the ex-members of the 8th C.M.R., through the courtesy of Col. Young, the senior officer commanding, a vote of thanks was moved, seconded and passed, thanking the Board of Trade for the use of the Board room. The members stood at "attention' uncovered in silent memory of fallen comrades and the meeting closed with the National anthem.

AT THE S. A. TEMPLE TONIGHT

Lieut.-Col. Bettridge of Montreal is in the city and will meet all the young people of the local corps including Scouts and Guides, at seven o'clock tonight. Every young person of the 'teen age is requested to be present. At eight o'clock he will meet the seniors, and it is also requested that every member be present if possible. A very interesting time is anticipated.

HITS AT ALLIANCE

People Intellignt and Steady Without Spiritual Leaders.

"The Spectator," in his this week's column in the Canadian Churchman (Anglican), referring to the referendum, says:

"The feasting and thanksgiving, and clapping one another on the back, and the knowing nods and winks that mean 'We did it,' now indulged in by the Dominion Alliance and its subsidiary referendum committee is a bit gratuitous. It is an assumption that the people of Ontario didn't know what they wanted unt l these gentlemen came and told them. It is an assumption that the spiritual leaders of the people throughout the land, the sensible business men, farmers, laborers, mothers and sisters of the whole province were wandering about in the darkness until the light of the 'Pioneer,' the 'art' of the cartoonist, the essays on 'booze' fell upon their path and led them to the polls with minds and hearts refreshed and purified. And now the Alliance takes them by the hand and insists that they are all children of its ample household. The writer rejoices in the steadiness of the people in pursuing their own course and registering their own convictions in spite of the assistance they received from the quarters mentioned. There is a vast amount of intelligence, of ethical and spiritual leadership throughout the province that doesn't find its inspiration in the Lumsden Building, Toronto."

OBITUARY

MARY ANN HOLDEN

Mary Ann Holden, wife of Mr Thomas Holden, 346 Mark Street, passed away last night.

Deceased was born in England, but has been living in Peterborough for the past seven years.

She leaves to mourn her loss, besides her husband, four daughters and three sons. One son is in Egypt and one married daughter in England. The rest of the family are all residing in this city.

The funeral will take place to Little lake cemetery, Thursday afternoon, at two o'clock.

HIGH COST OF LIVING FIGURES IN DIVORCE

MRS. EBBETS, WIFE OF BASEBALL MAGNATE IS DENIED HER APPLICATION

Brooklyn, Nov. 5.—Justice Benedict, in the supreme court, refused a decree of divorce to Mrs. Minnie F. A. Ebbets, from Charles H. Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn baseball club. The justice decided that more than the legal five-year period under the statute of limitations had elapsed since Mrs. Ebbets discovered the alleged infidelity of her husband, and reached the conclusion that the action would not have been begun were it not for the fact that Mrs. Ebbets, forced by the high cost of living, was compelled to seek more money.

Suggestion was made that Mrs. Ebbets sue for a separation, and a hint is made that she might receive, in this event the same allowances which she would have gotten through a divorce. This amount was $6500 a year for twelve years, and all counsel fees.

Reviewing the testimony taken before the referee, the opinion stated that the plaintiff and defendant became reconciled about nine years ago after the defendant had confessedly been guilty of wrong doing and had been forgiven by plaintiff. They lived together for one year in a house which Mr. Ebbets provided for his wife on Ocean avenue, and then separated again.

Mrs. Ebbets was perfectly aware of her husband's misconduct from that time, the opinion continues. "Perhaps this situation would have continued indefinitely," said Justice Benedict, "had it not been that the plaintiff found it difficult recently to live upon the allowance made for her support. She testified that she thought last winter it was time she had 'different money.'

"I think it is difficult to escape the conclusion that the plaintiff was indifferent to the conduct of the defendant so long as she was able to live comfortably upon the allowance that he made for her support, and that she knew during all the period in question that he was untrue to her."

While Justice Benedict says he does not find evidence of collusion between the parties in the action, he says he has reached the conclusion that the case presents such indications of connivance on the part of the plaintiff and of delays upon her part in bringing the action that a decree of divorce should not be granted."

REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING.

The regular monthly meeting of the Peter Robinson Chapter, I.O.D.E., will be held on Friday evening at 7:30 in the Y.W.C.A.

THE MONTHLY MEETING OF THE LADIES AID

OLD-FASHIONED TEA MEETING ON EVENING OF NOV. TWELFTH

Notwithstanding the heavy downpour of rain yesterday afternoon the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid of George Street Methodist Church showed a large attendance, which fact is concrete evidence of the interest taken by this body in the work of their church.

The chair was occupied by the president, Mrs. C. E. Smith, while the devotional exercises were conducted by Miss Higgins. A feature of the meeting, much appreciated by the present, was a solo "My Task" rendered by Miss Doris Rathbone. A topic of general interest, discussion of which occupied considerable time had reference to the approaching old-fashioned tea-meeting which the ladies are putting on for the evening of the 12th of this month. An interesting programme is being arranged in which Mr. Ruthven Macdonald, the well-known Canadian baritone, will take the most prominent part.

The various committees of the society showed encouraging reports, dealing with the different branches of their work. None of the travelling 'baskets' which started on their voyage some time ago, have as yet reached "port" though wireless messages received from them report much of interest and profit.

Mr. Ross Freeman, of this city, left this morning to join his hunting club in Renfrew County.

WEEK OF PRAYER

The week beginning Nov. 9 is observed all over the world as a week of prayer for the Young Women's and Young Men's Christian Associations. At the local Y.W.C.A. this will be observed by various meetings, starting with a special vesper service on Sunday afternoon at 4.30. This meeting is open to every one, and it is hoped that a large number will unite in this special service of prayer for the work of the association all over the world.

The regular weekly meeting of the Story-telling Class will be held on Friday, Nov. 7, at 7.30. The subject under consideration last week will be continued. Those taking the course are asked to read Ruskin's "King of the Golden River" before coming to the class.

On Saturday night at eight o'clock the Campers' League will hold its monthly meeting. As important matters are to be discussed, it is hoped that every camper will attend.

Tonight at 8 o'clock Miss Olive Ziegler, of Toronto, will address a mass meeting for girls in the gymnasium of the Y.W.C.A. All girls are invited, especially girls from 13 to 20 years of age.

EUCHRE.

MAKING A SUCCESS OF YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Suppose you, Madame, were going into business on your own responsibility, you would have to put money into that business. You would hope and pray that your business would prove a success and that it would yield you an income—and perhaps a small interest on your money invested.

Canada is going into business in a bigger way than ever before. Moreover, Canada has to pay huge debts—honorable debts to her crippled sons, to all her soldier sons.

You are Canada. Do you grasp that? It does not matter whether you are a man or a woman. You are as much Canada as any other individual in the whole land. You are an enfranchised citizen.

You, as Canada, are going into business in this big, broad way. You must put money into it. You are getting a living out of Canada already (even though you are not earning it yourself, the living comes from Canada), and you know that from any money you invest in this bigger business you will draw a generous interest.

That is what you do when you buy Victory Bonds. You put your money into your own investment, and you get a living and interest on your money. You, like all other Canadians, reap the benefit of Canada's success. Then it is "up to you" as it is to all Canadians, to help towards achieving that success.

Canada can develop only as her people lend her the money for that purpose.

Put your money in Victory Bonds even to the point of having to economize. It is the best thing for yourself and for your country.

LANSDOWNE LODGE ENTERTAINS LINDSAY

WESTMINSTER LODGE MOTORED HERE AND SPENT ENJOYABLE, SOCIABLE EVENING

The regular meeting of Lansdowne Lodge, held on Monday, November was the occasion of a visit from Lodge Westminster, Lindsay, who motored down for the evening.

During the evening Bro. Boxall of Lindsay, Past Supreme President, presented the Past President jewel to Bro. A. Follis, who had filled the position of President of Lansdowne Lodge for two years. The members present, by their applause testified to the esteem and respect in which Bro. Follis is held by the members of Lansdowne Lodge.

After the lodge had adjourned, the members of both lodges enjoyed a sociable hour together around the festive board, and the following toasts honored: "The King" proposed by Bro. R. Waram; "Our Guests," proposed by Bro. Webb, responded to by Bro. Boxall; "Our Members who laid down their lives on the fields of France and Flanders," proposed by Bro. A. Follis, and responded to by the members in silence.

After the social hour the Lodge resumed its work. Candidates were advanced to the White Rose Degree.

The attendance was large and after the degree work was concluded the members stayed enjoying the good things that had been provided by the committee, and participated in games and social intercourse, finally separating in the early hours of the morning, well satisfied with the night's work and sport.

ome to the church by Mr. J. J. John. He grew eloquent. Speaking of the deeds of the Canadian soldiers, deeds that will never be forgotten; of how they repeatedly stepped into the breach and saved the cause of humanity. And the memory of those that fell and will never return will be cherished down the ages with love and thankfulness.

He, on behalf of St. Andrews church welcomed them back home to peace and quiet.

Replies From Soldiers.

Allen McNab was the first soldier to reply to the welcome. He did so in a soldierly manner thanking the people for their kind reception and referring to the difference between the "outfit" and "Duffy" and hard task.

When Normand Brand replied to the welcome extended to the returned men. He compared it to the Belgian welcome received by the Canadians just one year ago. He also spoke of the wonderful reception the Canadians received in London. "But the climax of them all is this welcome and supper this evening," he concluded.

Mr. E. Morey also replied on behalf of the soldiers thanking the congregation for their warm welcome. He told of a cook's life in the army and the difficulties they would be up against over there to supply a banquet like that just received.

Rev. (Capt.) Rollins also spoke of the wonderful support of the churches to the Canadian boys while they were overseas. He thanked the congregation for allowing him to serve in the overseas forces and yet retain his position of minister of St. Andrew's.

He thinks there is nothing the church cannot do now with the men who drove the German hordes from the Hindenburg line, taking hold of the work as they are taking hold.

Other Speakers.

Mr. R. H. Elliott of Toronto, spoke of the great work of the St. Andrew's People's Guild and the opportunities ahead of it now that the men are back home.

Mr. Andrew McFarland spoke a few words to the returned men welcoming them home and speaking of the great future ahead of the church now that the men were taking an active part in its work.

Mr. Fred McNeely spoke a few words expressing his appreciation of the great reception they were receiving.

Mr. George A. Gillespie referred to the wonderful way the returned soldiers as a whole were adapting themselves to civilian life. They saved the country and now they have returned to build up the nation.

Mr. J. J. Allen added a few words of welcome.

Mr. Bruce Fowler acted as chairman and kept the programme interesting throughout by his judgment in calling on certain songs at the right moment.

Miss Hellen MacLaren lead the singing at the opening of the programme and added much to its success.

Solos by Mr. Walter Farr and Mr. Walter Evans were greatly appreciated.

TRADES COUNCIL TO NOMINATE CANDIDATES FOR EVERY OFFICE

Will Try For Representation on the School Board, Public Utilities and Council Beside Running one of Their Members for the Mayoralty.

The Trades Council will put up a ticket at the next municipal election. They will not be satisfied with aldermanic candidates alone, but will nominate a man for mayor, and at least one for the Board of Education and another for the Utilities Commission. The recall system will be insisted upon with all the nominees.

This action was decided upon at the regular meeting of the Trades Council last night, and President A. J. Bolwell appointed Delegates Rudkins, Stenton and Quinn a committee to interview possible candidates.

Labor made a brave political show at last night's gathering, seven office-holding delegates being present. These were T. Tooms, M.L.A.-elect; John J. Hartley, member of the City Trust Commission; Ald. McIntyre, Labor's choice for the mayoralty, and Aldermen Crowe, Gainey, Garbutt and Morrison.

Ald. Gamble was called to account for voting against the move to have the property qualifications for civic office abolished. He said that he did not regard it as fair that property owners should sit in the same council as men who were merely tenants. In the event of an injunction being taken out against the aldermen, all legal expenses would naturally fall upon those who owned property, while the others would escape.

T. Tooms M.L.A.-elect, thanked the delegates for the financial and moral support which made his recent election possible, and promised to give his constituents the best service of which he is capable. He believes Walter Rollo of Hamilton will be the new Minister of Labor.

Delegates Mathews and Sharpe were appointed an organization committee, to look after all organization work in the city. The sum of ten dollars was voted the steel workers in the United States. The freight handlers of the city will be asked to send delegates to the Council.

Some time ago the Department at Toronto forbade the used of uncensored films in the motion picture houses. This was supposed to apply to the notice usually displayed to the effect that the operators engaged in such places were union men. This matter is to be investigated. No theatre that fails to display the sign, however, is to be regarded as non-union, as the matter is beyond the control of the management.

SENATOR W. H. BENNETT AT BOARD OF TRADE

SAYS TRENT CANAL WILL SOON BE OPEN FOR COMMERCIAL PURPOSES

The Board of Trade received a visit from Senator W. H. Bennett, who is particularly interested in the development of the Trent Canal system of waterways.

The Senator stated that next season a thirty-foot motor boat would be able to travel the entire length of the canal system from Trenton to Midland, connecting Lake Ontario direct with the Georgian Bay; and before very long the route would be opened up for commercial purposes.

He was assured that the local Board would give its hearty support to the development of this means such a potent factor in the growth of Peterborough.

REV. W. B. COSWELL SPEAKS OF GREAT FORWARD MOVEMENT OF THE CHURCHES

The Greatest Victory of All Time is not Far Off as the Churches Will Regain Waning Power.

St. Andrew's Church was filled to capacity last night at the first meeting of the United Churches of Peterborough in connection with the great National Forward Movement.

Rev. Dr. Graham, of Toronto, was to be the speaker, but he was unable to come and sent his associated, Rev. W. B. Coswell, who stirred up the audience to greater interest in the movement by his eloquent appeal.

He said, that in travelling around he had discovered that people went through three separate stages before they felt the greatness of and the opportunity afforded. In the first place they were like children asking questions, they wanted to know about it. Then they go through a stage of scepticism in which they doubted greatly that the movement would be a success, but would rather be a place where the church failed and would do much to hinder its influence. But then, in the third place they come to the full stage of belief. They look towards life's activities and toward the crown of mercies.

Who originated this mighty movement? It was not the clever inspiration of any individual or group. It grew out of the great need of the day. Like Topsey, it just grew up, out of necessity. The old world has gone out and departed forever amid the thunderings of war and a new world is dawning.

Peace is a great blessing but it has brought upon us more problems than we ever had to face before. This new order that is upon us demands something new and something strong.

Asia is throbbing with the pulse of many movements in their dawning. Paganism is reviving in China with startling rapidity. Old idols and ancient gods are being unearthed and worshipped and the Christian church is facing a terrible situation in China today. This is an age of movements and the church has realized its obligations and has commenced on a great national movement.

But this is not a time for pessimism. This is an age of all ages when living is sublime. The young manhood of this country has written a greater page of chivalry and sacrifice than has ever before been written upon the book of time. God is even coming near and revealing His presence through His people. But it is our duty to face facts as they are. The church of Jesus Christ is realizing a waning of her influence. There are no growing congregations throughout the land. The chaplains who served among the noble boys overseas saw that somewhere, somehow, Christianity had failed. They were noble men, sacrificing their all for humanity, but it was the exception when any of these volunteered any expression of Christian faith. The church has found itself in this position, that it is not giving to the world that necessary religious spirit required to save it from destruction.

And now the churches have banded together in the one great cause of the spiritual uplift of the world. Separation was a great weakness, not a source for strength. The only way in which the boys overseas were

A TORONTO MAN IS INSPECTING THE CITY'S PLUMBING

To Furnish Independent Report of Work Alleged Not Up to the Standard.

Plumbing Inspector Meadows of Toronto is here to inspect some of the city's plumbing work. He reached Peterborough yesterday afternoon and will devote a couple of days to his work.

This is the outcome of allegations made sometime ago by Editor Newsome of the Plumbing Trades Journal that such worn here did not measure up to the standard of other cities. After considerable discussion by Council and its Property Committee in this connection, together with correspondence between Ald. Hamilton, chairman of the committee and Mr. Newsome, the latter furnished a list of city buildings in which he claims the plumbing to be at fault, and describing in what way the work did not come up to requirements.

The City Council thereupon decided to have an independent inspection of the plumbing work in question, and succeeded in securing the services of the man now on the job.

Mr. Meadows has a copy of the city's plumbinghy-law, and will report what work, if any, is in contravention of that measure, and of any which, while within the requirements of the by-law is, in his opinion, not up to the generally accepted standard.

WARM RECEPTION FOR CLEMENCEAU

WOMEN AND GIRLS OF ALSACE GO WILD OVER FRANCE'S TIGER

Strasbourg, Nov. 5.—This city, the capital of reclaimed Alsace, extended a warm greeting this morning to Premier Clemenceau, who came here to deliver a speech intended, it is understood, to set forth the programme of the Government party in the Parliamentary elections campaign. The Premier who reached the city at 9 a.m., was met by Alexandre Millerand, the Governor of Alsace, and other notables, and was cheered by thousands of the populace as he passed before the guard drawn up in his honor. A picturesque feature was furnished by Alsatian girls in national costumes throwing flowers as the Premier went by.

"This is one of the greatest days of my life," the Premier exclaimed. "It was worth living for. Now I know I have not lived in vain."

Mingles With Crowd.

Brushing aside M. Millerand and others near him the 78-year-old Premier mingled with the crowds of Alsatians who had broken through the cordon formed by the police, who were not too insistent in keeping them back. Pretty girls virtually mobbed the "Grand Old Man" of France, who gave every appearance of enjoying the experience immensely. The girls and women welcomed him in the Alsatian dialect, which the Premier does not understand, but their resounding kisses on his weather-beaten cheeks needed no interpreter.

THE FIRST TOUCH OF WINTER DOWN EAST

HEAVY SNOW AND SLEET STORM— TELEGRAPH SYSTEM CRIPPLED

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Montreal, Nov. 6.—Quebec and Eastern Canada felt their first touch of real winter yesterday, when they were visited by a heavy snow and sleet storm. The telegraph system between here and the Maritime Provinces was badly crippled. The Trunk telephone line connecting Montreal with Sherbrooke and Eastern townships snapped during the day.

PETERBOROUGH'S CHANCE TO LEAD THE WAY

Peterborough city has the chance of being the first city in Ontario to report it's Victory Loan objective reached, and send in an order for the Prince of Wales' flag. The objective can be reached if the city, today, subscribes $120,000. The salesmen are out to get it. But everybody will have to help. It's a big sum, but not out of proportion. It can be done so let's do it. Remember that the Victory Loan headquarters will be open tonight as usual. If you have not already subscribed to the Loan do so tonight. Your dollars may be all that may be required to swell the day's totals to $120,000 and allow the officials to wire headquarters at Toronto that Peterborough has won.

MAYOR DUNCAN ASPIRES TO PLACE AS MEMBER UTILITIES COMMISSION

Plan is to Have Him Appointed in Council in Case Commissioner Matthews Resigns—Ald. McIntyre Asked to Abandon Mayoralty Ambition in Interests of Ald. Taylor

Mayor Duncan's term of office expires with the end of the year, but his Worship has no intention of retiring to private life, and his friends are already at work in an effort to secure him a place on the Utilities Commission. The term of Commissioner Hicks ends this year, and it is expected that Mr. T. F. Matthews, now a resident of Toronto, who was elected last year, will send in his resignation on nomination day.

Mayor Duncan has certainly been fortunate in the matter of attaining office without the formality and annoyance of passing through an election campaign. When he was first elected mayor he was returned without opposition through a combination of circumstances that occasionally helps out the man born under a lucky star. One year later the mayor was re-elected by acclamation according to precedent and on his record.

The plan proposed by Mayor Duncan's admirers now is that he resign as mayor just as soon as Mr. Matthews creates a vacancy on the Utilities Commission by retiring from office. Then the Council could appoint the mayor to the position, thus making him lucky for the third consecutive year.

Some of the Labor aldermen have been approached and asked to support such a scheme, but in that quarter there is nothing doing. The proposition smacks too much of the methods of Tammany Hall. The Labor contingent on the Council believe that if Mr. Matthews resigns on nomination day or any time before the end of the year the vacancy should be filled by an election instead of by appointment. The aldermen would probably be within their legal rights to carry out their present plan, but such a deal would to a good many people look like sharp political practice. If, say the objectors, Mayor Duncan is ambitious to sit on the Utilities Commission, then let him stand for election. One thing certain is that whether there are one or two vacancies on the Commission, Labor will put up a candidate.

Ald. McIntyre is Labor's choice for mayor, has been any time during the past two years. Ald. Taylor is ambitious to succeed Mayor Duncan and has asked Ald. McIntyre to step aside and leave him a clear field. By way of compensation for this sacrifice Ald. McIntyre is to be put up for the Utilities Commission, not appointed by the Council, but left to fight for a place against any candidate who may be in the running. Ald McIntyre, however, will be guided in this matter by the electors from whom he expects the bulk of his support.

Mayoralty candidates are numerous among the aldermen. Five out of the orthodox six have their lightning rods out. The sixth, perhaps from the Board of Trade standpoint the most desirable of the bunch as a candidate, hesitates to face the music under the present condition of unrest. There are outsiders who declare that the only possible solution of the problem created by this excess of mayoralty ambition is to bring in a dark horse to make the race against Labor's favorite.

NEW GOVERNOR TO OPPOSE DRY LAW

CONSTRUES HIS ELECTION TO INDICATE PEOPLES' MANDATE AGAINST PROHIBITION

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 6.—Governor-elect Edward I. Edwards announced today that he would use all lawful methods to prevent prohibition in New Jersey.

Preserve People's Sovereignty.

"For its enforcement by Federal Government I shall not be responsible," he said. "I construe my election as an indication of the feelings of the people of this state as to enforcing national prohibition. They are unqualifiedly opposed to it. Holding their mandate, I shall use all the lawful methods to preserve inviolent the sovereignty of the people."

MR. A. Sanders, executor for the estate of the late Mrs. June George, who was killed when an automobile she was riding in was struck by a street car, is suing the Sarnia Street Railway Co. for $25,000 damages.

NOT SO SURE THAT OHIO VOTED DRY

9 OF 88 COUNTIES GGIVE WETS A LEAD ON ALL FOUR QUESTIONS

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Columbus, O. Nov. 6.— Late returns today from Tuesday's prohibition election in Ohio, seemed to shatter the election night prediction of the Secretary of State, Smith, that the drys had carried the four prohibition proposals.

Fairly complete unofficial returns from 59 of the 88 counties gave the wets a lead of 14,000 on the repeal amendment, of 27,000 on the beer proposal, of 48,000 on ratification, and of 78,000 on the Crabbe bill.

Capture of Ishim, Also 12,000 Prisoners at Ustbuzuluk

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Nov. 6.—A Russian Bolshevik communication received here reports the capture of Ishm, 75 miles north of Petrograd, with 1200 prisoners. The communication also claims the capture of 1000 prisoners at Ustbuzuluk.

LABOR TRIUMPH IN ENG. ELECTIONS

MUNICIPAL CONTESTS END IN SUCCESSES AT MOST UNLIKELY PLACES

London, Nov. 6. The Laborites have greatly strengthened their position in the municipal councils, according to the results announced to-day. These results, however, will hardly afford a criterion for judging the possible outcome of the political elections because of the apathy shown by the voters. Labor captured 39 seats out of 42 in Poplar. Even in fashionable Kensington six Laborites were returned. Nine were elected in Chelsea. Labor is now the largest party in Bradford and Leeds municipalities.

The Evening News suggests the present victory largely represents the general resentment against shopkeeping profiteers.

The Times says the chief lesson is the proved existence of the election-winning Labor machine all over the country and adds that the party has successes at such unlikely places as Bath, Brighton, Oxford and Cambridge, sweeping the board at Gateshead and securing wholesale returns at Bootle.

Two police strikers were returned in Liverpool. All three women candidates were returned in Canterbury, but women were not successful elsewhere.

J. H. Thomas, the leader of the railwaymen, says the election shows that before long Labor is destined to rule the country.

BUILD SHIPS ON LARGE SCALE

BRITISH INTERESTS BEHIND EXTENSIVE PROGRAMME FOR CANADA

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Montreal, Nov. 6.—The Star today outlines proposition believed to be under consideration whereby important British interests behind the Canadian are trying to get 50,000 shares of the Dominion Steel Company at a cost of $3,500,000.

The intention of these British interests is to embark, through the Dominion Steel Company, in a large shipbuilding programme.

Personalities in Commons Indulged in—Pugilistic Exhibition in Corridor of House Yesterday.

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—Both the Commons and Senate had morning sessions today in an effort to clean up business and secure early propogation.

Bill In Senate.

The Senate discussed the Grand Trunk purchase bill, and Senator White joined other Government supporting senators in opposing bill as now constituted.

Fight in Corridor.

In the Commons, debate was continued on an amendment to the report of the soldiers' re-establishment comittee and developed into personalities in relation to Colonel John A. Currie, who was one of the commoners who indulged in a pugilistic exhibition in the corridor yesterday.

Dr. Edwards, of Frontenac, declared that Colonel Currie had all the bumptiousness and assurance of Kaiser Wilhelm, with none of the latter's modesty.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR CIVIC OFFICE.

THERE ARE three separate property qualifications for men who aspire to positions on the City Council.

The man who occupies a residence assessed for $2000, owned either by himself or his wife, and assessed in his name or that of his wife, is qualified for a candidate, whether such property is encumbered or not.

If he or his wife owns, and either one is assessed for a property that is assessed for $1000 over and above any encumbrances upon it, he is qualified.

Any resident can become a candidate for the City Council provided he has a leasehold on property assessed for $2000.

Qualifications for the Mayoralty or the Public Utilities Commission are the same as for the Council.

The man who has a home of his own, assessed for $1000, but carrying a mortgage of $100, which he is struggling to clear off, cannot become an alderman.

His more ambitious neighbor, who lives in a rented house, of which the assessed value is $2000, can, however, offer his services to the public. Or, if the man has the title to his residence, but owes interest on a mortgage of $1000, he is eligible.

Class distinction runs through every condition imposed by the law. No one can deny that the small householder has an interest in the community, as great as that of the citizen who may not own a dollar's worth of real estate but who is eligible for office while the other is not.

The fact that the man who holds a seat in the council on the strength of leasehold property cannot vote on money bylaws is cited as a conclusive argument against any change. If these bylaws are for the good of the municipality, as is invariably claimed by their promoters, why the implication that every man, unless he owns property, would vote to plunge the city into financial excess? If the adoption of such bylaws increase the city's obligations, why deny the tenant, who pays the taxes, the right to act in his own self-defence?

CONSERVATIVES IN THE LEAD.

OF THE 111 constituencies in Ontario, elections were held in 107 recently, the other vacancies having been filled by acclamation. Of these 107, full returns have been received from 61. These show a large plurality for the Conservatives. It was the multiplicity of parties in the field that accomplished the defeat of the Government. Politicians may manhandle the Province as they will, but the fact remains that Ontario is still Conservative to the core. The party is not dead, not even asleep

ALD. GARSIDE EXPLAINS.

ALD. GARSIDE tells his associates in the Trades Council just why it was he voted, as alderman, against the motion to have the City Council to memorialize the Legislature to abolish property qualification for civic office. It seems that his inspiration was self-preservation rather than a desire to maintain a class distinction.

Ald. Garside says that he would not sit in a council in which four of the members were property owners and the other six were tenants. Why? Because the six could out-vote the others on all questions of expenditure. If under such a system there was a foolish waste of public money, and an indignant electorate applied to the courts for restitution, only those aldermen who owned property could be held to financial account. Ald. Garside's house and lot would be appropriated for the common good just as would be the factory or the store of the other aldermen who were in the property-holding class.

"Ald. Garside, it seems, is permitting himself to be worried by groundless fears. He is simply seeing judicial ghosts. The picture which he draws of injunction proceedings, of public servants required to make restitution, is only a figment of his imagination. There is no precedent for such a course, and there is no probability of anything of the kind ever being done. If an elector or a number of electors felt that the council was about to embark on an extravagant policy, it might be possible to head them off by an injunction, but forcing them to make restitution of money already spent is an entirely different proposition. If such a system were in common operation, the poor houses of the country would be overflowing with public servants, civic, legislative and parliamentary, reduced to pauperism through mistakes—honest enough, perhaps, in their way—that they had made in their administration of public affairs.

Ald. Garside is evidently off the track in his reasoning. He might as well anticipate that aldermen be hanged for their offences instead of merely dragged into court and insist upon physical conditions for membership such as would make it certain that every man so condemned would be equal to the strain of walking unsupported to the gallows. But why dream of dangers and of injustice while ignoring those that actually exist?

CROSSING THE BRIDGE.

A GROUP OF educationists which has undertaken the task of instructing the school children of Canada in the merits of the Victory Loan has struck a very happy phrase. They describe the Loan system as the "bridge" to peace conditions. The plan of financing Canada by these great annual loans has assuredly proven the bridge which has enabled Canadians to safely travel over the slough of despond. It has averted the condition of trade depression and unemployment which would certainly have transpired in Canada when demobilization commenced, had it not been devised. If wage schedules are high today it must be attributed to the Victory Loan system. If the farmer's bank account shows a substantial balance, it must be attributed to the same cause; if the merchant, retail andwholesale, finds himself in a happy frame of mind over his annual statement, the credit must go to Victory Bonds in a large measure; if the manufacturer, despite labor troubles, finds things going pretty well and his salesmen bringing in big orders, it is again the same happy financial inspiration, born of the war.

It must not be forgotten that the bridge needs buttressing on its later spans. We are not across the valley yet. Collapse may ensue if the people of Canada, realizing what Victory Bonds have done for them so far, do not to a man go down in their pockets and by a safe and richly remunerative investment make the present Loan a success.

THE SYSTEM OF RECALL.

NO PRIVATE employer would hire a man for a term of one, three or five years and give him his head without keeping on him some string by which he could pull the worker up short in case he went wrong or showed any disposition to betray the man whose confidence he held.

This saving clause, written or understood, in every agreement between employer and employed, is, in embryo, the political recall system of which so much is heard in these days of changes. The recall system has been adopted by the Independent Labor party and is to be applied to the Trades Council candidates at the coming municipal election. Every man elected must leave his resignation in the hands of a designated committee. If he departs from his pre-election pledges the resignation is supposed to become effective.

It must be admitted that this is rather a crude arrangement, but it is the best possible in the way of recall under present circumstances. The office holder who wishes to resign must file his resignation with the body of which he is a member, and this body may refuse to accept it. The resignation in the hands of his friends becomes operative only if the member chooses to voluntarily retire from office.

The recall system works out to advantage only when it is legally recognized as a part of the general political machinery, and this standard has not yet been reached in Canada. In any State of the American Union where it is employed it is made operative by statute. The recall system [illegible] by a general vote of the party to which they severally belong, not at a hole-in-the-wall convention that so often chooses the candidate who is acceptable to a coterie of politicians. After all, the nomination of the candidates is really the important decision. Finally, choice between the nominees, who are really representatives, is a comparatively easy matter. There can be no desirable representatives unless there are candidates of that class.

Where the primary election and recall system is in operation, provision is made that if any party is dissatisfied with the services of its representative, it can by presenting a petition signed by a designated percentage of those who elected him, demand his resignation. These conditions complied with, the elective body to which he belongs has no alternative but to drop him from the roll of membership. That is an entirely different matter from having his political fate decided by a committee of his party, or in trusting to the honor of the representative to keep his pledge. If he broke faith in one case, why not in another?

It is nothing unusual for a man elected to office to depart from the course he laid out for himself during his campaign. He may bolt altogether and go over to the opposition. In that case his supporters have no redress. The recall system has never been applied in Canada, because the people are disposed to permit a laxity with regard to their public servants that would not be tolerated for a moment in private affairs.

WAR HAS LOST ITS ROMANCE FOR EVER

In today's article, the third of the series he has written for this newspaper, David Wark Griffith, noted author and moving picture director, gives some of the conclusions reached by him as a result of his recent tour of the European battle front, during which he was given opportunities to see what is going on in the war such as have been granted no other man in civil life. This is the third article of Mr. Griffith's series. "Hearts of the World" will appear at the Allen Theatre, beginning Monday.

This awful thing must never be allowed to happen again as long as the world lasts.

That is the thought that was uppermost in my mind as I stood in the front line trenches in Flanders and watched the horrid tragedy of war blazing back and forth across the wastes of No Man's Land. And that is the universal cry that is coming from all the tortured nations at war.

All Europe was pressing on to more fighting, more blood and more suffering, in the hope that this debacle of slaughter might sweep warfare out of the world forever.

This desolate and piteous cry has probably followed every war since the world began. Has our anguished prayer any better chance to be heard than all the other cries for peace that come echoing with mockery to us of the illimitable sorrows of the past?

From my own experiences at the front it occurs to me that our generation has perhaps a better weapon to use against war than those who wept in ages gone by.

To my mind it is clear that this grim reeking monster, war, is very likely to perish from the earth forever owing to a shortage of his favorite food—romance.

There is no question in all that happens, comparatively owing to the eagerness of soldiers for adventure. The military caste in every country is ever pressing for war.

If there had been no military caste in Germany there would have been no war. And without the picturesque glamor that always has gone with armies there would have been no military caste.

Stripped of its feathers, it would have been difficult to persuade men to become soldiers.

The proposition that he give up his daily work for two years in order to learn how to kill men he never saw would have been rejected with indignation by every German alive. But the progress of raising the great German army was insidious and fascinating.

Consider the case of the German farm boy. From infancy he has been getting up at daybreak; he has worked all day in the fields when not pegging away at school. At night he crawled into his weary bed. Day followed day in sodden succession. Nothing came to lighten his life. Every day was like every other day was a day of bitter unintesting toil.

The time came when he was called to the colors. He found himself transformed into a young god. He stood at a palace gate with a drawn saber flashing in his hand. A silver breast plate covered the swelling chest that but yesterday was concealed by a soiled farmers smock. On his head was a silver casque with a tall horsehair plume that nodded and tossed in the breezes. When he went on guard duty a magnificent military band escorted him down the Linden. Emperors and princesses answered the salute of his gleaming sword. At times he rode forth on a proud charger who minced his steps like a dancing master.

This was the farmer boy's day of glory. Never thereafter would he walk the plow furrow with the same sodden step. He had lived. And it was the grim cruel monster War who had made him live, who had breathed this subtle flattery into his ear to make him a slave for future slaughter.

To a lesser degree was this true in other countries. The sentry of the Horse Guards in London was the proudest sight in England.

Our civilization has been guilty of our tragic error.

It has made the machinery of peace dull, tiresome, stupid, old.

It has made the machinery of war vivid, picturesque, beautiful, attractive. Armies thrill with life and adventure. Armies are proud they tingle with pride.

Peace is lived by the rules of old men. Young men go to war and fight until the world thrills with their fighting. Then old men take up the threads and lay down the rules by which the world shall live. And they send back the glowing young hero of yesterday to live again the sodden life of the dawn-to-sunset worker.

War has been described as the failure of peace; and this is one of the reasons why it has failed again and again and yet again and always throughout the ages.

Peace does not offer enough latitude for youth; and the young blood that flows hot and strong.

Various remedies have been offered for the correction of this crucial error of civilization. It appears to me that the evil is about to correct itself.

There is a chance that war is over for all time.

RECOLLECTIONS OF A POLICE MAGISTRATE

BY COL. GEORGE T. DENISON OF TORONTO IN THE CANADIAN MAGAZINE

One noted character who came before the Court thirty years ago was a big Irishwoman who stood nearly six feet in height and was strong and heavy. The Police had great trouble whenever they attempted to arrest her for drunkenness. One alone would never attempt it. She was often fined for drunkenness, and would serve her term in jail. Sometimes she would be arrested for vagrancy, for wandering about the streets without a settled home, and was several times fined for that. Then she rented a small house, and having friends who like herself appreciated stimulants, it happened that the house was the scene of drunken rows; and fighting and bad language could be heard until the place became a nuisance. While a row was going on one night the Police came down and arrested everyone in it. The woman was sentenced to a fine of sixty days in jail, and before she left the dock to serve her sentence, she turned to Sergeant Ward in charge of the Police division, and said: "Sergeant Ward, dear, before I lave I want to spake to you. Ye have brought me here often, and had me sent down for being drunk. Then when I would not get drunk, you brought me in for being a vagrant and had me sent down for not having a home. Thin I get a house, but there is no plasing ye, and ye bring me up for keeping a disorderly house. Now, Sergeant dear, there is no place left for me, except a balloon, like a good fellow have a balloon for me when I come out." The Police were obliged to let her have her say before they could take her to the cells, for great bodies move slowly. Ward was often chaffed about the balloon. In those days when airships and areoplanes were unknown the joke was much more effective.

This reminds me of another story of the same type. An Irishman who was a member of the House of Commons for an English constituency, some years ago called on me, and I asked him to sit on the Bench with me, and he afterwards told me a story brought to his mind, evidently by the fact that I was a Magistrate, and a Colonel of Militia. He said a friend of his who had been a Major of Militia, and was a Magistrate in Ireland, was one day, trying his cases, when he had to send an Irishwoman, of the same type as the one I have just described, to prison for a term, when she addressed the Magistrate in these words:

"Well, Major, I want th say this to ye, that me father was hanged for murther, me husband was hanged for murther, me eldest son is serving penal servitude fir life, for shooting a landlord, (note the fine distinction) and my two daughters are earning a disgraceful living in Dublin, but I thank the Good sord, and the Holy blessed Virgin Mary, that there was none of my people was ever connected with the Militia."

A NOCTURNAL VISITATION INVADES AND ASTONISHES PETERBOROUGH

Reported Visit of Invading Airplane—An Alleged Eye-Witness Reveals the Story

We regret to chronicle the fact that there seems to have been a grave dereliction of duty, attention to duty, on the part of some one, possibly several. This municipality has been invaded and an outrage perpetrated while the communists of the community slept. Slumbered, it is inferred between clean and fragrant sheet, blissfully as becomes the people of Peterborough, fastidious in such appointments.

A palpable outrage. And if so, may it not be asked, where were the police? Surely the lassitude that followed the fatigues of the late [illegible] because [illegible] negligence implicated. No one was to blame. Merely a gentlemen's misunderstanding. Still it has to be noted, that at time of writing the police have no clue.

As the outrage was perpetated on the surface of our sidewalks, some of them as yet not paid for, what about the city engineer? He is the visible protector of the places where our gentle footsteps fall. He was asleep, no doubt. The Hunter street bridge, in which he is implicated would put anybody to sleep. And where was the street commissioner, who lubricates our otherwise abrasive streets. His responsibility is apparent. Does the assessor realize that these miscreants have slid out of town without paying poll tax?

Then there is the tax collector, always on the job. Did he hasten to his office to look into the case. Not much. Did, we ask, the city solicitor rush to serve a mandamus or habeus corpus or some other missile? Not that could be noticed. Besides there is the medical officer of health. Surely he will be disturbed when he learns of the nocturnal visitation ,annoying to the peace of mind and digestion of his constituents. May head them off from subscribing to the Victory Loan. Serious matter, that. And, finally, where were the vigilant representatives of the local press? Missed a scoop, by Heck. No doubt all these people mentioned in the indictment will shy away from suggestion of blame. But some one has to be blamed, and its easier to give it to them than to bother selecting others, let alone the caretaker, who caretakes when every other man deserts the job of caring for the great public.

Missed the Chimneys.

But to resume.

From the best information attainable, indeed it is largely surmise and as yet lacks confirmation, a large and corpulent airplane descended on the vacant plot adjoining the Carbon works. That fact alone, if a fact, proves that those handling the machine possessed consumate skill. Not one chimney in the vicinity was knocked over. Not a freight car of those sprinkled along the siding stayed in. Not a picket on the valuable fence was broken, and pickets, mind you, cost money nowadays. Landed as positively and firmly as a hungry cat on a saucer of new milk. Not one of the inmates of the neighbouring hen roosts was astounded, and it is well known and generally recognized by the university authorities and current in the best Normal Schools that hens are a veritable feathered barometer on the matter of ascending or descending airplanes. If you keep hens you know it.

It is understood, but not verified, that the only possible eyewitness, was a man who was scouting around the old sheds near at hand, to see if the city had deposited any unused coal in the vicinity. If he had gone and asked the city treasurer he would have had full and free information. But some people always go at a thing wrong-end foremost. Any way, his reported story is, as well as he could make out from the hair that surrounds our fourteen candle power street lamps that a stranger carrying immense feet crawled out of the cockpit of the machine. Three others were ejected after him. All seemed to be arrayed in costume that looked to be a cross between an under-water diver and a justice of the peace. Not fashionable but serviceable. The head centre, as we will designate the first conspirator wrenched at the dingus, turned over the thinginbob, lowered the rigamajig, grunted thrice and twisted the what looked like a massive cyanidor, an assortment of lubricatore, three carpet sweepers, a large demijohn, a handful of tooth brushes and a big square of cork matting. He also extracted a garden rake and an adding machine. At least the above is what the observer thought he saw but his veracity is not at stake. It is apparent that the nefarious plot had been prepared with thoroughness. It is also apparent that the party were bent on some strenuous enterprise, same as the chap that took the railing off the Smith street bridge. It may be added that three more crawled from the tail of the machine, armed with pitchforks, smiles of intense radiance and fiendish glee flitting across the expansive mugs.

The solitary eye and ear witness is not positive, though his affirmations would seem to be of at least equal value with many offered a the late police investigation, state that the demijohn was uncorked, a quantity of the white-colored contents poured out on the cork matting and the whole smoothed out with the carpet sweepers and neatly trimmed around the edges with the tooth brushes. Then to the consternation of the alleged eye witness the entire congregation leaped on the cork matting and danced. He observed that the feet of the dancers were obstrusive just like the 18c-a quart milk cans on the rest platform alongside the 38-per-pound cheese factory. Danced, well, yes. Elfin artistic and ponderous.

Presently the diversion ceased.

Each participant lay down on the ground on his back. It may be remarked that it is apparent he could n't have laid down on anyone else's back, could he. That's settled. The principal conspirated deftly applied to the soles of the gigantic shoes sheets of what looked to be paper. Then the figures were jerked up right and assembled in line.

Clock Rank Two Bells.

It is on record that the city clock struck the hour of two. That seems to be about the only thing that is positive about the whole transaction. All city functionaries were non est. The police in obscurity. And while the whole municipality was in imminent danger the fire alarm system did not go off or turn a hair. The line of accomplices marched to the valuable picket fence, climbed over without displacing the pickets, or indeed the paper, strode across the street and reached the sidewalk. The grand master replaced the cork in the demijohn.

In a twinkling the entire corps disappeared. The observer crawled from under a freight car, adjusted his whiskers, disguized himself by turning his coat inside out as is now becoming frugal and fashionable and followed. In a jiffy the fell purpose was exposed. At convenient corners the pirates squatted on the edge of the sidewalk, skinned the paper from their soles, gained the centre of the concrete and with steps of gigantic width paced in the direction of the centre of the city. As they walked they left their marks. For impressed on the surface of the walk was an outline of the shoe sole, enclosing the legend "Follow Me."

Our informant followed discreetly, if respectfully, and having a liberal common school education, presently concluded that all tracks were converging on one point or place. A careful reader of the papers, and also as an attendant at the Y.M.C.A., the recently frequented political headquarters, the rendezvous of the U. F. O., and selected fishing spots around the city he had been advised of the Victory Loan. His wife had also remarked to him that if he ever expected to amount to anything he would have to subscribe. Taking the middle of the street, and keeping a careful eye—in fact his only eye—on the proceedings, he presently saw that the miscreants gathered at 336 George street, the home of the Victory Loan. As might be expected the staff were recreating, after a most strenuous day. The party could not find entrance, and while they waited and debated the leader gave a most energetic and graceful kick, implanting on the door his sign manual, "Follow Me." The others turned about to find a street car on which to imprint what was in their minds and on their feet but the street was a blank. Both cars and conductors were sleeping, even the fares boxes taking a rest. A roar of motors was heard overhead, and presently the plane rested gracefully and lightly on top of the city building. A rope was lowered and one by one the invaders were hoisted.

PARLIAMENT TAKES UP MATTER OF GRADUITIES FOR VETERANS

Report of Special Committee Presented by Hon. J. A. Calder Who Says There is no Money for the Object in View Col. Currie and Others Favor G. W .V. A. Plan

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—The Commons House committee, while it had not addressed itself to the important task of dealing with the report of the special committee on soldiers' civil re-establishment, recommending extensions of the work on behalf of returned members of the Canadian army, but rejecting proposals involving the payment of further cash gratuities. Hon. J. A. Calder, Minister of Immigration and Colonization, as chairman of the special committee, explained the report and moved its adoption. Before the sitting was adjourned, however, Major G. W. Andrews, of Winnipeg, presented an amendment calling for the adoption of the plan of re-establishment prepared by the Great War Veterans' Association, and calling for such alterations in the report of the committee as would provide for the necessary expenditures.

The Great War Veterans' plank, which was submitted to the House committee, proposed grants to be made to ex-soldiers on an equal basis regardless of military rank, to be computed according to service and to be used to carry out certain specified forms of re-establishment.

The Veterans' committee estimated the total gross cost of their scheme, if put into execution, at $397,800,000, but they believed that there would be reductions due to cases in which grants were not claimed or the need of re-establishment was not proven, or in which the necessary aid would be given through Government departments. They, therefore, estimated that the actual cash outlay of the country would not exceed $200,000,000. An interesting feature of the debate was that Mr. Calder, while explaining that the committee's report was not binding upon Parliament, in reviving to a question also said that the Government did not believe further gratuities possible, and that if such were voted by Parliament the problem would have to be felt for solution by another administration.

Outlines Proposal.

Mr. Calder gave a detailed explanation of the recommendations of the committee which necessitate further expenditures for various purposes, including care of unemployment during the winter to the amount of $50,000,000. He pointed out that the gratuity plan proposed by J. Harry Flynn of the United Veterans' League would involve an expenditure of one billion dollars and an interest charge of $55,000,000; that the Veterans' plan would necessitate an expenditure of nearly $400,000,000 with interest charges amounting to more than twenty millions a year, and that the plan offered by Col. J. W. Margeson, president of the Ottawa G.W.V. and a member of the Pension Board would mean an expenditure of $200,000,000 and interest charges of $11,000,000 a year. Mr. Calder gave the House details of expenditure made and to be made to re-establish the veterans and to provide pensions for them and for their dependents. He claimed that no country in the world had gone farther in the payment of gratuities. He spoke of the commitments of Canada at the present time, and asserted that the special much as one would raise, as one would with extreme care hoist precious pork, into the place. As the last one scrambled aboard he tried to plant his imprint on the face of the city clock, but the clock, as usual, was too fast for him. With a volley of explosions, the plane lifted and fled away to—say to Cobourg—or some other poor but deserving locality.

committee was fully unanimous in the opinion that in the face of those committments there could be no further distribution of cash gratuities. The committments of the country, he said formed the crux of the whole situation.

Major Andrews, mover of the amendment, was opposed to promiscuous handing out of money to all returned men. He felt sure, however, that the people of the Dominion would be willing to supply absolute needs of those men. He contended that the question was one of ways and suggested a stiff measure of taxation.

Suggests New Taxation.

H. A. Mackie, of Edmonton, seconder of the motion, developed this theme. He proposed that taxes be levied upon men of military age who had not gone to the front, upon men who had attained the age of 21 years since 1914, upon newcomers to the country and upon foreigners who had been in Canada during the war. He also proposed an arrangement whereby Federal taxes might be levied upon transfers, mortgages, bills of sale and other legal instruments.

Col. John A. Currie of North Simcoe, in a vigorous speech, took the broad stand that the returned soldiers were entitled to gratuities and that precedents existed for the granting of such gratuities. He took the position that many of the expenditures proposed by the Government could stand for a few years in order that grants might be made to the veterans. He attacked the soldiers' land settlement regulations as "paternalism gone mad," and criticized the income tax. Col. Currie stated that J. Harry Flynn of the United Veterans' League had said the soldiers would be satisfied with gratuities of $1000, $500 and $300. He contended that if the Customs tariff were increased revenue could be obtained to carry the cost of payment of gratuities. He said that the Customs taxation had been reduced four per cent. during the war, and that if that four per cent. were restored it would pay the cost of the Flynn proposals. Col. Currie regretted that the Conservative party, which had gone boldly into the war, was not in power now. It would, he was confident, find funds with which to pay the gratuities to the soldiers.

Fight in Corridor.

Col. Currie had a lively altercation with Dr. Edwards of Frontenac toward the close of his speech. Earlier in the day he had an encounter with Dr. Cowan. Dr. Cowan had interjected a remark which Col. Currie regarded as insulting, while the member for North Simcoe was putting some questions to Hon. J. A. Calder during the afternoon. Col. Currie showed his resentment when he met Dr. Cowan in the corridor a little later. He slapped the Regina member in the face. Dr. Cowan retaliated with a blow with his cane. Finally J. A. Robb of Chateauguay-Huntingdon, who was nearby, separated the combatants.

PROFITS SMALL SAY PACKERS

ARGUMENTS PRESENTED TO THE BOARD OF COMEERCE AT OTTAWA

Ottawa, Nov. 5. — The Board of Commerce this morning listened to the arguments of representatives of Canadian packers, who came to Ottawa to protest against the order of the board fixing the prices of pork products at those prevailing on March 10 last. After a discussion, during the progress of which it was suggested by the packers that the whole matter should be gone into more exhaustively before prices were fixed, the sitting adjourned until this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Profit Margin Small.

The chief contention of the packers was that the margin of profit on pork products was a very narrow one, and that the fixing of prices would result in loss. H. Puddy, of Puddy Brothers, Toronto, speaking on behalf of a number of the smaller packers, who do not engage in export trades, intimated that some of these firms might be driven to the wall if the order was insisted upon. The representatives of the larger packers took the ground that the domestic prices for pork products must necessarily be controlled by export prices. If the foreign market was willing to pay higher prices than the domestic, packers dealin in the export trade could afford to pay higher prices for hogs. The producer of hogs naturally preferred to sell to the exporter, and the domestic packer must meet these prices or do without the raw material.

Cannot Get Prices Fixed.

The packers stated that they were unable to get the prices fixed by the board on certain pork products because the public did not want these products. On the other hand they were precluded from charging higher prices on pork products, for which there was a demand.

The packers interests were represented by [illegible] Gunn, Harris Abattoir Co.; E. C. Fox, William Davies Co.; O. W. Waller, Swift Canadian Co.; J. A. Gunn, Gunns, Limited; H. Puddy, Puddy Brothers; R. G. Dobie, Canadian Packers' Association, and S. E. Todd, of the Industrial Development Association Canadian Packers.

FOR TWO YEARS HE COULDN'T WORK

HAS NOW ACCEPTED A POSITION AND WILL GO TO WORK IN A FEW DAYS.

"Just give me Tanlac and you may have all the other medicines," said Robert M. Sexton, of 504 C Avenue, East, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, while discussing his case, recently.

In relating his experience Mr. Sexton made the remarkable statement that a few bottles of Tanlac has done him more good than all other treatment and medicines he has taken in ten years combined. But let Mr. Sexton tell his own story. Here is his statement:

"At the time I began taking this Tanlac I had not been able to hit a lick of work in two long years but I am now on my feet and am going to accept a position in just a few days. My stomach commenced troubling me about twelve years ago and had a complete nervous break down and got to where I was of little use to myself or anyone else. I suffered from indigestion after eating and the gas on my stomach made my heart palpitate frightfully. I could not rest or sleep at night and would often get up away in the night and walk about town until day.

"I was beginning to think there was no relief for me, but Tanlac is fast making a new man of me. I had taken but a few doses of this medicine until I began to straighten right up, and while it may sound unreasonable it's the truth, a few bottles has done me more good than everything else I have taken in ten years put together. I can now eat anything I want and have no more gas, bloating or palpitation of the heart. My nerves have quited down and I can lie down and sleep like a child until morning. There's no getting around it, Tanlac is the greatest medicine I have ever seen or heard of and it is nothing else than remarkable how it has brought me out in so short a time."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock, by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield, by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowlers' Corners, by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert, by A. J. Scott; in Westwood, by G. Pringle and Son.

INFLUENCE OF REACTION

London Times Says Dominion Politics Difficult to Understand.

London, Nov. 6.—The Times says: Dominion politics at present are hard to understand but it is very evident that both in Canada and Australia the reaction from war conditions is having a marked influence.

"It is always dangerous to judge the Dominion by provincial politics in Canada, but certainly the result of the Ontario election suggests doubts about the strength of the Unionist party led by Sir Robert Borden. There are rumors that the Canadian Premier is tired and intends to retire. He did a giant's work during the war, and must be feeling the effects of that labor, but he has a keen sense of public duty and will not consult his individual inclination, if in doing so he should risk the sacrifice of what he believes to be the best interests of this Dominion."

FOR CANADIAN TRADE

Good Openings by Following British and American Plan

London, Nov. 6.—Fred Salter, European manager for the Grand Trunk Railway, has returned from a business tour of France, Belgium and Holland. The present uncertainty of continental trade, Mr. Salter says, is because Germany and Austria are in the position of bankrupts, who do not know how their creditors are going to treat them. Germany cannot trade unless she gets foreign money, or barter and Great Britain and the United States are undertaking this barter system to a certain extent.

Canada is well represented at Antwerp by Mr. P. Gollard, Mr. Salter says, who is the official Government representative, adding that if Canada wants continental trade it is simply up to her to get on the ground in the same manner as the British and Americans are doing.

"Don't let her traders rely on the Government doing all the share of the work; let them do it themselves," said Mr. Salter.

THE BOOK OF REVELATIONS

Last night Mr. Brown gave his last address on the Book of Revelations. Ten addresses are very few with which to cover its 22 long chapters. Nevertheless in a way this was done. He regrets to say that an article on the Seventh Seal was not sent to the papers but except for that an outline of the book was given which he hopes may prove helpful to prayerful students of this book and also to the average Christian to help in the deceptive times in which we live.

The subject last night was the New Heavens and the New Earth. "If any man be in Christ he is a new creature." So for our eternal abode we have a new heavens and a new earth, where there will be no reminder of sin to mar our eternal bliss.

The difference in mode of living here obscures a very beautiful passage. In the East and Palestine the people live in villages and cities and go to and from their work; they do not live in houses built upon farms and scattered all through the country. And at night if a traveller is caught outside the villages or towns, he is in danger of being torn to pieces by the half wild dogs that hang around the outskirts.

For this reason the eternal state is likened to a great city. So we read (Rev. 22: 14, 15. "blessed are they that wash their robes (R.N.) that they may have right to the tree of life and enter in through the gates to the city, for without are dogs and sorcerers and whoremongers and murederers and idolaters and whosoever loveth and maketh a lie."

Here God wipes away every tear and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying nor pain.

Here is a city fabulously great, rich, beautiful, provided with all that a necessary for eternal life and health, with pure water of life, lit by the unknown glory of the Creator-God, without a temple because God and Christ are present, with all the blood-bought ones living there and all evil forever excluded. Beside all his glory, any known city appears like a dark, dismal, dirty, muddy hamlet with Indian huts and pain and poverty and death abounding.

There is an awful curse pronounced on anyone who adds to or takes from the book, a curse so fearful as to make a thoughtful higher critic pause and consider the outcome of his doings.

May the Lord draw us out when we think that there are only two destinies, the holy one for those who desire mercy through the blood and the lake of fire for those who will have justice.

LADY ASTOR'S INVITATION

Regarded as the Singing of a Siren by Sailor Sir Gateshead.

London, Nov. 6.—Lady Astor's replies to hecklers are becoming a feature of the daily newspapers, which are reporting her campaign with unusual prominence.

They relate to-day among other incidents, that Lady Astor was accosted by a woman with an electoral question, which the woman introduced with "Your Ladyship." To this Lady Astor retorted, "Please wash that out."

Lady Atsor told the story of how he saw a young American sailor looking at the outside of the House of Commons. She asked him if he would like to go inside, to which the sailor replied with dignity, "You are the sort of woman my mother told me to avoid."

After loud laughter by her hearers had subsided, Lady Astor added: "You know nothing risked, nothing won."

The little son of Rev. Dr. Thurlow Fraser, of Owen Sound, was knocked down by a motor car on his way home from school and was fatally injured.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Said:

"After all what a man does with his money is to invest, and there is no better way to in it than in Life Insurance.

As an ESTATE BUILDER there is nothing to equal Life Insurance

TAKE THE FOLLOWING ACTUAL RESULT

A young man sixteen years of age took out a 15 years Endowment (No. 210380) in the Sun Life of Canada, which matured on the first of April. This young man paid annually $46.30 for fifteen years and he now has, through that investment, an immediate estate of $3495.00 in case of death.

DO YOU KNOW THAT THIS AMOUNTS TO ALMOST 15 PER CENT COMPOUND INTEREST ON EVERY DOLLAR PAID?

No wonder Sir Wilfrid said—and he might have added (no better place than the Sun Life of Canada)—"there is no better way to invest it than in LIFE INSURANCE."

FOUR REASONS WHY SHREWD MEN ARE BUYING VICTORY BONDS 1919

1. Security.

SHREWD men are buying Victory Bonds because Victory Bonds are backed by Canada's guarantee that she will repay the full amount stated on the face of the bond—the five-year bonds on November 1st, 1924; and the fifteen-year bonds on November 1st, 1934. And she not only binds herself to pay the money back, but she pledges all of her vast resources as security for her promise.

2. Income.

SHREWD men are buying Victory Bonds because the interest return is unusually good considering the absolute security. You will be paid 5½% per year on Victory Bonds—2½% more than you can get in the Savings Banks. Unlike many other investments, you have absolutely no worry as to the prompt payment of the interest.

3. Saleability.

SHREWD men are buying all the Victory Bonds they can pay for now and all they will be able to pay for during the next ten months under the instalment plan, because they know that if at any time they should need ready money they can sell them. There will always be a ready market for Victory Bonds.

4. Advancement in Price.

SHREWD men are buying Victory Bonds because they consider them to have an excellent prospect of advancing in price.

ALL of Canada's previous issues of Victory Bonds have advanced. You can sell your Victory Bonds 1917 and 1918 even in this short time—one and two years—and get more than par for them. What will Victory Bonds be worth when the world finally gets back to a normal basis—when interest rates come down—when Canada will be able to borrow again at 4%, or even less?

WAR conditions have created the opportunity for you to buy the very best of Government securities on unusually attractive terms. Do not miss such a good investment opportunity, but buy to your limit.

CONTENTMENT OUGHT TO BE SAFEGUARDED

WORKERS CAN PROTECT IT BY DOING UTMOST TO SWELL VICTORY LOAN

The contentment which goes hand in hand with the fat pay envelope is well worth while looking after. There is abundance of it in Canada just now and those who are enjoying it owe it themselves and their fellow citizens to see that it is protected. Employment in all walks of life is plentiful, wages are good and conditions generally are flourishing.

If this eminently satisfactory state of affairs is to continue the people who are enjoying it must do their utmost to make an unqualified success of the Victory Loan. A considerable proportion of the proceeds of this loan will be used to extend credit to Great Britain for the purchase from Canada of surplus products of farm and factory.

This important market must be retained if Canada's prosperity is to stay unchecked.

The only way in which it can be done is through the Victory Loan.

The money will all be spent in Canada and its circulation will benefit all the people. The workers should put all their savings into Victory Bonds in order that they may continue to be able to acquire savings.

BEST DRESSED MAN IN KINGDOM

STAFF OF VALETS TO CARE FOR THE KING'S WARDROBE

The late King Edward was credited with being the best-dressed man in the kingdom, and to maintain that enviable position it was necessary for him to keep a wardrobe consisting of some three hundred different suits and uniforms, says Tit-Bits.

King George, however, appears to have no such aspirations, and where his august father would don a suit only once or twice before finally discarding it, King George often wears his throughout the whole of a season. In fact, when the writer saw him in comparative privacy not long ago, His Majesty was dressed in a quiet lounge suit, with no pretence whatever at what is termed "style."

The headquarters of the Royal wardrobe are at Buckingham Palace, where certain rooms are devoted solely to the storage of suits and uniforms. The uniforms considerably outnumbered the suits, for the reason that the King, as well as being a high officer in both navy and army, also holds rank in a large number of foreign regiments.

The rooms themselves are divided into many sections, each of which is sub-divided into variously labelled drawers and shelves.

The management of the royal wardrobe is quite an organization in itself. The royal movements are at all times uncertain; they depend largely upon the trend of events, and every item in the wardrobe must necessarily be ready to hand for whatever purpose unforeseen circumstances may demand. One day, for instance, the King may be attending a ceremony in the city, or, maybe, merely an investiture at the Palace. The next day may see him compelled to hurry off to Windsor or Sandringham, or to some naval or military function.

A staff of well trained valets is therefore needed to attend to this part of the Royal Household, and it is a fact that there is more than enough work to keep each valet fully employed.

EXPORT PRICES MUST RULE

Packers Have Confidence With Board of Commerce at Ottawa.

Ottawa, —ov. 6.—The Board of Commerce listened to the arguments of representatives of Canadian Packers, who came to Ottawa to protest against the order of the board fixing the prices of pork products at those prevailing on March 10 last. After a discussion, during the progress of which it was suggested by the packers that the whole matter should be gone into more exhaustively before prices were fixed, the sitting adjourned until this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Profit Margin Small.

The chief contention of the packers was that the margin of profit on pork products was a very narrow one, and that the fixing of prices would result in loss. H. Puddy, of Puddy Brothers, Toronto, speaking on behalf of a number of the smaller packers, who do not engage in export trade, intimated that some of these firms might be driven to the wall if the order was insisted upon. The representatives of the larger packers took the ground that the domestic prices for pork products must necessarily be controlled by export prices. If the foreign market was willing to pay higher prices than the domestic, packers dealing in the export trade could afford to pay higher prices for hogs. The producer of hogs naturally preferred to sell to the exporter, and the domestic packer must meet these prices or do without the raw material.

Cannot Get Prices Fixed.

The packers stated that they were unable to get the prices fixed by the board on certain pork products because the public did not want these products. On the other hand they were prevented from charging higher prices on pork products for which there was a demand.

GERALD DUNFORD FINED

DROVE AUTO WITH NUMBER PLASTERED WITH MUD

Gerald Dunford was fined $13.10 at the Police Court this morning for driving an automobile without the license number sufficiently clean. The number was covered with mud to such an extent that it could not be discerned.

Two boys were each fined $5.10 for riding a bicycle on the sidewalk at the south end of the city.

Making a purely vegetable Medicine

1875 — 1919

In 1875, Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., gathered and dried the roots and herbs which she used in the now famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, from the fields and forests,—then steeped them on her kitchen stove and filled a few bottles at a time, to alleviate the suffering of her women friends, neighbors and acquaintances, and the success of this medicine was unparalleled.

After 44 Years

These illustrations show the present method by which vast quantities of this well-known remedy are produced and from exactly the same kind of roots and herbs used by Mrs. Pinkham in the beginning.

First—The various herbs used are of the finest quality, and gathered at the time their medicinal strength is the highest.

Second—After the herbs are properly ground and mixed, the medicinal properties are extracted by soaking in large stone jars, covered.

Third—Then the extract is drained through percolators, acting somewhat like a coffee percolator.

Fourth—To insure a thoroughly pure medicine, it is carefully pasteurized by heat in special apparatus, and bottled hot.

Throughout the entire process, from crude herb to the finished medicine in bottle, cleanliness and exactness are the watch-words.

The Reliability of Testimonials Guaranteed

The testimonials published by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company come to them unsolicited. Never knowingly have they published an untruthful letter, never is a letter published without the written consent of the writer. The reason that thousands of women from all parts of the country write such grateful letters is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives, once burdened with pain and illness. It is easy to realize how these poor, suffering women feel when restored to health; and their keen desire to help other women who are suffering as they did.

A. B. CUNNINGHAM GETS CONTRACT

TENDER OF $2,119.00 FOR CARPENTER WORK AT CORDAGE BUILDING ACCEPTED

Tenders for repairs to the old Cordage Building in perparation for occupancy by the Nashua Gummed and Coated Paper Company, were opened last night.

The tenders for carpenter work were as follows: James Graham $2,650, H. Carveth, $2,500, Barrie & Finnie, $2669.70, A. B. Cunningham, $2,119. The latter bid allowed 9,000 feet of maple or beech for flooring (Factory grade.)

The contract for carpenter work went to A. B. Cunningham for $2,119 on motion of Ald. Edgar and Garside. The division was 4 to 6.

J. Hayes tendered for carpenter work and painting combined, and J. J. Gross was the only tender for painting alone.

Bids For Painting

On motion of Ald. McIntyre and Garside new tenders for the painting required in the old Cordage building will be invited, tenders to be in by five o'clock Monday night.

Warehouse Rental

The Colonial Hide Company have verbal agreement for use of section No. 2 of the old Cordage building, recently acquired by the city for the Nashua Gummed and Coated Paper Company, to be terminated on a month's notice, and they asked to be advised if it is the citys wish that this arrangement shall be continued or not. The Hide people are paying a rent of $50 a month.

On motion of Ald. Crowe and Phelan the foregoing agreement can stand, so far as the city is concerned, until the Nashua people take the building from off the city's hands.

Request Refused.

The request from the Alert Bible Class of St. James' Church for use of a portion of the King Edward park as an open-air skating rink, either on rental or as a loan, was refused, his decision was on motion of the Mayor and Ald. Edgar. It is not thought good policy to loan or rent city property for such a purpose.

Who Were Present.

There were present Ald. Hamilton, chairman, Mayor Duncan, Aldermen Phelan, Garside, Edgar, Crowe and A. A. McIntyre.

GOOD SCORES AT WATER ST. ALLEYS

H. BALLARD LEADS FOR WEEKLY PRIZE WITH J. MAYNARD SECOND

The scores in the three games of five pins for the weekly prize at the Water street alleys are exceptionally high this wek with H. Ballard leading with a total score of 663 and J. Maynard second with 641. The five-pin league will meet tonight when any team wishing to enter should be represented.

An interesting match will be played on Saturday evening, Nov. 15th, between Douro 4th line and the 8th line teams of Otonabee. These players from outside the city are showing good form as bowlers and with a little more experience will give the best of the city teams a run for their money. Frank Kennely is captain of the Douro squad while Joe Porter looks after the Otonabee five.

WINNERS DEFEAT BIG FIVE AT ALLEYS

The bowling at the "Y" last night was the closest run so far in the league, and although no very high scores were made the games played in great excitement for both teams. The Winners, however, won out by a good margin in the last game after a tie in the score of a game apiece. Each member played hard to run their team into the lead, but Stansfield's five were out to win. Score:

Winners.	1st	2nd	3rd	Total
Seaton	99	180	134	—413
Metheral	160	135	109	—404
Huffman	100	127	189	—416
Hurry	...	...	130	—130
Dummy score	76	100	...	—176
Stansfield	109	183	132	—424
Totals	544	725	694	—1963

Big Five.	1st	2nd	3rd	Total
McIlmoyle	128	125	127	—130
Irvine	122	160	145	—427
Smith	146	107	122	—375
Hamilton	76	122	93	—291
Totals	570	708	617	—1895

The Big Five won the first game by a lead of 30 points while the second game went to the Winners with a 20-point lead. The last held out well but the Winners led the way to a score which vanquished the Big Five by 75 points.

ATKINS VS. THOMAS BOXING BOUT

GOOD CARD AT MASSEY HALL TORONTO, TONIGHT—BOTH WON IN BUFFALO.

With the inclusion of "Dick Atkins on tonight's card at Massey Hall the Grand Army show is a stellar one in every respect. Atkins will meet Joe Thomas, of Buffalo, who was originally slated to travel six rounds with Ted Joyce in one of the preliminaries. The change was decided upon when Thomas wired that he could not make 116 lbs. Thomas has a decision over Joe Baker, who recently challenged Atkins. They will box at 119 lbs. ringside. Frankie Bull and Eddy Dorsey, the Toronto principals in the two main bouts, are in corking shape, and full of confidence in their ability to administer a beating to their Buffalo opponents, Young Erne and Rocky Kansas respectively. Both of these boys were winners in Buffalo on Monday night, Kansas licking K. O. Mars, Cincinnati's best lightweight, without trouble, while Erne won handily over Chick Simler of Scranton. Kansas showed his punching ability by all but knocking out his opponent twice, the bell saving him each time. All theboxers will weigh in at the ringside.

Some time ago one of the large oil wells of the United States took fire. After fighting the flames unsuccessfully for three days with water and all the chemicals at their command, pipes were laid and foamite applied. Within twenty minutes the fire had been entirely extinguished. No kind of fire can withstand the smothering effect of this foamite.

The Chevrolet Manufacturing Company have decided that it is the best way of protecting their works and have installed a sprinkling system, which cost them in the neighborhood of $8,000. One single hand sprinkler, which will be demonstrated tomorrow costs $42 complete.

Chief Grange, who has the protection of property in this city deeply at heart, hopes that a large crowd will be at the market square tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock, when they will be as fully impressed with his fire extinguisher as the Fire Chief's were impressed at Calgary.

STRIKE UP THE BAND HERE COMES FATHER

BRIGHTEST OF ALL MUSICAL COMEDIES "BRINGING UP FATHER"

The perennial cartoon comedy "Bringing Up Father," which will be seen at the Grand Saturday matinee and evening, is an established institution as far as general laughter is concerned. This season the popular newspaper comic, "Father" will be seen in a brand new play involving a cast of unusual proportions. As in former seasons Gus Hill is sponsor for the latest series of the ever-green "Father" concoctions which have been a source of infinite joy and happiness to millions of theatregoers. This year the astute manager, who was the first to see the value in newspaper cartoons as stage possibilities, has done exceptionally well by the world famous George McManus creations. The new offering is in three acts and replete with snappy and catchy music, bristling lines, pert and flippant dialogue, lingering songs pretty girls and a clever and competent company of thirty odd people. One of the features of the production is the chorus aptly described by one critic as "beauty from the Garden of Paradise." Matinee as usual on Saturday.

HERE COMES FATHER

Strike up the band, here comes "Father" Don't know "Father?" Surely there must be somthing amiss in Denmark—we mean Arcady—if one has not met, seen or heard about the most popular newspaper comic of modern times, Manager Gus Hill was or is rather the discoverer of this funniest of cartoon heroes, originated by George McManus and transplanted to the stage through the foresight and business genius of Mr. Hill. This season "Father" will be seen in an entirely new comedy concoction in three acts entitled "Bringing Up Father in Society" written by Nta Lavoy, with lyrics by Harold Wright and special music by Seymour Furth. Eighteen exclusive numbers have been provided along with plenty of specialties, features, situations, a distinct plot of continuity and action and a capable cast of thirty odd people including a beauty chorus of sixteen young women who add both grace, talent and dignity to the occasion. This riot of laughter, song, melody, wit and charm will be the next attraction at the Grand on Saturday, matinee and evening.

DON'T YOU MISS THE LITTLE DIPLOMAT

A RARE TREAT FOR EVERY CHILD FROM 7 TO 10 YEARS OF AGE

The Empire Theatre is offering an attractive bill for tonight, tomorrow and Saturday, including Baby Marie Osborne in "The Little Diplomat," a Diando comedy-drama in five acts.

The kiddies will shriek with delight when they see Little Sambo hatch out an egg on his head, and when little Marie says to the white boy "let me play with me, as I wouldn't play with colored children."

They came in the dead of night, these crooks of the underworld, to steal from the safe of Little Marie's guardian; but Marie caught them at work, and bravely gave the alarm which led to the capture of the gang.

MODERN MEANS OF SMOTHERING FIRE

SEE NEW APPLIANCE AT WORK ON MARKET SQUARE TOMORROW AFTERNOON

The Foamite Firefoam Fire Extinguisher, manufactured in Hamilton, Ontario, will be demonstrated on the Market Square tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock.

This demonstration will be held for the benefit chiefly of manufacturers, business men, merchants, automobile dealers, liveries and garage owners, members of the School Board Hospital Board, and radical railway companies.

These extinguishers were demonstrated at the Conference of Fire Fighters, at Calgary, and they unanimously recommended them. Chief Grange stated that very hearty endorsation followed the demonstration at the convention. Since his return the Chief has been making endeavors to have them demonstrated here, and now that he has been successful he hopes all who can will make a special endeavor to be on hand tomorrow afternoon.

Two tests will be made. In the first place five gallons of gasoline will be placed in a pan and ignited. Immediately the foamite will be applied and it is stated it will extinguish the blaze immediately.

For an additional test a pile of dry wood, consisting of old barrels, boxes, etc. will be saturated with gasoline and set on fire. The foamite will be applied and if it extinguishes this blaze it can certainly be rated as the leading modern fire fighting apparatus today. Chief Grange asserts he saw it put out fires just as difficult as these while at the Calgary convention.

NORWOOD

(Special Correspondence)

Norwood, Nov. 6.—Mrs. Hattie Mclachlan of Toronto is spending a few days at he home here.

Miss Elsie visited her brother Mr. E. B. Laing in Hastings, over Sunday.

Miss Sadie Greenbanks in Peterborough on Saturday.

Mr. Alex Weir of Hast... spent Sunday under the parental roof.

Invitations have been issued for an assembly to be given in the Government armouries on Tuesday evening November 11th, in commemoration of the first anniversary of peace under the auspices of the Norwood branch of the G. W. V. A. The music for the evening will be provided by Musgrave's orchestra of Toronto.

Mr. R. P. English was home from Toronto for the week end. On Monday Mr. English left for Ottawa where he has secured a situation.

Mr. W. Coyle of Colborne and Mr. E. B. Laing of Hastings visited friends in town on Sunday last.

Miss Lelia Buck returned last week from Saskatchewan where she has been visiting friends.

Mr. H. G. Buck left on Tuesday for Belleville.

Extension preparations are being made for the celebration of Peace Day, Among the many interesting features of the day a banjuet is to be given at noon in the Town Hall by the I.O.D.E. in honor of all those who donned the khaki.

Rev. W. J. Ford and Rev. J. E. Ford are visiting at the home of their brother, Dr. S. P. Ford. Rev. W. J. Ford occupied the pulpit in the Methodist church last Sunday morning and was assisted very ably by his brother Rev. J. E. Ford, and the pastor Rev. A. J. Terrill.

NORWOOD SCHOOL BOARD IN SESSION

(Special Correspondence)

Norwood, Nov. 6—The Board of Education met. Present were Messrs. Cuffe, Cuthbertson, Watson, Finlay, Marks, Novine, Kufer, Fennell, F. Fry, Webster.

Mr. Nevins, appointed by County Council to fill the vacancy caused by John Doherty's withdrawal, signed the declaration of office.

The minutes of last meeting were read and adopted.

The secretary reported that a cheque for $15 had been issued to Miss Carter for three days' supply in Mr. Hannal's illness.

Moved by Messrs. Cuthbertson and Marks, that the action of the Finance Committee in regard to the payment of Miss Carter be confirmed.

Moved by Mr. Keefer and Finlay that this Board has learned with regret the death of Mr. P. W. Stevenson, for so many years an esteemed citizen of Norwood and a member of this Board.

We desire to express our sympathy with his family in their loss and to place on record our high regard for him and to secure his family that we deeply regret his untimely demise.

Moved by Messrs. Marks and Watson that the report of the Board Inspection be received and filed. Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Finlay and Webster that the chairman of the Board and the chairman of the Property Committee, interview the principals of each school with regard to the damages done to the school property and take such action as they deem necessary. Carried.

Moved by Mr. ... Fennel that Mr. Rowbeck be appointed School Attendance Officer for the year 1920 at a salary of $10.00. Carried.

Accounts

W. H. Tucker and Bro. $24.53; K. G. Thompson $37.35; telegraph to Miss Kirkpatrick $2.02. Other accounts High School 98 cents, Publis School 28 cents. Norwood Register advertising $2.40; J. W. Rork, account $89.36.

Moved by Mr. Finlay seconded by Mr. Watson that the accounts as read be referend to their respective committees and if found correct paid and that the accounts for telegraphing and advertising be paid. Carried.

OMEMEE

Omemee, Nov. 6.—Master Timothy Eaton of Toronto spent the week end with his grandmother, Mrs. McCrea.

Rev. Mr. Cook and Mrs. Cook (nee Mabel Thompson) and infant daughter Elva left last week for England, where they will remain until February, when they leave for their mission field in China.

Mr. and Mrs. Claxton of Lindsay were guests of Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Stillman last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison and children of Canton were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Faulkner on Sunday.

Although several of our Omemee boys won recognition overseas, Lieut. Clifford Mulligan was the only one to be decorated in Canada by the Prince of Wales. Lieut. Mulligan was a bomb instructor in a camp in England. One of the men failed to throw a live bomb over the top and it fell back into the trench. The soldier put his foot on it. Lieut. Mulligan, seeing the danger his men were in, pushed the soldier away, and, picking up the bomb threw it over before it exploded, his prompt action saving the lives and limbs of many of his men.

Mrs. McCrea, Mrs. Mulligan, Major McCrea and the Misses McCrea went to Kingston on the private car "Estonia" to be present at the ceremonies in connection with the visit of the Prince of Wales, returning on Saturday evening.

Miss Lila Parsons returned home last week after a pleasant visit with Peterborough friends.

Mrs. Percy Nugent and children of Lindsay were the guests of Mrs. Lorne Mahood recently.

Mrs. Leslie Morcombe is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Baisdon, of Whitby.

Mrs. R. Toole returned to her home in Newtonville this week after a pleasant visit with friends in Omemee.

Lieut. Fred Bradley returned to his home last week after an absence of several years overseas. Mrs. Bradley and child will not come to Canada until spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nugent returned home last week after a three months' visit with their son, Milton, in North Dakota.

A great many young men from our village have secured good positions in Oshawa. Among those to join the number during the past two weeks are Albert McConnell, Geo. Raines, and Harry Stinson.

Dr. Walter Nugent of Newberryport, Mass., paid a flying visit to his parents in Omemee last week.

A big addition is about to be built to the present tannery and new machinery installed, after which the manufacture of sole leather will be started, and many more men employed. It is rumored that many new houses will be put up by the company to accommodate their employes.

A jolly crowd of visitors journeyed to the home of Mr and Mrs. Wm. Brown (nee Miss Edith Weir) last Wednesday night and presented them with a miscellaneous shower, accompanied by many good wishes for their future happiness.

TENDER RECEPTION TO F. G. SANDY M. L. A.

OMEMEE CITIZENS JOIN IN CONGRATULATING POPULAR MEMBER OF LEGISLATURE

(Special Correspondence.)

... a reception was tendered to F. G. Sandy, M.P.P., for South Victoria, in Coronation Hall last Thursday night by his many supporters in the surrounding country, as well as many village friends. The hall was packed to overflowing and the member-elect was kept busy during the night greeting old friends. In the course of his address, in which he thanked the people for their support, he stated that he felt as though he represented all the people even those who voted for his opponent and as such he would do his best to serve them well.

The gathering was graced with the presence of two other new U.F.O. members of the Legislature, viz: Mr. Staples of East Durham and Mr. Widdifield of North Ontario, both of whom gave short addresses, which were well received. Mr. Halbert, president of the U.F.O., was the speaker of the evening and delighted the large audience. His remarks dealt chiefly with the progress and development of the U.F.O., its aims, etc., and at times he was exceedingly witty. He bespoke a good government in the interest of democracy.

Other speakers were Mr. Newton Smale, Mr. A. Clark and Mrs. Chas. Thurston, who were given at attentive hearing.

Reeve Parsons acted as chairman, and although he stated he had been opposed to Mr. Sandy in the election, yet the election was over and forgotten and that although Mr. Sandy was not a village boy he was very close to being one, and he congratulated him on his success and wished him every success in his Parliamentary career. During the evening fine vocal numbers were given by Mr. Arthur Allen, of Lindsay, Mr. Scott, Lindsay, being the accompanist of the evening. Mr. MacKay, druggist, gave a humorous recitation, which was much enjoyed by all. The gathering was a very happy one and bespoke the popularity of the new member.

JAPANESE WILL ENLARGE NAVY

EXPANSION PROGRAMME FOR EIGHT YEARS TO COST $824,000,000.

Honolulu, Nov. 6 — An eight-year naval programme, costing $824,000,000 has been decided upon by the Japanese Government, it was announced here today in a cable message to the Shinopoub, a Japanese daily newspaper. The programme includes the construction of 40,000-ton battleships of the Negalo class, four battle cruisers, twenty light cruisers, eighty destroyers and seventy submarines.

Five prisoners waiting trial at Flint, Mich., jail escaped by sliding down an improvised rope of bedclothes. This is the third jail delivery within three weeks.

Beautifully Knit from the Softest Wool

FINER children's stockings than these cannot be made. For there is no finer wool than the soft, silky Australian lambs' wool from which we spin the yarn.

And there is no better process than ours of knitting that lovely yarn into hosiery.

Little Darling Stockings are made especially for babies and kiddies up to seven. Soft and warm, silken heel and toe. Not a fear of chafing—knit closely, but affording perfect ventilation. You will admit you never saw anything finer in infants' clothes.

Little Daisy Stockings are made in sizes up to twelve years. They have extra strength in heel and toe. There is unusual wear, as you know, in these famous stockings. And there is the protecting warmth that romping, tireless legs must have.

A wide range of colors—dainty shades, and dark—or fast black.

Ask for Little Darling or Little Daisy where you buy your children's clothes. Write to us if they cannot supply you.

DIRE PENALTY FOR LOVING SOLDIERS

IRISH GIRLS TO LOSE HAIR IF THEY FLIRT WITH TOMMY

Dublin, Nov. 6.—Love-making by the girls of Ireland with members of the British Government forces has been proscribed by the "Irish Republican Army." Any girl keeping company with a Government soldier or policeman will be penalized by having her hair cut off. One girl has already suffered the full penalty, losing her locks for walking out with a soldier.

A proclamation has been posted as follows:

"Whereas certain girls, wanting in self-respect, have damned themselves by keeping company with the army of occupation, it is deemed proper by competent authority, both to safeguard morality and to stop bad examples; to publish the names of these culprits, and also to warn them that after the publication of this proclamation those who persist in the above-mentioned scandalous, unpatriotic company-keeping render themselves liable to the punishment of being branded by having their hair cut off." The names of four offenders are attached to the proclamation. The notification continue:

"The parents or mistresses are requested to see that the above-mentioned girls are kept from intercourse with enemy troops. All loyal subjects of the Irish Republic are also requested to shun public houses which entertain members of the enemy army, until such time as they make reparation by a complete change of conduct." Three names of offenders are here given. "The first-named person is earnestly requested to dismiss the barmaid who openly mocks loyal subjects by wearing a policeman's cap and badge showing the crown above the heart. In case of refusal drastic measures will be taken. All who persist in visiting these proclaimed houses are liable to have their names published as disloyal subjects who patronize houses frequented by the enemy army and private punishment will be meted out in due course."

GIRLS' COUNCIL AT SUPPER

Discussion on Religious Needs of the Teen-Age Girl.

About thirty leaders of 'teen-age girls gathered at the Young Women's Christian Association last evening to the supper given by the Girls' Council under the direction of Miss Robena Montgomery.

After the supper Miss Olive Ziegler led in a very interesting discussion on the religious needs of the teen-age girl, and the ways in which these needs, as well as those of an intellectual nature, may best be met by the working out of the programme of the Canadian girls in training.

At 8:15 Miss Ziegler addressed a meeting of the 'teen-age girls of the city. Miss Ziegler spoke on the new world in which we are living, a world in which girls are getting a vision of service and its opportunities. She made the girls see that if they are to be ready for this new world they must not be lop-sided but must be all-round girls.

Miss Ziegler inspired the girls not only by her address but by her sincere, whole-hearted personality.

It is hoped that all the leaders will come next Wednesday at seven o'clock to take up the discussion of the service standard.

CHOIR PRACTICE

ALBION KNITTING CO. IS PROSPERING

BUSINESS COMING IS FAR ABOVE EXPECTATIONS—NEED MORE HELP

The Albion Knitting Company, Ltd., that has occupied the old West Ward School building or the past two months, is receiving business beyond all expectations.

They are using some of the most up-to-date machinery which is manufactured to-day. It is made by the famous Stafford and Hult company of Little Falls, New York. They make their garments on the most modern circular machines of various sizes.

They are at present time employing one dozen hands but will add considerably to this number as soon as hands can be provided. These are the only difficulties they are facing now. They brought one experienced knitter from Toronto recently, and are expecting several more next week. They desire to employ Peterborough help as much as possible but if it is not procurable they will be forced to go elsewhere rather than hold up their business.

The company have several travellers on the road who are sending in orders faster than they can be filled. Orders were received yesterday from the Maritime provinces and from Winnipeg. Everything is pointing toward this industry rapidly growing into greater dimensions than was ever contemplated when work was started two months ago.

Men's, youths' and boys' jerseys are being manufactured as well as ladies' swimming suits.

These are made of pure worsted and no cotton whatever is used. This material is all being obtained from the Bonner Worth Company, which is a principal that has long been advocated in this city.

The Review watched the machines in operation and noted particularly the great care that was taken to ensure the quality. One Singer sewing machines are used and wherever possible the double needles which produce the cross stitch are employed. It is practically impossible to take these seams apart.

To make a short summary of the program of this industry, we might say that although it is starting on a rather small scale, it is producing quality that guarantee sales. This result is already being felt and we predict that before a great many years have passed this company will be flourishing greatly, an industry of which even Peterborough can be proud.

INVESTIGATE MILK PRICE

Kingston Dealers Must Appear Before Board of Commerce

Kingston, Nov. 6.—Mayor Newman has reported the action of the milk producers and dealers in the city in raising the price of milk to the Board of Commerce. The action of the dealers has been condemned as placing sick, needy and helpless under the hardship of reducing the consumption of milk or going without it altogether. The board has promised to investigate the matter. The majority of the dealers are charging sixteen cents per quart, and the remainder fourteen cents.

The Boy Went Whistling Down the Street---

The other day a woman came from her kitchen to answer a knock at the front door. A boy gave her a telegram. The telegram told her her son was dead. He died as a result of wounds received more than two years ago.

The boy went whistling down the street.

The woman went back to her work and—grief.

This incident is told to remind you that, for many people, the war is not yet ended.

Don't you go whistling down the street. The war is not ended for you until war-incurred costs are paid.

REV. W. B. COSWELL

separated was through the church and religion. The church can not get anywhere until it is united, until one servant of God recognizes that another servant has the power to preach the gospel of the saving grace of Jesus. This movement is an answer to the greatest challenge to the church. It affords a united body and nothing is separating it or its influence from the love of our Lord.

As an example of the value of the sinking of individual differences he told a very interesting story of how he had, while overseas as a Methodist chaplain, heard the confession of two Roman Catholics, who were about to leave for France, after conducting an English Church communion service in an English church hut. The speaker looks back upon that incident as the sweetest in his Christian life.

The National Forward Movement is the call of God to His church to perform its full tasks. And the movement has the benediction of God to make its ideas practical.

One of the greatest editors in the United States, a man who perhaps more than any other man, realises the needs of that great republic, urged his sub-editor along religious lines to give the people something new, "something red hot." He had stated that America's need is a religious need and something new and inspirational is required to awake the religious spirit of the people.

"The fall of the church came when prayer went out of the homes" declared Mr. Coswell. People are devoting more time to pleasure now than ever before. But they have not the time for the word of God and expressions of prayer in their homes.

"There is no place like home and I tremble for the home life of today," he declared. "If we establish a divorce court in this country what will happen? It will be introducing the greatest social hell known to mankind today. What will save our home life of today? The answer is the spirit of prayer that will flow throughout the land."

He believes that this spirit of prayer will spread over the whole church and that asking half to be intercessors with God is an ambition that will be far excelled.

Let us have the spirit of our Father that instituted the communions May all the people He baptized with the spirit of the Holy Ghost and enter the movement as a united Christian body. "God is calling and we must all move forward to the greatest victory in the history of all time."

The G.W.V.A. of Preston are going to place candidates in the field for municipal honors.

I.O.D.E. DANCE

A large crowd took advantage of the weekly I.O.D.E. dance at the Conservatory last night. Fitzgerald and Maher provided the music and all appeared to have spent a very enjoyable evening.

These dances promise to grow more and more popular as the season progresses.

PRICES WITH OTHERS

St. Catharines, Nov. 5.—A fierce bread war opened here yesterday morning with the second reduction in bread this week. Monday it was dropped from twenty-four to twenty-two cents for the four-pound loaf and today it dropped to twenty. Refusal of a Thorold baker to raise prices, it is understood, caused the trouble, and bread may go away down to ten cents, it is said.
